INTERVIEW WITH OLD NINETY-SIX.

BY W. L. E.

THE Old Year is dead; the New is born. I stood beside the Old Year as he departed and listened to his words of counsel, of admonition and of encouragement.

While there is life there is hope, we are told. But from the moment that Old Ninety-Six was born there was no hope that he would live more than twelve months. When on Thursday night the clock indicated half an hour to midnight all who were watching beside his couch realized he had but thirty minutes to live.

Having been deputed to interview Old Ninety-Six in his last moments, I leaned over and whispered in his ear:

"Only twelve months old, and yet dying."

With a look of resignation upon his face the Old Year turned to me with the remark: "Thou art measuring by the span of man's life. I am living my allotted time; men seldom do that. I live twelve months. There are insects whose course is in a day run. I have performed my task. I cannot do more. The arrow, when it has struck its destined mark, has completed its errand. I have been speeding through the world for a twelvemonth; I have completed my mission."

"But, say," I persisted, "are you satisfied?"

"With myself, yes; with the world, no."

"Why not with the world?"

"Why? Ha! ha! Ask my predecessors. They, like me, have done their best. But mankind,—ah, there's the rub. Mankind has not done its worst, but it has left undone many things which it should have done and done many things which it should not have done."

"Do you mean in a spiritual sense or otherwise?" I persisted.

"Both. But you newspaper men, I fear, are not so much concerned in the spiritual sense. And therefore, when I referred to the things mankind had and things it had not done I meant particularly otherwise: matters commercial, to be more explicit."

"Enumerate," I ventured.

"I will. But Time demands that I be brief. Although I came into existence a year ago amid the clang of bells and the sound of music and invocation, trouble was staring me in the face the moment I opened my eyes. Time would fail me to tell you all I saw. But one of the things I did see was the terrible effects of that foolish message of the President of the United States on the Venezuela question. It had worked its way into the wheels of commerce, clogging them up and throwing the machinery out of gear and working more havoc than would a two-years' war. Tangled up or buried beneath the wreck were capitalist and borrower, master and man, parent and child. It was awful. And it will be awful for some time. You cannot repair commerce when it is shattered as readily as you can replace a shattered pane of glass by a whole one. Uncle Sam will have to quit throwing boomerangs if he is going to get on his feet again. And he'll have to set his house in better order."

"But tell me something about Canada and her business men," I interposed. "Time is short."

"I'm coming to that. Canada is a great country; or rather, she has the possibilities of being great. The seed is in the ground. The seed is good and so is the soil. Water it and you will get the fruit by-and-bye. But, remember, if you kill the seed you will get no fruit. The trouble I see about the people of Canada is that they are not as proud of their country as they ought to be. If the Mother Country does not give you preferential advantages in her market do not be concerned; if the United States builds up a tariff wall so high that you cannot get your goods over it, do not sit down in sackcloth and ashes. Keep your courage up and swim. If you sit on your eggs you'll hatch them. If you don't you won't. Do you understand? There is no nook or corner in the world where I have not been the the past twelve months, and let me tell you this for your edification: No country under the sun has taken such a big step forward during my lifetime as has the Dominion of Canada."

"What have you to say in regard to the merchants of Canada?" I further questioned.

"They are on the whole as shrewd and as competent a class of business men as you will see in any other country. I could name some countries whose merchants are more proficient in sharp practices. But sharp practices is not business. Business is business, as you know. But, oh dear me, I see lots of room for improvement."

"In what respect?"

"Well, to be brief, I would first of all say, it is a pity so many go into a business for which they are either unsuited or have not qualified themselves for. You cannot spell aright until you have mastered the alphabet. Neither can you successfully manage a business until you have learned its "A B C.'s" Then there is too much carelessness in bookkeeping. Bookkeeping in its essence is not merely a making a note of goods sold on credit or of making a record when they are paid for. It is a chart whereby the merchant, on examination, can ascertain his whereabouts financially. Then there is too much indiscriminate credit-giving. A man who would loan money to every man who sought it, without enquiring as to his antecedents and ability to pay, would be accounted anything but a wise man. I'd say he was a fool. Well, can you tell me how much wiser he is who has not the courage to refuse to give goods on credit to people without first trying to ascertain their financial standing? Such men should take heed lest they fall. Then, courage is a most essential thing to possess. Business is pulling against the stream. When a man's courage fails his strength wanes; and backward he drifts to financial de——"

The sentence was not completed. The big clock in St. James' Cathedral was striking the hour of twelve—the hour that was to take out the Old Year and bring in the New Year. While the first stroke was vibrating the Old Year grasped my hand, at the same time saying: "Good-bye; good-bye for ever."

When the last stroke—the stroke that finally ushered out the Old Year, had been given I still held a hand. But it was not the hand of the Old Year, it was the hand of a chubby infant: It was the hand of the New Year, while borne to me over the midnight air was the ringing of joyous bells, and from the church across the street I heard:

Come, let us anew our journey pursue
Roll round with the world
And never stand still till the Master appear.

COFFEE IN EUROPE.

During November the imports into Europe have exceeded the deliveries by 4,600 tons, making the total stock now 86,700 tons, against 92,050 tons on December 1st, 1895. The world's visible supply in the same period has also increased 4,130 tons, and now amounts to 233,020 tons, being the largest stock at any period for the last ten years. This month the deliveries in Europe and the United States are almost sure to be on a small scale, so that the world's visible supply on the 1st January will very likely amount to 250,000 tons. Such an amount must have a depressing effect on those who would attempt to force prices up, but if then the estimates of the next Brazil crop, which by that time will be more reliable, are put at a small or even moderate figure, any further reduction may be checked. The terminal market was at the beginning of the week slightly dearer, owing to a decided falling off in the receipts, but the best prices have not been maintained, and the market closes about 6d. dearer than a week ago. At the auctions there has been a better supply of New Grenada, and colory parcels have sold well, but with some irregularity. Fine Santos has fetched its full value, but in other sorts little has been done, and quotations are hardly altered.—Produce Markets' Review.

SITUATION IN CALIFORNIA ORANGES.

THE crop of California oranges this year will, it is stated on good authority, fall considerably below that of 1895, but the quality of the fruit is said to be much better, as is apt to be the case with a small crop, and reached maturity three or four week sooner. The fancy stock sent out thus far is said to be of as good color and flavor as the fruit of similar grade received here last February. The anxiety of some of the growers to get their goods into the eastern markets in time for the holiday trade has induced some of them to ship immature fruit, with the result that it has arrived here in poor condition and it can be sold only at unprofitable prices. As to the statement that the oranges have in some cases been shipped too soon there can be no doubt, as that has been amply proved by the condition of some of the stock that has been rushed forward and offered here within a day or two. On the other hand, the receipts, though comparatively small so far, have consisted chiefly of fruit that for color and flavor is not usually seen in this market until much later in the season.

Up to the last mail advices from California the total shipments of navel oranges had amounted to about 600 cars. The bulk of this stock was taken by buyers in the west, a portion went to the southern markets and only about 25 cars have come here. These have found a fairly ready market, but owing to the competition of Jamaica oranges, the receipts of which to the present time are some 20,000 barrels heavier than for same time a year ago, the prices thus far obtained for California navels have been comparatively low. In a letter dated from Redlands, Dec. 10th, H. S. Westfall, of Westfall Bros., of this city, writes to The Fruit Trade Journal relative to the shipments this season: "At the present time the crop has moved on fairly well. A good many oranges have gone forward that should never have been shipped, as they reach the markets quite green, and for so early in the season create a prejudice in some of the larger cities, making consumers believe that theirs is the flavor of the really ripe California orange. However, a good deal of the fruit that has gone forward has realized for the shipper very fair results, and prices may be considered on the average as very fair."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

A STORY OF ENTERPRISE.

An interesting account has been told about the origin of Bovril, and we give it for what it is worth. It appears that the business was commenced some 30 years ago by an Edinburgh butcher. This canny Scot observed that his customers ordered enormous quantities of gravy beef, and on reflection came to the conclusion that a large trade might be done in the sale of beef extract. He accordingly left the butchering business, and came to London. The new business prospered, and he opened up connections with Chicago, from which place he got his supply for some years. At this time the capital of the concern was some £30,000. Later he discovered that beef was cheaper in the Argentine than in the Northern States of America, and so he again moved the scene of his operations. At the present time the Bovril extract is prepared in its initial stages on the Uruguay River, and the sale forms the staple part of the business of the company, which has recently been floated with a capital of two and a half millions. To complete the story it should be added that the Edinburgh butcher is now said to be a millionaire.—Grocers' Journal.

A RESULT OF HARD TIMES.

FOR some time past, however, various circumstances have conspired to impress upon me certain results of the panic which I have not seen discussed, or presented in any form in any paper that I have read. I am not alone in the opinion which I have formed, for it is frequently outlined in conversation by those with whom I come in contact. The central thought is that not only in a financial sense have business enterprises been shaken up and readjusted upon the basis of new estimates of values, and reduced schedules in general, but that also they have been shaken up with respect to the men in charge, for example, the heads of departments—in fact, as concerns the personnel from one end to the other.

An elderly gentleman engaged in a line of business which he has followed for some twenty years past in New York and vicinity, and which requires him to visit various lines of trade in a manner resembling and yet not exactly the same as a salesman, said to me the other day, "I find in the last few months that I am obliged to begin all over again. I go into a concern with which I have had pleasant business dealings for years, and am surprised to find that the man with whom I have been transacting my business no longer sits at the familiar desk. I ask for my old friend and am told he is no longer with the concern. Another, and a different sort of man, and, in many cases, a younger man, is there instead. Accordingly I have to begin at the bottom. It is almost like presenting my business anew. There is a perceptible interruption to business relations, and there is an immense amount of new foundation work to be done before I can get back to the same position that I occupied under the old management. Not only do I find this in occasional instances, but I meet it almost universally. Some establishments have seized upon the present opportunity to rid themselves of dead wood. Others have been compelled to content themselves with cheaper help. Others have seen the opportunity of pensioning men long in their employ and superseding their eminently satisfactory but somewhat old-fogey management by that of younger men and men altogether up to date. Were I to tell you," he continued, "the number of cases in which these circumstances come to light, you would be astonished. The firm name is not changed and yet, in many cases, there has been a shifting within the firm that amounts to a new concern. New men have been admitted and in many instances new capital has come in. It is not to changes of this latter kind, however, that I particularly refer, as to the changes in the staff, in the active management."

Another man with whom I conversed on this point a short time since, confirmed all that this gentleman had said, and advanced a number of instances more than corroborating what I had first heard. My own point of view is different from that of either of the gentlemen referred to, and a thought that I expressed in conversation, perhaps as long as a year ago, fully describes the situation as I see it at present, and therefore I venture to submit it in this connection. The shake-up in business that we have had, both in a financial sense and with respect to persons in the direction and management of affairs, is comparable to a great storm or freshet which does terrible damage to a given section of the country. All my readers who have visited the scene of a disaster of this kind, for example, in the valley of some western river, will perhaps recognize the comparison. After the storm is over, after the flood has subsided, and after the sun has come beaming through the clouds, the bewildered and stricken inhabitants sally forth to estimate their loss and to begin to repair the damage. They appear almost paralyzed by the destruction around them. Fences are finally propped up, sheds are built in place of barns that were washed away, houses are partially repaired. As the work progresses, neighbors occasionally meet, and upon such occasions anxiously inquire, "How bad off are you?" "How much did you lose?" "How much of your stock has been recovered?" "Were any lives sacrificed?" Just so in the business world, men of late have been comparing notes. "What were your losses?" "Where do you find yourself now after the trouble is past?" "What are your plans for the future?" "Are you able to go forward, or must you drop where you are?" These questions may apply to the financial condition of a man, or they may apply in the sense of ability to hold his own in the general struggle and agitation of the business world.—"Vannaut" in N. Y. Business.

TO REMOVE MILDEW.

If you have mildew on any white goods dissolve a small amount of chloride of lime in cold water, stir until entirely dissolved, strain through a fine cloth, and pour over the mildewed articles. Lift occasionally to watch the process of bleaching, and soon as the stain disappears rinse the goods thoroughly and dry. The lime will destroy the fibre of the goods if too strong, or if left in very long. It is said mildew can be removed by wetting the spots, applying powdered chalk and bleaching on the grass.

APPLE STORING IN CHICAGO.

It is reported that in Chicago one million barrels of apples are being stored away this season for winter and spring use. This is the estimate of the best posted dealers in the city. The total is nearly quadruple of that of the ordinary year, and is due to the enormous crop and the consequent low prices. Chicago storehouses usually contain from 200,000 to 300,000 barrels, but have run as high as 350,000. At present every inch of available room is full to overflowing, and there are thousands of barrels waiting a chance to go into winter quarters.

A reproduction of the announcement of one of the largest and best known carpet sellers in the United States. A strong advertisement; it makes three distinct and very pointed points; and is typographically and otherwise much in advance of the average business announcement. I criticise it for the following reasons: It speaks of carpets and upholstery and does not specify any particular kind of carpet or article of upholstery. It is too general. The paragraph reading, "Our facilities for low buying and consequently for low selling are unsurpassed," is admirably written and makes a fairly strong point. I object to the word "unsurpassed," because it is over-used by unreliable dealers. The paragraph reading, "We stand behind our goods and our agreements," is the strongest one of the three, and deserves to stand by itself in a good advertisement by itself, unhandicapped by other strong expressions. There is enough in this one paragraph to make an entire advertisement. I do not see the necessity of repeating "carpets and upholstery" after the firm name, as they are in the heading. The following advertisement is liable to assist the housewife in realizing that her stair carpet is shabby and that she needs a new one. A parlor, dining-room or any other carpet can be used instead of the stair carpet if desired.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

THE Tariff Commission resumed their sitting in Montreal on Tuesday and devoted their time to hearing various deputations, among which came up the following affecting the grocery and allied trades:

GROCERS' SUNDRIES.

Mr. A. P. Tippet, of A. P. Tippet & Co., said he represented a business which covered the whole Dominion. He represented English firms of grocery sundries and also the fruit trade. He thought that the duty on dried fruits, such as apricots, peaches, pears, should be changed from an ad valorem to a specific duty of one cent a pound, with no duty on packages. Few if any of the goods were produced in Canada, and it was a distinct advantage to have them used liberally, and the lower the price they could be sold at the greater the distribution. The present duty was 25 per cent. ad valorem, and while the difference in duty would be but small, it would avoid all possibility of under-valuation and would help to increase the consumption considerably. In the case of California raisins he would like to see these goods included in any reciprocity treaty with the United States, as the excessive freight on them now, which amounted to nearly five times that on Spanish fruit, largely handicaped the development of a trade for these goods, which were in many respects much superior to goods imported from the Mediterranean. Anything that would increase the trade and reduce the cost in them was as much to the advantage of retailers and consumers as to the producers. The same applied to Californian or American prunes, which were now handicapped by the excessive freight from the Coast, but a higher duty compared with French prunes. He thought that a larger trade in pickles and sauces would result if the duty were reduced to an amount of not over 25 per cent. He thought as Canadian chocolate manufacturers were able to supply the home market at a price varying from 10 to 15 per cent. below English goods of the same relative value, it was evident that the present rate of duty was not necessary, and he thought that all chocolates and cocoas should be reduced to a rate not exceeding 10 per cent. ad valorem. The duty on package was objectionable, especially as their value was taken into account in almost every instance in the price of goods. He thought that it would be far better to make up whatever would be lost, if this duty was abolished, by a possible additional duty on some other articles. The present duty was a source of irritation and confusion. Anything that tended towards the simplification of the tariff, and the labor involved in making up entries, he would be strongly in favor of. The present duty on jams and jellies of ¼c. appeared to be excessive, and he would like to see this reduced to either ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. or a specific duty of 2½c. per lb. The present duty of 35 per cent. on chocolate, confectionery and candied peels he thought was excessive and strongly advocated a reduction to an amount not exceeding 25 per cent. ad valorem, without any specific duty whatever. The chocolate that was sold here was not produced to any extent in this country, and, as this class of goods was esteemed as a wholesome article of the kind in England, the more that was used of it the better. He thought that the duty of 25 per cent. was sufficient, in view of the fact that the raw material came in entirely free.

SHOE DRESSING.

Mr. Daignault, of the American Dressing Co., Montreal, said that they manufactured leather dressing used by boot and shoe manufacturers, curriers, etc. The duty on that was now 25 per cent. ad valorem, and this was just sufficient to enable them to compete with American manufacturers, and was not high enough to debar them from the Canadian market owing to their manufacturing for a much larger market, and being able to buy bottles, corks, paper boxes, sponges and labels, which were practically the raw material, at a less figure than they could, owing to the above goods being highly protected here. The American manufacturers were invoicing their goods shipped to Canada at 25 per cent. less than they got in the home market. He would ask, therefore, that there be no reduction made in the present duty of 25 per cent. unless they were able to obtain their raw materials free, and that the duty be collected on the selling price in United States instead of special prices invoiced.

PRICE CUTTING.

H. J. Heinz Co. write as follows: "Realizing that nothing is so demoralizing and harmful to the retail grocery trade as price cutting, we wish to assure our patrons in Toronto and vicinity that we shall use our best efforts to maintain our goods at such prices as will yield the retailer a fair profit, and, at the same time, be reasonable to the consumer. We believe the retail grocers to be our best friends, and rely upon them to push the sale of our goods, and shall consider their interests our interests. We shall discourage and prevent such practices to the full extent of our power, and have no doubt we shall be able to find a remedy."

An enormous quantity of the "Rising Sun" stove polish is now being exported to Great Britain. Sixty-five thousand cases were sold through their agency in London last year.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP, OR WHAT?

THE railways of the Dominion have too much power and the Government of the country too little power, as far as control of the railways is concerned.

This fact has been patent for some years to a number of people, but probably never to the extent it is now.

Practically from one end of the Dominion to the other a voice is heard demanding the building of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass, into the great mining district of the Kootenay country. People are joining in this demand who never expect to sell a dollar's worth of goods should such railway be created, or directly gain one iota thereby.

Those who have merchandise which the building of a railway through the pass in question would enable them to find a market for are naturally the most anxious for the existence of that which would enable them to realize their desires. But they are supplemented by a great army of Canadians who see in such a road as that proposed a means to an end. And that end is the up-building of the Dominion.

That part of British Columbia known as the Kootenay country may not be a land overflowing with milk and honey; but it is a country rich beyond all question in gold and other valuable metals. The more the country is investigated the more evident does this become.

Canada is rich in everything which is necessary to form the foundations for a great nation. Reference to our agricultural and mineral possibilities; to our fisheries and forests; to our natural and artificial inland waterways, is sufficient to prove this.

Our nearest approach to poverty is in regard to population. In natural resources there is no country so rich that we would deign to pay it homage. But when it comes to considering population one can sometimes scarcely resist the temptation to sit under the willow trees and refuse to sing the songs in praise of the Dominion's possibilities.

No part of the Dominion is so likely to receive an augmentaion of population as the southern portion of British Columbia. The population there is undoubtedly growing rapidly, but it would grow a great deal more rapidly with the existence of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass, for the railway would afford a means of bringing coal to the smelters and open up a way to mining properties, rich in minerals, but practically worthless because of inaccessibility to them.

It is the unanimous opinion of residents of the country, and of those competent to judge who have visited it, that with a railway through the Kootenay Pass mining camps equal in proportion to that of Rossland would soon spring up at various points along its route.

But, badly as the railway is needed, people are fearful of being controlled by it instead of they, through the Government, being the controllers. And how to prevent this undesirable state of things is what is bothering the public mind.

All are free to acknowledge the necessity of Government control. The only difference is in regard to the measure or manner of that control. Generally speaking, one party would have the road built and operated by the Government. Another would have the road built by the C. P. R., the Government retaining such control as would ensure equable, just freight rates to all.

Under the conditions obtaining to-day it is obvious that the whip handle is held by the railways. And we have in mind other lines as well as the C.P.R. In this particular instance as far as the Crow's Nest Pass railway is concerned the C.P.R. has the whip handle. If that line were to be operated by the Government it is obvious the great transcontinental road could make it very unpleasant for it, and also for shippers who used it, for to some extent the line would be a competitor with the C.P.R.

On the principle that the railway systems of the country should be owned and operated by the Government, THE CANADIAN GROCER is inclined to favor the idea of Government ownership of the projected line; but whether it is the best or wisest course to pursue in the present instance is another question. If the line was dependent upon no other line for a through route we would say, "Go ahead and construct it as a Government work." But the fact that it is dependent demands caution.

The whole question resolves itself into this: What is best (1) for the mining interests and the people of British Columbia, and (2) for the people of Canada? The right answer to this question will solve the problem.

May your New Year be happy, your bad debts few, your profits ample and your new customers many.

FEATURES OF THE LUMBER TRADE.

LUMBER trade conditions in the northern part of Ontario are not at the moment in what might be termed a satisfactory state.

During the past two years it is estimated that the cut in that part of the country has diminished something like 50 per cent.

In and around Wahnapitae, Nipissing county, where the production used to be in the neighborhood of 300,000,000 feet, this season the output will be but 10,000,000 feet, a decrease of 96 per cent. in one centre alone. But in spite of this falling off in the cut of lumber it is stated that 110,000,000 feet of boards are piled up in the yards between Midland and Waubaushene.

It is not all the conditions in the lumber trade that are unfavorable, however. A few weeks ago THE CANADIAN GROCER had occasion to note the increased demand that was being experienced for Canadian lumber on foreign account. And this demand appears to have, on the whole, increased rather than decreased.

From both the United States and Great Britain there is really a good demand being experienced for the better grades of Canadian lumber. Large quantities of deals have lately been shipped to the latter country, and to the former some good shipments of shingles have been sent in addition to lumber within the last couple of weeks, stocks over there having become much reduced.

The price of lumber has appreciated lately in the United States, and a large dealer from that country who was in Toronto a few days ago, stated that during the preceding five weeks he had sold more lumber than during the whole of the previous five months.

While Canadian lumbermen are experiencing a demand for their higher grades of lumber there is little or nothing doing in the medium and lower grades, which have to depend largely upon the home market for an outlet. Business in laths is also at a standstill.

With the export demand improving and production being curtailed at home, another year or two ought to see a much better condition of affairs existing in the lumber trade of Canada. At any rate, the situation is not without some crumbs of comfort.

INTERESTING PRUNE SITUATION.

THE prune market presents some highly interesting features this campaign. According to cable advices recently received in Toronto, the Bosnia product is something like 7s. per hundredweight dearer than at the opening of the market. This strength is due to the smallness of the crop.

The high price obtaining is all the more interesting on account of the fact that not as many Bosnia prunes as usual have been imported this season by the trade in Canada. A few houses appear to have bought their usual quantities early in the season, but the greater part of them did not, anticipating that lower figures would rule.

Then, as to French prunes: They are all exhausted in the primary market, and only a few French plums have made their appearance on the Canadian market this season.

California prunes also are not expected to be as much in evidence on the Canadian market as they were a year ago, and only a few have so far arrived.

A peculiarity of California prunes this season is the unusual difference in price there is in various sizes. For instance, in the lower grades the difference is only about ½c. per pound. In the 40 size, however, there is a jump of 1c. per pound, while the 30 size shows an appreciation of 2½c. per pound. This peculiarity is due to the fact that the small sizes are plentiful and cheaper than last year, while the larger are scarcer and dearer.

The abundance of dried and evaporated apples and the low prices obtaining therefor is certain to affect the consumption of prunes in Canada this season, and grocers have been more than usually careful in their purchase of the latter commodity an account thereof.

Merchants and clerks who resolve to leave undone in business those things they should not do and to do those things they should do will increase by 99 per cent. their chances of experiencing a Happy New Year.

THE OTHER SIDE TO BE HEARD.

Judging from the remarks made in some of the daily newspapers, the deputations which waited upon the Tariff Commissioners a few days ago represented the views of the Montreal business men. This is not by any means the case. The important industries, which are large employers of labor, such as cotton, sugar, iron, etc., have not yet presented their views. They intend doing so, but it is most likely they will confer with the Ministers at Ottawa early in the new year, when the chief industries which they represent will be thoroughly discussed. It was stated by H. Laporte, late president of the Chambre de Commerce, Montreal, that, directly and indirectly, fully 10,000 people found employment in Montreal through the sugar refineries.

STOREKEEPING IN THE NICOLA VALLEY.

A VISITOR to Hamilton and Toronto this week is J. H. Duncan, manager for A. E. Howse's extensive business in the Nicola, B.C., district. In that rich mining and stock-raising district of British Columbia Mr. Howse does an extensive trade, having, in addition to his store in the town of Nicola, depots at Granite Creek, Princeton, Scottville and the Otter Valley country.

Mr. Duncan, who is a son of Mr. Duncan, of Duncan Bros., Hamilton, is a bright Canadian who went west when a lad several years ago, and by his industry, talent and integrity has shown how well a steady-going Canadian can get along in his own country. Mr. Duncan speaks in approving terms of British Columbia, its resources, climate, present opportunities and future prospects. "No one," he said, in his quiet, business-like way, to THE CANADIAN GROCER, "who knows the country doubts that a very large mining population will soon be thriving in the province. In five years it is likely that there will be three or four mining camps as promising as Rossland, and even Cariboo will be restored to its old prosperity. The whole province is full of the richest deposits. In the Nicola country hydraulic gold mining has hitherto prevailed, but quartz mining is now being developed. The silver deposits are rich, too. There is coal, also, and the blacksmiths at the various points use coal which can be easily mined near at hand, though wood, being cheaper, is the usual fuel.

"The Crow's Nest Pass Railway is desired because it would develop the country, and its projected extension to the Coast would go through the Nicola country 50 miles or so from the town."

Mr. Howse buys his goods in Canada mostly, groceries at Vancouver, owing to the railway rates, but dry goods, boots, etc., from Toronto, Montreal, etc. Spence's Bridge is Nicola's nearest station on the C.P.R., which is north of the town. In dry goods some lines are imported from England, but the majority is supplied by Canadian houses.

"British Columbia," said Mr. Duncan, in answer to a question, "wants a population, but persons who want to be clerks and get work at similar occupations are not needed. Prospectors and men who will do mining work are the class desired, and when mining properties, which at present are only being placed on the market, begin to be practically developed, then the increase in the actual mining population must be very great."

Mr. Duncan is on a business trip, as well as spending a few holidays at his home in Hamilton. Years ago when he first went west his health was not particularly robust, but he has returned the picture of vigor and energy.

A great many merchants who died financially during the past year would have been alive to-day had they twelve months ago been alive to their business.

DID YOU GET ONE?

A few years ago Hiram Walker & Sons began the popular practice of presenting their friends souvenirs at this holiday season. They never do things by halves, and consequently these reminders have been of a very substantial and useful character. Last year everyone received a box of the finest imported cigars. This year's memento is one that will be much sought after, because it is so useful. It is a very neat, real morrocco folding purse for bills or paper money. It is made in the latest style, and is in every way the most convenient we have ever seen. To make it still more valuable they are putting the name and address of the one to whom they send it in gold letters on the flap. We presume they are intended for general distribution, and any reader who sends a postal card to the head office at Walkerville, Ont., or to their agents, W. R. Wonham & Sons, Montreal, mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER, to show that they are in business, will no doubt receive one.

FURTHER ADVANCE IN CURRANTS

The currant market appears to be gathering fresh strength.

From Patras comes a cable announcing a further advance of 3d. per cwt. on account of activity in the demand.

In New York prices are below the import basis, and while stocks there are estimated to be 10,000 barrels, yet the quantity on the way only aggregates 3,000 barrels. The opinion in New York, judging from the tone of our exchanges, is that prices should be advanced.

Stocks in England are light, the supply being 5,000 barrels less than a year ago at the same time. The supply of fruit in the primary market is also light.

APOSTLES OF COMMERCE DINE.

ON Tuesday night of last week the Windsor Hotel was full up with commercial travelers. The occasion was the annual dinner of the association. It was a fitting close to a year's work on the road. The drummer has to put up with many discomforts which the business man at home has no idea of. Business is so keen nowadays that the men on the road are the smartest of any class of business men. However, the business they transacted on Tuesday night was quite of a different character from the usual. The order had been booked for some time and about 200 sat down to a splendid repast purveyed in the usual manner of the Windsor Hotel management. The arrangements were carried out admirably. This was, in no small measure, due to the secretary, Mr. Wadsworth, and the Executive Committee. The large dining room was handsomely decorated with flags and bunting. Above the president's chair were the flags of England and Canada, with the letters D.C.T.A.

Altogether, a most enjoyable evening was spent. There were a number of politicians from the Dominion and Provincial Houses. The speeches were of a bright, cheery nature; no long-winded orations, which very often mar such gatherings, were delivered.

Among those present were: Hon. J. D. Rolland, president; Hon. Wm. Paterson, Hon. W. Flynn, R. Wilson Smith, Robert Mackay, G. W. Robinson, C. J. Smith, T. Crockett, Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, F. D. Monk, D. Watson, Chas. Gurd, R. Bickerdike (pres. Board of Trade, Montreal), Mr. Quinn, M.P., Mr. Penny, M.P., Mr. Atwater, M.P., Mr. Rolland, St. Jerome; Ald. Prefontaine, Mr. O. Desmarais, Mr. Madore, R. J. Wilson, Gus. Piche, Mr. Noran, Lieut.-Col. Massey, Fred. Hughes, James Croil, Thomas Harries, E. H. Copland, Jack Rose, D. R. McLennan, J. Herbert, B. Christie, A. M. Thompson, Wm. A. Gondle, Geo. A. Childs, S. J. Martin, L. O. Demers, Alex. Filion, Geo. Brown, E. A. Cardinal, D. M. Lefebvre, J. A. Milette, T. B. H. Mongenais, J. E. Auger, Gustave Labelle, Hector Moreau, J. H. Toupin, J. H. Cross, Octave Genereux, Camille Theoret, L. G. A. Cresse, Peter Wm. Lesperance, J. A. L'Henrencey, Wm. J. Wight, J. H. Palmer, F. Hodgson, T. de G. Stewart, H. Davis, James R. Adam, Frank M. Barnard, A. S. Campbell, Max Murdock, Robert C. Wilkins, Albert J. Meharg, Wm. H. Simpson, C. C. Ballantyne, Jos. Venables, E. Duquette, D. Hy. Herron, Octavien Rolland, E. A. Prevost, T. S. Cote. Geo. O. Bourgouin, J. H. Bedard, L. J. Codere (Sherbrooke), F. Burton, James Arnold, J. McArthur, J. Johnston, John T. Dwyer, Wm. Duckworth, John Black, Ernest Linton, George H. Bishop, Alexander Thomson, Alphonse Delorme (of Delorme & Boudrias), Jas. S. Parkes, R. J. Lockhart, Fred Bruneau, N. C. Robillard, A. Gordon Macpherson, J. MacKay Rose, W. J. Kerr, J. H. Kerr, O. Letourneau, Alex. Strachan, Walter Irwin, Graham L. Dobbin, Alf. Thompson, Chas. M. Cameron, A. W. Adams, Geo. H. Cornell, C. H. Dougall, S. J. Carter, J. Hardie, Alex. B. J. Moore, B. Reed, Major J. Rogers, Capt. W. H. Stanley, R. Irwin, Wm. F. Irwin, E. A. Fuller, Robert H. Bullen, A. S. Rogers, W. J. Egan, S. A. Agnew, J. P. O'Neill, W. J. Agnew, J. B. Patrick, James Hill, W. E. Cushing, R. Langlois, E. Massicotte (president of the Wholesale Grocery Travelers' Association of Montreal), J. H. Clement (of Waldron, Drouin & Co., hats and furs), E. Labreque (of A. Labreque & Son, Montreal), Joseph Saucier (pianist), Edouard LeBel (tenor), C. St. Louis, E. E. Guilbault, Lieut. Gelinas, Capt. E. Desnoyers, George Hamel, T. Yates Foster.

The president, Mr. Rolland, in rising to propose "The Queen and the Royal Family," was received with an outburst of applause. He said: "The Dominion Travelers' Association, which had generously elected a French-Canadian as its president, signified that the sober-minded, enlightened business men of this province were not to be disturbed by race prejudices. (Hear, hear, and applause). This showed the broad views which they entertained while coming in contact with the different nationalities. It was by working in this united manner that the commercial interests of the Dominion would be advanced." (Applause). He need not describe the attributes of a commercial traveler, because they knew them as well as he did, but for the sake of the politicians and others present, he might say that the commercial traveler was looked upon a prince of good fellows. Generous, courteous and enlightened by reason of his long experience with men, he was also familiar with the main topics of the day. (Applause). Many of the merchants whom he saw there that night were commercial travelers in the past, and as they all knew that the trade of to-day was transacted by the commercial travelers, it was only natural to suppose that the commercial travelers of to-day would largely comprise the merchants of our city. (Hear, hear and applause).

WHEN ORGANIZED.

The Dominion Travelers' Association was organized in February, 1875, and its first president was Mr. Andrew Robertson. At the end of the first year there was a membership of 251, with a cash balance of $529.29. He would take this opportunity of reading the names of the past presidents of the association, and who had worked very materially towards the success of the association: Andrew Robertson, J. A. Cantlie, Alex. Gowdey, Geo. Sumner, Geo. Boulter, R. B. Hutchison, D. L. Lockerby, Fred. Birks, Gus. Piche, Fred. Hughes, George L. Cains, David Watson, Lieut.-Col. Fred. Massey, Hon. J. D. Rolland.

Since the inauguration of the Dominion Travelers' Association it had increased greatly, and it was the largest commercial association in the province. It now had a membership of 2,700, of which 500 were merchants and manufacturers, and the balance commercial travelers. Since the existence of the society it had distributed to members or their families the following benefits: For death claims, $148,480; for sickness, $4,200; for accident claims, $8,588, a total of $161,268. Notwithstanding all this expense, there was a surplus of $149,595 deposited in bonds, etc. (Appl.)

He would like to draw the attention of the commercial travelers to the fact that in 1886 a mutual benefit society was established for the benefit of the families or heirs of deceased members. These benefits were raised by means of assessment made on the members of the society, and $1,000 was given in the event of death. He would urge upon those who had not already done so, to join. (Applause.)

He would make a recommendation to the commercial travelers, which he thought might also apply to the citizens of Montreal. They were always in the habit of finding fault with their aldermen and everything pertaining to this good city, but they never took into account their good intentions. He did not think that they were any worse than others. (Hear, hear.) They should follow the good example of a city not 400 miles from Montreal, where they were always booming their municipalities and everything they had. He would ask them to compare the situation of the two cities, and he was sure Montreal would have no better advocate than the commercial travelers. (Applause.) Before he became president of the Commercial Travelers' Association he was interested in building railways to facilitate the traveling of the commercial traveler in the great north, and he would invite them to take a holiday to the north of Montreal, which is the Switzerland of America. When they saw it he was sure every one of them would wish to become a settler. (Applause.) They would see in this country a summer resort which could not be beaten in America. (Applause.) He then proposed the toast of "The Queen," which was pledged enthusiastically.

The president next proposed the health of the Governor-General. In doing so he said he might mention that he had received a letter of apology for absence from His Excellency, who said that prior engagements deprived him of the pleasure of accepting the kind invitation of the D.C.T.A. He wished them every success. The toast was received with great enthusiasm, and with the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Rule Britannia."

Letters of apology were read from the following: Hon. W. Laurier, Lieut.-Governor Chapleau, Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Mr. Fielding, Hon. Mr. Foster, Hon. Mr. Marchand, Dr. Anderson, United States consul general; Sir Wm. Van Horne, C.P.R.; C. M. Hays, G.T.R.; J. M. Madore, M.P.; Mr. Tait, C.P.R., and Mr. Frank Gundy.

"COMMERCIAL INTERESTS OF CANADA."

Mr. Fred Hughes was next called upon to propose the toast of the "Commercial Interests of the Dominion." He said that he had not had time to prepare any lengthy remarks about the subject of trade and commerce. He had gone to Mr. Hadrill, secretary of the Board of Trade, to get some figures, but that gentleman stated, in pulling out a blue book, that he would be glad to supply him with the information, but he did not think that figures were a good thing for a social gathering. (Hear, hear.) He had taken his advice and would be as brief as possible. For the past few years Canada, as well as other countries, had been passing through trade depression, and many branches of commerce had suffered severely. At the present time he saw many indications of a change, by increased trade relations with foreign ports. Another indication of the goodness of the time was the large amount of tonnage from the port of Montreal for 1896. The president of the Harbor Board was with them, and he, no doubt, would deal better with that subject, but he, Mr. Hughes, understood it was the best on record. (Applause.) As a consequence of this increasing business their two large steamship companies were building new freight and passenger ships to cope with the trade. (Applause.)

A quartette, composed of Messrs. Venables, Stewart, Duquette and Hodgson, gave a vocal selection, which was well received.

THE CONTROLLER OF CUSTOMS.

Hon. Mr. Paterson, in replying to the toast, said that they must first permit him to thank the officers of the association for sending him an invitation to such a magnificent banquet. He had a considerable fellow-feeling for the commercial traveler. It was some years ago, it is true, but eight years of his early business life was as a commercial traveler. (Applause.) He knew something of the pleasures, also of the difficulties, that are connected with commercial traveling. (Applause.) It may be possible that some of the difficulties which were experienced when he was on the road are not to be met with now. It was possible now that when they reached a town and went to enter the shop of the merchant that they found him there, anxiously looking for them, having received a card a day or two previous. (Laughter.) He could imagine how they would be taken by the hand and told how long the merchant had been keeping his order for them. (Laughter.) In the days when he was one of their number that state of matters did not prevail. (Laughter.) At that time it was quite possible for one to enter a place of business and be told that there was really nothing that they were in want of that day, and then they had to convince a man who knew his business that he did want something. (Laughter and applause.) He looked back with pleasure to those days. During the many years that he had been in business, when he had been waited on by a traveler, perhaps during the cares of the day and an accumulation of little worrying things, he (Mr. Paterson) always put on his kindest smile and tried to receive them in the best possible way. (Applause.)

MEN WITH BRAINS.

Referring more particularly to the commercial interests of the Dominion, he said that there were many successful business men in the city of Montreal. The heads of those houses managing a company perhaps show their excellence far above their fellows by the success which has attended their efforts. It was necessary for a successful firm that they should have brains. These men had to surround themselves with the right kind of men with brains and knowledge. (Applause.) When they spoke of these houses they could not forget the men who by their efforts brought the products of every land before the people. They could not forget that these men were feeling the pulse of the business world and keeping in touch with commerce throughout the Dominion. The merchant might have the goods in his store and his books well cared for, but these products must be taken out and distributed all over the country and returns made from them. (Applause.) This was done in this noble Canada of ours through the army of noble men known as commercial travelers. (Applause.) It was essential, therefore, that business men should surround themselves with these men, who do so much for the commerce of Canada. (Applause.

The commercial interests of Canada are large. When you speak of the commercial interest of the Dominion of Canada you are speaking of a territory which is as great as the territory of the great republic to the south. You are speaking of a country that stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and unless one has travelled through the country he could not realize its vastness. (Applause.) They had unknown resources within their limits. In the Maritime Provinces they had the shipping industry and a wealth in fisheries. Besides they had the lumbering and agricultural industries. (Applause.) The city in which they were then assembled was the great commercial metropolis of the Dominion. (Applause.) It sent its commerce to all parts of the Dominion. Then they had Ontario, rich in agriculture, timber, and many varied industries. The shores of Lake Superior may be a barren region, but in that very part there was being opened mineral resources, the extent of which no man knows at the present time. (Applause.) Then they had the province of Manitoba, and the fertile Northwest. They could go across those mountain chains, the grandeur of which could not be equalled on earth, and then to British Columbia, where the British flag floated over their heads. (Applause.) Therefore, the toast of the commercial interests of Canada was no light sentiment. (Applause.) They spoke of a sentiment that was grand and broad, and they, as Canadian men, whose homes are here, should see that once in a while they would awaken to the vast possibilities that are in store for the Dominion. And having their interest deepened they would use all in their power in urging others to the advancement of the country. (Applause.) In conclusion he would say that he was glad to see them gathered around the social board. They were engaged in a business in which there was much rivalry, but to-night they had laid that rivalry aside and met together as one common body. (Applause.)

PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Mr. Robert Bickerdike, president of the Board of Trade, also replied to the toast. After thanking them for the kind invitation, he said that he was pleased to see that Hon. Mr. Rolland had been appointed chairman. (Applause.) He had been associated with Mr. Rolland in a great many enterprises. He did not think that they could have selected a better man than Mr. Rolland for the position. (Applause.) He had watched him for a number of years, and although he marched sometimes to unpleasing strains he never turned back, and to-day he was one of the best business men in the city of Montreal. (Applause.)

Continuing, Mr. Bickerdike said that he himself had never had the honor to be a commercial traveler. He was brought up in a business that was not looked upon some years ago as it was to-day, and that was the cattle business. It was not so very long ago that no cattleman would be allowed on a jury. (Laughter.) He remembered when the steamship Irene from Boston was wrecked on the Scilly Islands, that a Boston paper came out with the announcement that there was a loss of "42 souls and 16 cattlemen." (Laughter.) He again thanked them for the kind invitation.

The president then called upon Mr. T. L. Paton to propose "The Railway and Forwarding Interests of the Dominion." Mr. Paton, in proposing the toast, said that railway and forwarding companies were closer connected with commercial travelers than other business people. Traveling had changed greatly within a very short time, and now they could travel right through to British Columbia by rail.

RAILWAY INTERESTS.

Mr. Jack Rose then sang "The Little Nipper," after which Mr. Smith, of the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway, replied for the railway interests. He referred to the completion of the railway from Ottawa to Parry Sound. They hoped by next summer to put on boats to carry traffic from the Northwest and from the United States through the port of Montreal. (Applause.) The road with which he was connected was the shortest route from Port Arthur, Chicago and Duluth to Liverpool through the port of Montreal. (Applause.) It was shorter than Buffalo. The haul over this route was about 400 miles shorter. In conclusion, he thanked them very heartily for the invitation, and said that the company with which he was connected were pleased to think that they were in such good relationship with the commercial men of the Dominion. (Applause.)

Mr. Crockett, of the Temiscouata Railway, also spoke to the toast.

Mr. D. Watson gave the toast of "Our Guests." He said that in the past their banquet had been graced with many eminent men, and in looking around the banquet table that night he was sure that it was not behind in that respect. (Applause.)

Mr. LeBel sang in French, and his number was enthusiastically received.

QUEBEC'S PREMIER.

Hon. Mr. Flynn, Premier of Quebec, in speaking to the toast, said that it always gave him a great deal of pleasure to meet commercial travelers. The world had made great progress, but in no branch had it progressed so much as in the commercial industry. (Applause.) He did not think that there was a country in the world that had progressed so much as Canada. The methods of trading within the last quarter of a century had been completely revolutionized, and this was due to the railway facilities. The various Governments had done much to foster this, but he thought he was within the mark when he said that the Government of Quebec had been more generous than any of the others. (Applause.) He said that the commercial traveler socially left a good impression upon the people with whom he came in contact. The fostering of a spirit of good fellowship in the community did much towards building up that Canadian sentiment which was irrespective of race or creed and the true indication of public spirit. (Applause.)

Hon. Mr. Atwater also spoke. He said that in early life he became near being a commercial traveler, but his course was turned to law. He was always glad to meet commercial men. They were a jolly lot of fellows, and he said that the sisterhood of provinces which forms the Canadian Confederation were brought into closer union from day to day by the commerce which the commercial traveler represented. The travelers were not only the angels of commerce but of civilization. In conclusion, he trusted that their body would increase and multiply in the future, and that the province of Quebec will show that the successful business men have been taken from its members. (Applause.)

Alderman Prefontaine also spoke. In the course of his remarks he said that he hoped the Government would see its way to have the ship channel deepened to 30 feet and widened to 500 feet, so that the port of Montreal would be able to compete with New York and Boston. (Applause.)

EARLY EXPERIENCES.

Mr. M. J. F. Quinn, gave in a jocular way his early experience in a wholesale house as a junior clerk. That was 30 years ago, and things had changed very materially. Then one of the largest houses had only two travelers, whereas a house doing the same business would now require eight or ten.

Mr. Duckworth: "Fourteen." (Laughter.)

Mr. Quinn: "I accept the amendment of the hon. member." (Laughter.) Proceeding, he said he might well repeat the words of the song which had just been sung, "Oh Canada," etc., and say that it was these qualifications by associations such as they had that Canada would reap the benefit. Commerce has done much for the world and the commercial traveler had done much for the brightest diadem in the British Empire. (Applause.)

Mr. O. Desmarais also replied, as did Mr. Mackay, chairman of the Harbor Board. The latter said he was very pleased to see that they had appointed a French-Canadian to be their president. He could speak from experience as to what a commercial man had to put up with, having in the early days been on the road himself. They had their good times and their times of hard luck, which often dampened their spirits, but they kept at it and succeeded in the end. (Applause.) He was pleased to see so many whom he had known for so long a time. They seemed to be renewing their youth, so that their occupation did not seem to reduce them. He thanked them for extending an invitation to him and giving him an opportunity of enjoying their banquet. (Applause.)

Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P., and Ald. Penny, M.P., both followed, and, in a word, thanked them for the manner in which they had drunk the toast of "Our Guests."

Mr. Duquette sang a couple of songs, after which Major Rodgers gave "The Mayor and Corporation," which was replied to by Mayor Wilson-Smith and Ald. A. Stevenson.

SISTER ASSOCIATIONS.

Mr. John T. Dwyer gave "Sister Associations." He said: "In rising to propose the toast, 'Sister Associations,' I am sure it is the earnest desire of all members of this association that the pleasant relations existing between us and the members of our sister associations may long continue, and, as the years roll on, find us more closely bound together by the bonds of fraternal affection. We are pleased to know that our associations not only promote business, but also social intercourse, and it is the earnest hope that all members may continue to enjoy health and prosperity and live to a ripe old age, doing their duty by increasing our ranks and prosperity. During the coming year, 1897, it is the intention of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association to hold a convention in Montreal, and all our sister associations are most cordially invited to be present, the object being to discuss matters of great importance to commercial travelers and merchants, and to decide on the best action to be taken in obtaining better privileges for members. We want from the railways a passenger rate of 2c. a mile; 500 pounds baggage; and excess baggage rates will be looked into; consideration of express and freight rates may also be taken up. We enjoy but little consideration from hotels, and that is a matter which will also be discussed, and I trust we will receive the hearty co-operation of all the associations and be backed up by the wholesale merchants. Gentlemen, I will ask you to rise and honor the toast, 'Sister Associations.'"

Mr. Thos. Harries responded to the toast.

"The Ladies" and "Press" were duly given, after which Hon. Mr. Paterson proposed a vote of thanks to the president. "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the Queen" brought one of the most enjoyable gatherings of the D. C. T. A. to an end.

CULTURE OF VANILLA BEANS.

VANILLA as a flavoring for ice creams and other delicacies, from once being considered a luxury, has now come to be so generally used that it is considered a necessity, and it would be very hard to find a substitute for it. Commercial extract of vanilla, says an exchange, is obtained from the vanilla bean, which is a native of Mexico, and is probably the most valuable fruit grown, the best quality of Mexican beans often being worth nearly their weight in silver. While the vanilla is a native of Mexico, of recent years it has been transplanted to a number of different countries, and will grow in any locality where the temperature does not fall below 65 degrees. The best beans, however, still come from Mexico, and of the Mexican beans those raised in the state of Vera Cruz are the most choice.

The vanilla plant is a clinging vine, with a stem about as thick as an ordinary lead pencil, covered with dark green, spear-shaped leaves. These vines throw out small aerial roots which attach themselves to the bark of a neighboring tree and appear to obtain some nourishment from the sap of the tree. In their wild state the vines entirely cover the branches of a tree, and running from it into adjoining trees, form festoons and arbors so thick as to exclude the rays of the sun and make progress through the forest almost impossible. For a great many years no attempt whatever was made to cultivate the plants, but as the supply decreased from year to year and the demand increased some steps had to be taken to procure a more adequate supply.

The vanilla vines blossom profusely during March and April. The flower is yellow, and has a very agreeable sweet smell. By far the greater number of blossoms wither and fall off, and the ones producing beans are a very small percentage of the total number. The beans grow very rapidly for the first two months, and by the first of July have attained their full size, and from that time on grow but little, if any. The beans, or pods, are from 6 to 12 inches long, and about ½ inch in diameter, and when ripe are about the color of a banana, and have very much the same appearance, except that they are a little less in diameter and somewhat longer. Each vine yields about 100 beans, and some vines have a single branch that bears 12 or 15 pods.

From the first of July, when the bean is a dark-green color, it grows but little in size, turning gradually a yellow color, until the last of December or first of January, when it is fully ripe and ready for gathering. The pods are filled with minute black seeds and a small quantity of pulp, and when prepared for market become reduced to about one-fourth their original thickness, are black in color and emit a very sweet, agreeable perfume.

Although the beans do not become thoroughly ripened until the first of January, there is such a demand for them that the growers begin to gather the crop in November. Beans gathered before they are ripe cannot be as readily cured, and the growers do not get so much for them. They are obliged to begin picking them before they are ripe, however, as if they do not some one else would save the owners the trouble of gathering them, and they would thus be deprived of the results of much hard labor and care.

One of the greatest expenses the growers are put to is in properly guarding their plantations, that their crop, in whole or in part, may not be stolen by the natives. It is impossible to make these people understand that the beans are not growing wild, and the property of any one who is willing to gather them.

The curing of the beans is a slow, tedious process, and one requiring a great amount of care and attention. For the most part the growers do not cure their own beans, but sell them in miscellaneous lots to curers, who employ experts for that purpose. The total time consumed by the curing process is about five months. The beans as soon as gathered are spread out in the sun on black blankets, and allowed to remain until they are quite hot to the touch. They are then gathered up and placed in a sweating box, which is simply a wooden box large enough to hold all the beans. This box is well warmed in the sun and its whole interior is then lined with blankets that have been out in the sun.

After the beans are in the box the ends of the blankets are folded over them, and other warmed blankets are placed over and around the box. The whole is then allowed to remain for 36 hours, by which time the ripest of the vanilla will begin to turn black, and the box will have lost most of its heat. The beans have now to be spread out in the sun again, after which they are again sweated, and this process continued four or five times, until the beans are the proper color.

As the ripe beans turn black the quickest, after each sweating the whole lot has to be gone over, and the ones which are black enough picked out and placed by themselves. Great care must be exercised in this process, as, if they are very little oversweated, it is sufficient to reduce the weight about one pound per thousand beans, which would be a great loss, and, as the bean loses part of its color when overdried, there is a further loss of about $1 per pound on account of poor color.

As soon as the beans have been sufficiently sweated and are of the proper color they are spread out on drying racks, being carefully gone over from day to day, and any that show signs of moisture or mold are taken out and put in the sun until the mold disappears, when they are again placed on the racks. When of the proper dryness, which the operator from experience can judge very accurately by the feeling of the bean, they are taken from the racks and carefully assorted into bunches of fifty, all the beans in one bunch being same length.

The bunches are then carefully tied and placed in tin boxes, each box holding forty bunches. It is an easy matter to tie the vanilla, but it is not everyone who knows how to do it so that the bunches present a good appearance and keep their shape during frequent handlings, to which the bunches must necessarily be subjected. All the pods of irregular shape are put in the centre of the bunch, as if on the outside they will spoil its appearance. The bunches must be of the same thickness all the way down, their tops rounded and outside smooth. The vanilla bunches must fit snugly in the tin boxes, as if they are loose in the box and rub against each other they will be damaged.

After the vanilla is all in the tin boxes it is carefully weighed and put in wooden boxes made of Mexican red cedar, four or five tins in each box, according to the size; these boxes are then covered with a fibre matting made by the Mexicans, and the beans are ready for shipment. Two of the cases are strapped on the back of a mule or burro, which are then started for the coast in strings of eight or ten animals, thence the vanilla is shipped to Europe or the United States by steamer, reaching its destination about the middle of June or first of July.

The price the beans bring depends entirely on their length and color, and varies from $8 to $15 per pound. Each bunch of fifty beans weighs from a pound to a pound and a half, and a tin containing forty bunches is worth, therefore, in the neighborhood of $500.

TOMATOES IN THE STATES.

Tomatoes are expected to do better after the turn of year, as stocks are said to be very light in packers' hands, and the quantity available at the current market quotations from either packers or second hands is said to be extremely small. Most of the cheap lots have been bought up or withdrawn recently, it is reported, but there is still some stock belonging to an out-of-town house that failed some time ago, which we hear might be bought on a firm offer at less than the general quotations.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

INTERESTING NUT EXPERIMENT.

A Florida fruit-grower has recently conducted, according to an exchange, a singular experiment in pecan culture by grafting upon hickory trees, the result being a small supply of the nuts at the end of three years from the time of grafting. As the pecan tree grown from the seed requires from nine to twelve years to come into bearing, the result of this experiment is important. The Texas pecan crop this year is worth half a million dollars.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS of the last week of the Old Year is as usual characterized by its old peculiarities : There is very little doing. Practically all the travelers are in the warehouses, and the orders coming in are by letter and for small sorting-up parcels. Wholesalers are also buying little as well as selling little, for they are either preparing to take stock or have already begun the task. Prices are much the same as a week ago ; in fact, the only change worthy of note is an advance of 3d. in currants in the primary market. Sugar is quiet and steady. Canned goods are steady and unchanged. Teas are not as active as they were, but the demand is good for this time of the year. Foreign dried fruits are in moderate request.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation is unchanged, the demand being light and prices on tomatoes and peas steady. We quote standard brands as follows : Tomatoes, 65 to 75c. ; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary ; sifted select, 80 to 95c. ; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30 ; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's ; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80 ; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25 ; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40 ; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30 ; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins ; flats, $2.75 to $2.85 ; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35 ; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50 ; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25 ; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Good selected grades of green Rio coffee suitable for this market are still scarce, while the demand is good. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Wholesalers report a demand for medium syrups, but refiners' agents are doing nothing in any kinds. We quote : Dark, 23 to 25c. ; medium, 28 to 35c. ; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is a little demand for medium grades of New Orleans molasses. We quote . New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is in a condition of rest. The Montreal refineries are all closed down for their usual annual overhauling, and they are neither seeking orders nor getting many of them. There was a sale of a round lot of raws in New York this week at a decline of 1-16c., but it is considered to have been a forced sale, and appears to have had no material affect upon the market. At any rate, prices, both there and in London, are steady. Wholesalers' quotations for granulated are unchanged at 4 to 4.10c., and yellows range from 3.30 to 3.75c. per lb.

SPICES.

Trade is quiet and featureless. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c. ; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c. ; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb. ; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

There is no feature worthy of note in this line. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3¾c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c. ; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

A fair sorting-up trade is to be noted. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c. ;

TEAS.

During the last couple of weeks there have been some sales of large blocks of China black teas, but during the last few days they have not been receiving as much attention. Japans are steady in price, but there is not much demand for them. Indian and Ceylon teas are in good demand, and the latter particularly. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A private cable received in Toronto this week reported an advance of 3d. per cwt. in the price of currants in the primary market. The local demand is steady and unchanged. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are in much about the same position as a week ago. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are steady and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and steady at 7 to 10c., according to quality.

In Malaga raisins trade is about over. We quote: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

Figs are in moderate request and unchanged. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are in fair request and unchanged. We quote 7 to 7½c. for Hallowee and 6½ to 6¾c. for cheaper grades.

The attention being given to prunes is still unimportant. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

There is nothing new to report in regard to California evaporated fruits. We quote: Choice peaches, 25-lb. boxes, 10½c.; Royal apricots (fancy), 15c.; fancy egg plums, 10c.; fancy silver prunes, 13c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Advices from the primary markets state that although the demand for Valencia oranges is not brisk, the tendency of prices is upward. Locally, the demand for oranges, especially the Valencia kind, is the feature of the green fruit market. The demand is being well maintained. Lemons are a little easier; the enquiry is fair and the supply good. There are still a few Almeria grapes on the market and the demand for them is fair. Small shipments of Canadian grapes have been received during the past week, but they did not receive much attention. The demand for bananas is limited. The sale of cranberries is being well maintained. Apples are dull and unchanged. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; ditto, barrels, $7; Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4 to $4.25 per case; large, 420's, $5.50 to $5.75; 714's, $4.50 to $4.75 per case; Mexicans, $3.25 to $3.75 per box; Floridas, $4.50 per box; Bahamas, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; California navels, $3.75 to $4. Lemons — Messinas and Palermos, $2.25 to $3 per box for choice to fancy; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. for red fruit or greenings, and 75c. for ordinary; onions,

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Is plentiful. Even large rolls are beginning to accumulate. Jobbers are trying to get same prices as before, but they do not hesitate to shade quotations when by so doing they can effect a sale. Large dairy tubs particularly are dull. Creamery butter is being kept fairly well cleaned up, the export demand taking the surplus stock. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—A little better feeling obtains on account of an improvement in the export demand. Although local quotations are unchanged a firmer feeling prevails. We quote early makes at 10 to 10½c. and local makes at 10½ to 10¾c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is dull. Jobbers' quotations are 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—There is very little doing and jobbers' quotations range from 2½ to 3c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Quiet and unchanged at 4 to 4½c. per lb.

EGGS—Trade has been quiet during the past week. Stocks, however, are light and a steady feeling rules as to price. We quote: Limed, 14 to 14½c.; September fresh held, 15 to 16c.; new-laid, 19 to 20c.

MAPLE SYRUP—The sale is fair at 70 to 80c. per gallon.

POTATOES—Steady at 30c. in carload lots on track, 40c. for farmers' load, and 45c. from store.

POULTRY—The day before Christmas the market was glutted with poultry, causing the strength of the previous few days to vanish and all kinds of prices to rule. The mild weather of this week has not helped matters, figures still being low and supplies plentiful. We quote: Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair; turkeys, 7½ to 8c.; geese, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 40 to 60c.

HONEY — Dull and unchanged. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The abundance of poultry on the market has had a disquietening effect on the provision trade. Deliveries of dressed hogs in carload lots have been free during the past week, but street deliveries have been light. Ruling prices being paid are $4.40 to $4.50 for heavy weights and $5 to $5.10 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots ; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c. ; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c. ; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

SEEDS.

No material change has taken place during the past week, business still being at a standstill. We quote: Alsike, $3 to $3.50; timothy, $1.20 to $1.40; red clover, $3 to $4.75. All quotations are f.o.b. point of shipment.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are small and prices higher than a week ago. We quote: Wheat, 88½c. for white and 86½c. for red, and 66 to 67c. for goose; oats, 21 to 23½c.; peas, 44c.

FLOUR — More buyers are in evidence and prices are unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25 ; straight roller, $4.30, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.20 in bags and $3.30 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25 ; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

SALT.

Business keeps good. We quote at Toronto : In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Cod and sea herring are quoted lower, but oysters are 10c. dearer. Business is quiet. We quote : White fish 7½c. ; trout, 7c.; Pickerel, 6c. per lb. ; haddies, 6c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $5 to $5.50 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl. ; boneless cod, 3½c. per lb: ; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. ; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100 ; haddock, 5c. per lb. ; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 7c.; sea herring, $1 to $1.25 per 100 ; smelts, 7 to 10c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 to $1.35 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PETROLEUM.

The demand for illuminating oils continues brisk with prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Raw sugar declined 1-16c. in New York on Monday.

A cable to Watt & Scott announces another advance of 3d. in the price of currants.

The tendency of the price of Valencia oranges on the Liverpool market is upward.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DEC. 31, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been little change in the general grocery market during the past week. Business, as a rule, is quieter than it was, and there are few new or interesting features to note. Demand has diminished for nearly everything, for the reason that traders generally are supplied, and a quiet spell is looked for until the effect of the holiday season has been dissipated. The only large wholesale business of the week has been in molasses, and Japan and Gunpowder teas, which changed hands for round lots. Both are firm.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has undergone no particular change since last report. A few small lots of low-grade yellows have been asked for on the basis of 3⅛ to 3½c at the refineries, as to grade, and some granulated at 3⅞ to 4c. Otherwise there is nothing to report, for the jobbing demand is small and retailers appear to have all they want to get along with at present. We quote the jobbing basis at 3¼ to 3¾c. for yellows and 4 1-16 to 4⅛c. for granulated.

SYRUPS.

There has been no improvement in the syrup market, the easy feeling already noted continuing. In jobbing parcels we quote 22 to 35c. as to grade, but a large order can easily be filled at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., according to quality.

MOLASSES.

Strength is again the dominant factor of the molasses market this week and we hear of round lots having realized 27c., and it is inferred from this that dealers' supplies throughout the country districts are small. Lent is the season for consumption of molasses in the province of Quebec and this demand will soon commence to make itself felt. In a jobbing way we quote prices firm at 30 to 31c.

TORONTO - CANADA

RICE.

There has been little life in this market but the firm feeling is fully maintained as follows: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market has been rather quiet this week, but enquiry for black and white pepper continues. All prices are steady as follows: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The market here has not shown any inclination as yet to be affected by the probable war across the lines between the two great New York concern. When it does commence, however, traders here figure that it will exert a material influence. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The market remains quiet, though some fair-sized transactions in Japans and Gunpowders were noted at firm prices. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The business in Valencia raisins has fallen off considerably since the date of last writing, but prices are strongly held. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Firm advices from the Coast tend to the maintenance of firm values here on California raisins, stocks of which are exceedingly light. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

There is no change in Sultana raisins. Prices range from 7 to 12c., according to grade.

Sorting demand for Malaga table fruit, conspicuous last week, has decreased. Prices are steady, as last quoted, $1.50 to $4.50.

The strong disposition of the currant market is maintained. Demand is rather quieter this week, while prices are unchanged. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes rule quieter this week, while prices generally are steady. We quote: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Figs range from 9½ to 11c., as to grade, with a moderate enquiry.

There is no change in dates, at 5 to 5½c., as to grade.

NUTS.

The enquiry for nuts is less than it was, but the feeling generally is steady. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change in canned goods. Business rules quiet and prices generally are firmly held. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

There was no particular feature to report in connection with the fish market this week. Values generally are steady as follows: Labrador herrings, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S., $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. C., $6 per half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. Fresh tommycod, $1.25 to $1.40 per bbl,; haddock, 3¼ to 3½c.; frozen salmon, 11 to 12c.; halibut, 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout, 6½c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.30 to $1.50; ciscoes, 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring, 10 to 11c. per lb. Dried cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

Though the volume of business has not been so great in green fruit, quite a few orders kept coming in until a day or so ago. All lines are steadily held and California oranges were offered this week at $4 to $4.50 per box. We quote: Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $5.25 to $5.50 per box; lemons, $2.50 to $3 per box, and $6 to $7 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 70 to 75c. per crate, and new Malaga grapes $5 to $7.50 per keg.

APPLES.

There has been no change in the apple market. Business moves quietly at 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2.

DRIED APPLES.

There is little or no demand for dried apples. Prices, however, are unchanged at 3 to 3½c. in small jobbing parcels. In round lots 2½ to 3c. is paid for them laid down in Montreal.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs was slow to-day and the market was quiet with no change in prices to note. Montreal limed and choice candled stock are selling at 14 to 14½c.; western limed at 13 to 13½c., and held fresh at 12 to 12½c. per dozen.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, sales being slow at 80 to 85c. in car lots, and at 90 to 95c. in a jobbing way.

GAME — The receipts of partridge were very liberal to-day owing to the near approach of the close season, and in consequence the tone of the market was easier, but prices show no actual change, sales being made at 40 to 45c. per brace for firsts and at 25 to 30c. for seconds.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes was limited and the market is quiet at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

POULTRY—A fairly active trade was done in poultry to-day, but the tone of the market on the whole was easier. Turkeys sold at 8½ to 9½c.; chickens at 6 to 7c.; ducks at 8 to 8½c., and geese at 6½ to 7c. per lb.

ONIONS—Quiet and steady at $1.25 per bbl. for red, and $1.30 to $1.35 for white.

DRESSED HOGS — There has been little change in dressed hogs. We quote: Car lots, $4.75, and small lots, $4.75 to $5.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the local market, business being quiet and principally of a jobbing character at steady prices New packed Canadian pork is offering at $11 to $12, and old is selling in a small way at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. Pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The feature of the flour market has been the demand from abroad for Manitoba grades. Locally business was very quiet, and values show no material change. Winter wheat patents are selling at $4.75 to $5; Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30; strong bakers', $4.50 to $5; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.50; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.25. There was no change in the situation of the oatmeal market, business being quiet and prices steady, at $3.40 to $3.50 for rolled oats in wood, and at $1.70 to $1.75 per bag. The tone of the feed market was about steady, but business is rather quiet at present. Manitoba bran, $10 to $10.50 per ton, including sacks; Ontario, $9.25 to $9.50 in bulk; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16. The demand for hay was fair, and prices ruled steady at $10.50 to $11 for No. 1, and at $9 to $9.50 per ton for No. 2 in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The more active disposition noted in cheese last week has been maintained, but the appreciation in holders' views, resulting from the business put through last week, has checked the demand to a certain extent. We quote values firmly held this week at 10½ to 10¾c.

There has been little change in the butter market. Strictly finest creamery is difficult to obtain, and 18½c. is easily realized for it, but the great bulk of the offerings fail to command this figure, grading below 18c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 31, 1896.

THERE is but little of interest to put in this the last report for the year. It is so soon after Christmas that there is little or no demand for goods. Christmas was a fine day, with but little snow. The day was one of pleasure to almost everyone in our city. We are fortunate in having no large number of the very poor among us. In markets the feeling, where there is movement enough to make feeling, tends easy. Stocks in many cases are quite large. In raisins the stock is very light, and it is the one line in which prices are higher. Our lumbermen feel well satisfied with the outlook for next season. Good prices are being offered for the coming season's deal, and quite a few are accepting them.

OIL—The demand keeps good for burning oil. St. John prices keep low, being below the general market value. In lubricating there is but light movement. The season for taking orders will soon be here. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19¾c.; Canadian, 18½c.; prime, 16¼ to 17c.

SALT—While there continues to be quite a quantity arriving of Liverpool coarse salt, there is nothing of interest to report. At this season demand has little life and prices keep low. In Canadian salt, at this season, there is but little movement. There is a steady demand for the wood boxes. It is very hard to keep fine salt free in this climate, the air being so damp that it cakes, though not as hard in some cases as others. For table use corn starch is sometimes mixed with the salt to keep it free. In large quantities from steamer's side coarse salt would be sold below quotations. We quote prices as follows: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1 per bag.

CANNED GOODS.—There is in peas quite a firm feeling, and best grades are held for full figures. There is but little to be said, as just at present there is but little demand, in common with other lines. In canned pineapple the Canadian is being largely sold now, where a few years ago it was all American. The demand is now for grated rather than sliced. Lobsters are about out of stock. Salmon holds easy. Oysters have but a fair sale. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 80c.; tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT — There is in this branch at present quiet times and will be now for some time. Holiday trade is over and cold weather is here. Valencia oranges are low, but being yet sour the sale is much smaller than otherwise it would be. There are no West India oranges now, and but few Floridas. The price of these last is high, and on this account the few that arrive are best grades for best retail trade. Lemons tend easy. Malaga grapes are firm and high where quality is good. Apples are a rather better sale. As no schooners now bring any, and as the auction sales are about over, the merchant gets a chance. Prices keep very low. Very few bananas or pineapples are sold. We quote: Messina lemons, $3.05 to $4; oranges, Valencia, $3.75 to $4.25; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $6 to $7.50; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5; pineapples, $1.50 to $2 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Except in raisins there is little life. Californias are about cleaned up and some offers have been made for direct shipment from the Coast. New York offers 3-crown that can be landed about as low as direct shipments. These have, however, hardly any 4-crown to sell. New dates are daily expected. Evaporated apples keep easy with little demand and fair stocks held. Holders of dried cannot move them at any price. With the close of the holiday season the demand for nuts has fallen off. In peanuts, while low prices rule, they tend upward. Onions are higher. In this market there is no sale for the red-skinned, even at much lower prices than the yellow. While quiet, a quantity of Malaga loose muscatels have arrived here, they are not equal to California stock. We quote as follow: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4½ to 5c.; bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5¼c.; Canadian onions, $2.20 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 17 to 17½c.; orange and lemon, 12½ to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c.; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 8½ to 9c.

SUGAR — There is nothing of interest. Prices show no change, and there is, just at the present, little demand. Those who bought quite largely at the low prices are rather disappointed. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The feeling is firmer. Stocks are getting in quite small compass. There continues to be a good sale for New Orleans. In Barbadoes the price would be better if the quality was. It is thought the new crop will come in very early. Movement continues quite light in syrups. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—Until after the New Year there will be but little movement. The frozen fish business has hardly yet got under way. The receipts of smelts are rather lighter. Smoked herring are easy, and kippered in very light supply. This week one of our local houses shipped a mixed car to the Coast. Shad is scarce. Best pickled mackerel have but limited sale here owing to price. Demand for extra dry for the West Indies is poor. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.55 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; frozen herring, 65 to 70 per 100; smelt, 4 to 5c.; frozen cod, 2¼ to 2½c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—The demand, as in other lines, feels the effect of the season and the movement is light. Pork keeps very low. We quote mess lower than last week. Beef still tends upwards. Large stocks of lard are held here. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $12.50 to $13; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7¾ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Here, again, the weaker tendency is felt. Still holders of flour look for a further advance after the New Year. Trade in beans is light, shippers not pushing sales, as the market is weak. We quote prices lower. Oatmeal and oats are easy and meeting very little enquiry. Cornmeal is also quoted rather under last week. Feed is very dull. The fact that western grey buckwheat is lower than usual has very much aided the demand. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.70 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.60 to $3.70; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do., do., $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1; prime, 90c. to $1; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

In the cargo of the steamer Lake Ontario, arriving last week from Liverpool, were 3,000 boxes of oranges.

In the place of the usual calendar Hamm Bros., biscuit manufacturers, this year presented their friends with a thermometer.

There was shipped from P.E. Island this week a cargo of oats for the English market, consisting of about 110,000 bushels, valued at upward of $30,000.

The West India steamer leaving this week had a large cargo, equal to about 4,000 barrels, made up largely of produce such as potatoes, hay, etc.; also the usual quantity of fish.

The Central Creamery, Charlottetown, is finding a ready demand for butter at 20c. During the past week some 5,000 lbs. were made. One day the output amounted to 1,564 lbs., 1,000 lbs. of which was packed in six-lb. air-tight cans for shipment.

The White Candy Co. presented to the clerks in the long room, the surveyors', appraisers' and warehouse departments a box of choice candy as a Christmas remembrance.

The Delhi Canning Co., who are so well known here, and for whose goods there is a steady demand, have presented their customers with one of the handsomest calendars seen here this season.

At a meeting of the creditors of Joseph Grogan, general dealer, Kouchibouguac, W. H. McLeod was appointed assignee and James F. Atkinson inspector. Liabilities about $1,200, and assets $500.

Among the fancy goods shown by our retail grocers this season Cadbury's chocolates and Southwell's jams have had a first position. Messrs. Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, are the Canadian agents.

JUST CRULLERS AND TEA.

I have set me at banquets with nabobs,
When the land, from the east to the west,
Has been scoured for good things and rare things,
To be stored 'neath the millionaire's vest.

But no rich man's feast that I've shared in
Has seemed half so perfect to me,
As a tete-a-tete lunch of rich crullers,
With Polly a-pouring my tea

I have sipped of the wines of all countries,
France, Italy, Hungary, Spain!
I've tasted all drinkables---mostly,
Made up from nuts, berries or grain.

Yet, among all the oceans of wet things,
One nectar alone suited me,
It was poured by my own sweetheart, Polly,
And named in one syllable---tea

Go feast, if you will, at your banquets,
With white and red wine flowing free!
I envy you not while I've crullers
And---Polly a-pouring my tea!

RED BANANAS DISAPPEARING.

THE red banana is very seldom seen nowadays, greatly to the regret of those dealers and consumers who believe it much superior to the ordinary yellow variety. It is entirely uncertain when there will be any more of the red bananas. Their importation began to fall off several years ago. They come almost entirely from Baracoa and other Cuban ports, but since the disturbance in Cuba their importation has ceased entirely. The diminution in receipts was originally brought about partly by the immense importation of yellow bananas from the various sources of supply in the West Indies, Central America and other places, but it was caused in part by a lack of demand for them, the yellow variety being preferred.

Red bananas, when ripe, have a richer appearance than yellow ones, and there is a slight difference in the flavor of the two kinds, the red ones being somewhat sweeter than the others. The demand was regulated by the taste of the consumers. There was never any severe competition between the two kinds of fruit, and no marked difference in the prices for which they were sold. Importers regard one kind as good as the other, and there are many consumers who think that the yellow ones are the better. Some consumers also believe the red variety the better.

Red bananas will doubtless be in the market again after the Cuban troubles have been settled, but when that will occur no one can tell. The quantity of bananas annually imported from all sources into all ports of entry in this country in the last two or three years have averaged between 14,000,000 and 15,000,000 bunches. How many of these were of the red variety is unknown, but their proportion was comparatively insignificant.—Grocery World.

PAID FOR HIS LESSON.

"Sir," said the new customer, as he looked over the change the storekeeper had just given him, "if you have no better knowledge of arithmetic than this I am afraid you won't do a very profitable business and may have to shut up shop."

"Shut up your own self, and don't stand there to sass me! I can take care of my business."

"But, my dear sir, pardon the familiarity, but your method of doing business"—

"That is all right. I know your little game. There's a quarter short, or something. You don't bamboozle me out of one cent."

"All right! I was only going to say"—

"You've said too much already. Now, you get out of here before I get mad. I gave you change for $2 as straight as a string. Isn't that right—hey?"

"No, sir, I gave you"——

"Get right out," shouted the storekeeper, and as he reached under the counter with a threatening air, the customer stood not on the order of going, but went at once.

Fifteen minutes later The Detroit Free Press contributor saw an excited man dancing around that store uttering war whoops of distress. It was the storekeeper, and he was having a soliloquy with himself.

"Holy smoke! There isn't a two-dollar bill in the drawer. He gave me one dollar and I took it for a two! And I wouldn't let him give me back the change. Say, it's dead easy to be a fool, and not know it! Yah! yah!"

AUSTRALIAN ORANGES IN ENGLAND.

Growers of oranges in New South Wales are highly pleased with the success of their first considerable experimental shipment of oranges, which reached London early in October. The average cost was 4s. 8d. per "gin" case, while the cases in which the fruit was shipped, containing 5 per cent. more, averaged 13s. 8d. in London, and the net profit is estimated at 3s. a case. But the shippers expect to do even better next season, as they will begin to export their fruit earlier, and will adopt the most successful of the various methods of packing tried, the best of which resulted in sales up to 23s. a case. It is intended to ship 40,000 cases next season, beginning in July, and ending in September.—Grocers' Journal.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of infurmation will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

WARREN BROS. & CO. are in receipt of a shipment of "Moss Rose" canned salmon, the sale of which they control on this market.

A fine Assam—broken or Pekoe—is arriving this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

J. F. Ramsay & Co. have arriving this week direct shipments of Indian and Ceylon teas.

Several shipments of Ceylon and Indian teas arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., this week.

Clemes Bros. have in stock a shipment of shelled walnuts. These goods are scarce on the street.

Warren Bros. & Co. have received into stock a shipment of fancy, open kettle, New Orleans molasses.

James Turner & Co. are advertising Japan dust teas in this issue. These teas have been scarce for some time.

The attention of the trade is specially directed to the advertisement of J. F. Ramsay & Co. on page 21 this issue.

A shipment of new olives in all sizes has just been received by Robert Greig & Co. from Dandicolle & Gaudin, Bordeaux.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report a good holiday trade in mince meat, jams, jellies and catsup, with a steady demand for vinegars.

The new jelly "Tryphosa," for which Robert Greig & Co. are agents, is now in stock by most of the leading wholesale houses in Toronto.

W. H. Gillard & Co. state that during the year 1897 they will devote particular attention to their baking powder trade, a special feature of which is, putting each customer's powder up under a brand exclusively his own.

The Canadian Cocoanut Co. (C.C.Co'y) are putting up their goods in a very handsome package for purposes of shelf display. They are just the thing for this purpose.

The F. F. Dalley Co. report that their sale for the Yucan oil blacking for the year closing has been phenomenally large, and they expect, during the coming year, to treble their sales.

ADVANTAGES OF FRIENDLINESS.

It was said of old that two of a trade never agree; to-day the warmest friendships are formed in every department of human effort among those in the same business; each visits the other's counting-house, factory, warehouse, and are shown the different methods, all the improvements, new inventions, and freely adapt them to their own business. Affairs are now too great to breed petty jealousies, and there is now allied with the desire for gain the desire for progress, invention, improved methods, scientific development and pride of success in these important matters; so that the dividend which the business man seeks and receives to-day is not only dollars. He receives with the dollar something better, a dividend in the shape of satisfaction in being instrumental in carrying forward to higher stages of development the business which he makes his lifework.—Andrew Carnegie.

REDUCTION IN MATCHES.

A reduction of from 20 to 30c. per case in the price of certain kinds of matches made by the E. B. Eddy Co., of Hull has been made. The cause of the reduction is understood to be the competition of matches of United States make. The new prices are: Telegraph, 1-case lots, $3.30; ditto, 5-case lots, $3.10; Telephone, 1-case lots, $3.10; ditto, 5-case lots, $2.90; Parlor, 1-case lots, $1.45; ditto, 5-case lots, $1.40.

SCARCITY OF SALT CODFISH.

THE low prices on salt codfish that have prevailed in the primary and distributing markets during the past season were discouraging from the point of view of the fishermen, and the latter have heretofore made little effort to bring into the market new supplies of fish. The result of this has been, it is stated, to leave the market with smaller stocks than have been known for a number of years at this season, and to cause a strong feeling among holders in spite of the absence of important consuming demand. According to reliable authorities, the stock of medium Bank salt codfish in Gloucester, available for immediate delivery, does not exceed a third of the quantity usually held at this date, one of the largest dealers in Gloucester having, we are informed, not more than 350 quintals, and this stock is held at very full prices. In fact, the views of the holders are considerably above those of buyers as a rule, we understand.

The scarcity of Bank fish has induced owners of vessels engaged in Georges Bank fishing to make extra efforts to increase the supply. A Gloucester correspondent informs us that the largest fleet of vessels ever sent out at this time of the year has assembled on the Georges Banks, the owners being stimulated by the prospect of getting high prices for their fish in consequence of their scarcity and the extreme figures quoted on spot stocks. Vessels that usually lay up for the winter at this time, according to our correspondent, have gone out, and will remain on the fishing grounds all winter if necessary. Generally at this season of the year there is a considerable quantity of cod offered by the fresh fishermen to be split for salting, but this year we are informed such offerings have been extremely limited. The scarcity of cheap fish that is substituted for cod has given a firmer tone to the market for the latter than it might have otherwise possessed.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

MAY this New Year be a Happy and Prosperous one, is our wish to all.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

W. H. GILLARD & CO. report that they are offering special values to the trade in natural figs in 56-lb. bags.

Choicest cleaned currants in 1-lb. and 3-lb. packages are selling well with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The Eby, Blain Co. report an increasing popularity of the English "Club" pickle, which they claim is a most delicious relish.

Keopff's family gelatine—red and white—in ounce packets, is proving a steady favorite. Robert Greig & Co. are Canadian agents.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have exceptional values in Ceylon and Japan tea, which they are offering at special prices to buyers.

Robert Greig & Co.'s sales for "Crown" brand flavoring extracts have multiplied many times this year over any previous season.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report that their Canister coffee mill is meeting with universal favor. It retains the strength and aroma of the coffee.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer special value in a New Orleans molasses in bbls. and half-bbls. Buyers should see this sample before placing their order.

"We are having a good demand for our extra sifted select peas—which are without doubt superior in flavor to any imported French peas," say the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report that their standard black teas are finding favor with the trade generally, and that during the year just closing their sales in this particular department have been about doubled.

WEST INDIES SUGAR YIELD.

A freight report just received from G. Lamb & Co., St. Thomas, W.I., bearing date of December 15, says:

"As the dull season will be over when we pass the Christmas holidays we expect to have animation in general trade and in freighting of vessels from January. Everything indicates that the sugar crop will commence early, and in the adjacent islands will be large, as the canes are very forward and the seasonable rains have done and are doing much good to the growing cultivation, which, of course, will stimulate business, but we fear that the prices for sugar in the consuming 'centres' will be very low for all sugar products in 1897, as the American Sugar Trust manipulate the value, we may assert, very capriciously, and never openly indicate that they want stock or are short.

"The demand for vessels will start in January, and we look for a good to an active enquiry for small wooden vessels of good classification, from 150 to 400 tons, for moving sugar and molasses to United States. Rates of freight will open at $2 to $2.25 for molasses per 110 gallons G.G. and at about 12 to 13c. for sugar in bags and about 17c. for sugar in hogsheads per 100 pounds delivered, and will probably work up in sympathy with the competition for suitable vessels whenever the market at home shows strength or firmness in cane produce from the West Indies.

"We have no recent charter transactions to report by this mail, but can mention that the harbor is almost bare of seeking tonnage at present. The American barkentine Hancock sailed on the 11th inst., with the cargo ex German barque Marie Spatz, for South Amboy, N.J."

ASBESTOS DINING-TABLE COVER.

Table mats, on which to place hot dishes, are no longer used, as the heavy felt undercloth is intended to be sufficient protection for the table; but many housewives have found the top of their handsomely-polished tables defaced by the marks made by hot dishes, says an exchange. If a sheet of asbestos paper is put under the felt cloth the table will not be injured in the least from this cause. At teas or luncheons, when the polished table is used with doylies instead of cloth, asbestos mats may be covered with prettily embroidered doylies for the hot dishes. One of these mats covered with a doylie, which should be larger than the mat, is much prettier to use than any teapot stand that can be purchased.

MORE TEA ADVERTISING.

The Japs are wise in their generation and know the value of newspaper advertising. The Japan Mail announces that the Japanese Tea Guild has decided to spend 2,000 yen on advertisements in American newspapers, so as to counteract the growing influence of Ceylon tea, which, owing to the skilful way in which it is pushed, is becoming more and more popular in this country. —Cleveland World.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. A. Hungerford, the Eby, Blain Co.'s representative in the east, was waited upon by a deputation a few days ago with a request to be placed in nomination for mayoralty of Belleville. Mr. Hungerford declined the proposition on account of the demands of business.

J. F. Ramsay & Co. report an increasing demand for their "Club House" tea.

IN THE YEAR 1816.

Advertising at this period, and for fully fifty years after, was practised on a very different basis from that of the present time. Merchants, packet agents, etc., then advertised by the year for $40, and they could have as many advertisements as they thought proper. They did not occupy the space that is required by many at this time, as they did not resort to ad captandum and displayed headings and matter.—Haswell's Reminiscences of N.Y.

TOMATOES ADVANCING.

Canned tomatoes continue to advance, and it was reported this afternoon that there was nothing left in the country that could be bought below 70c. Spot Jersey also advanced 2½ to 5c. per dozen. Numerous sales were made to-day for consumption, but there seemed to be no large speculative demand.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

CHART OF GOOD AND BAD TIMES.

THE accompanying cut is an illustration of Samuel Benner's chart of good and bad times since 1834.

Benner is an Ohio student of trade conditions. He predicted the panic which is just over five years before it began. He declares that good and bad times are independent of everything except the law of supply and demand. The chart, beginning in 1834 and running down to the close of the century, shows how good times and bad times have followed each other in regular order so far in this century and how we may reasonably expect good times from now to the close of the century.

We are, therefore, preparing for good times. We advise retail merchants to do the same. The first step is to make the necessary provision for taking better care of all transactions between clerks and customers in your store, etc., large and small.

ADULTERATED PEPPER.

THE recent case of a Halifax grocer being fined for selling adulterated pepper is one that perhaps calls for some comment. We quite agree that there should be a law against the sophistication of food products, in order to protect the consumer, but it seems rather unreasonable that the retailer should have to stand the brunt and publicity of a prosecution under the Act; while the manufacturer, who is really the guilty person, should escape. In the case in question we are assured, and we accept the statement of the retailer, that he bought the pepper in the usual way of trade as a pure commercial article, and in accepting the manufacturer's word for it, he felt he was doing all that could be reasonably expected of him. It would be utterly out of the question for a grocer to maintain a system of analysis or tests as to the purity of the goods he is daily buying, even if he were willing to do so. The expense of doing so would be such as to make it easier to give up the sale of this or similar articles. If the law regarding the adulteration of goods is to be carried out in a just manner, it should provide for fining the man who makes and sells to the distributing trade an article below the legal standard of quality. This is the practical way of preventing fraud of that kind. As to what constitutes adulteration, there is considerable room for debate. Coffee, for instance, is rarely, if ever, sold in its pure state, because there is no demand for it in that condition, as the tastes of most consumers of this beverage require a greater or less proportion of chicory to be added, and this fact is familiar to most buyers who have given even but slight attention to the subject. We have to express our regret that the retailer should be made to suffer for the sins of others, and can only suggest some more practical way of enforcing the law.—Maritime Merchant.

A DESERVED REBUKE.

A WEALTHY merchant of a mining town in Nevada comes to this city once a year to do a little trading and see the men from whom he buys. A few months ago he was partially paralyzed, and on his last trip had to use an invalid's chair. He wheeled into one of the largest cigar houses in town, and, with a stock of memorandums in his hand, asked for, we'll call him Mr. Blank, the senior partner. As the account was a comparatively new one, the firm thought their visitor was a beggar, and in frigid manner Mr. Blank informed him that Mr. Blank was out of town.

"When will he be back?"

"Oh, I don't know."

"Can I see his partner:"

"He's out of town, too."

"Any member of the firm in?"

"No'p."

"When can I see some one?"

"Don't know, I'm sure," was the answer, as Mr. Blank coolly walked away, leaving his insulted customer paralyzed with astonishment and wrath. He wheeled out, but in an hour or so came back.

"Is any member of the firm in now?" he asked.

"Didn't I tell you they were out of town?"

"Well, then, have somebody sent to me that I can talk business to. Here's a cheque for $645.70 that will settle my account. You can tell your salesman that Mr.—— of —— says that, while he likes him very much, he needn't call any more, and you may add that I placed an order for $500 worth of cigars a few minutes ago with the firm across the street, where the proprietor attends to business and the clerks are polite to customers. Good-day."

The moral is obvious.—San Francisco Grocer.

FIVE MONTHS' TRADE.

Canada's foreign trade for the five months of the fiscal year ending November 30 amounted to $119,610,000, an increase over 1895 of $7,350,000. The exports amounted to $68,942,000 and for 1895 to 63,381,000, or an increase of $5,561,000. The value of imports entered for home consumption was $50,668,000 compared with $48,883,000 in 1895, or an increase of $1,785,000. The duty collected was $8,210,000 against $8,508,000 in 1895, a decrease of about $300,000. The figures for November month show an increase in exports, but a decrease of imports and duty collected. The imports for November, 1895, were $9,070,000, with a duty of $1,598,000, against $8,692,000 with duty of $1,421,000 in 1896. There is a decline of dutiable goods imported and an increase of free goods. Nevertheless, the November imports are nearly a million and a half greater in value than those of November, 1894. The dutiable goods in November amounted to $4,609,000 and the free to $3,854,000,000.

A BET AND A TRADE.

"Reckon I couldn't drive a trade with you to-day, squire?" said a genuine specimen of the Yankee peddler, as he stood at the Merchant's in St. Louis.

"I reckon you calculate about right, for you can't noways."

"Wall, I guess you needn't yet huffy 'beout it. Now, here's a dozen ginooing razor strops—wuth two dollars and a half; you may hev 'em for two dollars."

"I tell you I don't wan't any of your traps, so you may as well be going along."

"Wall, now, look here, squire, I'll bet you five dollars that if you make me an offer for them 'ere strops, we'll hev a trade yet."

"Done," said the merchant, and he staked the money.

"Now," said he, chaffingly, "I'll give you a sixpence for the strops."

"They're your'n!" said the Yankee, as he quickly pocketed the stakes; "but," continued he, after a little reflection, and with a burst of frankness, "I calculate a joke's a joke; and, if you don't want them strops, I'll trade back."

The merchant looked brighter.

"Here are your strops—give me the money."

"There it is," said the Yankee, as he took the strops and handed back the sixpence. "A trade is a trade, and a bet is a bet. Next time you trade with that 'ere sixpence, don't you buy razor strops."—Exchange.

THE PROFIT IN COURTESY.

"It is worth the while of any young man," says a writer in a Minneapolis paper, "to cultivate himself for a gentleman. A good many young men try it and make a failure of it. This is because they begin on the outside and never get more than skin deep. Some go no further than the clothes. I know of nothing except a roach in a short-cake that looks more repulsive than a rowdy in good clothes. The cultivation of the gentleman begins from within. A man will dig a sewer better, he will hoe potatoes better, he will sell goods better for being a gentleman. And, thank the Lord, any poor or busy man has both the means and the time to do the cultivating. Another thing to be thankful for is the fact that the gentleman can make both worldly and heavenly gain of this quality. I never heard of a gentleman clerk being fired from any good position, nor of a gentlemanly merchant losing any trade by his courtesy. On the other hand, you know yourself that you have gone the second time to trade at a store because a clerk took interest in you; because he behaved courteously toward you, and acted as though he wanted you to get the good end of the bargain. That is gentlemanliness behind the counter. But it isn't gentlemanliness if it is tacked on with big brass-headed tacks. Gentlemanliness is like modesty. It comes out on the sides, as it were, and is never thrust out into your face. Neither can it be thrust into a man by any short cut or patent process."

QUEER WAGON SIGNS.

In many of the eastern cities, says Printer's Ink, the tradesmen's wagons have peculiar painted advertisements thereon, in addition to the name and address of the tradesman. Even some of the push-carts of peddling tradesmen have these odd signs, which are usually both attractive and effective. They generally take the form of happy and appropriate sentences, something directly pertaining to the business represented. For instance, an itinerant butcher has this couplet:

With beef, mutton, pork and lamb,
Every morning here I am.

And a greengrocer has this painted on his wagon:

Wait for me and I'll treat you well,
The very best green goods I sell.

A piece of good moral advice to spinners of fish yarns is given on the wagon of a traveling fish dealer as follows:

"Save your cash and your conscience by buying from me– don't go fishing!"

A milk vendor has this pleasant little couplet on his wagon:

Carry the news to Mary—my milk is fresh and sweet,
From Sloping Meadow Dairy, to drink it is a treat!

And an itinerant fruit-seller has his push-cart inscribed:

"'By their fruits ye shall know them' mine are the best!"

SULTANA RAISIN SHIPMENTS.

The arrivals of Sultana raisins in Liverpool from the beginning of the season to December 10 amounted to 469,476 packages, compared with 532,196 packages for the same time last year, a decrease of 62,720 packages. Late mail advices from Liverpool report a firmer feeling there, partly a reflection of an improvement in the Smyrna market and partly as a result of the relatively small amount in bond in London.

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, JANUARY 8, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 2

THE WHY AND HOW OF BOOK-KEEPING.

THE accounts of a business are its history, and as history owes its importance as a study to the fact that it is used as a guide for numerous decisions of political nature, so are we guided by our accounts in business, says a writer in Trade Magazine. We learn to eschew the errors of those who have gone before, and to take advantage of their good judgment. If for no other reason, a careful account of the best years of a business is a very important guide in determining future policies. If a man knows just how much money he has spent in one year on a certain branch of his business, and also knows exactly the amount of money he made on his investments and expenditures, he has some basis to work on.

But it is not in this light, especially, that we desire to view the subject of accounts. It is the absolute necessity for them which exists in any business. It is a very trite simile to say that one cannot navigate a ship safely without an exact knowledge of its whereabouts, and we only use this old saying because it is perhaps the most apt one. In the present swiftly-moving times, no one knows what conditions will rule the markets three months hence. No one can possibly foresee the contingencies that arise and which affect business. In fact, business, particularly in our country, is, you might say, the barometer of the political condition. When men's minds are uneasy and unsettled by rumors of trouble with other nations, business is immediately unsettled, and very frequently many failures follow a disturbance of the normal condition. Hence, it will at once be seen that it is of the utmost importance that every business man be able, by reference to his accounts, to determine his exact position at any one time.

It is a remarkable fact that the class of business in which are interested the greater part of business men in the United States, viz.: that of the smaller retailers, is the one in which less attention is paid to this important detail than in any other. Some men feel that because their business is small, and there is, as a rule, but one person interested in its ownings and earnings, it is not necessary to keep an exact account of everything that comes in and goes out. They content themselves, as a rule, with a mere record of outstanding accounts, and even this is usually no more than a memorandum book which contains the entries of the purchase when it is made, and is crossed off when payment has been received. There is, as a rule, no record whatever as to the goods which have been bought, or the amount of cash sales. There is generally no proper cash account, if there is any at all, and the business is allowed to run on until in many cases the proprietor finds that money is not coming in fast enough to pay his bills, and then he usually fails, a condition which might have been averted had he known how things were going.

Suppose the store of one of these carelessly managed concerns should burn down with all the stock, what sort of claim would its owner have upon the insurance company, if he was insured? It would be necessary to show a record of goods bought and also the amount of goods that had been sold. In the absence of any such record, it is almost certain that the insured would be the loser to the extent of a very large amount of the insurance money, to which he would have been entitled, had he been able to show conclusively to the insurance company that he was possessed of a certain amount of stock at the time of the fire.

If it were a matter of difficulty to keep a set of books, or a thing that required sufficient time to necessitate the employment of a person whose duties should be attention to this branch of the business only, or if the science of book-keeping were one that required a special education, we would not wonder as we do that there are so very many businesses that are run without any proper record being made. Keeping books properly is the easiest thing in the world. It consists of merely recording the transaction when it is made. There is no business man of intelligence who could not learn the principles that govern the keeping of books on the double entry system in a few hours. In a small business the book-keeping can be done readily by the proprietor. The cash sales can, of course, be entered as they are made, without any extra trouble whatever. The charge purchases have to be entered anyway, so that does not entail any extra trouble, and in a few hours each week all the other business of keeping books could be attended to.

It is not the intention here to teach any method of book-keeping, but a brief outline of what is necessary will be attempted. To begin with the cash book : The cash book has entered in it all receipts and expenditures of cash. It is not meant by this that every individual cash sale should be entered upon the debit side of the cash book, but that a memorandum of these small cash sales be kept in a book for this purpose, and at the close of the day the sum of all the cash sales be added and entered as one item. It is a very important point that a balance be taken every day from the cash book, and that this balance agree with the amount of money in possession of the business.

Charge sales are entered in the sales book. It may be mentioned here that in book-keeping all entries are made precisely as though they were so much cash. Merchandise sent out is charged just the same as though it were so much cash. Merchandise received is credited just as so much cash would be credited, for the reason that all merchandise is reckoned at its value in money.

A bill book is also used. By this is meant a large book in which all bills for merchandise bought are posted every month. all the bills from one house being placed together, and the total of their amount is set opposite the last bill. All of this is exceedingly simple ; it is merely a record at the time of each transaction entered into by the firm.

The ledger is the one point upon which there might be some doubt. As is well known, a ledger account is always divided into two separate parts, the debit and the credit, and the only point upon which any explanation need be given is that of the decision into which side of this account shall be placed each individual entry, and a very little thought will readily show anyone which is the proper side. Take, for instance, the account of John Jones, who, we will suppose, is a customer of the house. We have entered in the sales book a charge against John Jones of $10. The point now to be decided is where to place the charge of $10 on the account of John Jones. The left side of the ledger account is the debit ; the right is the credit. John Jones, having received this merchandise, is debtor to merchandise to the extent of $10 ; consequently, this item would be entered on the left side of the ledger. When this is paid it is entered on the cash book on the left page and is posted in the ledger on the right, or credit side, because John Jones is credited by cash to the extent of $10.

With goods bought, the same theory will apply. We buy from Wm. Smith $100 worth of goods. Wm. Smith is to be credited with $100 worth of goods; consequently, this bill, or one month's bills, are to be entered on the right side of Wm. Smith's account, and when payment is made for the $100, it is Wm. Smith who is debtor to cash for this $100, which he receives as payment.

The sum total of all the merchandise sold during one month is an item which is entered in the merchandise account. It is merchandise credited by the amount that has been charged against it in the sales book ; or since it would be folly to make a merchandise entry for each separate charge that has been made, this entry is made, merchandise credited by sundries, meaning all the sales that have been charged (not cash sales) during the month. It is the same way with all cash received for the month and all cash paid out. All the cash received is debtor to cash in the ledger, and is entered on the left side of the ledger, and all cash paid out is credited to cash and is entered on the right side of the ledger.

But one item more, and that is the entry in the ledger of the total of all goods purchased. In any business there must necessarily be two kinds of purchases made—one for stock or merchandise and the other for the expenses of the business. It is always desirable to know just how much it costs one to run a business. For this reason, the bills which come in in one month, which are for merchandise, are collected, care being taken, as was observed, to separate the bills of each concern. The expense bills are treated in the same way. The total of all merchandise bought is then entered in the ledger on the left side, as merchandise is debtor to what is received in the way of merchandise, and the expense items in total are entered on the left side of the expense account. All expense items which are paid in cash should be entered on the cash book ; as, for instance, expense, rent ; expense, postage, and at the end of the month are charged into the expense account.

It will thus be seen that every item is really entered on both sides of the ledger, each charge sale is charged separately on the left side of the ledger account, and the total of all charge sales for the month is entered on the right side of the account. Thus, if these were the only entries in the ledger, the totals of all the entries on the left side and all entries on the right side would agree. It is the same way with both sides of the cash book, the individual items being entered on one side and the total on the other; the same with merchandise bought ; and, in fact, all entries that are made on the books appear either directly or indirectly on both sides of the ledger. Consequently, at the end of the month, by adding up the balances on each side of the ledger, we have what is known as the "trial balances." When the sums of all balances on each side agree, it can be taken for granted that the books are correct.

One word more, and this is in regard to the entries governing the proprietor of the business. It must be remembered that the business owes to its investor whatever money he has put into it, and this is represented on the books as a debt of the concern.

It is hardly to be expected that anyone totally unconversant with the practice of book-keeping would be immediately able to open and carry on a set of books from the very rapid explanation given above ; but we believe we have shown the simplicity and ease with which the work can be done ; and for those who have been sufficiently interested to desire to make the experiment, we would say that with this explanation and a little help from some friend who has a knowledge of the details of book-keeping, it will be a very easy thing to keep a perfect set of books.

The writer of this article believes that he might be considered a very good book-keeper, and he desires to point to the fact that his experience and knowledge of this branch of business was obtained merely by observation when employed in an office as an assistant to the book-keeper. He never had one hour's instruction on any point mentioned above, but found the whole matter one requiring only the most ordinary business sense.

WORK AND WAIT.

WHAT we do upon some great occasion will probably depend upon what we already are; and what we are will be the result of previous years of self-discipline.—H. P. Liddon.

In all matters, before beginning, a dili gent preparation should be made.—Cicero.

I consider a human soul without education like marble in a quarry, which shows none of its inherent beauties until the skill of the polisher sketches out the colors, makes the surface shine, and discovers every ornamental cloud, spot and vein that runs through the body of it.—Addison.

Many a genius has been slow of growth. Oaks that flourish for a thousand years do not spring up into beauty like a reed.—George Henry Lewes.

All good abides with him who waiteth wisely.—Thoreau.

The more haste, ever the worse speed.—Churchill.

Haste tips up its own heels, fetters and stops itself.—Seneca.

"Wisely and slowly; they stumble that run fast."

How can we expect a harvest of thought who have not had the seed-time of character?—Thoreau.

I call a complete and generous edueation that which permits a man to perform justly, skilfully and magnanimously, all the offices, both public and private, of peace and war.—Milton.

The safe path to excellence and success, in every calling, is that of appropriate preliminary education, diligent application to learn the art and assiduity in practising it.—Edward Everett.

The more you know, the more you can save yourself and that which belongs to you, and do more work with less effort.—Charles Kingsley.

"All things come round to him who will but wait."

The great lack of the age is want of thoroughness. How seldom you find a young man or woman who is willing to take time for their life work! A little education is all they want, a little smattering of books and then they are ready for business.

Unless you have prepared yourself to profit by your chance, the opportunity will only make you ridiculous. A great occasion is valuable to you just in proportion as you have educated yourself to make use of it. Beware of that fatal facility of thoughtless speech and superficial action which has misled many a young man into the belief that he could make a glib tongue or a deft hand take the place of deep study or hard work.

Patience is Nature's motto. She works ages to bring a flower to perfection. What will she not do for the greatest of her creation? Ages and æons are nothing to her; out of them she has been carving her great statue, a perfect man.

What the age wants is men who have the nerve and grit to work and wait, whether the world applaud or hiss. It wants a Bancroft, who can spend twenty-six years on the "History of the United States"; a Noah Webster, who can devote thirty-six years to a dictionary; a Gibbon, who can plod for twenty years on the "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire"; a Mirabeau, who can struggle on for forty years before he has a chance to show his vast reserve destined to shake an empire; a Farragut, a Von Moltke, who have the persistence to work and wait for half a century for their first great opportunities; a Garfield, burning his lamp fifteen minutes later than a rival student in his academy; a Grant, fighting on in heroic silence when denounced by his brother generals and politicians everywhere; a Field's untiring perseverance, spending years and a fortune laying a cable when all the world called him a fool; a Michael Angelo, working seven long years decorating the Sistine Chapel with his matchless "Creation" and the "Last Judgment," refusing all remuneration therefor, lest his pencil might catch the taint of avarice; a Titian, spending seven years on the "Last Supper"; a Stephenson, working fifteen years on a locomotive; a Watt, twenty years on a condensing engine; a Lady Franklin, working incessantly for twelve long years to rescue her husband from the polar seas; a Thurlow Weed, walking two miles through the snow with rags tied around his feet for shoes, to borrow the "History of the French Revolution," and eagerly devouring it before the sap-bush fire; a Milton, elaborating "Paradise Lost" in a world he could not see, and then selling it for £15; a Thackeray, struggling on cheerfully after his "Vanity Fair" was refused by a dozen publishers; a Balzac, toiling and waiting in a lonely garret, whom neither poverty, debt nor hunger could discourage or intimidate; not daunted by privations, not hindered by discouragements. It wants men who can work and wait.

When a young lawyer, Daniel Webster once looked in vain through all the law libraries near him, and then ordered, at an expense of $50, the necessary books, to obtain authorities and precedents in a case in which his client was a poor blacksmith. He won his cause, but, on account of the poverty of his client, only charged $15, thus losing heavily on the books bought, to say nothing of his time. Years after, as he was passing through New York City, he was consulted by Aaron Burr on an important but puzzling case then pending before the Supreme Court. He saw in a moment that it was just like the blacksmith's case, an intricate question of title, which he had solved so thoroughly that it was to him now as simple as the multiplication table. Going back to the time of Charles II. he gave the law and precedents involved with such readiness and accuracy of sequence that Burr asked in great surprise if he had been consulted before in the case. "Most certainly not," he replied; "I never heard of your case till this evening." "Very well," said Burr, "proceed." And when he had finished Webster received a fee that paid him liberally for all the time and trouble he had spent for his early client.—Architects of Fate.

COMPETITORS.

THE retailer who uses the coarsest sort of straw paper finds a competitor in the dealer who uses high-grade and sightly paper.

The retailer who uses cheap stationery, and sends in bills irregularly, in an untidy envelope, finds a strong competitor in the man who uses attractive billheads, neat envelopes, and who does everything connected with the book-keeping systematically, regularly and in style.

The retailer whose assistants make errors, delay in deliveries, make mis-statements, has no show alongside of a competitor who is noted for correct dealing, promptness and truthfulness.

The retailer whose clerks are untidy in personal appearance has a strong competitor in the store where the boys always wear polished shoes, have a clean collar, a coat free from grease, hands clean and finger nails tidy.

The retailer who economizes in gas or illuminating oil is not in the race with the brilliantly-lighted store.

The retailer who is ignorant of the nature of the goods he sells cannot compete with the man who knows all about them.

The retailer whose clerks make mistakes in giving change cannot keep abreast of the store where no such errors occur.

The retailer whose clerks forget to enter goods sold a credit customer is sure to be outdistanced by the one whose system prevents such costly carelessness.

The retailer who neglects his front window and counter display helps along the business of his competitor who challenges attention by new, tasty, fresh and novel displays.

The retailer who keeps behind in the procession and lets other merchants try new goods is always chasing to catch up with the competitor who keeps up with the times

The retailer who never reads a trade journal goes rapidly to seed, as compared with the fellow across the way who is always posted.

The retailer who never advertises is the one who contradicts his neighbor that there is money to be made in the jewelry business.

The retailer who overbuys, who fails to overhaul the stock frequently, is hardly handicapped, as compared with the other chap who buys frequently and always turns the stock over often enough to keep it bright and fresh.

The merchant who offers good goods, gives effective, prompt and polite service, conducts his business in relation with his customers methodically and satisfactorily, can always charge a fraction more and retain his trade as compared with the merchant who does not meet these requirements. It is not so much what is charged, within reasonable limits, as the quality of the goods and the method of handling them that bring the most desirable custom. What is desirable custom? The custom that buys intelligently and critically and pays promptly, and a few cents this way or that makes little difference to such custom.—Brains.

THE CRAZY MAN.

I KNOW, writes "The Stroller" in Grocery World, a retail grocer who has originated one of the most remarkable advertising schemes ever thrown on the cold world. He's not a specially large man, either, probably doing a yearly trade of $15,000. To get right at the scheme, this man absolutely gives away every article whose regular retail price is less than 5c. Did I hear somebody say fool? Wait.

When I first heard of the idea I thought the fellow was crazy. When somebody gets hold of an especially new and striking idea, we're apt to conclude that the originator is crazy, mainly because he got hold of a good thing before we did. But to get back. All of the other grocers in the town where this special schemer does business believe he's plumb cracked. Those fellows will argue for hours that that grocer is out of his head and ought to be put in an asylum, while their own business dries up and the dust gathers on their prunes.

Well, to decide for myself whether he was crazy or not, I went to see him. I found him a rather young man—probably 35 years old, with the glint of the sharp, shrewd business man in his eye.

"Well, sir, what can I do for you?" he said, as I approached.

In answer I stood and looked at him full in the face for several seconds.

"You don't look like a crazy man," I said, finally.

He laughed in spite of himself.

"My esteemed competitors have been filling you up, have they?" he asked, quizzically. "You didn't hear anybody outside say so, did you?"

"No consumer," if that's what you mean," I answered, "but the other grocers here would have you put away if they could."

"I suppose they would," he said, laughing again.

This got us on fairly good terms, and I dove right into the subject.

"I wish you'd give me an idea what this scheme of yours is," I said.

"It's very simple, I simply don't charge for articles under 5 cents."

"Suppose the price is just 5 cents," I asked, "do you charge them?"

"Yes, sir."

"If a customer buys 2 pounds of granulated sugar at 4 cents a pound, how much do you charge?"

"Eight cents," was the reply. "The aggregate value of the article is what counts, not the value of an individual pound or quart."

"Well, does it pay you? Tell me that," I said.

"Pay me? It pays me better than anything I ever tried before, or expect to try again. All I'm afraid of is that some of the other grocers here will start it, too.

"I'll just tell you how it pays me," he said. "I started this thing three months ago yesterday, and in that time my business has increased as near 25 per cent. as I can figure. That's good evidence, isn't it?"

I thought it was.

"Don't you find that you are imposed on a good deal? I asked.

"Very little, if any. I suppose I am to a very slight extent, but hardly enough to count.

"You see," he went on, "I made a close calculation as to what percentage of my total business the articles which sold under 5c. amounted to. At that time I did a gross business of about $12,000. I found that of this only 5 per cent. was on articles that sold for less than 5c. That proportion may vary in other places, but that's what it was with me. Five per cent. of $12,000 is $600 a year. That $600 worth of goods probably cost me not over $300. I have stopped all other sorts of advertising and that $300 I set down as my advertising appropriation. If I had to still do only $12,000 worth of trade a year, $300 for advertising might be rather steep. But the minute I got the thing about I noticed a steady increase in my trade. It's very seldom a person will come in here and ask for a 3-cent bottle of bluing and go out with it alone. They are anxious to get something for nothing and will come out of their way to get the 3-cent article, but they will in nearly every case buy something else while they're here. I've gotten the entire trade of at least twenty-five families just through this scheme. And you ask me if it pays."

"How many times have you been victimized?" I asked.

"Very few. There is a notoriously mean old man in town here, and he comes and gets little things for nothing, and, under the arrangement I can't refuse him, but what he gets don't amount to much. That's really about the only case where I haven't come out ahead. If my business increases during the next nine months in the same proportion that it has increased during the last three, I'll have all the business of the town," he said, laughingly.

"And the other grocers call me crazy, do they?" he said, with a peculiar expression, as I started to go.

"Yes," I said, "and I wish you could give me some crazy way of making money."

Let's all go crazy.

DERELICT BUSINESS MEN.

BUSINESS men in the larger cities have not for a long time been noted for the active interest they have taken in municipal affairs. But, if the recent mayoralty contest in Toronto can be taken as a criterion, the conditions are getting worse instead of better.

A corporation, like a mercantile venture, must be conducted, if it is to be conducted satisfactorily, on business principles. Non-business principles can be no more substituted for business principles in the government of a city than can sand be substituted for oil as a lubricant. Business is the driving wheel for a civic corporation as well as for a warehouse.

Although these principles are so self-evident it is surprising the lethargy the average business man in Toronto exhibits in regard to the government of the city.

During the last campaign the task of enlightening the public on the municipal questions of the day fell not upon the business men of the community. Obviously the duty fell upon them, but they did not take it up. On the contrary, they, as a rule, remained at home, while the work they should have taken up was performed largely by agitators of various theoretical schools, young lawyers and doctors with ambition in abundance and practice infinitesmal, with theories prolific, and business commonsense slender. The idea of these young men mounting the public platform and essaying to instruct the electorate how it shall vote! It is absurd.

And yet the blame is not upon them. The major part of it is not, at any rate. The fault lies largely with the business men. They are not doing their duty, either to the community or themselves. A good many of the business men who formerly actively participated in municipal elections are still in existence, but their activity, in a public sense, is not.

The reason for this degenerated influence is probably varied. One reason is no doubt the disgust with the too often unbusinesslike character of the candidates for municipal honors—men whose qualification is often either the strength of the lodge or political influence they can bring into operation. In Toronto the disgust of business men began to develop when the citizens some years ago rejected Mr. E. B. Osler, a practical business man and now president of the Board of Trade and one of the representatives of the city in the House of Commons.

Another reason is the greater competition that has been engendered in business of late years and the consequent closer attention demanded from those who are engaged in it.

No man can be asked to sacrifice his business for the municipality, but there are few merchants or manufacturers who could not sacrifice some of their time for the city without sacrificing their business.

The chief contributors to the taxation of Toronto, or any other city in the Dominion, are its business men. And yet those who have the least to say in the conduct of the affairs of the city are its business men.

People who cannot appreciate the requirements of a business community cannot intelligently legislate for it. And Toronto has suffiered because she has usually had landlubbers and rarely qualified men navigating the municipal ship. Things cannot always go on in this way.

Canada is rich in all the other products of nature, except population. And that, too, she will have some day.

THE PROPOSED TEA DUTY.

THE argument that a specific duty would be a hardship upon the poor man who uses cheap tea is more fanciful than real.

A duty of 10c. per pound would certainly tend to reduce the quantity of the cheap teas which now come into the country in such quantities, for, of course, under a specific duty, the lower the price of the tea is the higher will be the percentage of the rate levied upon it, while on the higher priced teas the tendency would be just the opposite. On some descriptions the duty would probably be as high as 80 to 100 per cent.

It is obvious that rather than pay that increased price for the old, low-grade, trashy tea which he formerly drank the consumer would pay a few cents per pound extra and get a tea of better quality. While this would apparently be still further increasing the cost of his tea, in reality the effect would be the opposite.

The tea that retails at 40c. per pound sells at that price because it possesses that inherent value. The same law governs the value of the 20 or 25c. tea. Therefore the man who pays 40c. per pound gets value for his money as well as he who pays 20c.

In reality the man who pays the higher price is getting the better value. There are several factors which conduce to this. Aside altogether from the fact that the higher priced tea is the more healthy one, it is beyond all question the most economical, possessing as it does relatively greater strength and decidedly higher flavor. It naturally follows that it means also the use of a less quantity of tea for a given quantity of people than would be the case with so many of the trashy low-grade teas that are on the market. Take, for instance, a good Indian or Ceylon tea and one spoonful of it will easily go as far as two or three spoonfuls of many of the cheap teas that are now so freely drunk.

Then it must not be forgotten that the better grade teas are gradually getting relatively cheaper as compared with the low grade teas.

With a specific duty the consumer would naturally be compelled to pay a higher price for his tea, but it is just as certain, as far as the consumer of the very cheap teas is concerned, that he will come less often to his grocer for tea, while the beverage he drinks is a more palatable and more healthy tea.

TAKE STOCK.

NAVIGATORS would as soon think of neglecting to use the helm as to fail from time to time to take their bearings and study their chart.

Stock-taking to the merchant is what the quadrant and chart are to the navigator: It enables him to ascertain his whereabouts.

It is true a merchant may conduct a business year after year without wrecking it. So may a vessel cross the Atlantic without quadrant or chart. But it is a most dangerous practice.

No man can properly carry on business in the dark. And he who does not take stock at least once a year is in gross darkness.

It is not enough for a merchant to know at the end of the year that he has got a balance to his credit in the bank, or that that balance is larger than it was twelve months before. That does not tell him exactly where he stands.

Knowing where he stands means that every merchant must get a clear insight into his business.

There is depreciation in stock to be taken into account, interest on capital invested to be considered, and bad and doubtful debts to be allowed for. With these things taken no cognizance of it is quite possible that the business may be sinking, when it is apparently as buoyant as ever.

But stock-taking not only leads to the discovery of leakages, but it points out ways and means of developing and improving the business.

There are in every merchant's stock lines which have not proved as salable as others, while still others have possessed little or no profit-earning properties. It is advisable that the merchant should ascertain beyond peradventure what these are. Stock-taking will impart this knowledge to him. What the possession of this information is to a wide-awake merchant is obvious.

Stock-taking demands a great deal of time and the expenditure of no small amount of patience, but the knowledge which is obtained as a resultant is worth it all. Take stock.

Atlantic steamers occasionally collide in New York harbor. Last Saturday there was another of them, but we hear nothing regarding the safety of that route.

DON'T WANT A BONUS.

AT present creameries enjoy a certain bonus from the Provincial Government of Quebec for the manufacture of butter.

The Montreal Butter and Cheese Association has all along been opposed to the practice, and last Tuesday, at a special meeting held to consider the question, indulged in some strong talk in regard to it.

They consider that the system conduces to a lot of fraud and instance cases where creameries got their milk in Ontario yet were paid the bonus, and vice versa. Eventually the following resolution was adopted :

Resolved,—That a committee be appointed to draft a resolution strongly advocating the discontinuance of the system of granting bounties to creameries, and recommending the advisability of applying whatever moneys have been voted for that purpose to the increasing and improving of refrigerator accommodation, both on water and land.

The spirit distillers of the United States have been trying to form a combination, but so far without success. Spirit, evidently, is lacking somewhere.

JAPAN RICE.

The first shipment of new season's Japan rice reached New York last week. This arrival is about one month earlier than in any previous year. The second shipment, which is due February 1, will also be about a month earlier. The price is low and the quality good.

The rice crop of Japan is about 385,000 tons short this year, or 7 per cent. below the average. The Louisiana rice crop is about 33 per cent. short.

SCARCITY OF FILBERTS.

FILBERTS have been unusually scarce upon the Toronto market during the past week or two. Some of the wholesale houses are completely cleaned out of them, and in some instances small lots had to be brought on from New York to supply the holiday demand.

Two reasons are advanced for the shortage. The one is that the wholesale trade were over cautious in placing their orders. The other, and probably the most direct, is the non-arrival of the steamer with the shipment due some weeks ago. When this steamer arrives, stocks will be in better shape.

UNTRUSTWORTHY TARIFF WITNESSES.

If the Cabinet Ministers who have been taking evidence on tariff matters are guided by the views expressed by some of the gentlemen who have appeared before them, particularly in Montreal, we will have a mighty queer tariff.

Where they may be tempted to give attention to statements submitted by any but men of well-known reputation they should enquire thoroughly as to the standing of these gentlemen. The word of the average business man is as good as his bond, but even documentary evidence submitted by some should be critically examined.

One deputation made some extraordinary statements, in urging the Commission to grant an increased protection to their industry, which every one in the trade knew to be utterly untrue. Another wanted the duty on a certain article removed and said they were deputed by a large association of merchants. The alleged organization was a myth, and is not now and has never been in existence.

THE LAW REGARDING SPICES.

Editor GROCER,—I would like to say a few words about spices. We hear a good many complaints about the law being such that an inspector can come into our stores and seize every package that has not got the owner's name on; and also to fine the manufacturer of such goods. There is plenty of raw material to make baking powder and spice out of, without adulteration, and the time has come when such fakes as giving bicycles, watches, tinware, silverware, etc., as prizes with goods, should be put down. Let people sell goods on their own merits. It is a disgrace that we have got to give away something to sell another article. If properly put before the new Government by the Toronto Grocers' Association, it might be remedied.

Yours, etc.,
WILSON & SMITH.

St. Catharines, Dec. 28, 1896.

A STORY WORTH THE TELLING.

Editor GROCER,—During the holiday season it was my privilege to have the opportunity of reading the "Annals of Niagara" by Mr. William Kirby. And I feel safe in saying that not only every Canadian, but everybody interested in Canadian history, would profit by its perusal. In speaking of Mr. Kirby, Mr. Geo. H. Mills, the president of the Wentworth Historical Society, refers to him as the connecting link between the long ago and the present. Mr. Mills further states that he is a man so careful of his reputation that the readers of any book of his may rely upon its veracity. An intimate knowledge of the history of Canada is sadly lacking amongst us all. Why such should be the case it is hard to understand. There is much to be proud of, and I am sure a perusal of the Annals will strengthen this thought. I understand the Lundy's Lane Historical Society has issued a number of publications bearing upon Canada's early history, and the same may be procured from Mr. James Wilson, Niagara Falls South. During the year upon which we have just entered, I trust many of your readers will avail themselves of the opportunity of knowing the origin and history of the U.E. Loyalists, and they will then perhaps better understand their loyalty and devotion to their country.

Yours, etc.,
R. TASKER STEELE.

JAMAICA ORANGES FOR ENGLAND.

Direct shipments of oranges from Jamaica to London, Eng., commenced a couple of weeks ago. The fruit, says a contemporary, will enter into keen competition with the produce of the Canary Islands. Five steamers have been chartered by the English company conducting the direct shipments referred to, and these have been fitted up with refrigerator space for large cargoes. Every precaution has been taken to ensure the success of the undertaking. To Jamaica the results mean a great deal. It is impossible, it is claimed, to grow sugar in that island without loss, and the direct shipment of fruit, with its cheaper freights, offers an opportunity to restore its somewhat frayed prosperity.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE Tariff Commissioners held another session in Montreal last week, and concluded their investigations as far as that city is concerned.

AERATED WATER MANUFACTURERS.

Mr. J. Christin, of the firm of J. Christin & Co., aerated water manufacturers, asked that crown corks be admitted free. At present they came under tinware, and he thought that as they were used for the same purpose as other corks they should be put under the same list. The article was manufactured in the States, where large factories had been erected for their production. They paid at present 25 per cent., and not being manufactured in Canada they protected no home industry.

VERMICELLI AND MACARONI.

This industry was represented by Mr. C. H. Catelli. He said that he wished the duty to be specific, as it was prior to 1893, when it was 2c. a pound, but the Government changed it to 25 per cent. Since then they had had serious trouble with the consumers. There were only two manufacturers in Canada, and both were situated in Montreal.

THE TEA TRADE.

Mr. Tees, who appeared on behalf of the tea merchants, said that the tea merchants of Montreal, while differing in their opinions as to the desirability of having a duty on the article of tea, unless such be required for revenue purposes, are unanimous in regard to the great benefit which they derive from the present discrimination of ten per cent. on all imports from the United States. This discrimination shuts out the jobbers of the United States and gives the retail trade to the home merchants. The removal of it would at once open this market to our neighbors. The effect would readily appear when it is considered that it means the instantaneous doubling of competition in a limited market. The purchase of tea in the United States by Canadian retail merchants would be of no benefit to them or to the consumer, as, under existing circumstances, merchants in this country are in a position to sell tea at prices as low as any competing market. "We would," he continued, "respectfully point out to you that in our opinion the removal of such a discrimination would be injurious to our country for the following reasons :

"1. It would, by increasing the competition, so reduce the volume of business and existing net profit of the wholesale merchant that many of the weaker ones would, in a short time, be forced to retire.

"2. It would remove current capital from us, inasmuch as bills sold by United States houses would be at shorter dates than we usually give ; and while their bills would be paid at maturity, ours, in many instances, would be renewed.

"3. It would also, in the case of a declining market and where surplus stocks exist, make Canada a slaughter market.

"4. It would materially increase the cost of tea in our country, as every pound bought by the retailer would be paying a profit to a foreign instead of a domestic merchant.

"We would also point out the fact that for all practical purposes the United States market is now sufficiently open to the wholesale importer, as almost every invoice of Japan tea imported by the United States merchants bears what is termed the Canada clause, which permits its entrance into Canada free of duty. Should the Government deem it expedient to impose a duty on tea, we would suggest that it be specific and not ad valorem. As regards inferior teas, we would strongly urge that appraisers at the various ports of entry be instructed to reject all tea not fit for consumption."

In answer to a question he said that he had never heard any complaint from the retail merchants about the present state of affairs.

Mr. Stroud, of Stroud & Sons, Montreal, was the next one of the delegation to address the Commission. He said : "In the name of our firm, and we think in the interest of the majority of tea importers of Canada, we wish to place before you a few facts relative to the tariff as it affects Canadian trade. Last week some representatives of tea houses and wholesale grocers waited upon you, but the only item of importance which was brought before your Commission was the necessity of maintaining the 10 per cent. ad valorem duty against the United States. This we consider of importance, but it seems to us questionable that the gentleman should lay such stress upon the retention of the 10 per cent duty against the United States, whereas nothing has been said about other countries that ship quantities of tea into Canada without paying any tax. The wholesale tea trade are not afraid of competition ; in fact they desire it. It is an incentive to business, but what we do find fault with is the disadvantage we are placed at by having English representatives in Canada selling teas and coffees without a cent of cost in the way of storage, office hire, or other expenses.

"If this 10 per cent. was levied against England just as it was against the United States it would force the English merchant to open up a warehouse and offices here and spend a part of his profits. As an illustration of this : Since the 10 per cent. duty has been levied against the United States, Japan houses exporting teas to Canada have opened warehouses and offices in Montreal, and at all seasons of the year store large quantities of teas for distribution among the trade. A 10 per cent. duty against England and all other non-producing countries will compel other firms to act in a similar manner. I might be asked why the Canadian trade should have a duty of 10 per cent. against all non-producing countries in order to do a satisfactory business. As the New York market is the great centre for the auctioning of Japan and Gunpowder teas, so is London the great centre for the auctioning of black teas. And these blacks consist of all classes of China teas as well as Ceylon and Indians. At the New York auction, which takes place every Wednesday, about 11,000 packages of teas are sold, and we consider that 25 per cent. of these teas should not be allowed into this country. Fortunately these are kept out through the 10 per cent. imposed. In England about 40,000 packages of black teas are auctioned weekly, a large amount of which only changes hands in bond and pays no duty, and eventually finds its way to Canada. If this duty of 10 per cent. was placed against England a considerable portion of the poor teas that are sold at these London auctions would not enter this country.

"Another grievance which we importers have is that blends in half-pounds, pounds, and full packages are allowed to be manipulated in bond under the supervision of the English Government and exported to Canada free of duty. If Canada is to use these goods she should be benefited by the labor and material involved. It is our firm opinion that a specific duty in addition to an ad valorem duty in Canada would create a demand for a better class of teas. The Russian Government imposes a duty of 48c. per pound, and it is a well-known fact that the Russians receive the best tea of any people in the world. The duty on tea in France is 21c., in Germany, 11c.; Austria, 20c.; Spain, 28c.; Portugal, 48c.; Norway, 24c., and England collects a duty of 8c. per pound, not only from tea imported from China and Japan, but the same duty from her own colonies, India and Ceylon.

It has been said that a specific duty is not just to the poor man. I do not agree with this latter statement, for the reason that a pound of tea that is retailed at 40c. will go as far as 1¾ pounds of tea that is retailed at 20c. If a duty from the place of growth, say from 5 to 7c. per pound, is placed on a common article, the article would never leave the country. The late Government placed a duty of 10 per cent. duty against all non-producing countries, and the only reason that this 10 per cent. was taken off

England is that a number of English merchants waited upon Sir Charles Tupper, stating that if the 10 per cent. duty were maintained it would curtail their trade with Canada. Sir Charles Tupper cabled to his Government here, and, strange to say, that Government discriminated in favor of the English merchant to the detriment of the Canadian trade."

In reply to Hon. Mr. Fielding, Mr. Stroud said that if there was a law against the entry of these inferior goods it had not been enacted. He further stated that it was not because of the cheapness that he objected.

In answer to Hon. Mr. Laurier, Mr. Stroud said he did not think that these cheap teas were consumed to any great extent in England.

In answer to Mr. Fielding, as to whether the imposition of a duty against England would be regarded as discriminating against the Englishman, Mr. Stroud said that he did not mind a little sentiment, but when it came to affecting their pockets that was another thing. When the tea duty was taken off against Canada it closed up all the tea houses in Montreal, and the country was supplied from New York, Boston, etc. With regard to chicory, which was largely used by coffee grinders, the English article could be bought at 8½c. per lb., and the Canadian at 5½c. The duty on English and Belgian chicory should be reduced from 4 to 2c. per lb.

ANOTHER IMPORTER'S VIEWS.

Mr. R. J. Anderson then gave his views. He said that he could readily understand the fear that existed among those engaged in the wholesale trade with regard to the reduction of the 10 per cent. on teas when imported from the United States. He thought that these fears were groundless. With regard to the time of the Mackenzie Government, he would point out that the C. P. R. was not built then, whereas to-day it was an accomplished fact, and freights to Canada are as cheap as to any point in the United States. They had the advantage of the extra return freight on any teas sold by American houses through American travelers to the retail trade. Again, under the Mackenzie regime the wholesale dealers in teas sold them at a profit of 5c. per pound and upwards, the lower figure being considered as almost sacrificing the article. Could it be wondered at that such a profit should offer an opportunity to outsiders to enter the Canadian markets and dispose of their goods at a reduced profit? A profit of 5c. per pound to-day would be considered an immense profit on Japan tea, and for an order exceeding two or three half-chests the purchaser either did not know his business or his credit was very weak in paying such a profit. All that could be obtained to-day was an advance of 7 to 10 per cent. on an order of $300 to $500, which is all caused by home competition. Such a small margin was enough to remove any cause of alarm to the trade of competition from outsiders. If a differential duty was placed against the States, he held that it should also be placed against all countries not of growth and production. This was the opinion of the trade at a meeting held two years ago. He had yet to learn that that opinion was changed; and, with all due respect, he thought that when the Budget was brought down and should show a leaning towards free trade, the 10 per cent. duty would be a blot and a contradiction of its apparent principles. With regard to the duty on tea, he quite agreed that it should be a specific duty, as being more simplified. As to a specific and an ad valorem duty, there could be no very strong objection, but to an ad valorem only no one could be found in the trade who would not most strongly object to it He would like to draw their attention to the injustice that the Canadian importer of teas coming from the States had to put up with. All teas coming direct through the United States, necessitates the merchant going to the Custom House and making affidavit that these goods were always and originally intended for Canada, and were never offered for sale in the United States. With regard to the American merchant, he had an agent here, and when his principal in New York imports teas with a Canadian consular certificate he offers them in the States, while his agent offers them in Canada; hence he had the benefit of the two markets. If the teas were sold here the agent took the affidavit the same as the Canadian merchant, who could not offer his teas similarly placed in the United States market.

Mr. T. Doherty was of the opinion that if a duty was imposed it would be impossible to prevent smuggling. He was in favor of a ten per cent. duty against the United States, which was not against the American tea importer, but against the American jobber, who could send his travelers all over the country. They had nothing to fear in the way of cheapness, but the Government should appoint an inspector to prevent the introduction of adulterated and cheap teas, such as the Americans had.

GRAIN AND SEEDS.

Mr. Ewing, seedsman, said that the present tariff on seeds was generally satisfactory to the trade and farmers as well. Turnip, carrot and mangel were the principal roots used for stock feeding and are free of duty. These roots might be raised in Canada, but not to such an extent as could compare with Europe, on account of the climate and the smaller area. On other seeds in bulk, ten per cent. is the present tariff, and he considered them fair. Red clover and timothy were both imported from the United States, as they did not grow all that was necessary for home use. The duty of 10 per cent. on clover and grass seeds was not too heavy. A heavier duty on common red clover and timothy might be beneficial. Canada could produce better seeds than the States, and certainly the United States produced much more inferior seeds. The more good seeds sown the better crops would result. It was also a fact that the United States was about a month earlier than Canada, so that just when they were putting their seeds on the market the Americans came in with their inferior kinds.

Mr. Ward, of Joseph Ward & Co., spoke chiefly on agricultural produce. They, in Canada, grew the finest seed, and they produced the finest timothy, clover and root seed in America, and such produce was the result of high-class farming. He thought that the tariff should be maintained to protect this high-class farming produce. As the seed season was about to commence he would respectfully ask that if a change was made in the tariff it be made known as soon as possible. He thought that the duty of 10 per cent. on fertilizers should be removed. They were admitted free into the United States, both compounded and uncompounded. The duty debarred about 95 per cent. of the farmers from getting fertilizers, which they so much require for their exhausted soil.

THE DUTY ON CHOCOLATE.

Mr. Wheeler, of Walter Baker & Co., chocolate manufacturers, Dorchester, Mass., represents the above firm in Montreal. He said that the duty had been changed four or five times. He claimed that the chocolate used by the confectioners was a raw material. The Canadian manufacturer was charged 2c. a pound going into the States, and he asked for reciprocity in this respect. Within the last six years his firm had spent $50,000 in Canada, besides $15,000 in advertising. If the duty was reduced his firm had agreed to reduce the price of the goods.

At the close of the sitting of the Tariff Commission in Montreal, Mr. R. Bickerdike, president of the Montreal Board of Trade, on behalf of the merchants and business men of Montreal, thanked the members of the Commission for the courtesy shown the different deputations. Hon. Mr. Fielding in a word returned thanks.

AT OTTAWA.

The Tariff Commission resumed its sitting at Ottawa on Monday morning in the Railway Committee rooms in the Parliament Buildings. There was little or no enthusiasm shown on the part of the public or traders, which drew the remark from Hon. Mr. Fielding "that this was quite a change from Montreal, where they were falling over each other in their eagerness to lay their views before the Commission." Perhaps this apathy may be accounted for by the fact that the municipal elections were going on. A Liberal was heard to remark: "The people of Ottawa had no grievances, and they were more interested in the election of a mayor than in a change in the tariff." Whatever the cause, the deputations were not strong nor many, and the "audience" was conspicuous by its absence. Hon. Mr. Fielding arrived on time, but the other members of the Commission, Hon. Mr. Paterson and Sir Richard Cartwright, at eleven o'clock had not put in an appearance and other members of the Commission had to take their place. They were Hon. W. Laurier, Hon. Mr. Davies and Hon. Mr. Fisher.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

Hon. E. H. Bronson was the first to give evidence. He said that he appeared there more in his individual capacity than as the representative of lumbermen. The lumber trade, he said, would not be affected so much directly, but indirectly it would be affected, if a change in the tariff was made in connection with what they consumed in their trade. Take pork, for instance. At present they were not disposed to ask the Commission to make any change in the duty, for they realized that it was in the agricultural interests to sustain the price of pork in Canada and they felt diffident about making any suggestion. Instead of reducing the duty on pork, if the Government would admit corn free it might answer the purpose and would increase the quantity of of home-grown hogs and reduce the price. That, of course, would tend to benefit the lumber trade and people generally who consumed that product.

In answer to Mr. Davies, Mr. Bronson said that the proportion of American pork used was greater than Canadian, which was accounted for by the fact that the American article was much firmer and did not lose so much in the cooking. He thought that Canadian pork was just as sweet as the American. The duty at present did not stimulate the consumption of Canadian pork in the lumber camps, because the American suited their requirements better.

Proceeding, Mr. Bronson said that it had been stated that pressure was being brought to bear with the American Government to have a duty placed on Canadian lumber and pulp wood, and he thought that the re-imposition of the duty on lumber should be made by the Canadian Government. Speaking for himself and the trade, he said that they felt very strongly on the question. He would like them to decide at once upon this question, as perhaps it was one of the most important industries in the Dominion. If the American Government did impose the duty he would bespeak for the lumbermen of the Dominion a hearing so that they may not be taken advantage of.

Mr. J. R. Booth next gave evidence from a lumberman's standpoint. He said there were some things in general which he would like to touch upon, but as a whole he had no serious complaint to make. He was of opinion that the country required to foster in every way the natural products of the country, and what was not natural to admit as free as possible. He thought it impossible for the Canadian farmer to compete with pork against places where corn could be raised from 15 to 16c. a bushel. In the interests of the working classes, he thought that pork should be made as cheap as possible. No doubt the duty was imposed upon pork in the interest of the farmer, but he thought it was the other way around, and that it was more of a hindrance to the working classes than of benefit to the farmer. Although the duty was $2 a barrel on United States pork, yet the consumption of domestic pork was not greater. In his lumber camps he used American pork almost exclusively, as, for one reason, he could not get a supply of Canadian, and for the reason that Canadian pork did not keep so well.

In answer to Mr. Fielding, Mr. Booth said that, as a whole, corn was not natural to this country.

In answer to Mr. Laurier, he said there was money in pork raising, and the fact of corn being admitted free would help to build up the industry. It had been talked about making Canada a cheap country to live in, but before that work was required; what they wanted was manufacturers to give the people work, as they could not all farm. Continuing, he said that iron in the bar should be admitted free, because before manufacturers could turn out their goods cheap they must get their raw material free.

Mr. Fielding said that from the evidence submitted to the Commission at various points it was shown that iron was found in large quantities. He did not argue the point. He was merely stating what he had heard.

Mr. Booth, in answer to Mr. Davies, said that he was in favor in some cases of the payment of the bounty in preference to the straight protective duty.

Mr. Laurier: Where would you get your revenue to pay the bounty?

Mr. Booth said his opinion was that the revenue should be collected from cigars, liquors, broadcloths, silks, tobaccos, etc. They could tax them as high as they could, but permit the necessaries of life to be as free as possible. His opinion was that if a protective duty was put on a certain time should be specified for the duty to remain, so that capitalists would have some idea of what protection they would receive before investing, and he thought that that would induce capitalists to invest.

Mr. Fielding said that they were subject to public opinion as regards that, and what would be the opinion of to-day might be changed to-morrow, and legislators had always to be governed by the will of the people.

Mr. Fielding, in reply to Mr. Booth's contention that protection cheapened an article, said that they were told the very opposite, as it was stated that protection made an article dear. Take iron, for instance; the produced article was made much dearer by protection.

Mr. Booth said that protection created competition among industries at home and that made goods cheaper. They could not get cheap goods at first, but after the manufacturers had been in existence for some time the goods became cheaper.

He went on to say that coal should be made free, and Mr. Fielding asked if coal was a natural product. The people of Nova Scotia and Vancouver Island would tell them that it was as natural as lumber.

Mr. Booth said that it would be better for Ontario railways to have coal free, as it would assist in stimulating trade. Railways had done a great deal for them, but it was well understood that investors had made nothing out of them. They would be able to treat their employes better and be able to pay a dividend to the investor.

Mr. Reford, Montreal, was the next to address the Commission. He said, with regard to pork, that the Canadian article was very much better than the American, and it was becoming of very considerable importance.

Speaking as to the duty on lumber, Mr. Reford said that he would ask that the imposition of the duty on saw logs be imposed. The Americans were getting the Canadian timber for next to nothing, and their forests were being thinned down and the country had nothing to show for it. Canadian lumber was sold here for $4 per 1,000 feet to Americans, and that was away below the actual price. He thought that an export duty would stop this depletion, and he expressed the hope that measures would be taken to prevent the cutting of trees under a certain size.

Mr. Fielding said that with regard to the imposition of an export duty on lumber, he thought it hardly fair to take for granted that the United States intended to be unfriendly to Canada with regard to her lumber interests, and Mr. Reford referred to the published statement of the Commission at Washington, that a duty should be imposed on Canadian lumber, as an indication of an unfriendly feeling.

NOTE.—The report of Mr. E. B. Eddy's evidence before the Commission is unavoidably held over till next week.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

T. KINNEAR & CO. are in receipt of a carload of Le Roy's dairy salt "Perfection" brand, in bags, boxes and little barrels.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer choice evaporated apples at a low figure.

"Rising Sun" stove polish, 5 and 10c. sizes, is selling well with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have some splendid codfish in quintals; also B.C. salmon in half-barrels.

The demand for mince meat increases with each season. T. A. Lytle & Co. report the heaviest holiday trade for years.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. ask for a trial of their "Bee" brand Ceylon tea in sack packets, handy for selling over the counter.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have made a most advantageous purchase of Rio coffee, which they are advertising in THE CANADIAN GROCER this week.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., claim their "Tea Cup" Japan tea in 1-lb. packages to be superior in style and liquor to any bulk Japan being offered at the same money.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. call attention to their special brands of Japan tea, all of the choicest May pickings. They also offer a full assortment of China, India and Ceylon teas.

A handsome grocery display case, sold by W. H. Gillard & Co., is being reduced to a low price. These cases are effective in securing sale for otherwise uncalled for goods.

A shipment of Hallowee dates is to hand with T. Kinnear & Co., which they are offering at prices lower than usual. The firm is also in receipt of a shipment of Bordeaux walnuts.

T. B. Escott & Co. have a carload of Ceylon tea and nearly two carloads of Indian arriving in a few days which were purchased at the very lowest point the market reached. "We have several hundred packages of Japans bought at the lowest price in the market, and we are still offering them at the old price," writes the firm.

ARE BUSINESS MEN TOO BUSY?

THERE has been suspicion in many minds that business is assuming too closely the level of machine work. It can be asserted, without fear of strong opposition, that the proposition is true. Business men, says The Detroit Herald of Commerce, are in the mass too much engaged with material affairs and too little engaged with the conditions that make wholesome social life, both in and out of the home.

Man possesses great capacity for development. He was not created solely for business. It was not intended that he should rush away from home in the morning, remain at his desk until noon, grab a lunch at a restaurant, remain at his desk until night and into the night, and hurry to bed for a few hours of enforced sleep. And yet the mass of business men are living about that sort of a life.

We are voluntary slaves to business in large part. It is admitted, of course, that under the social conditions of our time many men must toil. Toil is more than work. It is by work that we thrive, both physically and materially. Man was made for work, but he was not made to abuse himself by work. This he often voluntarily does, however.

Many business men fail to grasp the real purpose and opportunity of life. They assume that correct living is being successful in business, and business success is measured in the amount of money that can be accumulated. If we will investigate for a moment the nature of man and its possibilities, it will be apparent that this idea of success is too narrow. It is right that ambition for material success should exist; it is right that money should be accumulated. But it is not right that ambition should exist merely to accumulate money, for in that there is no room for proper social and moral advancement.

Gladstone, at nearly four score years and ten is still a student, while it is not uncommon, under the prevalent idea of a successful career, to cease study at 25. The example of the purely material life is bad for a community. It misleads the man who is struggling for an existence. He comes to see in it something that he can never attain to, and he becomes dissatisfied. If men of business would give more time to social advancement, they would soon call a halt on the mad race for wealth. In this plan of living business men would learn how to use money as well as how to make it, and, with that knowledge acquired, selfishness would have smaller standing-place in the world.

We can see in much of the present tendency toward social reform that a force is at work in the minds and hearts of men that gives promise of beneficent results. The idea of man's brotherhood is sweeping over the world. It has invaded India; it has gone into the islands of the sea; it has taken root in China; it is beginning to manifest itself in America in a far more practical way than ever before. What part is the business man going to have in this development? Shall he be content to be left behind, with no thought, no aspiration, no attainment outside of the narrow and contracted sphere of his money-making?

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

NATURAL figs in bags and boxes are being offered by W. H. Gillard & Co. at prices that it will pay the keen buyer to investigate.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report large sales of low-grade Young Hysons during the past ten days.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol: We start the new year with the cleanest tea stock we ever had. Still have some wonderful values in 10c. Young Hysons.

"We are offering magnificent values in medium grade Ceylon and Assam teas," say the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

H. P. Eckardt & Co.: You can make a few dollars extra by selling Armour's "White Label" soups, which have an earning power that is not easily calculated.

T. B. Escott & Co.: "Grand Mogul" is holding its own and increasing in popularity. We have just received a letter from a dealer in the west in which he says: "Send me one case 'Grand Mogul' tea, as it gives good satisfaction." This is a sample of reports we get frequently from those who handle this excellent tea.

CHANGE IN A SPICE FIRM.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, who has been with the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. for the past ten years, during the last three years of which as junior partner and manager, has retired from the firm. He will hereafter be found with the Toronto Coffee and Spice Co., Ltd., he having entered that firm as vice-president.

HAMILTON RETAIL GROCERS.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Hamilton have elected the following officers: J. O. Carpenter, president: J. C. Boligan, first vice-president; F. R. Close, second vice-president; W. R. Harvey, secretary; C. Bremner, treasurer; C. Holt and G. Powell, auditors; J. Ronan, C. Duff, W. Smye, C. H. Peebles, A. Ballentine, Executive Committee.

WELL WORTH CONSIDERING.

Teas! Teas!!

TEAS!!!

The tea market is in "Fine Condition" just now. Besides there is the possibility of a duty being put on teas. Why not buy a few good lines and be on the safe side? We sell our teas on basis of cost, not on basis of actual market value, which to-day would mean 10 to 20 per cent. more than our prices.

We have "Remarkably Fine Values" in:

Young Hysons at 10c.
Congous at 10c.
Gunpowders at 10c.
Japans at 13 and 15c.
Our HH M Japan at 18c.
10 h/c lot 17½c.

Compare our HH M Japan with any Japs offered at 19 to 20c., but not with same price teas as we quote above, as it would mean a loss of time to you.

MONTREAL.

THE DIFFERENCE IN TRAVELERS.

TWO traveling men, according to a contemporary, were discussing the peculiarities of another traveling man, and one remarked: "Why, the fellow is an ignoramus and does not know how to speak a grammatical sentence." "You may be right," replied the other, "but he knows how to sell goods, and that is what his house hires him for." "But," said the other, "how can such a man sell goods?" "I don't know," replied his companion, "unless it is because he is a gentleman." There is a good deal of truth in this statement, and it merely shows that education does not necessarily imply that the individual must be a graduate of a college. We are all familiar with the expression of "a learned fool." An education, from a business point of view, should consist of, first, good common sense and good judgment. A man may be well educated, as far as a knowledge of books, etc., is concerned, but may be sadly deficient either as a gentleman or a man of business, and if so, he is far worse than an uneducated man who possesses good, sound judgment, is a gentleman and who has a knowledge of business details. Some people who have received a good education lose no opportunity to show the world at large that they are vastly superior to the common herd of humanity, and consequently they become inveterate boors. You will only be in the society of such people a few minutes when they will either give hints or come out boldly and tell you just how much they know. Then again you will meet intelligent as well as educated people who do not try to press their importance on you, and who are as good listeners as they are talkers, and such people are a pleasure to meet. There are others who have a superficial knowledge of nearly everything, but who do not have a thorough knowledge of anything, and it does not require any long length of time to find out just what they do or do not know, for they will tell what they know at every opportunity, and you can guess at the rest. In actual business life, the plain, uneducated person who understands his line of business, and who sticks to that line, is far more to be preferred than the educated boor who gives you an impression he is conferring a favor on you by even condescending to talk to you.

"CIRCLE" BRAND TEA.

This week Lucas, Steele & Bristol, of Hamilton, have placed on the market their "Circle" brand of tea. The label has a most elegant and attractive appearance, and is totally different from anything of the kind in use in Canada. The package is air-tight, and its hygienic qualities are beyond a doubt. When its contents have been used up the container can be used for various purposes, and will be found a useful adjunct to the housekeeper's pantry. The new and improved machinery employed in the manufacture of the package is a surprise to people who have seen it. The cases of "Circle" tea contain 60 pounds each, and are packed either all black or black and Young Hyson mixed, pounds and halves. Nothing but natural, clean tea is used in this brand. The firm's travelers have samples of both tea and package. Those on ground not covered by them can have samples on application.

GLUCOSE CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Advices received in Toronto this week note a further decline in glucose in Chicago, and the price is now lower than ever before known. The decline is owing to the dulness of trade and the desire of the manufacturers to keep business moving. It is claimed that the price of corn is not a factor.

FAILURES FOR THE YEAR.

In the Dominion of Canada (Newfoundland included) the total number of business failures in 1896 was 2,205, compared with 1,923 the year before, and with 1,873 the year before that. The contrast with the comparisons of liabilities in the United States is marked, the total being only $16,369,000, compared with $15,793,000 in 1895, and with $23,985,000 in 1894. The liabilities of failing concerns in the United States in 1896 were $247,052,343, as against $158,842,445 in 1895.

THE CITY AND THE COUNTRY GROCER.

MANY country grocers feel aggrieved because their townspeople leave them and patronize the city grocer, without looking into the matter to find why. There is only one reason why the average consumer prefers to trade with the city grocer rather than the one in his own town, and that is because he gets better goods or better or quicker service. Nine times out of ten this discrepancy or inferiority in the country grocer's service is unnecessary. Nine times out of ten he could prevent a dollar's worth of trade going to the city grocer if he would.

In some ways the country grocer can undeniably not compete with the city dealer.

In more, he can compete with him. He can compete with him in the quality of his advertising, in the promptness of his service, in the quality of his goods, the way they are sent out, and, more often than not, in the price. He can compete with him, in brief, in the way of making his customers feel that they are, to the fullest degree, in safe hands.—Grocery World.

PREDICTED CALIFORNIA ORANGE SLUMP.

A CALIFORNIA correspondent has sent to The Grocery World a copy of an interview with H. K. Pratt, a prominent orange handler of Redlands, Cal., who predicts a decided slump in California oranges a little later in the season. He states that about 200 cars of oranges have already been shipped from Southern California, with a probability of nearly that number in the next ten days. This he believes, will weaken the market to a very low point. As yet it is said that eastern buyers have purchased a small percentage of the crop. The demand has not been overly large, and there seems to be but little confidence among fruit men. There is also fear of repeated rejections.

Mexican oranges are said to be worrying the Californias to a considerable extent. They are selling in car lots in the Central West at $1 less than California navels, laid down, and the Mexican oranges are sweeter than the Californias and come in better sizes.—Grocery World.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The friends of Mr. W. H. Seyler, of the Eby, Blain Co., will be pleased to learn that his little child, August, has been discharged from the Isolation Hospital, where he had been for three weeks suffering from diphtheria.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

AS might be expected, the after-holiday quietude still obtains in the wholesale trade of Toronto, the orders, as a rule, being of a hand-to-mouth character. The exception is probably confined to teas, the demand for which continues good. The sugar markets generally are steady, while yellows in New York on Saturday last advanced 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb. The only effect this has had upon the local market is to impart a little more confidence. Purchases of sugar here are limited. Syrups and molasses, while quiet at the moment, are expected to experience a better demand with colder weather. Canned goods are in fair demand for the season. Foreign dried fruits are quiet, and the only feature of interest in them is a further advance in the primary market.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned vegetables is fairly good for this time of the year. Some houses are experiencing a good trade in extra sifted canned peas. There is a fair quantity of cheap salmon on the market which retails at 10c. per tin, and this line the demand seems to be chiefly for at the moment. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is not much enquiry for green coffees and the market is weak and unsettled. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Some nice dark syrups are being offered, but they are not inducing sales. With continued cold weather a better demand is looked for. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Quiet and unchanged with an improved demand looked for. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market continues quiet at unchanged prices. Dealers have been buying from hand to mouth, not taking a barrel more than they can avoid. There has been a little request for dark sugars during the past week or ten days, but this grade of sugar is scarce, although a few more are being offered. On Saturday in New York yellow sugars advanced from 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb. The former fraction represents the advance in the two lower grades. The market in New York has a steady tone, and there is a promise of increased business. The raw market, both for cane and beet sugar, is strong. Wholesalers' quotations for granulated are unchanged at 4 to 4.10c., and yellows range from 3.30 to 3.75c. per lb.

SPICES.

Business in spices is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

There is a scarcity of filberts on the market, some houses having none at all. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

There is no new feature to note in this line. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The market is probably receiving a little more attention than is usual at this season, on account of the possible change in the duty, wholesalers buying whatever is showing extra good value. There have been a number of transactions in all kinds of teas except Japans, which are being neglected at this point, and for two reasons: (1) Smallness of supplies and (2) the high prices asked by holders. Low-grade China green teas at from 11 to 12c. are scarce and wanted. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 21 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A private cable received on Monday announced another advance of 9d. per cwt. in the price of currants in Patras. The local market is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and firm. The little buying that is being done is by retailers who have been, as a rule, buying in small quantities all the season. Those who bought early in the season are apparently still well supplied. The grade of fruit most wanted is selected, and it is scarce, some houses having none at all. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Malaga raisins are receiving little or no attention, but the fruit now in stock is the better kind, for which a demand is usually experienced later in the season. We quote as follows: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

The demand for figs is almost nil. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

There is very little doing in dates. We quote 7 to 7½c. for Hallowee and 6½ to 6¾c. for cheaper grades.

A few transactions are reported in California prunes, but in other kinds no new business is reported. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

California evaporated prunes are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Choice peaches, 25-lb. boxes, 10½c.; Royal apricots (fancy), 15c.; fancy egg plums, 10c.; fancy silver prunes, 13c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are cabled 6d. per case dearer in Liverpool. Oranges locally are not as much wanted as they were and prices are lower. The demand for lemons is good. Cranberries, considering the quantity of apples on the market, are in good demand. The liberal supply of turkeys, and their cheapness, is the cause of this. We quote : Oranges — Jamaicas, $3.50 to $3.75 per box ; ditto, barrels, $7; Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.75 to $4.25 per case; large, 420's, $5.25 to $5.50; 714's, $4 to $4.50 per case ; Mexicans, $3.25 to $3.75 per box ; Floridas, $4.50 per box ; California navels, $3.75 to $4. Lemons —Messinas and Palermos, $2.25 to $3 per box for choice to fancy ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. for red fruit or greenings, and 75c. for ordinary ; onions, 75c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish ; cranberries, $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $5 to $5.50 for Canadians and Nova Scotians ; cases, $2 to $2.50 ; bananas, $1.50 to $1.75 ; Almeria grapes, $5 to $7.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER —Is still dull, scarcely anything doing. Large rolls are glutting the market and there is still a great deal of poor quality butter coming forward. To effect sales of any size it is necessary to shade price. We hear of one transaction of 30 cases of large rolls at 11c. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice ; low-grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 11 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—There is not much doing and prices are much about as before. We quote early makes at 10 to 10½c. and local makes at 10½ to 10¾c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is scarcely anything doing. Stocks in the hands of country dealers are reported to be large and it is expected that there will be a great deal of old stock on the market. We quote 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Some contracts are being fflled on export account, but no new ones are apparently being made, there being little or no demand. There is nothing scarcely doing on local account either. Exporters are paying 2½c. f.o.b. for prime stock and jobbers are quoting ordinary to choice at 2 to 2¾c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Dull, with holders asking 3½ to 4c. f.o.b., which is more than exporters are willing to pay. Jobbers' quote 4 to 4½c. in small lots.

EGGS—The market is firmer, the receipts having fallen off during the past week, while the demand is fair. We quote: Limed, 14 to 14½c.; fresh gathered, 17 to 18c.; new-laid, 20 to 21c.

MAPLE SYRUP—The sale is fair at 70 to 80c. per gallon.

POTATOES—The market is dull and weak, with sales on the track at 25c. per bag. Out of store 35 to 40c. is asked.

POULTRY—The market is pretty well cleaned up. Geese are scarce and during New Year's sold up to 8c. per lb. Ducks are scarce and wanted. Turkeys are plentiful and cheap. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 40c. per pair; turkeys, 6 to 7c.; geese, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 60 to 70c.

HONEY — Dull and unchanged. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are light. We quote: Wheat, 88½c. for white and 86½c. for red, and 66 to 67c. for goose; oats, 21 to 23½c.; peas, 44c.

FLOUR—Business is fairly good and prices as before. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25; straight roller, $4.30, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices are a little lower and business quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.20 in bags and $3.30 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The conditions are much the same as a week ago. Business is quiet. We quote as follows: White fish 7½c.; trout, 7c.; Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 to $5.50 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 3½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 7c.; sea herring, $1 to $1.25 per 100; smelts, 7 to 10c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 to $1.35 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade in provisions is still quiet with prices as before. Packers claim that quotations, in view of the prices ruling for hogs, should be higher, and they are looking for an advance in hams and meats. There are not a great many dressed hogs coming forward. They are quoted at $4.50 to $4.65 for heavy weights, and $5.25 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6 to 7c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 85 to 90c.

WOOL—The market is steady. Dealers are paying 21 to 22c. for combing fleece, 17c. for rejections. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c. and extras at 22 to 23c.

SALT.

Trade continues fair at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PETROLEUM.

The price of Canadian oil and American water white are ½c. lower. Business continues brisk. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Yellow sugars are dearer in New York.

Valencia oranges are cabled 6 to 9d. per case dearer in Liverpool.

A cable to Watt & Scott reports an advance of 9d. per cwt. in the price of currants.

Eleven carloads of oranges, or 3,000 boxes, have arrived within a week for Clemes Bros. This is believed to be the largest consignment ever received by one firm in Toronto. It is the intention to auction the fruit off in the course of a few days.

OUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, JAN. 7, 1897.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS has hardly resumed its normal proportions yet, but there were indications this week of a reviving interest. In every case, however, demand and enquiry is confined to and regarding goods for actual wants. No buyer seems disposed to reach out ahead. Values generally are steady. Sugar shows little change, except that low-grade yellows have been shaded in some instances at the refineries. Syrups continue lifeless, while the firm feeling in molasses in fully maintained. THE EBY, BLAIN COMPANY LTD.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

can be said of spices and rice, which are strong in tone. Scarcity of Maracaibo and corresponding strength continues the feature of the coffee market. Japan teas were also enquired for by jobbers and some round lots changed hands at firm values. Dried fruit, nuts. and other lines were practically motionless.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has exhibited little alteration as yet, demand being confined strictly to actual wants. Jobbers' stocks are understood to be of small compass, but the fact fails to spur them into any buying except of a hand-to-mouth character. At the refineries yellows have sold, it is claimed, under 3⅛c., but the sales were hardly a fair criterion. At any rate, there is no change in the jobbing basis. Granulated is offered in invoice lots f.o.b. refinery at 3⅞c., which is ½c. lower than what is asked for it in New York. In a jobbing way we quote: Granulated, 4 1-16 to 4⅛c. and yellows 3¼ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change for the better in the syrup market. Demand continues dull and the easy feeling ruling for over a fortnight is still dominant. We quote 22 to 35c. as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The firmer feeling in Barbadoes molasses is quite as marked as it was last week. No great activity is noted, however, for the reason that supplies are extremely light and holders are not urging sales. No round lots are now obtainable from first hands under 28½c., which is a gain of 1½c. in less than two weeks. As a result of this continued strength, we quote a higher range in a jobbing way at 30 to 32c. as to quality, and some sellers refuse to sell at the inside.

RICE.

There has been little change in rice during the past week. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

Demand for white and black pepper and a good enquiry for nutmegs have been leading features of the spice market. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is little change in coffee. Enquiry for Maracaibo is fairly active and prices on it are firmly held. Other descriptions are slow. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

A fair demand has been noted for Japan teas, and quite a few round lots have changed hands between dealers. In a jobbing way, however, the market is quiet. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c.

for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business in Valencia raisins continues much the same as it was. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

There is no change in California raisins, which are firmly held as follows: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins continue quiet and steady at 7 to 12c., as to quality.

There is no change in Malaga which are dull at $1.50 to $4.50.

The currant market is unchanged and reflects no disposition to swing with the firm foreign advices. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes are quiet and steady as last noted. We quote: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Figs are without change at 9½ to 11c, as to grade. Demand is fair.

Dates move quietly at 5 to 5½c. for ordinary brands.

There is a moderate enquiry for evaporated California fruit, and we quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c. as to brand.

NUTS.

Demand for nuts has fallen off with the end of the holidays. We quote as follows: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market exhibits little change. Business is quiet and prices generally steady. We quote: Tomatoes, 75

FISH.

Salt fish rule dull and there is little demand for fresh frozen fish at this writing. Values generally are steady as follows: Labrador herrings, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S., $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. C., $6 per half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. Fresh tommycod, $1.25 to $1.40 per bbl,; haddock, 3¼ to 3½c.; frozen salmon, 11 to 12c.; halibut, 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout, 6½c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.30 to $1.50; ciscoes, 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring, 10 to 11c. per lb. Dried cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has ruled extremely quiet this week. Lemons rule rather easy as to value, and the same can be said of Valencia oranges, which are plentiful and cheap. Jamaicas, on the other hand, are scarce and firm. California oranges are showing excellent flavor, and sell at steady prices. We quote: California oranges, $4 to $4.50 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $6.50 to $7 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $3.75 to $4 per box; lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate.

APPLES.

The apple market continues quiet and unchanged at 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2.

DRIED APPLES.

There is little life in dried apples, and we quote 3 to 3½c. in small jobbing parcels, while jobbers bid 2½ to 3c. for them laid down in Montreal. Evaporated apples are quiet at 3¾ to 4¼c., as to quality.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the situation of the egg market. Demand is slow and prices unchanged. We quote: Montreal limed, 14 to 14½c.; western ditto, 13 to 13½c.

BEANS—Only a small jobbing trade doing at 80 to 85c. in car lots, and 90 to 95c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES— Potatoes continue slow at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and 45 to 50c. in a small way.

ONIONS—Continue quiet at $1.50 to $1.60 per bbl. for red, and $1.75 for yellow.

HONEY—Dull, ranging from 8 to 10c. for comb honey in cases, with extracted 7½ to 9c.

HOPS—Without life, at 11 to 12c. for choice 1896, and fair to good 8 to 10c., while yearlings offer at 5 to 6c.

DRESSED HOGS—Dressed hogs are 15c. lower, at $4.75 to $4.85.

PROVISIONS.

The only change in the local provision market was the easier feeling in pure Canadian lard, and the very outside figure obtainable for round lots is 6½c., while in a small way 7c. is paid. The demand for all lines is limited. New packed Canadian pork is offering at $11 to $12, and old is selling in a small way at $10 to $10.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6½ to 7c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The early days of the week witnessed a good demand for flour, several thousand sacks being put through for export also to Great Britain. Locally, winter wheat patents are selling at $4.70 to $4.85; Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5 to $5.30; strong bakers', $4.50 to $5; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.50; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.25.

The demand for oatmeal continues of a limited character, and the market is quiet and about steady at $3.40 to $3.50 per barrel for rolled oats, and $1.70 to $1.75 per bag. A fair business was done in feed, and values rule about steady. Manitoba bran, $10 to $10.50 per ton, including sacks; Ontario, $9.25 to $9.50 in bulk; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16. Enquiry for hay in small lots was fair, and the market is firm at $10.50 to $11 for No. 1, and at $9 to $9.50 for No. 2 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Values on finest September cheese are firmly held at 10½c., and it is understood that further business has been put through over the cable at a figure equivalent to that price on spot. In late October and November goods trading ranges all the way from 9½ to 10c., as to quality.

The butter market was quiet and about steady. Shippers are paying 18¼ to 18½c. for creamery, and for really finest stock, which is very scarce, a fraction more would probably be given. In a jobbing way creamery is selling at 19c., and western roll at 13.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 7, 1897.

IN this the first letter or report for another year the St. John correspondent extends to all the readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER best wishes for a prosperous year. In wholesale business there is very little moving, and for this reason there is little change in values. They tend easy on account of the slight demand, the more as in the case of flour and oatmeal the goods in stock were bought at prices much lower than those now ruling. Quite an effort is being made to boom St. John and the province generally as a summer resort by a local organization called the Tourist Association. Already much good work has been done. We feel assured that if the advantages of our province were better known the already very large number traveling this way in the summer would be very largely increased. The Maine Central have taken the matter up and the January, February and March numbers of their official organ will give a large amount of space to this matter.

OIL — The dealers are now beginning to book spring orders for lubricating oils, for which this province is a very large market. While we have a number here in the business, both American and Upper Canadian houses send travelers here, who all get a share of our trade. Burning oil shows no change. There is still quite a quantity moving. Empties come in to local dealers quite freely. We quote: Best American, 19½c.; best Canadian, 18½c.; prime, 16c.

SALT—St. John is one of the large receiving ports for Liverpool coarse salt. While at present there is only the regular demand, the large quantity which arrives here by steamer goes promptly into comsumption. Prices in car lots from steamer's side are quoted lower than we give below. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—There is a firm feeling, but not the demand to really settle prices. While corn, peas, and tomatoes were sold at even prices early in the season, this is no longer the case, both peas and tomatoes ruling 10c. above lowest price. Corn is still low. One retailer, in sending out a circular, wishing to quote low prices and still make a profit, quoted two grades: Corn, 5c. per can, and best corn, 7c. One retailer offers 3 cans for 20c. Lobsters are about out of the market. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.75; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; American peaches, 3's, $2.25.

GREEN FRUIT—Is, if possible, more quiet than other lines and will be so, as for two months little is done. The Valencia oranges now here run small in size, but will improve with later importations. Lemons, which have been ruling higher, are quoted lower this week. Apples show no improvement; quite a number of auction sales have been held lately. In round lots good Bishop Pippins have changed hands as low as $1 per bbl. Malaga grapes are quoted higher; they are about out of the market. We quote cranberries rather lower. A few California oranges are being received. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; Valencia oranges, $3.25 to $3.50 per case; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $7 to $7.50; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $5; pines, $1.50 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Merchants are still waiting for new dates. About 100 cases are all that have so far arrived in this market. An extra price was obtained for these, so the delay had that advantage. Others are now daily expected. Raisins and peels are well cleaned up. A car of California raisins were sold here this week, the first car since the advance. The market is very firm. In California prunes there is less demand than usual. There appears no demand for the evaporated fruits. While only introduced a few years, the demand is rather tending backward. Currants tend higher, and this leads to more barrels being bought. Onions show a fair movement at full prices. The low price of peanuts has caused quite a quantity to be bought by our merchants. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2.00; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls.. 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 6c.; dates, 4½ to 5½c.; dried apples, 3c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 5c.; Canadian onions, $2 to $2.20; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; citron peel, 17 to 18c.; orange and lemon, 13 to 14c.; Valencia layers, 6¾ to 7c.; California 4-crown L.M. raisins, 8 to 8½c.; Imperial cabinets, $2; Dehesas, $2.50 to $3.25.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Market is dull. Canadian creamery is being quoted much below ours. A small quantity comes here, but the butter trade is dull. Eggs show less demand, with prices of case eggs easy. For hennery stock high prices are asked. There is but a limited movement in cheese. The quantity exported by local dealers is small, chiefly because the stocks here were not large. The higher prices from last season ruling on the other side has had an affect on the consumption. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

SUGAR—There is nothing to report. Fair stocks are held, and there is little movement. It is thought rather better prices will rule with the opening of the spring trade. Quotations are sometimes shaded a little for round lots. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The New Orleans now coming to hand is in some cases very fine. It must not be thought, however, that all New Orleans is alike, for while some shipments run very even (much more so than West India goods), it can be bought at any price and the price rules the grade. The dark qualities lose very much in flavor. The best quality is low in price compared with West India molasses, and has the advantage of being in smaller packages. In West India molasses prices tend rather firmer. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

FISH—As noted last week, just at present the demand is dull. During the holidays the people eat something better than fish, or, at least, the tendency is to other grades of food, particularly poultry. In smoked herring the feeling is a little firmer again. Frozen cod and herring, while so far not arriving in very large quantities, are equal to demand. The need of better pickled herring is much felt. Smelts find a better market. Fresh smoked haddies are being shipped west freely. They are a splendid fish. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; smoked, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; frozen herring, 60 to 70c. per 100; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. Frozen cod, 2¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—There is no change to note. The stock of lard held is quite large, and prices still rule quite low. In smoked meats there is a light movement. Each year our wholesale grocers seem to give less attention to this branch. The line is not a satisfactory one to handle. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The market at the time of writing appears to rather gain in firmness, though there is no change here. Prices keep about 5c. above mill prices, as dealers are making a fair profit. As they have to stand full declines, they should get the full benefit when prices go the other way, but in a small market this is almost impossible. Stocks are beginning to get low. Oatmeal is off a little, but, as in flour, holders still have a good profit. Stocks are quite large. Beans are again easier, being almost at low-water mark. Oats are quiet, and, it is thought, a little firmer. Hay dull. Cornmeal shows no change from the low price which has now ruled so long. There is a good, steady demand. Native buckwheat rather lower. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.50 to $3.65; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $14 to $15; bran, $13.50 to $14; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3 to $3.10; round peas, $1.10; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; beans, hand-picked, 95 to $1; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50; yellow buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The steamer Alpha has discontinued for the season her trips between St. John and Yarmouth.

It is currently reported that Newfoundland will make every effort this year to get reciprocity with the United States.

Smelt fishing on P.E. Island is quite active and profitable, some catches amounting to $20 to $30. The run so far on the Restigouche, N.B., has been small. Quite a number of large cod have been caught in the nets, which is unusual.

N. W. Taussig & Co., New York, are making large shipments of New Orleans molasses to this port. The quality is fine in color and flavor. J. Hunter White, the local representative, states that more merchants now handle this grade of molasses than during any previous season.

T. S. Simms, our local broom manufacturer, is just home from Chicago, where he bought his season's supply of corn. While he found the price low, it was higher than last season, and a further advance is expected. Mr. Simms starts this week for British Columbia on a business trip.

THE GROCER regrets to learn that Geo. Sterling, agent for the Dominion Atlantic Railway here, is to be transferred to Kentville. He had made many friends here, particularly among the merchants. Our best wish to his successor, A. D. Hewitt, is that he may fill the position with the same satisfaction.

Calendars, cards, etc., are the order of the day. Since our last report THE GROCER would acknowledge the following: From Smith & Tilton, perhaps the neatest card of the season, with the compliments of the McKay Milling Co.; also a neat booklet published by J. & J. Colman; a note book, particularly well bound, from T. H. Estabrooks, tea importer; and very pretty calendars from C. & E. Macmichael and Jos. Finley, wholesale grocers, and W. A. Porter, retail grocer.

THE GROCER regrets to report the total wreck of the steamer Warwick, of the Donaldson Line, bound from Glasgow to St. John, within a half day's sail of this city. The cause of the accident is not yet known, but as she was far out of her course, there is no fear of the accident being taken as an evidence that St. John is a dangerous port.

The merchants and manufacturers are looking forward with not a little interest to the visit of Sir Richard Cartwright and the Hon. Mr. Fielding to our city during this month to receive evidence on the tariff. These gentlemen have also an invitation from the Board of Trade of Chatham to visit that town during their trip west.

THEIR ANNUAL REUNION.

The employes of the Balfour company, wholesale grocery firm, Macnab street north, Hamilton, held their annual reunion at the residence of St. Clair Balfour, head of the firm, Tuesday night. There was a jolly crowd present, and the thorough enjoyment was greatly added to by the untiring efforts of Mrs. Balfour to please and entertain her guests. There was a supper, and afterwards a toast list, with singing, speech-making, etc. One of the interesting items of the evening was a presentation to L. Fraser, the northern traveler of the firm, who has just completed 21 years of service as an employe. On behalf of his fellow-employes, Mr. Balfour handed to the popular traveler a handsome diamond pin. Another pleasant feature was the announcement received by telegram from Toronto that Fred Smye, another of the firm's travelers, had just been elected to the directorate of the Commercial Travelers' Association. The gathering broke up with cheers for the host and hostess and good wishes for the continued prosperity of the firm.

WHAT THE "IDEAL" PACKER DID.

We have been shown an affidavit of two boys who packed in one day of ten hours on the "Ideal" tea packer 4,400 half-pound lead packets of tea. P. C. Larkin & Co., Toronto, are the patentees of this popular packer, which they are weekly shipping to all parts of the world.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. are offering exceptional values in Young Hyson, Congous, Gunpowders and Japan teas this week. Full particulars, prices, etc., are given in their regular advertisement.

POWER OF THE SMALL PACKAGE.

THE man with grapes, dried fruit, almonds or other produce to sell invariably finds a full, and frequently a glutted, market. These conditions are chronic and his goods reach markets that have like goods, and in very large quantities. These are graded as to qualities and sizes, but even in grades the man with something to sell finds the sharpest sort of competition. His product may be the finest grown; so is the other fellow's, and both are placed alongside each other waiting for a change of ownership. Equally tempting as to quality, both are seeking a customer. Under such circumstances is it not reasonable to suppose that the goods in the most attractive appearing and most generally convenient package will be the first to find a purchaser?

It is with much pleasure that the California Fruit Grower notices the growing popularity of the carton. It believes that the practice of exposing for sale certain fresh fruits, and all dried or cured fruits as well as nuts, in neatly got up cartons or boxes of from one pound to five pounds, or, in cases, ten pounds' weight, will stimulate the purchase and consumption of such goods as nothing else will, or can. The appreciation of fruit is inherent in almost everyone, and nearly everyone would be regular customers if only it could be obtained easily and in a proper package. How many men are there in this country, and women also, who have no home in the complete sense of that word? How many are there who earn fair and regular salaries but who occupy a single room only, or at best, a couple of rooms? That their number is large is certain, and a large proportion of such will purchase little luxuries when it comes in a one-pound or two-and-one-half or five-pounds carton, who would do without if served to them by the retailer in a paper bag or other untidy package.

This is also true of the smaller households of the country, as well as of individuals. A sack of almonds, a sack or large box of prunes, raisins or other fruit, or a large, ungainly box of grapes, do not appeal to the eye as does a small, convenient package. Many a customer in a store gives no thought to the large bag of almonds, who would be instantly attracted should the eye fall upon a one-pound package of the nuts. A sack or a large box of dried fruit will not reach the purse nearly as quickly as will a carefully filled, neat appearing carton. The small, handy, attractive package is a salesman in itself of large proportions. The tendency toward the small package is marked everywhere, and this, it is confidently believed, will largely increase the consumption of California's products and stimulate its industries.

No village is so remote from trade centres or sources of supply that one cannot obtain a single glass or bottle of beer, and no village should be so remotely situated that one could not obtain in it a pound of almonds, walnuts, prunes, raisins, peaches, apricots, or other fruit, and in exchange for coin, to have it served neatly, cleanly or conveniently.—California Fruit Grower.

WALNUT-GROWING IN EUROPE.

WALNUTS are, to a certain extent, grown all over Europe, but in most countries, such as Germany, Belgium, Holland, etc., the yield is small, and some years not sufficient to supply the home demand, the deficit being supplied from the more favored walnut-growing countries. Thus it will be seen (says the American Consul at Zurich) that France, Italy, and Austria-Hungary are the only countries raising that article in quantities for export.

The French walnut-growing districts are the departments of Dordogne, Correze, Lot, and the Grenoble district, in the department of Isere. The latter are of especially fine quality, being of the soft-shell variety, large, white meat, and running uniformly. These nuts yield the grower from 93 to 105 francs per 100 kilograms (about 8 to 9.18c. per American pound). The latter price is for Grenoble nuts. The crop in France this year is good. It compares favorably with former years and is as good as in 1895. The 1895 crop was above the average and that of 1894 below. The principal points of export for France are Bordeaux, Marseilles, and Havre. The trees in France are not subject to scale, blight, or other diseases. The orchards are mostly small and owned by farmers.

The Italian walnut-growing districts are the Neapolitan provinces around Naples, Castellamare di Stabia, and Sorrento. The points of export are Naples and Sorrento. In Italy, this year's crop compares favorably with former years. Last year's (1895) crop was one-fourth less than a medium crop and somewhat inferior to the average. The principal growing district is Piassio di Sorrento. The trees are, to some extent, owing to climatic influences, subject to scale and blight diseases. The walnut brings on an average $9.25 per 100 kilograms, or from 4¾ to 5¼c. per American pound. The extent of orchards is the same as in France.

The walnut-growing districts of Austria are in the lower part of the empire, or what is known as "Nieder Oestreich." In first line, comes what is known as the Steiermark, where the crop is a medium one; second, Mahren, a good crop; and third, Bosnia, where the crop prospects are excellent. Last year's crop was a light, medium one in the above named districts, and the nuts, as a rule, are poor, not well filled, small, and of the hard, thick-shelled variety. In Hungary, the districts of Nagy, Banya, and Grosswardein produce an excellent nut of good quality, large, white-meated, and well filled, and, as my informant tells me, compares favorably with the French Marbeaux nuts. No figures as to prices are given. The point of export for Austria-Hungary is Trieste. Trees are hardy and not subject to diseases, as scale, etc.

HOW TO KEEP CIDER SWEET.

The following scientific method of treating cider to preserve its sweetness is recommended, says Meyer Bros.' Druggist: When the saccharine matters by fermentation are being converted to alcohol, if a bent tube be inserted air tight into the bung, with the other end into a pail of water, to allow the carbonic acid gas evolved to pass off without admitting any air into the barrel, a beverage will be obtained that is a fit nectar for the gods.

A handy way is to fill your cask nearly up to the wooden faucet when the cask is rolled, so the bung is down. Get a common rubber tube and slip it over the end of the plug in the faucet, with the other end in the pail. Then turn the plug so that the cider can have communication with the pail. After the water ceases to bubble, bottle or store away.

CATALOGUES, BOOKLETS, ETC.

USEFUL FOR CLERKS AND MERCHANTS.

THERE is no need for the merchant to go back to his store aad begin "blessing" his assistants because he has forgotten to order some line at his wholesale house. The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. are issuing a neat little leather-covered note book that will entirely do away with this, and all that they ask is that you send in your name and enclose a one-cent stamp for postage. It has a pencil attached and also a pocket for stamps and memos.

THERE IS ONE FOR YOU.

The Hamblin & Russell Manufacturing Co., Worcester, Mass., hardware and standard wire goods, have issued their new catalogue for 1897. It is a credit to any firm. The illustrations of the different classes of goods manufactured by them are numerous and exact. This firm also invites correspondence with inventors and will manufacture patented articles in iron, tin, wood, brass, wire, etc., on royalty and place them on the market. Patentees should make a note of this. Every retail hardware man should have one of these catalogues as it would be quite an addition to his desk. They will send a copy to any address on receipt of a postal card asking for one.

THE E. B. EDDY CO.'S CALENDAR.

The E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd., of Hull, Que., has issued its calendar for 1897. The calendar is unique and attractive. The most striking feature of it is the bird's-eye view on each page of the mammoth works of the firm, with a glimpse of Ottawa in the distance. Running through the pages are a number of phrases brightly put. Here are some of them: "Things seen are greater than things heard of"; "This is the largest of its kind and one of the most unique establishments under the British flag"; "E. B. Eddy's matches—here since 1851;" "E. B. Eddy's daily production of paper is 45 tons;" "Climatic variations do not affect E. B. Eddy's matches;" "E. B. Eddy's washboards prevent many an aching back."

L. CHAPUT, FILS & CIE.

The calendar issued by L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., wholesale grocers, Montreal, is both attractive and interesting. What chiefly make it so are the views which are given of the three different buildings which the firm has occupied since its organization in 1842. The first shows an unpretentious two-storey building with a floor space of about 8,500 square feet. This building, at Commissioners & Peter streets, was vacated in 1872. The second view shows a four-storey building on the same site, with a floor space of 21,000 square feet. This building did duty till 1889. The third and last view shows the fine building, with a floor space of 50,000 square feet, at present occupied by the firm. Every grocer in the country should send for a copy of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie.'s calendar.

A NEAT LITTLE REMINDER.

J. S. Mitchell & Co., iron and hardware merchants, Sherbrooke, Que., are this year remembering their friends with a neat and useful little pocket note-book in Russian leather. This firm makes a specialty of a variety of lines, which are enumerated on one of the pages. The pocket-book is vest-pocket size, and is just the thing for a busy merchant. Those who have not yet received one should write the firm for one.

A PAINT TRADE HUNTER.

The Walter H. Cottingham Co., Ltd., Montreal, are distributing a booklet among the trade, dealing with the Sherwin-Williams paints. The booklet is oblong, is printed in three colors, is illustrated, and is bright and inviting. "We want your paint business. We don't want all of it, but we want the part that requires good paint," is the terse and pointed way in which the reading matter starts off. A neat folder, giving further information regarding the Sherwin-Williams paints, accompanies the booklet.

THE PEDLAR ROOFING CO.

The Pedlar Metal Roofing Co., of Oshawa, are becoming famous for the annual catalogues, etc., which they issue. This year they have exceeded rather than otherwise their previous efforts in this line. Their catalogue proper contains 96 pages of liberally illustrated matter regarding the great variety of lines manufactured by the firm. But the chief interest is centred in the "Art Metal Interior Decorations," as the catalogue illustrating the interior decorations made by the Pedlar Metal Roofing Co. is called. This particular catalogue contains 56 pages, and is a beautiful piece of work. The aim sought is to illustrate from photographs and sketches the patterns of the interior decorating metals of the firm, and well is the aim accomplished, for the very samples themselves could scarcely convey a better idea of the patterns. The Pedlar Roofing Co. is to be congratulated upon its enterprise. The officers of the company are: G. H. Pedlar, general manager; G. H. Pedlar, Jr., assistant manager; Nellie Pedlar, secretary-treasurer; Grace Pedlar, correspondent.

CANNED GOODS IN THE STATES.

In a circular dated January 2, Thomas J. Meehan & Co., of Baltimore, say of the canned goods market: "There has been a lively market here during the past week, monopolized almost entirely by tomatoes. Several large jobbers realized that they might have to pay more money for tomatoes after the new year set in, and they decided to place their orders between Christmas and New Year's, thereby anticipating their competitors. All the full standard 3-lb. tomatoes offered at 65 to 67½c. have been cleaned up, and the market to-day is firm at 70c. regular terms. It would be difficult, we believe, to buy a large block of tomatoes in this section even at that price. Two-pound standard tomatoes have advanced to 55c., and gallons range from $2.10 up. The balance of the list is firm, and prices are well maintained in spite of the usual quiet business during the month of December. The canned goods market starts the new year on a firmer basis, and with a stronger upward tendency than it has had for a long, long time."

Hon. Elijah A. Morse, M.C., who is the sole proprietor of the firm of Morse Bros., Canton, Mass., has served in the United States National House of Representatives eight years as a representative of one of the most historic districts in the old Bay State. He still continues in the active management of the business, and the popularity of the "Rising Sun" stove polish well illustrates the force of his business methods.

WINDFALLS AND UNCLAIMED MONEY.

"THAT there be as many miseries beyond riches as on this side of them," as Izaak Walton observes to Scholar, deters no one in the pursuit of fortune. But the sudden possession of unexpected fortune has proved to many people as great a trial as its sudden loss. Only, like Sam Weller, most folks wish that somebody would just try and ruin them in that way. A sudden access of fortune or misfortune tests a man's stability of character and greatness of mind. Sir Walter Scott noted in his journal after his failure: "If I have a very strong passion in the world it is pride, and that never hinged upon world's gear, which was always with me, light come, light go." That same strong passion made him sit down at his desk when well-nigh three-score to redeem an overwhelming burden of debt. His efforts were so far successful, but mind and body gave way under the strain. Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens), one of the most successful authors of modern times, likewise, through unsuccessful business speculations, at sixty years of age started lately on a lecturing tour round the world to retrieve his fortunes. Had John Ruskin earned the fortune of £157,000 left him in hard cash by his father, it is possible he might have disposed of it in a different way. The year 1877 was his last appearance as a rich man, after allowing himself about £3,000 for a holiday at Venice; he meant at that time to invest a sum in the Funds sufficient to bring him in £1 a day. But his publisher, Mr. Allen, has come between him and poverty, and a re-issue of his works at popular prices has meant a handsome annual income to the author of "Modern Painters." His first fortune went in this way: One-third of it was invested in mortgages, whereby he lost £20,000; he handed over a sum of £17,000 to poor relatives; another sum of £17,000 was freely lent to a cousin, to whom he forgave the debt. His gifts to Sheffield and Oxford absorbed £14,000, and as he lived considerably above his income at £5,500 for many years, his capital soon ran low. So that to get rid of a fortune is easy enough; the "Jubilee Plunger," managed to go through a quarter of a million in two years. George Peabody, who gave away more than one and a half millions during his lifetime, half a million of which was for industrial homes in London, said this giving was really a victory over a naturally parsimonious disposition. But he did not become suddenly rich; his wealth was gradually acquired, the result of ability and energy, coupled with great opportunities which he was able to utilise. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the American millionaire, boasted in his eightieth year that he had made £200,000 for every year of his life. "Secret? There is no secret in it," he said, when once asked the question as to how he managed this. "All that you have to do is to attend to your business, and go ahead."

Thomas Brassey, the well-known civil engineer, father of the present Lord Brassey, who laid out at least £78,000,000 of other people's money in his various contracts, and probably deserved the £2,500,000 which fell to his share, was a philosopher in regard to money. When a French viaduct gave way, landing him in a loss of at least £30,000, his one thought was how quickly he could get it built up again. His own loss never engaged his attention. To his friend Bartlett, at the time of the panic, when it was believed he had lost £1,000,000 of money, he said "Never mind, we must be content with a little less; that is all."

The class, however, which is sometimes envied are those who become suddenly rich by what are known as windfalls or unexpected fortunes. Some have their heads turned, and if lacking in self-control their good-fortune may ruin them; others, who have been of a miserly turn before, become greater skinflints than ever. It takes prudence and a well-ordered mind to keep the balance level.

A "HIGH UP" DINNER.

According to custom, J. L. Prescott & Co., New York, manufacturers of Enameline stove polish, entertained their salesmen in New York for their Christmas holidays, and on New Year's eve to a banquet. This year the banquet was on a more gigantic scale than usual. It was held at the New Commercial Club, on the fourteenth storey. It was a "high old" dinner, and in every respect a fourteen-storey affair. Full justice having been done to the good things a few hours were spent telling drummers' yarns, making witty speeches, varied with good songs and sparkling wines. During the evening P. M. Berry, their manager, read an interesting paper on "The Growth of Enameline," beginning with the time that the entire output could be taken daily in a wheelbarrow to the station from their North Berwick factory, up to the present, when the output of their Jersey City factory amounts to from three to four carloads per day.

At the dinner there were 56 salesmen, who cover the different distributing points throughout the United States, and W. H. Dunn, of Montreal, who looks after their Canadian interests. Their salesmen in England held their banquet in London. They have 18 salesmen there, and a crew of about 30 advertising men. At the present time they have representatives in every civilized country in the world. After the dinner the different salesmen dispersed for their territories, only to meet again in July at their club in North Newry, where every summer they have a re-union for six weeks holidays.

INDIAN FAMINE AND THE TEA CROP.

A LONDON firm of tea dealers has this to say regarding the effect of the famine in India on the tea crop :

"It is hardly possible to think of India just now without being depressed by the appalling famine which has so sorely smitten that densely-populated empire. Though our Government can and will save the lives of many millions who would otherwise perish, it will be impossible to prevent the awful misery of starvation, extending over many months, with resulting life-long weakness. Though the famine will not appreciably affect the quality or quantity of Indian tea, it is indirectly a disaster to the British planter, for the doubling of the price of rice means nearly doubling the cost of cultivating his crop. Under every contract between the tea garden coolie and his employer the latter is bound by the Government to provide for staple food—rice—which the coolie may require for his family at a price not exceeding a certain normal limit. If rice is cheaper, the cunning coolie can buy his rice elsewhere, but so soon as the market price touches the stipulated limit, he and his family flock to their master's granary and demand all they want at a price which already in this famine is but half that which the planter has to pay. Fortunately the drought has come too late to lessen the new season's growth of leaf in the Indian gardens, so the tea-loving English public will get their tea at the same price as usual. As to the general quality of this year's output, it may be classed as 'average,' and whilst '96 will not be known as a 'vintage year' in tea, the leaf this season is very good."

DEMISE OF MR. WM. CRAIG.

Mr. Wm. Craig, merchant and ex-M. P., of Russell, breathed his last at his home in Duncanville, Russell, on Friday night. Mr. Craig had been unwell for some time past, and went to Ottawa about four weeks since, entering the Protestant Hospital for special treatment. He remained but a couple of weeks, however, as, learning more fully the nature of his ailment, and that there was little hope for a cure, he returned to his home a few days since and gradually sank from heart trouble. Mr. Craig was a prominent business man in the county he represented in Parliament for four years, and was very highly respected.

Durability is economy. Morse Brothers' "Sun Paste" stove polish has durable qualities which make it a favorite with the trade and the housekeeper. It does not rust or eat the boxes, and does not deteriorate on the grocers' shelves. It gives and holds a brilliant lustre, which makes it a favorite in the hands of the customer.

GERMAN BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY.

The extent of the German beet sugar industry is shown by United States Consul Monaghan at Chemnitz, who, in a report to the State Department, says 958,128 tons were exported in the past fiscal year, and the home consumption was estimated at 668,860 tons, the latter being an increase over the previous year of 116,165 tons. The consul says the industry has made huge strides in a dozen years with intelligent Governmental aid, but its manufacturers were energetic as well. He thinks that, particularly in Ohio and Nebraska, beet planting should take the place in part of the raising of meat and grain where competition is sharper, and that the United States ought to supply its own sugar. This he thinks can be accomplished with Governmental as well as popular encouragement.

ACCOUNTANCY AND ITS FUTURE.

BY A MEMBER OF THE PROFESSION, IN CHAMBERS'S JOURNAL.

PERHAPS one of the most interesting and at the same time significant and pressing problems of the time is the constant and increasing difficulty which presents itself to parents desirous of finding a suitable and promising occupation for their sons; such an one as will, with steady application and perseverance and a reasonable amount of ability, at least yield an adequate remuneration in years to come.

It seems a fact, as curious as it is unfortunate, that too large a proportion of the rising generation whose fathers are in business entertain some antipathy to following the same occupation, and look, as a rule, towards the "professions" for their future field of labor, How far this may be due to some mistaken idea as to the relative "dignity of labor" we need not stop to enquire; but it is not seldom the case that parents themselves have often a mistaken ambition to see their sons educated to some one or other of the professions by reason of the erroneous impressions they hold of its prospects, and the social position which it opens out to those engaged in it.

Something of the same feeling has extended to almost every rank and class, and as a natural consequence the lapse of time has, under such circumstances, brought about a condition of things which has resulted in a cry of "overcrowding" (and consequently "over-competition") which, not loud at first, has rapidly grown in intensity each succeeding year. It is not surprising therefore to find that with an increasing knowledge of these facts, and the evident continued invasion of the professions by numbers of articled clerks, a greater amount of caution and courage is being shown by those who at one time would not have thought twice had an opening presented itself for any of their sons in any of the professions. Leaving out of consideration the army, navy, and the church, and devoting more particular attention to what may be termed the practising professions, it has been for many years increasingly plain that those of medicine and law are sadly overcrowded, and that the percentage who embark in practice, and ultimately, from sheer force of competition, retire defeated, is an alarming and a growing one. It may truly be said that unless the commencing practitioner, be he doctor, barrister, or lawyer, has at his disposal sufficient independent means to enable him to wait a very considerable period for an income in the shape of "fees," his chances of success are small, and by degrees are growing "beautifully less." Of the depressing position of those who of necessity give up the struggle it is not necessary to speak at any length; their number is considerable, and, drifting back as assistants or commencing in some new and precarious sphere, they lament the chance which led them to the profession of their choice, with perhaps the added consciousness that the best years of their lives have been wasted.

With such facts as these becoming more and better known, it is not surprising that attention is being increasingly directed to one of the professions which, though not claiming great antiquity, and yet being of great and increasing importance, is not as yet so sadly overstocked—namely, that of the accountant. If we venture to indicate in some degree the scope of the work included in the term "accountancy," and the future prospects of those entering it, it may probably be useful to parents seeking suitable openings for sons about to leave school and commence the battle of life.

Though the profession has but lately received its present organization, it is not, of course, a new one. As a separate business it can hardly be said to be more than a century and a half old; the oldest example of the word in this sense given by the Philological Society's New English Dictionary dates from 1539: "The said books shall be examined with the accomptants and particular clerkes for the perfecting of the same." There were "accomptants-generall" of various public offices in the seventeenth century. The earliest specimen of the modern spelling, "accountant," given by Dr. Murray, is, oddly enough, from Tom D'Urfey's Pills to Purge Melancholy (1719) where mention is made of

> A British accountant that's frolic and free,
> Who does wondrous feats by the Rule of Three.

"Accomptant is the form used by Isaac Taylor in the middle of this century; and the first example of "accountancy" given by the dictionary is of 1854.

The extensive and unique experience which the practice of the old accountancy gave to its members, and the knowledge of the inner workings of every conceivable class of business which they acquired, marked them out as being suitable for the duties of trustees in bankruptcy and liquidators of public and private companies, and to-day their duties may practically, though not wholly, be classed under the two great heads of accounts and liquidations. The magnitude and variety of the work comprised in the different subdivisions of these two chief branches is unique, and give to the accountant's profession a distinction and importance which is fast being judicially recognized. As expert book-keepers and accountants, auditors of private and public partnerships and companies, accountants to large trusts and corporations, trustees in bankruptcy and private arrangements, liquidators of companies, receivers, and arbitrators on matters of account, their services are in constant demand, and the qualifications demanded of a thoroughly capable practising accountant are as searching as they are varied; demanding, in addition to a thorough knowledge of the technicalities of the profession, a clear head, a keen perception of probabilities and possibilities, and a thorough knowledge of human nature.

How far the demand for accountancy services is progressing may to some extent be judged from the fact that in the course of the last thirty years the number of professional accountants in permanent practice has more than doubled; the membership of the Institute of Chartered Accountants alone, which in 1882 was eleven hundred and ninety-three, is now two thousand two hundred and forty-eight, whilst that of some of the other professional societies shows a similar increase. It was as a consequence of the growth of the profession, both in numbers and importance, that in 1880 a charter was granted incorporating under the before-mentioned title certain petitioning accountants and providing certain bylaws as to the qualifications required of future "chartered" accountants and for the conduct of members of the profession. Since that time charters have been granted, under strict conditions, to several Scottish societies, and in England there has been incorporated the "Society of Accountants and Auditors," each and all of which exist, speaking generally, "to raise the character of the profession and to secure for the community the existence of a class of persons well qualified to be employed in the responsible and difficult duties devolving on public accountants." That they have, by their system of examinations and compulsory training for five years under articles, in the main fulfilled their object is undoubted, and to-day the profession stands higher in the esteem of the mercantile and general community than ever before.

And now let us look for a moment at the future of higher accountancy. It cannot be said to be overcrowded at the present time. Seldom, if ever, does the capable practitioner want for employment, and those now commencing practice, provided they are persevering and have a thorough acquaintance with their duties, find it a remunerative and promising opening for their talents. But is it likely to be so in years to come?

The immediate future gives every indication of a great increase in accountants' work, and much of it is due to the economic conditions under which commerce is carried on, resulting, as they have done in the past and promise to do still more in the future, in an ever-enlarging volume of trade, both inland and foreign. Taking this for granted, the stress of commerce and the regulations which the law of the land imposes on those engaged in it promise to bring the expert accountant into greater need than ever before. Absolutely impartial and accurate accounts, a perfectly true adjustment of profit and loss, a correct system of costs, and the preparation of fair and complete balance sheets by independent persons, are all becoming more generally recognised as necessities in mercantile houses which have in times past worked more by "rule of thumb;" and such are, in increasing numbers, availing themselves of the services of those who by training and experience are in every way fitted to give valuable and material assistance. Of the remarkable extension of joint-stock enterprise and the consequent increasing appointment of independent professional auditors it is hardly necessary to speak; the field is an ever-widening one; whilst the services of accountants in such matters of account as executorships, trusts, and other spheres are being rapidly and surely extended.

So far as bankruptcy and liquidations are concerned, too, the outlook is promising. There is a growing tendency to entrust the administration of estates in process of being wound up to practised accountants, with their necessarily intimate acquaintance with the details of business, rather than to the red-tape officialism of the state departments; and if present indications are anything to judge by, it is more than probable that legislation in future will lean more in the direction of the extension of the non-official trustees and liquidators than otherwise. But however that may be, certain it is that the skill and training of the accountant are becoming, and will continue to become, more and more recognised as necessities in mercantile work, whilst it is probably only a question of time when the practice of the profession will be restricted, as is the case with law and medicine, to such as have qualified by articles and examinations, and subsequent membership of one of the recognized societies.

Of the question of the monetary remuneration which usually falls to the share of a qualified practising accountant it is more difficult to speak, but it may reasonably be stated that it will at least be equal to that earned by the average member of the legal profession. But it should be borne in mind that in the accountant's profession the practice which obtains amongst lawyers of terminating relations with their articled clerks, as soon as their term of service is completed, is not followed in any degree, and an accountant is generally glad to retain the services of one who has been with him during articles. As a consequence, there is an exceptional number of fully qualified professional accountants who continue their relations under their principals; and it may safely be said that the principal values the services of those who of necessity have acquired much confidential and private knowledge as to the position of his clients. As to the remuneration of these it is hardly possible even to give an approximate idea. Between the extremes of ability will be found every grade of remuneration, but such an assistant will probably commence at a salary of about £120 to £150, rising to two or three hundred pounds or even higher, according to ability.

NEW ORLEANS MOLASSES.

Mail advices received in New York from New Orleans concerning molasses say: "Look for a good January business, and think after stock-taking everybody will find supplies run down and will want some goods. Miscellaneous stock seem to be selling cheap here, but when one looks around for good, sound, early-made stuff he cannot find it very plentiful, while it is bringing good prices. Good centrifugals are scarce, and will continue so, as the planters say they can make more money working them into thirds than selling them as molasses."

EVAPORATED APPLES IMPROVING.

A LITTLE brightness has during the past week been relieving the dulness which has been for some time so much in evidence in the evaporated apple market.

The cause is an improvement in the export demand and an appreciation of about ¼c. per pound both here and in New York. Prices, however, are still low enough in comparison with those ruling in other years, for with the advance 3⅝ to 3¼c. f.o.b. is the idea of exporters in Toronto.

For a few weeks past holders of evaporated fruit in Ontario have been a little firmer in their views as to price, and only a week or two ago exporters in this country found they could do better by buying in New York than in the home market.

Stocks of evaporated apples in Canada are enormous, and the improvement in the market will be welcome to a good many holders. Dealers in foreign dried and evaporated fruits will also find ground for satisfaction, for the abundance of dried and evaporated apples has materially interfered with their products. It yet remains to be seen whether the improvement is permanent or not.

THE MONTREAL BOARD OF TRADE.

THE gossip in commercial circles in Montreal centres a good deal on the coming Board of Trade elections.

As the retiring president, Mr. Robert Bickerdike, has refused to stand again, declaring it this week, Mr. John Torrance, who is now vice-president, has been nominated in his stead.

Another strong candidate, if he will only consent to run, is Mr. John McKergow, of the cheese exporting firm of A. A. Ayer & Co.

It is expected that there will be no opposition to Mr. James Crathern, the well-known hardware and metal man, for first vice president. For the second vice C. F. Smith and D. McFarlane are in the field. The nominations as they stand at present are :

President—Jno. Torrance, (and possibly) Jno. McKergow.
First Vice-President—Jas. Crathern.
Second Vice—Charles F. Smith, David McFarlane.
Treasurer—Hy. Miles.
Members of Council—Chas. Chaput, E. L. Bond, D. G. Thomson, B. J. Coghlin, Thos. Harding, W. B. Mathewson, Jas. W. Pyke, Robt. Mackay, David Watson, Charles McLean, A. J. Brice, D. Ross, Wm. Campbell, F. W. Evans, Geo. Vipond, Jos. Robillard and Rich. Whtie.

PICKLE TRAVELERS' CONVENTION.

DURING the last week of the old year the traveling salesmen of H. J. Heinz Co., picklers and preservers, met in convention in the Assembly Hall of the company's works on the North Side, Pittsburg. There were present at the convention the traveling salesmen of the Pittsburg district only, to the number of thirty-five. At the same time, at each of the company's branch houses, situated in different parts of the United States, Canada and England, similar conventions were held. It has been for a number of years the custom of this firm to call its salesmen into an annual conference, to compare notes on the past year's work, and to lay plans and gather inspiration and enthusiasm for the work of the coming year. Business sessions were held each day, and the evenings were given up to recreation and pleasure, the convention closing on Wednesday night by a theatre party at the Alvin.

During the first week of the new year the managers of the branch houses met in convention in the Assembly Hall. The opening session on Monday morning was occupied in the making of short addresses by the members of the firm, welcoming the managers to Pittsburg and the Keystone home, and responses by a number of the managers.

The managers of the following branch houses were in attendance at the convention : New York, Philadelphia, London (England), Chicago, Boston, Montreal (Canada), San Francisco, Cleveland, Baltimore, Columbus, Kansas City, Cincinnati, St. Paul, Jersey City, Buffalo, Chattanooga and Indianapolis.

They are an intelligent and courteous set of gentlemen, and held animated and profitable sessions daily, laying plans for the work of the coming year. As the business entrusted to them has been very prosperous the past year, they were made the recipients of many congratulations, and were tendered a banquet by the members of the firm at the Monongahela House, Thursday evening, January 7th, at 7 p.m. The banqueters, sixty in number, consisting of members of the firm, managers, a few employes from the office and invited guests, entered the hall, which was elaborately decorated with choicest cut flowers, and Guenther's orchestra, completely concealed behind a bank of palms, poured fourth sweet strains of music during the serving of the menu, which was one of the finest that could be furnished. A novel feature of the decorations was a map of the United States, 9 x 15 feet in dimensions, upon which were designated the location of the branch factories, salting houses, vegetable farms and the eighteen branch houses of this firm. The map proved to be a revelation to many of the visitors, who had no proper conception of the magnitude of the business conducted by this firm. Toasts were responded to by a number of the managers of the branch houses and branch factories, which were pointed, humorous, and at the same time instructive. Mr. R. G. Evans acting as toastmaster in a very creditable manner.

Among the distinguished guests who made interesting remarks were, Lieut.-Governor Walter Lyon, Francis J. Torrance, Mayor H. P. Ford, Capt. D. C. Herbst, Dr. T. J. Leak, J. E. Shaw and Hugh Kennedy. Other prominent citizens present were Aaron French, Dr. J. F. Cowan, H. Sampson and Thomas S. Armstrong. The banquet was brought to a close by a most happy address by Mr. H. J. Heinz to the managers.

CANADA'S GREATEST NEED.

CANADA'S greatest need is population. In everything else that contributes to the building of a nation she is rich; but in this exception she is poor. To the square mile our population is only 1.04.

Nearly every province in the Dominion can stand an augmentation in population, but none need it so much as Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia. These parts of the country are among the richest of Canada's heritage, and in area are large enough for a continent, but the popution, all told, would not make more than enough to fill a fair-sized modern city: From Port Arthur to the Coast the population is only about 250,000.

The reason, forsooth, is not that that part of the country is not capable of sustaining a larger population, or that its resources are not known. Nearly a quarter of a century ago people realized that Providence had been liberal in the natural advantages which he had bequeathed to that part of the Dominion.

What, then, can be the reason for the slow manner in which the country has been settled? It is evidently not due to any inherent shortcomings of that part of the country, or that the reality has not come up to the often glowing pictures painted by statesmen and tourists, newspapers and magazines. The only shortcomings in this respect have been in the teeming population which was ere this to have occupied the country. In natural resources which were to attract the population there was no exaggeration. Indeed, the better the western part of this country is known, the more evident does the vastness of its riches become.

Ten years ago, who even dreamed of the untold wealth of gold, of silver, of coal, of lead, of copper, etc., that lay imbedded in those western provinces? No one. And in the agricultural possibilities of field and dairy stock-raising their richness has increased rather than decreased under investigation or experiment. The same may be said of the fisheries, both inland and the Coast. The fact that the greater part of the population has been secured from other parts of the Dominion is evidence that there was no exaggeration, for a man soon learns the character of his neighbor's garden.

As, therefore, confidence in the natural resources of what is broadly termed Canada's Northwest has increased as knowledge of them became enlarged, it is evident that the onus for a sparseness of population is not upon the inherent qualities but upon the people of the country.

We performed a great task when we built the transcontinental railway, but we have done no great things since then in the direction of building up the Northwest. Indeed, what we have done may well be termed puny. We had minds great enough to build a railway, but we have not yet devised schemes big enough to bring a population into the country.

Like a merchant with a good article in stock, we have gone largely on the principle that people in the congested parts of Europe should find this out for themselves, forgetting that other countries had lands, though perhaps not as good as ours, for settlement, and were acquainting the world with the fact and getting them occupied.

In other words, we have not advertised the country as we should. We have scarcely even given out the text, much less preached on the natural advantages which we had to offer the settler. Even our sons and daughters we have encouraged to migrate to the United States and help build up that country, instead of teaching them to stay at home and help build the nation whose seed was sown on Dominion Day thirty years ago.

But, while our liberality has been stinted in ways and means for developing the country, it would have, perhaps, paid us better had we been less liberal in the bestowal of lands upon the transcontinental railway, for we probably all now realize that this very fact has been a deterrent to the settlement of the country. We are not discussing whether the C.P.R. was paid too much or not. We are merely pointing out that we made an error in the kind in which we made payment.

Then, too, we never provided against discrimination in freight. And that error, we know, has tended against the settlement of the agricultural lands of the West and made it difficult for the merchants in the commercial centres to do business with the rising towns and villages in that new country.

But it is no use crying over spilt milk. We have made our mistakes and are paying for them. Our duty now is to try and vigorously develop with the plow of energy that which we have hitherto been picking away at with a hoe, and a small hoe at that.

There are two things particularly we need to do: Develop a vigorous immigration policy and build a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass. These are the things which our hand findeth us to do, and we should do them.

If Business during the next three months would only make as good time as the New Year there are a great many people who would rise up and call it blessed.

THE STRENGTH OF CURRANTS.

THE strength which has been characteristic of the currant market for some time has further increased, cables received in Toronto during the last few days showing figures one shilling per cwt. above previous quotations. The cause of the advance is two-fold.

The most direct cause is the keenness of the demand that is being experienced in the primary market on foreign account. This demand seems to be larger than is usual at this time of the year.

Then there is the condition of the stocks in the primary markets to be considered. Lately these stocks have been much reduced, the total weight of fruit unshipped in Greece being only about one-half what it was at the same time last year. And what makes this feature all the more interesting is the fact that much of that which is left is fruit too common for some of the chief markets.

Those in Europe who are known as good judges are authority for the statement that stocks of currants in Greece are likely to prove barely sufficient for probable requirements. And what applies to the stocks in the primary markets applies also to those in many of the consuming markets.

Fishing for sharks may be a good business; but it is not a good thing to be a shark in business.

DUTY ON TEA AND RAW SUGAR.

"IF I could only foresee what the Government intends to do, I could make a barrel of money," said a leading Montreal wholesaler to THE CANADIAN GROCER this week.

This expression sums up the situation in a sentence. There is a pretty general impression that a duty on both tea and raw sugar will be among the methods that the Government will adopt to make up for decrease in revenue caused by readjustment in other directions. But though this belief is general throughout the trade, it has so far failed to induce any buying as far as Montreal is concerned either of tea or sugar in anticipation of profiting by the change.

From the opinions generally expressed by the Montreal jobbers, they would all welcome a duty on tea. With a duty they think that it would sensibly reduce the importations of low-priced Japan and China tea into Canada.

As is well known, the great bulk of the tea turned over in Montreal costs from 10 to 15c. in a wholesale way.

In the old days of the duty, with 7c. per pound and 15 per cent. ad valorem on Japans and greens, and 4c. per pound and 15 per cent. ad valorem on blacks, it hardly paid to import these very low-grade teas, hence their consumption has enormously increased since tea imported direct was made free.

No trader is prepared to specify what the duty should be, but many declared that they would not object to a specific duty of 5c. per pound on all teas and a certain ad valorem charge. They figured that the increased cost to the consumer would not be of the kind that is keenly felt, while it would be one of the quickest means of the Government's securing the increase in revenue that it requires.

During 1895 there were 10,083,310 pounds of tea entered for consumption in Canada. This will afford some idea of the increase in revenue the proposed duty would bring in. With regard to raw sugar, on which many expect that the present duty will be maintained or increased, 309,302,296 pounds were entered for consumption in 1895.

There are a great many people out of business and out of situations to-day because they could not sprint as fast as old Father Time.

ADVANCE IN ONIONS.

Onions on the Toronto market have experienced a sharp advance during the past week, Danvers being quoted by wholesalers at $1 per 80-lb. bag, or 25c. higher than a week ago.

The strength of the market is due to a demand which has sprung up for export to the United States, the supply there being short.

He who has an idea and uses it gains ten thereby.

STRENGTH IN CHEESE.

FROM present appearances the cheese operators who were stout-hearted enough to refuse the prices that have been offered since the close of navigation for their high-priced fall purchases, stand a good chance now of letting out with a profit.

There can be no denying that the statistical position, not only in Canada, but in the United States and abroad, is a strong one.

At the very outside, stocks in Canada do not much exceed 200,000 boxes, against 425,000 last year. The stock in the United States is estimated at 220,000 boxes, against 560,000 last year. In London and Liverpool there are only 220,000, against 265,000 in 1895.

Altogether at this time last year the total supply of cheese in sight was estimated at 1,297,000, whereas this year it is placed at the outside at 650,000 to 700,000 boxes on this continent, afloat and in Great Britain. It is quite possible that these facts account for the increased demand noted during the past week.

All along British buyers refused to consider the idea of giving 10½c. for finest fall cheese.

At this time bids equivalent to 10¾c. are freely being made in Montreal, and sellers are not pressing sales at that point. They have no necessity to do so either, for stocks there have been reduced to 60,000, and very little of this quantity is September make.

The lucky holders of that month's output, which commands a good premium, stand to make a profit, whereas a month ago they were figuring on making cost and no more.

Bets were made this week by Montreal operators that the cable would touch 60s., and good cheese 12c., before April 1, 1897.

The department store may not go; but its fake methods will have to go if the store is to stay.

A GENTLEMAN OF JAPAN.

MR. H. KOMADA, Kobe, Japan, manager of the Japan Tea Exporting Association, arrived in Montreal a few days ago to visit their Canadian representatives, Morrow & Ewing, Montreal. He left Japan on December 4, coming by the Canadian Pacific steamship line. In company with Mr. Ewing and K. T. Takahashi he paid a visit to THE CANADIAN GROCER. He is a bright, handsome little man, rather taller, if anything, than the average representative of this enterprising nation we see in Canada, and with hair turned almost white.

Mr. Komada is the founder of the Japan Tea Traders' Association and takes an active interest in its affairs. The association has over one and a quarter million members. In fact, every proprietor and dealer in teas in Japan is required by law to join and obey the bylaws of the association. It is one of several organizations in Japan whose object is the encouragement of the production and export of Japanese products. In this respect Japan is decidedly in advance of Canada and many other nations. Readers of THE GROCER will remember a reference to this association in our columns some months ago.

Mr. Komada says that the Japanese tea merchants are much exercised over the enormous strides which have been made by Ceylon teas in Canada during the last year or so. The advertisements in THE CANADIAN GROCER had interested the trade here in Ceylon teas, and were creating a feeling against China and Japan makes. By constant repetition the trade all over Canada were beginning to believe things about Japan teas that were not altogether fair. Buyers were in consequence turning to Ceylons, and the demand for Japanese teas had fallen off very much. Wholesale merchants and dealers who were pushing other makes a year ago were now advertising to the consumer all over Canada nothing but "pure Ceylon teas." The matter had come before the Japan association, and some action would be taken to counteract these influences. It was quite true, he said, that in Ceylon teas were made by machinery, while in Japan they were still made by hand, but he explained that as the Japanese were a very cleanly people there would be no danger of dirt entering their makes, or of disease being communicated. He admitted, however, that the Chinese teas were often very dirty. In fact, he added, that the Chinese were very dirty, and prepared their teas as much with their feet as with their hands.

He found that there were a great many inferior Japanese teas coming to this market. They were not shipped by the desire of the Japanese themselves, but by foreign firms. They were what is known as third pickings, and the foreign houses ordered them to get low-priced teas. The Japanese at home would not use them, and they were trying to prevent foreign houses buying and exporting them. Handling of low-priced teas injured the dealers who bought the early pickings at higher prices.

Speaking of markets, he said that prices in Japan to-day were relatively higher than they were in Canada. In fact, it would almost pay holders of Japan teas in this country to reship them to Japan. He thinks this year's exports will be seven or eight million pounds short of the average. If present prospects continue he feels sure that prices will rule on a higher level later in the year.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE following is a report of the evidence of Messrs. E. B. Eddy and Cane, woodenware manufacturers, before the Tariff Commission at Ottawa :

Mr. Eddy said he would take up the matter of woodenware first. Mr. Cane and himself were the only two woodenware manufacturers in Canada. The woodenware trade had been subjected to a duty of 25 per cent. ad valorem some years ago, but even at that manufacturers were unable to go on successfully, and they had to retire from the business, because they were not able to compete with the United States. Two years ago, without any notice from the late Government, the duty was reduced to 20 per cent. He did not know why that was done, but he was told that the Government were very sorry for what they had done, and they promised to increase the duty if it was necessary. It was the question of developing the woodenware industry that brought him to this country some 42 years ago, and he had developed that industry more than any other man in Canada. Mr. Cane, who had come along with him, had been a manufacturer for many years. The Americans competed with them in Canada and laid down their goods, notwithstanding the 20 per cent., at less cost than they could. The factories in New England supplied the markets of eastern Canada, while the factories in Detroit, etc., supplied western Ontario. Goods were sold at 10c. less in Canada than to the people of the United States. It was hard work for them to compete successfully, because the manufacture of these goods cost them in Canada much more than in the United States. All that he would ask for was that the tariff might be fixed so that a fair and and reasonable profit might be made in the home market. They could not go to the United States, because the duty there was almost prohibitory, it being 35 per cent. In order to make a success of the industry in this country, and with the facilities that the manufacturers have, they should have a duty of 30 per cent. He did not know how Mr. Cane was affected, but his firm, in 1895, made a loss in the manufacture of woodenware, caused by competition from manufacturers in the States, who sold their articles at slaughter prices, and they asked the Government to protect them in a fair way, as they thought that the people of this country should be protected in a reasonable way. He, himself, did not believe in a high tariff. That was unjust ; but in a new country like this they could not do without it. He thought that they should have an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent. on woodenware. A specific duty on woodenware would not be workable, because of so many different grades. It would be too complicated, and it could be fixed in no other way than by an ad valorem duty.

Mr. Paterson: Do you include indurated ware, Mr. Eddy ?

Mr. Eddy: No; woodenware only.

Mr. Fielding: What items have you in your mind ?

Mr. Eddy: Pails, candy pails, lard pails, etc.

Sir Richard Cartwright: What success have you had with your export trade, and where do you export ?

Mr. Eddy: I have tried Australia and also England, but I have always met with a loss so far. What they had to contend with was the high freight to Liverpool.

Sir Richard Cartwright: What percentage do you put on for freight ?

Mr. Eddy: About 35 per cent. in addition to the price of the cost of the article.

Sir Richard Cartwright: What do you pay for freight ?

Mr. Eddy: About $4 for about 40 feet. The freight from Boston was about 10 to 12s. less to Liverpool than from Montreal. That was by any of the lines.

Sir Richard Cartwright: I can hardly understand why that excessive charge should be.

Mr. Cane: They charge us so much a square foot. If an article was 12 inches superficial they would charge us 12 inches square.

Sir Richard Cartwright: It is specially hard on you as manufacturers. You said you suffered from American competition. Everything being equal, you have the advantage of the water power over them.

Mr. Eddy : Yes, we have that cheaper than the States. In American pail shops the wages, however, are 10 per cent. cheaper than ours.

Sir Richard : What you want is a fair market ?

Mr. Eddy : What we want them to do is to sell the same class of goods to the Canadians as they sell at home.

Sir Richard : They have too many "seconds ?"

Mr. Eddy : They sell pails manufactured in Detroit, and people think a pail is a pail at 90 cents.

Sir Richard : They have the advantage over you in the large market ?

Mr. Eddy : What is 5 millions to 60 millions ? We cannot manufacture as cheaply as they can. It was impossible for manufacturers of goods in a small market to compete with factories that have been running for over 40 years and have millions of dollars invested.

Mr. Cane : Our raw material costs us a great deal more than it does them.

Sir Richard Cartwright : Hoop iron not being manufactured in this county gave them an advantage over you.

Mr. Cane : They can buy their material, in some cases, a little less than half of what we can.

Mr. Eddy : I claim that we should be protected in the wares that we manufacture. This article went into the manufacture of pails, tubs, etc.

Sir Richard Cartwright : You don't export to the States ?

Mr. Eddy : It is almost prohibitory to do so.

Sir Richard Cartwright : You export pretty largely in matches to the States ?

Mr. Eddy : Not our firm. Match splints have been exported from Quebec. As manufacturers of matches we have not been able to export.

Sir Richard Cartwright : I am told that in the States the Japanese have stepped in with their matches.

Mr. Eddy : I learned that while in Europe last year. But they had not yet interfered with the trade in Canada. Continuing, he said that he did not object to pay duties on raw material that their goods were manufactured from which were made in Canada.

Sir Richard Cartwright : Our importations are more than the exports.

Mr. Cane : The freight is so excessive, and the duty being against us it is impossible to export.

Sir Richard Cartwright : Would not the question of freights help you ?

Mr. Cane : They make a very much cheaper rate for freights coming in than going out of the country. Goods could be laid down in Toronto from Detroit for 11½c., but the rate from there to Detroit would be 40c. He would give an instance : When he was burned out he went to Massachusetts and bought a carload of goods which he got in at 16c. a hundred, and the gentleman he bought the goods from required some articles from this side, and on his return he enquired about the rate and found that it was 70c. over exactly the same road as the goods came on which he paid 16c.

Mr. Eddy : Manufacturers on the other side do everything they can to slaughter our market. If they cannot do it one way they will another.

Mr. Cane : It costs us so much more to manufacture wooden ware in Canada than in the States, and this is accounted for by the fact that they can buy their raw material much cheaper than we can. They get their wood as cheaply as we do, and their hoop iron, less the duty and freight we pay. Wire is from 25 to 35 per cent. cheaper, which article amounts to about one-half of the cost of production.

Mr. Fielding: And they have a duty of 35 per cent. against you going in.

PRISON LABOR.

Mr. Eddy said that he would like to draw their attention to prison labor as against skilled labor. It was put against them; it was impossible for manufacturers to compete with it. It was being abolished in some of the States in America. If it was allowed to go on they would have to go out of business.

Mr. Fielding: You would not have them do nothing and make you and I keep them? That is the other side of the question.

Mr. Eddy said he had had his little difficulties with the Central Prison in Toronto, who were selling at prices with which he was unable to compete. He made representations, and finally they withdrew from the manufacture of wooden ware.

Mr. Cane said that they had to bring in most of their machinery from the States at a duty of 27½ per cent. Saws, which were largely used, they paid a duty of 32½ per cent. on, and when they sent them back to get reset they had to pay a duty again.

Mr. Fielding: Can you not get them in Canada?

Mr. Cane said he had endeavored to get Canadian manufacturers to make them, but they would not undertake to do so.

Sir Richard Cartwright: There are three great difficulties that you have to contend with: 1, the heavy tax on raw materials; 2, there is a much larger market in the States, and they can manufacture more special lines; 3, you are handicapped by discriminating freight.

In answer to a question as to the output of wooden ware, Mr. Cane said his output was about $100,000 worth and Mr. Eddy said his firm had an output of about $200,000.

Mr. Fielding: You deliver at the same price, but you pay the freight, which means considerably less, say in the Maritime Provinces, than to a dealer in Ottawa.

Mr. Eddy: We sell at the same price in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, laid down.

Mr. Fielding: The manufacturer in the Maritime Provinces would say you were slaughtering prices there, just in the same way as you say the Americans are doing.

Mr. Eddy said it was giving the trade a uniform price all over the Dominion, and it was the duty of the manufacturers to do so in order that they would not sell at a lower rate in St. John than in Toronto. Down east they had to regulate the price to meet the Boston manufacturers, who had an easier access to that point. They never undersold any man. The Boston people governed the market in New Brunswick, as did Detroit and Bay City in the west, so that they were handicapped on both sides. They had to lay down their goods free of freight or else they would lose their trade.

Mr. Cane: We are worse off now than under the Mackenzie regime, when the duty was 17½ per cent., because all our raw material that was not produced in Canada came in free. Wire is manufactured in Canada, but they had to pay just as much for it as if it were bought in the States.

Mr. Fielding: The Canadian made article is sold in Canada at the American price with the duty added.

Mr. Eddy: I think the manufacturers of Canada should be protected in a reasonable way all through. When I come down to my own opinion I do not see why, when we paid a duty of 35 per cent. going from Canada that the Americans should not do so on their goods.

Sir Richard Cartwright: The consumer wants his goods cheap, and the Canadian consumer is a big factor in the imposition of a tariff.

Mr. Eddy: There would not be many consumers if it were not for the manufacturers and farmers. The farmers were in a poor state when I came here 40 years ago.

Mr. Fielding: We would have the farmers say where would the manufacturers be if it were not for them.

Mr. Eddy: We cannot do without one or the other.

Mr. Fielding: That is a fair argument.

PAPER BAGS.

Passing from woodenware, Mr. Eddy said he would like to draw the attention of the Commission to paper and paper bags. Paper was allowed to be imported at 25 per cent. This paper when manufactured into envelopes was 35 per cent., while manufactured into bags it was only 25 per cent. He did not consider this right. It cost them 25 per cent. more to manufacture paper here than across the line. In answer to a question, Mr. Eddy said that he could only turn out about 40 tons of paper a day, while some of them in the States turned out 250 tons. If he had a larger market he would also have a larger mill. Their investment outside of paper on paper bags alone was $25,000.

PULP WOOD.

Mr. Eddy next passed on to the export duty on pulp wood. He said that they are and have been for the past five or six years allowing our forests to be cut down and taken to the other side without any value being placed on them or any revenue whatever. The lumber was taken to the other side to the saw mills and placed into competition with Canadian lumber. All along the line villages and towns were springing up wherever they can get wood from Canada. They have not the quantity of pulp wood in the States. New York state was a spruce country, but 69 per cent. of pulp used in the manufacture of paper came from Three Rivers, Que., and the Lower Provinces, and in the west from the Niagara district. About 75 per cent. of the pulp manufactured in Wisconsin came also from Canada. It seemed to him very foolish that they should allow this country to be denuded of timber and taken to the other side without any cost, which was the means of building up towns and villages on the other side. He favored a duty of $4 a cord on all pulp wood. He believed in a prohibitory tariff in this respect, and claimed that it will bring people from the other side with capital. They had plenty of water power from New Brunswick to the Lake of the Woods to grind the wood into pulp. He did not see why the Government here allowed timber to go out of the country without some revenue tariff from it. He believed that if this prohibitory tariff was put on that in a few years they would have villages and towns on this side of the line and millions of dollars invested. If they did not do so now they would come to see in a few years that they would have to do so, but then it would be too late.

In answer to Sir Richard Cartwright Mr. Eddy said that they exported now about a million cords.

Mr. Paterson: Is the wood owned by the Crown or by private individuals?

Mr. Eddy. By both.

Mr. Paterson: How would a private owner view an export duty?

Mr. Eddy: Well, he might vote against it, but the capital would be invested in this country and they would come to see that it would benefit them. It was said just now that there was no demand for labor, but he thought they would not have enough men to supply the demand if this duty was put on.

AT BROCKVILLE.

The Tariff Commission sat at Brockville on Friday. The members of the Commission present were Hon. Mr. Fielding, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Mr. W. Paterson and Hon. Mr. Fisher. The evidence was heard in the Council Chamber. Great interest was manifested by the large number of dairymen who were in the city attending the annual convention. The chief evidence given was that connected with the cheese and butter trade.

FARMERS' VIEWS.

Mr. George Hutton, president of the North Grenville Farmers' Institute, was the first to give evidence. He commenced by stating that it was a new departure for the farmers to have an opportunity to lay bare their grievances. What he knew of the tariff, he said, in this country was against the farming industry, and he always considered that a farmer had to pay both ways. When he wanted to sell an article he had to do so at the lowest price, and when he went to buy he had to do so at the highest price. One of the grievances they were suffering under was the high price of coal oil, occasioned by the high duty. The farmers were the only large consumers of coal oil, as the towns and villages had either gas or the electric light. The farmer was, therefore, compelled to use the poor Canadian oil or pay a much larger price for the imported article. They had also to pay a big price for salt, which he thought should be much cheaper. He thought they should have closer trade relations with the United States. It would be better for the farmer, as America was practically a home market for them. They used to export lambs, horses, eggs, butter, etc. In fact, New York used to be one of the largest markets for their supply of butter, but that was not the case now.

In answer to Mr. Fisher, he said that he did not know what quantity was shipped to England, but the butter trade in his immediate section was a very considerable item. With regard to turkeys, he knew of one lot of 95 tons of turkeys which were purchased at Smith's Falls. They got from 7½ to 9½c. per pound for the best, but some years ago they used to get from 10 to 12c. for turkeys in America.

In answer to Sir Richard Cartwright, as to what he could suggest to further the interests of the farmer, Mr. Hutton said if the Government could devise some scheme of better trade relations with the United States it would be of great assistance to them. Continuing, he said, in answer to a further question, that farm land had depreciated to about half of what it was some 12 years ago. As an instance, a farm which cost $12,000 at that time could be bought for $6,000 to-day.

In answer to Hon. Mr. Fisher, Mr. Hutton said that their pork was sold alive. It was what was called light pork, and was used for bacon. It was chiefly dairy fed. He did not think that it would affect them very much whether the duty was taken off, because they did not use corn. They got from 3 to 3½c. a pound, and, in exceptional cases, 4c. live weight. There were some furnishings used in the dairy business which were not manufactured in this country, and on which they had to pay a duty. If that were taken off he believed that it would help them. The cap which went round the top of the cheese was not manufactured in this country. It was an article that was greatly used, and he thought the duty should be taken off.

A MARKET FOR TURKEYS.

Mr. John Stagg, a large exporter, said he was speaking to an exporter about the 1st of December in Grenville who had 150 tons of turkeys on the way to England. He had buyers at the different centres who bought the birds from 6½ to 7c. a pound. With regard to corn, he said there was no corn like the American, and he thought it should be free. He had paid for a number of years $75 for a thousand bushels. It was no use exporting cattle unless they were prime, and it was by using this corn that this could be done.

Sir Richard Cartwright: Would it not pay you better to ship the prepared carcase?

Mr. Stagg said that was a very hard question to answer. The offal from the cattle when slaughtered on the other side almost paid for the freight. The trade in dressed or live beef was a most important one to the farmer. If corn was admitted free it would mean about $10 of a gain to the farmer. He thought that if the Government would supervise a fair trial of beef at four centres in the Old Country, so that it would be sold for Canadian prime beef, it would prove that it was the best going into that market. It was a well-known fact, that Canadian beef was sold often in Great Britain as home fed. He did not want the Government to take the matter up as a speculation, but just to see that it was fully carried out, so that it would give the farmers confidence in the enterprise.

If the duty was taken off pork it would seriously injure the dairy farmer, because most of them kept from 8 to 10 hogs, which were fed from the refuse of the cheese factory. There was no country in the world that could raise pork like Canada. If the duty was removed the Americans would flood this market with hogs.

THE DUTY ON PORK.

Mr. Macpherson, Lancaster, ex-president of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, said he thought they, as raisers of pork and manufacturers of cheese, should have the consideration of the Government in the matter of cold storage. Light pork could be raised at a very much less cost than heavy. Light pork would sell for $1 a hundred pounds more, and it could be reared for $1 less, which was a profit of $2 in the light pork. The light pork was used chiefly for bacon. He thought they had nothing to fear from the introduction of heavy pork into this country. The less heavy pork raised in this country the better it would be for the Canadian farmer. The reputation of the Canadian bacon on the English market was equal, if not superior, to the Danish bacon. He thought that a reduction all round in the duties should be effected. He was in favor of a reduction on corn. The duty on coal oil should also be reduced. With regard to dairy furnishings, he thought that the duty on separators should be abolished. There was only one manufactured in Canada, and parts of it had to be imported.

ADULTERATED HONEY.

Mr. F. L. Moore, Addison, a large producer of honey, next took up the question of adulterated honey. He said that large quantities of honey came in from the United States and was adulterated. He thought that some means should be taken whereby producers of honey should be compelled to have a label with the name and post office written on each lot. He admitted, however, that this would be rather hard on the farmer who had only a few pounds to sell. Producers should also be compelled to send a sample of their honey to be examined by an expert.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that it was a fact that many bee keepers fed their bees with brown sugar to produce greater results, and that was adulteration.

Mr. Moore said that he never fed his bees, and he thought that those who did were too greedy. He thought that as Canadian honey was now recognized as the best on the market care should be taken about adulteration. The output from this industry in the States was large, and he saw no reason why Canada should not also derive as much benefit from it. Previous to going into the bee business he kept 15 cows, but he sold them and had now about 100 colonies of bees, which paid him far better than did the cows, while the labor was less. He thought the Government should do everything to protect the industry, as it was still young.

Col. Joseph Redmond, Escott, Ont., a prominent farmer, was in favor of better trade relations with the United States if it could be effected, but he strongly favored preferential trade with Great Britain. If that were done ships coming from England would have full cargoes, which would have the effect of reducing the outward freight.

Sir Richard Cartwright: England does not give us the slightest advantage over any other foreign nation.

THE COAL OIL DUTY.

Mr. R. Alder, South Grenville, was in favor of a reduction on a number of articles consumed by the farmers, chief among these the reduction of the duty on coal oil. He thought the average farmer would use about 40 gallons a year. He used American oil exclusively, because the Canadian oil was so inferior.

Mr. Fielding: How much does this cost you across the line. (Laughter.)

Mr. Alder said he never bought it that way, although it could be bought for about 8c. a gallon, while here it cost 20. Canadian oil, he believed, cost about 16c.

AGAINST COMBINES.

Dr. Williams, Cardinal, appeared on behalf of a number of farmers of that district. He thought that the present tariff was hurtful to the interests of the farming community. The farmers which he represented were in favor of free corn. He said that the present tariff was the means of building up combines, which were detrimental to the interests of the country. "Take the Magog Print Works, for instance," he said. "They regulated the prices of their prints to the wholesale merchants, and fixed a price that they could not go below in selling to the retailer. Some wholesale houses had tried to fight against these combines, but they had generally to surrender, as, for instance, John Macdonald & Co. and Brock & Co., Toronto, did to the Magog Print Works."

DUTY ON CHEESE CLOTHS.

A deputation from the Dairymen's Association waited upon the Commission. Mr. Murphy acted as spokesman. He asked that a number of duties be removed, and went on to say that the duty on cheese cloths of 25 per cent. was altogether too high. They used large quantities of it and as cheese was one of the most important export industries he thought it should be removed. He thought separators should be allowed to come in free. He was not in favor of the duty being taken off pork.

The president of the association said that the amount of butter exported for the last three years during the time of open navigation at Montreal was: In 1894, 34,000 packages; in 1895, 69,000 packages, and in 1896, 157,000 packages, which was nearly 100,000 packages more butter, and $1,000,000 in value, more than in 1895.

CANADIAN COAL THE BEST.

From the official report on the efficiency of various coals used by United States war ships from 1893 to 1895 inclusive, prepared by the Bureau of Equipment, Washington, it appears that our Canadian bituminous coal, the product of the Canmore mines, Alberta, N.W.T., led all others in point of percentage of fixed carbon, 86.367, and also in the small quantity of ashes left after combustion. In the boiler tests of coal at New York and Navy Island navy yards the Canmore also led all competitors.

PRICE NOT EVERYTHING.

It cannot be successfully disputed, remarks Merchants' Review, that the retail grocers are at times a little too much inclined to attach excessive importance to the matter of price. They are apt to overlook the importance of quality, service, and delivery, in the belief that the public will forgive any shortcoming of the retail merchant if his scale of prices is all right.

This theory may be sound as regards some lines of business, but it rests on a very unsubstantial foundation as far as groceries are concerned. Ask any leading grocer if he does not believe the question of quality to be of equal if not greater importance than any other that grocers must consider. Ask a frequenter of department stores who has been often frozen by the hauteur of salesgirls if the treatment of customers is not a question demanding earnest attention.

A smile, an enquiry evincing solicitude as to a customer's health, and a pleasant "good-day" at a customer's departure—these are all little things, too small to be considered by some grocers, but they form the principal buttress of the grocers' bulwark against department stores, when low prices prove a broken reed.

WHY GROCERS MARRY.

Grocers make good husbands, and that is doubtless why so few of them are unmarried. The girls snap 'em up so quickly. And they marry young, too, the grocers—at least they do hereabouts, and in most cases the matrimonial state agrees with the dealer and he finds it more profitable in every way than celibacy.

A NEAT TRICK.

A FASHIONABLY dressed Parisian entered a tobacconist's shop in the Rue St. Honore, says a Paris journal, in which several persons were being served. He selected a cigar, which he lighted, and stood for a few moments as if waiting for something. He then turned to the shop-girl and asked for his change out of the 5-franc piece he had given.

The girl denied that she had received any, at which he appeared very indignant and said that if she looked in her till she would doubtless find it, adding that it had a certain mark on it. The girl, to satisfy herself, looked and found a 5-franc piece marked as described, and, apologizing for her mistake, was about to give him the change, when two gendarmes, who happened to have observed his manœuvres from the outside, entered and took him into custody.

He was taken to the commissary of police, where he was recognized as a skilful practitioner of the description of thief called rendez-moi. His plan was to send someone into the shop some time before him to purchase a trifling article with a marked 5-franc piece, and then to enter himself and act as we have described, by which process he managed to get from 40 to 50 francs per day.

HAPPY MR. MULHOLLAND.

Mr. H. M. Mulholland, of Husband Bros., wholesale fruit merchants, came down to business on Thursday morning wearing a smile more than usually expansive. For some years Mr. Mulholland has been married, but it was not until Thursday morning that he could call himself a father. And that was the reason that he wore an expansive smile. The "olive branch" is a girl, and Mr. Mulholland's friends are heaping congratulations upon him, all of which he modestly accepts.

"PLEASE REMIT."

A West Virginia grocer prints the following rhymed confession on the bottom margin of his billheads:

Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest ever writ
Are not about what might have been,
But these two: "Please remit."

A couple of typographical errors have been discovered in the advertisement of H. P. Eckardt & Co. since it went to press. For instance, "Japan Small Screen, 12½c." should read "Japan Small Leaf, 12½c.," and Young Hyson, instead of being quoted at 11c. should be 10c.

Mr. R. Muat Corrie, representative in Toronto and in the west for Heinz pickles, has returned from a week's sojourn in Pittsburg, where he was attending the annual convention of the firm's representatives. To THE CANADIAN GROCER Mr. Corrie stated that the firm employs no less than 2,000 girls in putting up pickles, and 300 travelers, covering the United States, Great Britain and Canada. For the first three months of the firm's business in Ontario and Quebec between nine and ten carloads of pickles were sold in these two provinces.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE is a good under-current of enquiry and a much firmer tone noticeable among exporters of fish this week. The disastrous policy still pursued by St. John's, Nfld., dealers of flooding a foreign market as soon as it quotes a paying price, will, for the balance of this season at least, be checkmated, for the simple reason that they have not now sufficient stocks left to do so if an opportunity should offer. Reliable reports to hand show that not two-thirds of the usual quantity is now held there, and with the advances in exchanges in the Brazils, and with a general clearing up of the over-stocked Oporto and Mediterranean ports and a late Lent, there is likely to be a brisk general demand and improved prices all round. Stocks here are not heavy, while Lunenburg merchants are not carrying near their usual quantity; in fact, the largest dealer there has not been buying at all for some time. Quite a few fish are yet to be dried in the spring. They will show up badly and dealers will not be eager to buy them. Salt herrings are now all marketed. Two cargoes of frozen herrings are en route from Newfoundland and will likely bring good figures. The quantity of fresh mackerel arriving in New York and Boston still affects our local catch and prices show no improvement. There is a probability of the duty being increased to $3 per barrel.

There is little or no demand for P. E. I. mess pork, which is quoted at $12.50 (an outside figure). Boston plate beef is quoted at $12.50 and Canadian at $11.

Flour dealers still look for stiffer prices. An indication of the firmness of the market is found in the action of the bakers raising the price of bread. Ogilvie's Hungarian patents and Five Roses are quoted at $5.75; Goldie's People's at $5; 75 per cent. patents at $4.80; 8 per cent. do. at $4.75; straight grades at $4.50.

The market is well supplied this week with Valencia, Denia, Jamaica, and California navel oranges. The steamers Labrador and Mongolian brought consignments of the two former and the Alpha, which arrived on Monday, brought the Jamaicas. Valencias are quoted at $3.50 to $4; Denias at $4.50 to $5; Jamaicas at $7.50 to $8; and California navels at $4.50. Lemons, 300 count, extra fancy, are worth $3.50 to $4. Apples range in price from $1 to $2 per bbl. Good selected cranberries are worth $6 per bbl.; Aylesford stocks bring from $4 to $5.

Onions are firm at 1½c.

The butter trade is principally running on Canadian dairy rolls, which are bringing 15 to 16c. Fresh-made from local creameries in tubs is selling at 21c. September make is worth 20c.

There is little or nothing doing in cheese. The quotation is about 11c. cash for September and October.

Thirteen cars of Ontario beef, consigned to J. A. Leaman & Co., have just arrived. This firm are heavy importers of Ontario beef, pork, mutton and poultry. A carload was expected last week to be distributed among local dealers, but it failed to arrive. Another carload for the same purpose is expected this week. Native stocks, sinking offal, are quoted at $7 to $7.30 for extra good. Mutton is worth 5c. and lamb 6c. Fresh pork is not in demand and the stocks on hand are more than enough to meet all demands. The quotation is 4 and 5c. per pound.

Poultry is very scarce. No Ontario stocks have arrived since Thanksgiving to speak of. The market is almost bare of a good article, and native turkeys are jobbing at 12½c. for good and 12c. for average. It is impossible to get anything like a decent looking goose under 75c., and chickens and fowls readily sell at 50 to 60c. per pair.

Rabbits are the only game offering. They sell at 8c. per pair.

Eggs are somewhat quiet this week. Prince Edward Island stocks sell at 15c., and fresh native at 17c.

The sugar market is slow, owing no doubt to the fact that most people are taking stock at this season. Prices of refined sugars are unchanged at 3⅞c. for granulated, 3⅛c. for "Extra Circle C," and 3¼c. for "Circle C." The market is firm in raws, beet sugar being held strong at 9s. 3d. for January, and 9s. 4½d. for February.

Hugh W. Ross, grocer, who was fined for selling adulterated pepper, says he bought the goods in good faith and had no idea he was selling an adulterated article.

A. M. Hodge, who recently sold out the Kandy Kitchen, is offering to compromise with his creditors at 25c. on the dollar.

CAPE COD CRANBERRIES.

Dealers report that the early estimates of a short crop of cranberries made by many of the Cape Cod growers, with predictions of scarcity and high prices for the holiday markets, have turned out very different in each respect. Receipts from Cape Cod so far this season foot up about 65,000 barrels; for the same period in 1895, about 50,000 barrels.—Grocery World.

DECLINE IN SUGAR.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce of Wednesday says: "The price of soft grades of refined sugar were reduced to-day ⅛c. on Nos. 1 to 8, 1-16c. on Nos. 9 to 13 and ⅛c. on No. 16, bringing them practically to the basis which prevailed at the close of the year. The slight decline the day before had failed to provoke demand, and it was possible that the further reduction was for the purpose of bringing out increased interest from the grocerymen, yet at the same time with the present supplies of raw held by the refiners it was perhaps more a matter of indifference whether trading came up at once in their productions than a hope for effect upon importers' views over raw."

TORONTO GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

MR. J. S. BOND, the new president of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, was installed in office at the regular meeting of the association, held on Monday night.

His inaugural speech was brief and to the point. After thanking the members for the honor they had conferred upon him, he dealt with the complaint that is sometimes made to the effect that no benefit was to be derived from membership in the association. He combatted this ideas, declaring that it was impossible for the members to meet month after month and discuss trade subjects without deriving at least some benefit. He also referred to the question of annual membership fees, and suggested (1) that they be made to uniformly begin from the first of the year, and (2) that the said fees be collected quarterly instead of annually. Referring to the trade outlook, he said that his reading of the signs of the times was to the effect that we were on the eve of better business conditions.

Mr. W. H. Marmion, the new vice-president, also spoke briefly.

A lengthy discussion took place in regard to the advisability of holding an At Home. It was finally decided to hold a smoking concert on February 8, and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

A deputation from the Single Tax Society was received, and Mr. Douglas, a spokesman, stated that the object of appearing before the association was to secure the co-operation of its members in memorializing the Ontario Government to amend the law in regard to taxation.

WOMEN IN THE GROCERY STORE.

A WRITER, signing herself "Mrs. A. L. G.," has the following in a recent number of Grocery World :

"I believe that in a few years there will be but few men in the retail grocery business, and a good many of those few will be kept for the purpose of handling boxes, heavy barrels, etc. I have had some experience in studying the matter of women's employment, and I see that more young women are being employed in groccry stores every day. I believe this is because it is coming to be recognized that women are peculiarly adapted to sell food products. They are better judges of foods to begin with, they are cleaner in the second place, and altogether better adapted for keeping a grocery store or any other store where food is kept than a man.

"In my city there are by actual count twenty-six retail grocery stores. I have been at some pains to investigate their attitude towards this matter, and what I find bears directly upon the subject. Ten years ago not a single one of these stores had a female clerk. A number of the proprietors of these stores told me only a few weeks ago that ten years ago they would no more have thought of employing a woman in any capacity, whether as a clerk, bookkeeper or stenographer, than they would have thought of giving goods away free of cost. It is a singular fact that fifteen of these grocery stores now have female clerks behind the counter, and the remaining eleven employ young women either as demonstrators, book-keepers or typewriters. All of those who told me of their antipathy to women in the store ten years ago, are among those who now have lady clerks. It can be seen from this that the movement is certainly growing, and that women are coming more and more to be recognized as being entitled to a place in a store which sells food. Who would think of having men clerks in a confectionery store? and yet it seems to me almost as justifiable to have them there as in the grocery stores. Eatables are kept in both places.

"It is but a step from the clerkship to the proprietorship of the store, and the ambitious young woman will soon feel that she has a right to open a store of her own, and I believe that when she does so her store will be conducted quite as well as any store now conducted by a man. Wherever women have once secured a foothold, they have speedily shown that they are better than men in the same positions. It is this which justifies my belief that after the first grocery store is started by a woman, others will speedily follow, and the end will be that the male grocers will have to take up some other line. This may not be palatable to your readers, who must remember, however, that I have been simply giving my personal opinions, based upon considerable investigation, as well as a strong belief that women are destined to take a prominent place in the retail stores of the country."

CANADIAN LUMBER IN ENGLAND.

It is not generally known that Canada has a very large market now in England for pine boards, as well as deals and square timber. It is only within a few years that the English lumber buyers would take millions of feet of boards and plank. Such is now the case, and at Ottawa to-day there are millions of feet of lumber piled out to dry, sold during the last sawing season to English buyers and merchants for shipment abroad. This, to a certain extent, makes Canada independent of the United States in its sales of pine.—Northeastern Lumberman.

NOTHING IS WASTED.

THE paunches of the cattle are cleaned and made into tripe. The long ends of the tails of cattle are sold to mattress makers.

The undigested food in the cattle stomachs is pressed and used for fuel.

The intestines are used for sausage casings, the bladders are used to pack putty in.

All of the scrap from rendering operations is carefully preserved and dried and sold as fertilizers.

The stomachs of hogs instead of being sent to the rendering tanks are now being used for the manufacture of pepsin.

Pigs' feet, cattle feet, hide clippings and the pith of horns as well as some of the bones go to the manufacture of glue.

The choicer parts of the fat from the cattle are utilized for the manufacture of oleo oil, which is a constituent of butterine, and for stearine.

Large quantities of the best of the leaf lard are also used for the manufacture of what is known as "neutral," also a constituent of butterine.

Bones are dried and either ground into bone meal or used for the manufacture of bone charcoal, which is afterward utilized for refining sugar and in some other refining processes.

All of the blood is carefully preserved. Some is coagulated by cooking with steam, then pressed and dried and sold to fertilizer manufacturers. Buttons are made of blood, and it is also used in sugar refining.

The horns and hoofs are carefully preserved and sold to the manufacturers of combs, buttons, etc. Many of the large white hoofs go to China where they are made into jewelry. The horns are used for a multitude of purposes. They can be made supple and split into thin plates and pressed under the most diverse forms in heated moulds and receive various colors. They form close imitations of the highest priced tortoise shells.—National Provisioner.

A WISE MERCHANT.

C. S. White, general merchant, Lennoxville, Ont., has sold his dry goods business to E. W. Abbott & Son, and his groceries and hardware to C. F. Wiggett. Mr. Wiggett has also leased Mr. White's store and will carry on business in the old stand. He should do very well as he has been known to the trade in Lennoxville—and very favorably too—for the past 12 years. We like the ring of his announcement when he says: "my aim will be to keep nothing but the very best, and to sell the same on a small margin on cost." This is where very many merchants fail. They try to work off the cheapest goods and sell at cost.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

NOTHING strikingly new has developed upon the local grocery market during the past week. Orders are of a hand-to-mouth character, but taking it all round a fairly good trade is being done for this time of the year. Sugars are in a little better position in sympathy with the outside market, but there has been no actual change in values. Canned vegetables appear to be still gathering strength, some of the packers having advanced their figures for tomatoes. There is, however, very little business being done by the packers. Teas are still in fairly good request with prices firm. Coffees are a little easier than they were. Currants show a further advance in the primary market. In other staple lines the conditions are much the same as they were a week ago. Payments are fairly good.

CANNED GOODS.

Some of the packers have advanced their views in regard to the price of tomatoes; those who were willing to accept 55c. a short time ago are now demanding 65c., while 70c. is commonly asked. The feeling is also getting a little stronger in regard to corn, people counting on higher prices as a result of the increased consumption. Lobster is scarce and dearer. A fair demand is being experienced for canned salmon of the cheaper grades. The demand for canned goods generally has improved since the beginning of the year. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The market is a little easier, particularly in the higher grades of Rio coffee. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There is still only a small business doing in this line. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Dull and unchanged. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The 1-16c. advance of last week in the price of a couple of grades of yellow sugar in New York was lost on Monday, but, nevertheless, the sugar market, both in New York and London, possesses a firmer feeling. In London, on Monday, beet advanced ¼d. Locally, the market is steady and unchanged. Business is light; but so are the stocks, and an improved demand shortly is consequently looked for. Wholesalers' quotations for granulated are unchanged at 4 to 4.10c., and yellows range from 3.30 to 3.75c. per lb.

SPICES.

These continue quiet and featureless. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

There is nothing new in nuts to note. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business is quiet in these lines. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

A good business is being done in Indian and Ceylon teas, of low grade chiefly. There has been a revival of buying in China teas, both blacks and greens. A few transactions have taken place in Japan teas on direct orders for shipment when the season opens, but generally speaking trade in Japan teas is quiet, although now that the wholesalers are through taking stock they are buying a little more freely than they were. Autumnal flavored Indian teas are firm, with the demand keen and prices ½d. dearer. Owing to the stringency of money in India, and the consequent exceedingly high rate of exchange, the exportation of teas from that country has been rendered difficult for the time being. There is still a scarcity of first Young Hysons on the local market. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 21 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A cable from Patras shows a further advance in the price of currants and reports that the tendency of values is still upwards. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do., half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins have not yet recovered from the usual after-holiday quietude. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

Malaga raisins are quiet. Some shipments of loose muscatel raisins have been made to Montreal from Malaga, in 50-lb. boxes of California style. This is a new departure for Malaga fruit. We quote as follows: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are still quiet. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Further shipments of dates have arrived during the past week or ten days, but the demand is light. We quote 7 to 7½c. for Hallowee and 6½ to 6¾c. for cheaper grades.

California evaporated fruits are beginning to experience a little better demand, but the large quantities of domestic dried and evaporated fruits there are on the market is materially interfering with the sale of the foreign article. We quote; Peaches, 6 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 8½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 5½ to 13½c. There is some of last season's fruit on the market.

Prunes are neglected. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

grapes is about over for the season and stocks are pretty well reduced. Onions have advanced 25c. per bag on account of a demand that is being experienced for the United States. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; ditto, barrels, $7; Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.75 to $4.25 per case; large, 420's, $5.25 to $5.50; 714's, $4. to $4.50 per case; Mexicans, $3.25 to $3.75 per box; Floridas, $4.50 per box; California navels, $3.75 to $4. Lemons—Messinas and Palermos, $2.25 to $3 per box for choice to fancy; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. for red fruit or greenings, and 75c. for ordinary; onions, $1 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; cranberries, $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $5 to $5.50 for Canadians and Nova Scotians; cases, $2 to $2.50; bananas, $1.50; Almeria grapes, $5 to $7.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — Deliveries have been higher during the past week, but still plenty of butter has been coming forward. The demand is moderate only. Prices are much as before. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 11 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is stronger, and on Tuesday the English market was cabled 1s. dearer. We quote late makes at 10½ to 12c., and early at 10c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged. We quote 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Dried apples are dull and weak, prices being ¼c. lower in New York. For the choice stock buyers' ideas are still 2½c. f.o.b. Jobbers quote 2 to 2¾c. per lb. for good to prime stock.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The export demand has improved, and exporters both in Canada and the United States have advanced their views ¼c. per lb. Jobbers quote 4 to 4½c. for small lots.

EGGS—The market is a little easier, some pickled eggs that were destined for the English market having been stopped here on account of the weaker turn that markets over there had taken. A good many salted eggs are also coming forward. We quote: Limed, 13½ to 14c.; fresh gathered, 17 to 18c.; new-laid, 20 to 21c.

MAPLE SYRUP—There is a little still going out at 70 to 80c. per gallon.

McLAUCHLAN'S SODAS ALWAYS FRESH AND CRISP.

Jas. McLauchlan & Sons Biscuit Manufacturers Owen Sound.

POTATOES—The market is dull. Farmers' deliveries are light, but several carload lots have been coming forward during the week, and they are worth from 25 to 30c. per bag on track; out of store 35 to 40c. is quoted.

POULTRY—The market has been pretty well cleaned up and a better feeling now prevails. The demand is good. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 40c. per pair; turkeys, 6 to 7c.; geese, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 60 to 70c.

HONEY — Dull and unchanged. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are fair and prices steady. We quote: Wheat, 86 to 87c. for white and 85 to 86c. for red, and 67 to 68c. for goose; oats, 22 to 23½c.; peas, 44 to 45c.

FLOUR—There is not much doing and prices are much about as before. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25; straight roller, $4.30, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is not much doing and prices show a further decline in oatmeal. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.20 in bags and $3.30 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish trade is still dull and prices unchanged. We quote: White fish 7½c.; trout, 7c.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 3½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 7c.; sea herring, $1 to $1.25 per 100; smelts, 7 to 10c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 to $1.35 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Provisions are quiet and unchanged. Offerings of dressed hogs are unusually liberal and prices are easier in consequence. In carload lots, Toronto, $4.50 is being paid for heavy weights and $5 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

SALT.

There is still a fair trade doing. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PETROLEUM.

Business continues brisk. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6 to 7c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 85 to 90c.

WOOL—The market is steady. Dealers are paying 21 to 22c. for combing fleece, 17c. for rejections. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c. and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

Beets advanced ¾d. in London on Monday.

Autumnal flavored Indian teas are ½d. per lb. dearer in London.

The cable announces a further advance in the price of currants at Patras.

The export demand for evaporated apples has improved, and prices, both here and in New York, have advanced ¼c. per lb.

Canned lobsters are scarce and dearer.

A second and final dividend of 11c. on the dollar has been paid by the estate of the late Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., making the total amount received by the creditors 26c. on the dollar.

N. Munro & Co., grocers, 201 Wellesley street, Toronto, have assigned to Assignee George Clay. The store is one of the largest in the north end of the city, and carries a heavy stock. The liabilities are placed at $11,500 and the assets will probably amount to $8,000 or $9,000.

GROCERIES.

THOUGH the week has exhibited no pronounced change there has been some appreciation in the volume of business, a gratifying indication being the expansion in the orders, though individually they are as yet mainly confined to actual wants. Few features of any moment have transpired. Sugar rules firm outside, but the local market does not respond and cutting on yellows is still reported. Syrups are quiet, and the strength in molasses is, if anything, more marked, jobbers paying an advance this week to replenish stocks. Rice rules steady, and the same can be said of spices, coffee, tea and dried fruits. Some lines of canned goods are working firmer, while fish, produce, etc., are much as they were.

SUGAR.

The chief feature in sugar is the continued strength in raw sugar. Private cables today from London quoted beet 9s. 4½d. for both January and February. The New York market for both raw and refined is also without question strong. Granulated was quoted at 4.10c. net in New York. The local market, however, while firm in tone, in sympathy with the above, exhibits no change in value, and sales of round lots of granulated are noted at 3⅞c. at the refineries and yellows at 3⅛c., and it is claimed that Halifax refiners have offered a cut on this figure. Demand in a jobbing way is still confined to small orders, but their volume is increasing. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c., and yellows 3¼ to 3¾c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Business continues quiet in syrups, though there is a fair demand in a small way. Prices rule steady all the way from 1¾ to 3c., according to grade, or 22 to 35c.

MOLASSES.

There has been a steady enquiry for molasses in a jobbing way, and wholesalers who tried to replace stock this week had to pay 29 to 29½c. for fair-sized lots of Barbadoes. This is ½c. higher than what it was offered for last week. In a jobbing way prices are held strong at 30 to 31c. as to quantity and quality.

RICE.

With continued strong advices from abroad the firm feeling in rice is maintained, though there is no quotable change in prices to report. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

There has been a fair enquiry for both white and black pepper and nutmegs, encouraged by the firm feeling abroad. The best offer now on Singapore pepper is 5c. cost and freight Montreal, and black 3c. In a jobbing way we quote: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is nothing new to report in coffee, except that the scarcity of Maracaibo stock has not been relieved. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The tea market has been quiet in a wholesale way, while the tone of the market is firm. Demand has picked up in a distributing way this week, and, though the orders are for small lots, jobbers consider the enquiry an encouraging sign. A scarcity of low-priced Japans is still the leading feature of the situation, and advices from London state that good marks of Ceylons and Indias are extremely difficult to obtain. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for

DRIED FRUIT.

There is no feature in Valencia raisins outside of a few sorting orders. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Arrivals of California raisins have been moderate all along, and values are firm; 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Loose Malaga muscatel raisins have turned out well at 7 to 7½c. for medium and 8 to 8½c. for high grades.

Sultana raisins continue quiet and steady at 7 to 12c. as to quality.

There is no change in currants, but prices are firmly held on strong advices from abroad. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes meet a good jobbing enquiry for actual wants. We quote: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

There is no change in figs, which range from 9½ to 11c, as to grade.

Dates meet a quiet enquiry at 5 to 5½c.

Evaporated California fruit is quiet. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c. as to brand.

NUTS.

A small sorting enquiry is the only feature in nuts. We quote as follows: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

former are not available now under 75 to 80c., even in lots, while peaches have realized $2.75 to $3 for 3's and $1.75 to $2 for 2's. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

There is only a quiet trade passing in fish, but while stocks are considerable there is no change in values. We quote: Labrador herrings, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S., $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. C., $6 per half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. Fresh tommycod, $1.25 to $1.40 per bbl,; haddock, 3¼ to 3½c.; frozen salmon, 11 to 12c.; halibut, 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout, 6½c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.30 to $1.50; ciscoes, 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring, 10 to 11c. per lb. Dried cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business does not show any particular animation in green fruit. Oranges of all kinds, except Valencias, which are abundant, exhibit a steady to stronger feeling. Valencias are lower. Malaga grapes are almost exhausted, and are 50c. higher. We quote: California oranges, $4 to $4.50 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest; cranberries, $2.50 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8.

APPLES.

There is very little doing in apples, prices ruling unchanged, while demand is slow. We quote: No. 1, 90c. to $1.40; No. 2, 40 to 85c.

DRIED APPLES.

No life or improvement is noted in dried apples, and we quote 3 to 3½c. in small jobbing parcels, while jobbers bid 2½ to 3c. for them laid down in Montreal. Evaporated apples are quiet at 3¾ to 4¼c., as to quality.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is only a small jobbing business in eggs. Prices are steady at 14 to 14½c. for Montreal limed and 13 to 13½c. for western ditto.

BEANS—There is no change in beans, sales being slow at 80 to 85c. in car lots, and 90 to 95c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES — Demand for potatoes continues slow at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and 45 to 50c. in a small way.

ONIONS — Are rather firmer in consequence of diminishing stocks and we quote red $1.60 to $1.75, and yellow, $1.85 to $2.

HONEY —Dull and unchanged at 8 to 10c. for comb honey, and 7½ to 9c. for extracted.

HOPS—Quiet and steady at 11 to 12c. for choice 1896; fair to good do. 8 to 10c., and yearlings, 5 to 6c.

DRESSED HOGS—There is a good demand for light weights at $5.25 in car lots. On the other hand, heavy weights are easy, being offered at $4.75, and buyers refused them.

PROVISIONS.

There was no improvement in the local provision market, trade being quiet and of a jobbing character. New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6½ to 7c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

FLOUR, AND MEAL.

There was no change in the situation of the flour market. The demand continues of a local character, and the market is quiet. Winter wheat patents are selling at $4.70 to $4.85; Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5 to $5.30; strong bakers', $4.50 to $5; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.50; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.25.

The oatmeal market was quiet and steady at a decline in price. Rolled oats are offering at $3.30 to $3.40 per barrel and at $1.65 to $1.70 per bag.

The demand for feed was quiet. Bran is quoted at $9.50 to $10 per ton, including bags, and Ontario at $9.25 in bulk.

HAY.

The hay market is easy, No. 1 being offered 25 to 50c. a ton lower, at $10.25 to $10.50; No. 2 is neglected at $9 to $9.25.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese exhibited more strength this week, though no appreciable increase in activity is to report. The reason is not far to seek. Most of the enquiry was and has heen for white cheese, and holders in the majority of cases refuse to part with these goods separate from their colored. As a matter of fact there is very little finest white cheese to be had, practically all that there is on spot being concentrated in the hands of two or three holders. It is only a question of time, therefore, and a very short time, when buyers will have to be satisfied with colored cheese. Values are now firmly held at 10½ to 10¾c., several trades being put through at the inside, while the outside was realized in the case of a small lot of colored and white. Indeed, it is doubtful if a buyer will be able to fill a large order from now on at 10½c. The public cable advanced Monday to 52s.

The butter market was quiet and steady; the chief supporting influence is the scarcity of fine to finest creamery. Any that comes in is quickly absorbed for local wants at 19 to 19½c., and as shippers cannot afford these figures, they are out of it for the time being.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The best figures on Singapore pepper, cost and freight Montreal, is 5c., and black pepper 3c.

Stocks of canned tomatoes and peaches are light in jobbers' hands in this market, and sellers are asking more money.

Cables from the outside on raw sugar continue firm, but refined stock here fails to respond; in fact, cutting on yellows is again reported.

The scarcity of Maracaibo coffee on spot has not been relieved yet, and an invoice lot was snapped up the other day as soon as it was offered at 17½c.

Jobbers who replaced stocks of Barbadoes molasses this week had to pay an advance of ½c., their fresh supplies costing them 29c. which is now an inside price.

Private cables from London quote 4½d. to 4¾d. f.o.b. the inside prices there on Moyune Young Hysons, which are very firm, nothing being obtainable under those prices.

Advices from London state that good makes of Ceylon teas are extremely scarce on that market. The same can be said of low-priced Japans on spot; they are not to be had.

Canadian onions have been bought pretty freely on American account lately, over five carloads being taken during the past ten days. This has reduced stocks here, and led to an advance in prices.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 14, 1897.

BUSINESS is still quiet. The lack of snow is much felt, not only in the city, but even in the country. Stock-taking has occupied the attention of many, while others are getting ready to take it the first of next month. Profits are found in many cases to be not equal with last year. While flour, oatmeal and dried fruit have shown a good profit during the latter part of the year, sugar, molasses, pork, lard, beans and dried apples have shown largely on the other side, and much of the canned goods handled have shown little, if any, profit.

OIL—At present the demand in all lines is light, dealers having bought their supplies earlier. In lubricating the feeling is firmer than at the same time last year. Attention is now being directed to these lines. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19¾ to 21c.; Canadian, 18½ to 19½c.; prime. 16¼ to 17c.

SALT—There is little of interest. An occasional car of Canadian comes into the market. In fine salt this grade is being largely used, and gives good satisfaction. In Liverpool coarse, the direct steamer each trip brings a quantity, but there is only a light sale. Prices are quoted low from steamer's side. We quote as follows: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS.—Dealers find but limited enquiry. There is a firmer feeling manifested. The high prices obtained in the fall in the English market for lobsters has left our market bare, and this has put the price where it has lessened the demand. Salmon have turned out a larger stock than was expected. Gallon apples show light sale, although quality of some brands here is very nice. Finnan haddies are dull in local market. Fresh smoked goods being plenty, there is a good trade west. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT— Trade continues quiet. Cape Cod cranberries are dull, and for native grown there is really no sale. Oranges are plentiful. Some kinds are high. Californias are not particularly popular here. In Valencias prices marked again lower. While appearance of the fruit and color is good, they are still sour. Some Jamaicas are here, and it is said in some cases they are made to do duty for Floridas. Lemons are easy, and have good sale. Pineapples and bananas dull. Apples are a drug. Those sold at auction bring little or nothing. We quote: Messina lemons, $3.55 to $3.75; oranges, Valencia, $3.50 to $3.75; Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5; California oranges, $4.75 to $5; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $7 to $8; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5; pineapples, $1.50 to $2 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—A few new dates are to hand this week. These came via American market. The market is still lightly supplied, the direct shipments via London not being to hand. Onions are becoming light stock, and the report from Montreal is the same. The price in Boston is also higher. Raisins are in light supply, and prices will be higher. Evaporated and dried apples show no change. Stocks here are large. Demand for currants keeps up well. Prunes show but light demand in spite of higher prices and small stocks. The demand for California prunes is backward, and evaporated fruits have very little sale. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 6c.; dates, 5½ to 6c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5¼c.; Canadian onions, $2.20 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 17 to 17½c.; orange and lemon, 12½ to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c.; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 8½ to 9c.

SUGAR — While price here shows no change there is a firmer feeling, and higher prices are looked for. At present sales are light. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is a fair sale and values tend rather higher. Stocks are not large. There are now a number of grades of New Orleans here, and for the best there is a good demand. There is quantity of Trinidad here in bond on consignment, which could be bought low. While sound, the color is dark. The poor quality of Barbadoes has much affected the sale, while the sale of Porto Rico has been large. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—The principal movement for the week has been in frozen fish, but the quantity moved has not been large. Price shows no change. Lobster is seen. So far, the size of those offered is small. Kippered herring are light stock. Bloaters are dull, and smoked still easy. There are no strictly medium smoked herring now brought here, the sizes running large. Dry and pickled fish show no change. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; frozen herring, 65 to 70 per 100; smelt, 4 to 5c.; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 5 to 6c. each.

PROVISIONS—The conditions remain without change. In smoked meats, rolls are offered low, and large hams are also offered below price of last week. This does not appear to help the sale. American pure lard is still being received here. In pork the price rules low, with beef steady. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $12.50 to $13; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 10 to 12c.; rolls, 7 to 7½c.; pure lard, tubs, 7¾ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—In butter there is slow movement, and quality is poor. Country rolls are dull. In creamery the Ontario effects the sale of our local make in large packages. The print butter sold here is made in these lower provinces. Cheese is in light supply and the supply is limited. Eggs are dull, quality being but fairly satisfactory. We quote: Dairy tubs, 16 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 21 to 22c.; eggs, 17 to 18c.; cheese, 10 to 10½.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—There is really no change, as far as our market is concerned, but in flour the feeling favors higher prices, particularly Manitoba kinds, which have a large sale. Oats are firmer and higher, while oatmeal is rather easier. Our merchants are, however, not buyers. Cornmeal is quiet at the low price. Beans are low and show no sign of an improvement. In feed some low-priced grades of good value have been received, but demand is light. Barley is rather higher. In hay business is dull. Westmoreland hay is selling rather under Carleton county prices. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.70 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.60 to $3.70; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do., do., $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, 90c. to $1; prime, 85 to 90c.; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A large quantity of dry fish passed through St. John for Havana this week via Boston.

Digby is to have a first-class business summer hotel, with 100 sleeping apartments. Everything will be up to date. The situation chosen is a most commanding one.

Michael Lefebvre & Co., vinegar and pickle manufacturers, it is reported, are about to start a Maritime branch, with factory at St. John. Mr. J. J. Ryan, who for so many years has traveled through these provinces in their interests, will assume control of the business here.

Robertson & Co., whose failure was spoken of last week, report their liabilities at $5,000, and nominal assets $4,000. His offer of 25c. cash was not accepted, but the creditors trusted the estate, and, it is said, will run the business for eighteen months. Retail merchants are much displeased at this action.

The transatlantic shipments of deals, etc., from New Brunswick for 1896 is reported as 386,039,977 superficial feet and 10,215 tons of timber, being an increase of 4,657,403 feet of deals, etc., and 899 tons of timber over 1895. The outlook for the coming season is good. Many contracts are already made at a material advance over last season's prices.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has received a handsome calendar from Hall & Fairweather. This old and well-known firm, which was reported to be in difficulty, has this week paid its creditors the compromise agreed upon. Application has been made by S. S. Hall, S. S. de Forest, Horace King, W. C. Cross and H. H. Fairweather, for letters patent under the Joint Stock Companies Act with a capital of $50,000.

The first steamer doing winter port business out of St. John took of western goods about 14,000 tons, consisting of 54,680 sacks flour, 7,897 sacks oatmeal, 5,184 sacks beans, peas and barley, 12,411 packages butter, 147,122 bushels grain, 1,201 bags seeds, 9,418 barrels apples, 2,278 cases eggs, 9,640 bags asbestos, 3,673 bales hay, 4,935 tierces lard, 2,862 boxes meats, 16 cars lumber, 2,495 head cattle, and some 31 cars general goods.

BUTTER AND CHEESE MEN.

The Montreal Butter and Cheese Association have elected officers for the ensuing year, who are as follows:

President—A. J. Brice.
Vice-president—Jos. Oliver.
Treasurer—P. W. McLagan.
Executive Committee—Geo. Hodge. Arthur Hodgson, N. F. Bedard, J. J. Kirkpatrick.
Arbitration Committee—Jno. McKergow, W. T. Ware, Jos. Alexander, A. C. Wieland and J. A. Vaillancourt.

It was decided that the newly elected president should be the association nominee to represent it on the General Council of the Board of Trade.

PURE GOLD CO.'S NOTE BOOK.

On page 36 of the last issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER appeared an item to the effect that the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. were issuing a leather covered note book which would be sent to all applicants on the receipt of a 1c. stamp. The item was published in good faith, but it has nevertheless turned out to be an error. The Pure Gold Co, has no note book for general distribution, and we regret exceedingly that the avalanche of letters which the company has received has put it to so much inconvenience day after day in answering.

PUTTING IN NEW MACHINERY.

The F. F. Dalley Co., of Hamilton, last year found themselves hampered at certain seasons in filling orders as promptly as they wished, so this winter they are putting in a lot of new machinery of the very latest and newest improved pattern, which will largely tend to improve the quality and increase the output of their spices, self-rising flours, baking powder, English Army blacking, ladies' shoe dressings, Gem stove paste, etc. They say there will be no delay in filling orders after the new plant is in position.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. H. C. Fortier, of the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., is making a trip over the west as far as Windsor, and his old home, Amherstburg. This company is making a great bid for the best trade of Canada. No stone is being left unturned, and certainly their goods warrant the patronage they are receiving.

Capt. Charles A. Smylie, of Young & Smylie, Brooklyn, N.Y., was in Toronto this week on business,

Mr. Fernold, of Kobe, Japan, representing Carter, Macy & Co., tea merchants, was in Toronto this week looking up business for next season.

Mr. Fred. Dane, representative in Toronto of Samuel Hanson, Son & Barter, London, Eng., returned home on Monday from a flying visit to his native land, Ireland. He also spent a short time in England. He was away five weeks and enjoyed himself well, although he experienced rough weather both going and returning.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

JOHN SLOAN & CO. are in receipt of a carload of 500 cases of "Harlock" brand of low-priced canned salmon.

Aylmer chicken soup is in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

T. Kinnear & Co. have received into stock a fine, bright syrup.

Clemes Bros. are in receipt of a shipment of fancy California navel oranges.

T. Kinnear & Co. announce that they have fine value in Japan teas to retail at 25c.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report a good demand for their special syrup in 2 gallon pails.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are this week advertising the Grocers' show case at a very low price.

There is a steady demand reported by T. A. Lytle & Co. for pickles of all kinds, both in bottle and bulk.

California evaporated fruits are offered at tempting prices by the Eby, Blain Co. See their ad. in another column.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have a good stock of Labrador herring, and their B.C. salmon in half barrels have gone out well.

A shipment of Arguimbau's select and fine off-stalk Valencias arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have just received a line of first Young Hyson, which shows exceptional value in the cup.

T. Kinnear & Co. have Labrador herrings in barrels and half-barrels which they are offering at figures below the regular price.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have still a good supply of choice family figs in 28-lb. boxes and natural figs in 56-lb. bags, which are being sold at low prices.

For the next three weeks the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering specially low prices on all grades of domestic, milled and imported Japan and Patna rices.

The new year has opened with a good demand for Cottam's bird seed in Montreal. Jobbers there have been placing quite a few orders for supplies of it lately.

A large shipment of green Rio coffees is reported by the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. Quality and prices are claimed to be exceptionally right. Write for samples.

John Mouat, W. H. Gillard & Co.'s Northwest representative, has written a letter to that firm stating that their "Standard" blacks have made a decided hit with the grocers there on account of their suitability to the hard alkaline water.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have something new in salt called "Perfection," put up in neat round cardboard packages, containing 4 pounds, 24 to the case. These are good sellers, and retail at 10c.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

THIS week Lucas, Steele & Bristol have secured exceptional value in Darjeeling tea, also Kintuck. They are the finest obtainable.

"Rising Sun" stove polish is coming into popular favor with a rush, and the Eby, Blain Co.'s sales of same are constantly on the increase. Put up in 5 and 10c. retailing cakes. Boxes, 3 doz.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "our customers are more than pleased with 'Circle' tea, but we regret that many orders are only filled this week on account of delay in turning out packages."

"The demand for medium grades in Assams, Ceylons and Japans is very satisfactory. We have a grand range of these teas in stock, and buyers would do well to see our values," report the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The Eby, Blain Co. report enormous increase in sale of their "Kolona" Ceylon tea, and the trade are reaping a splendid margin. If you haven't tried it, send for sample case (30-lbs.), assorted ½ and 1-lb., black and mixed. Retails at 30, 40, 50, 60 and 80c. per lb.

IS IT RIGHT?

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—The past few days I followed with some interest the trial of a liquor dealer who was being hauled over the coals by Messrs. Walker & Son, of Walkerville, for some crooked work in connection with their whiskey. In the long run the dealer was fined altogether about $100; but this, I think, is a very poor way for the prevention of such occurrences. In addition to the fine he certainly should have had his license taken away from him; and the same should have been meted out in the past to several dealers, both wholesale and retail, who have been caught red-handed and allowed to go on the payment of a small fine. The way such delinquents get off is discouraging to honest traders, and will end in the liquor trade falling into more disreputable hands than it is at present. It is a good thing that in this case the matter has been given some publicity, as in the case or cases of some wholesale dealers some time ago the matter was so hushed up that the trade never heard anything of it.

Perhaps you can from time to time assist the trade by giving room in your valuable journal for the purpose of exposing any transactions which should not take place between honest traders,

GIVING CREDIT IN THE GROCERY BUSINESS.

BAD debts, writes "An Old Time Grocer" in Grocery World, cause the financial ruin of many grocers and result in loss to all who give credit.

These bad debts are in nearly all cases the result of unwise credits and failure to collect closely, and could and should in the majority of cases be avoided.

Permit an old-time grocer to offer some observations and suggestions upon this matter. Every person buying on credit should have an amount limit of $10, $20, $50, and a settlement limit weekly, semi-monthly or monthly, both based upon circumstances and conditions. There is a margin of safety beyond which you cannot go without danger of losing both customer and debt.

Customers who would perhaps buy $6 or $8 a week, paying semi-monthly, will, if the account is allowed to run up to $50 or $100, drop out and go somewhere else. In other words, you often spoil a good customer when you allow him to get beyond its limit. Regular settlements should be insisted upon with very few exceptions. Take a note if you cannot do better.

Accounts should be paid monthly or oftener. Men who draw their wages weekly should settle weekly, and those who are paid semi-monthly should be required to settle twice a month.

A careful examination of your worthless accounts will show that nearly all come from customers who buy freely, and might have continued good customers had you prevented the account becoming larger than they could pay. Slow, past-due accounts, unless carefully watched, often run into lost accounts.

It is difficult to fix the limit of a customer's credit, but in a general way it may be said that when a man owes his grocer a sum equivalent to two weeks' earnings, he has a debt that he will find it difficult to pay. A man who pays rent should not owe his grocer more than one week's wages or salary.

A grocery bill amounting to a month's wages has spoiled many a good customer, and in such cases the creditor is not blameless. It is difficult for a grocer to refuse a customer credit larger than the limit his judgment has fixed, in cases of trouble or misfortune, and here is where many dealers fail to do their duty to their families and creditors.

A grocer who gives credit based upon some future contingency acts as banker, and loans the equivalent of money without security or interest, and invites almost certain loss.

Nearly all unfortunates, because of sickness, strike or financial disaster, ask some grocer to become banker, and generally find some who do this to their loss.

Briefly stated, a grocer is not justified in giving credit for more than a week or two, as a matter of convenience to the customer, nor for an amount exceeding two weeks' income of the debtor.

The grocer who goes beyond these limits of safety, except in rare cases, assumes risk of loss that his margin of profit does not justify even if he is able to stand the loss of the account.

TRADE BETWEEN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

There will be an excellent service this year between Newfoundland and Sydney, Cape Breton, in connection with the new railway in Newfoundland. A steamer, to cost about a quarter of a million, has just been ordered. It is expected this will turn part of the large supply trade now done by the United States into the hands of Canadian merchants.

WHAT CANADA IS EXPECTED TO DO.

The Produce Markets' Review, of London, Eng., has the following to say regarding Congou tea: "Business has been completely at a standstill since our last report, scarcely any transactions having taken place by private contract, and there have been no public sales. At the beginning of the new year a better demand will probably be experienced, as prices are extremely low, while there is a fair selection of all descriptions on offer. The export enquiry for some little time past has been rather better than usual, and with the present attractive range of values, a further development of the demand may not unreasonably be anticipated. Canada in particular will probably draw considerable quantities from this market, as prices here compare favorably with supplies drawn direct from China, via the Canadian Pacific Railway. Stocks also are very moderate, so that the prospects for the new year are generally regarded as favorable."

CANADIAN TURKEYS IN ENGLAND.

With the Canadian turkey, which has now become a hardy annual on our market, will be associated this year his American prototype. Shippers in the Dominion found that we received their poultry so well last year that they netted large profits on their exports, and this season they have sent considerably more than in any previous December, while Americans, determined not to be out of the hunt, have consigned liberally to London and Liverpool, making up for paucity at home by purchasing in Canadian poultry yards. Selling between 6d. and 8d. per lb., these turkeys, averaging 15 to 20 lbs., show good results both to the seller and buyer, as they are quite up to the standard of their Continental rivals, and will retail at quite as much. Every year the poultry trade becomes a gigantic one at Christmas time, but this year it appears to be of Gargantuan proportions.—Grocers' Journal.

PURITY OF MOCHA.

UNFOUNDED reports having gone abroad to the effect that coffee from Java and Singapore has been imported at Aden for admixture with the pure high-priced Mocha and Harrar varieties shipped from that port, the Aden Chamber of Commerce has issued a circular denying the accuracy of the reports, says a foreign paper. It appears that in the course of the present year 1,790 bags of coffee have been received at Aden from Bombay, Singapore, Java and the Malabar Coast. A detailed statement of these imports is given in the circular, on the authority of the assistant political resident at Aden, in which it is shown that 1,209 bags have been exported and 581 bags still remain in bond. Thus the whole of the imports are accounted for, and as the imported coffee is kept under lock and key by the Customs Department, and is exported under the eyes of the Customs officers, it is hardly possible that any of it can have been used for admixture with the superior Mocha or Harrar. Official statistics, furnished by the assistant resident and appended to the circular, indicate that the imported bean is sent to Zanzibar, Mokalla, Muscat and other minor neighboring ports, where it is understood to be used for local consumption, its relative cheapness being regarded as sufficient compensation for its inferior quality.

It may relieve the minds of grocers in this country to learn the foregoing facts, especially as the imports of Mocha coffee into the United States are trivial. In the ten months ended October 31, 1895, the entire imports of coffee from those countries whence it was only possible for Mocha coffee to come were only about 7,000,000 pounds.

Therefore, as the quantity of Mocha coffee received here is so small, it is well that there should be no room for doubt as to its purity.—New York Merchants' Review.

PROFITS ON NEW GOODS.

INTRODUCING new goods is a problem that but few people are able to solve. Sometimes the difficulty is in the article, and sometimes in the manufacturer, but more often in the manufacturer. The article may have merits, but when it is not properly advertised it will not sell. So many manufacturers underestimate the grocer as an aid in introducing goods. They think it is not necessary to please him, and they fix prices in a manner that a grocer's margin of profits is not a fair compensation for handling the goods. A grocer ought to have larger profits on new goods than old ones; first, because they are slower in selling, and therefore occupy the shelf space longer, and then there is the trouble of talking about them and the risk of becoming dead stock. There is a certain percentage of new articles which invariably become dead stock, and are bound to be a loss to the grocer. Manufacturers are often sore on the grocers, because they do not sell enough goods. They often say that the grocers in New York are not of the same intelligence as those in country towns, where new goods always find a more ready sale. These manufacturers have no idea of the different conditions prevailing in country and city stores. The city storekeeper is far more busy than the country storekeeper, who can afford to chat away some time with every customer who comes in. Having a smaller number of customers and having plenty of time for a chat, they will think of new articles in their store and recommend them. The average grocer in the city has his store crowded with people, and is so eager to serve them all quickly, that he cannot stop talking about the merits of new goods. There are, of course, different conditions in different city stores, and the grocers who are not doing a rushing cash business are more inclined to introduce new goods.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

A CHEESE MAN FAILS.

O. Bush, M.P.P., a prominent cheese manufacturer of Kemptville, has assigned. His liabilities are said to be in the neighborhood of $10,000 or $11,000, with approximate assets of $7,000. Mr. Bush was the owner of several large cheese factories, and though he has always borne the reputation of being a careful business man, his reverses are said to have been brought about by bad speculations on last season's output, all of which he has sold out, so that there are no available assets from that quarter.

The principal creditors are the farmers who are patrons of Mr. Bush's factories. These will be heavy losers, as Mr. Bush has expressed himself that he cannot pay more than 50c. on the dollar. A meeting of the creditors is called at the sheriff's office for Friday, the 15th inst.

A REFINERY'S PROFITS.

The Dessau Sugar Refinery, which has a capital of 2,400,000 marks (£120,000), lately celebrated the 25th year of its existence, and amongst other matters invested a sum of 300,000 marks (£15,000), the annual interest to be for aged employes and workmen, in addition to what is already legally provided in that direction; 50,000 marks (£2,500) were devoted to the building of baths for the town, and 15,000 marks (£750) for an infants' school.—Kuhlow's German Trade Review.

THE SLEEPY TRAVELER DID NOT DEPRESS HIM.

THE monotonous voice of the train boy broke in upon the meditations of the sleepy traveler, says a contemporary.

"Puck, Judge, Life, any of the sporting or comic publications, books by popular authors—"

"Not any," drowsily answered the traveler.

In a few minutes the boy came back and spoke to him again.

"Bananas, oranges, ap—".

"No."

Again the boy went away and again came back.

"Figs, chocolate, caramels—"

"Don't want anything. I wish you would quit bothering me."

Once more the boy went away and once more he returned.

"Now, see here," said the traveler, thoroughly awakened by this time. "Young chap, I don't want lead pencils, prize packages, stationery, books, paper of any kind, cigars, candy, or skull caps. I have no use for nuts, shelled or otherwise, and you can't sell me any soap, buckles, combs, razor strops, cuff buttons, almanacs, papers of pins, corn starch, rugs, walking sticks, mustard spoons, umbrellas, night shirts, clothes pins, brocaded silks, rubber bands, carpets, bicycles, shaving mugs, yachting caps, diamonds, knives or forks, cut glass, flour, bacon, pickle dishes, perfumery, coffee, tea, fine cut tobacco, coal, baby carriages, elephants, horses or any other kind of animal, four-footed or otherwise, saw logs, mining stock or real estate. Now will you go away and let me alone?"

"Yes sir," rejoined the train boy, in the same monotonous tone, "want any chewing gum?"

ATTAR OF ROSE.

The rose, the queen of flowers, that has been said to preserve "all the fragrance of summer when summer is gone," yields its fragrant attar, or otto, to the villagers of Turkey and the peasant proprietors of Grasse, Cannes, Nice and the Valois in no niggardly quantity. Yet the true attar does not satisfy the true needs of the toilet. Pure attar of roses is of extreme rarity and is worth its weight in gold, the rose attar of commerce being largely adulterated with sandal, or with attar of rose geranium, which is largely grown for the purpose in France and Turkey. The characteristic rose scent is shared by Pæonia albiflora fragrans (an ally of the lovely rose-scented China peonies of our gardens), the root of Rhodiola roses (a species of sedum growing on damp rocks on the high mountains of Scotland, Ireland and in the north of England, and on sea cliffs), and by the rasped wood of the Brazilian tulip tree.—Chambers' Journal.

POINTS FOR CLERKS.

NATURE demands that you labor until you are tired before she will reward you with sweet, refreshing sleep and a ravenous appetite—luxuries which the idle and the lazy never enjoy. She reserves these boons for her hard-handed toilers. As their pay is small she gives them this additional compensation for doing the world's drudgery.

The bicycle falls the moment it stops; industry keeps many a life from falling.

The man who stands with his hands in his pockets month after month while others are working will soon have them in other folks' pockets.

The let-alone principle is dangerous. Let your brain alone and you will become an imbecile. Let your land alone and you will become a pauper. Let your neighbor alone and you will become selfish. Let your soul alone and you will become devilish.

A lazy man is of no more use in the world than a dead man, and he takes up more room. Who waits for something to turn up, often turns up himself in jail.

"There is a perennial nobleness and even sacredness in work," said Carlyle. "Were he never so benighted, forgetful of his high calling, there is always hope in a man who honestly and earnestly works; in idleness alone is there perpetual despair.

"Consider how, even in the meanest sorts of labor, the whole soul of man is composed into a kind of real harmony the instant he sets himself to work. Doubt, Desire, Sorrow, Remorse, Indignation, Despair itself, all these like hell-dogs lie beleaguering the soul of the poor day-worker, as of every man; but he bends himself with free valor against his task, and all these are stilled, all these shrink, murmuring far off into their caves. The man is now a man. The blessed glow of labor in him, is it not as purifying fire?"

"If ever this free people—this Government—is utterly demoralized," said Lincoln, "it will come from this human struggle for office—a way to live without work."

There is great competition in shirking, and pretty hard work is made of it sometimes. Perhaps the most humiliating exhibition which shirks made of themselves, as Holland says, is on the occasion of a change in the national administration. One hundred dollars in borrowed money, three clean shirts, a long petition, an anxious face and a carpet bag form the outfit of something less than 100,000 able-bodied men who make pilgrimages to Washington once in four years. They consider this a Government of the politician, for the politician and by the politician.

"There is one plain rule of life," says John Stuart Mill, "eternally binding and independent of all variations in creeds, embracing equally the greatest moralists and the smallest. It is this: try thyself unweariedly till thou findest the highest thing thou art capable of doing, faculties and outward circumstances being both duly considered, and then do it." Ruskin, on being told of a man who was a genius, immediately enquired, "Does he work?"

Thousands of honest people who would cut their hands off sooner that steal a penny from me do not hesitate to drop in on me and steal an hour of my time, which no money can replace. He who steals the time of a public servant trespasses on a nation's time.

"Nothing is worse for those who have business than the visits of those who have none," was the motto of a Scotch editor.

John Ruskin keeps before him constantly, inscribed upon a large piece of chalcedony, "To-day."—"Architects of Fate."

HOW TO SUCCEED AS A GROCER.

A SOAP firm in England recently offered prizes for the best essays on "How to Succeed as a Grocer." The following was awarded the first prize:

"Practical business knowledge, indomitable perseverance and some capital are essential to success as a grocer. An energetic young man, with good experience and £400 capital, who has in mind the opening of a shop in a middle-class suburb, will find the following suggestions useful: Take, if possible, a corner shop, with house attached, in good thoroughfare, rent about £50. Fit up in modern style, with well painted frontage, and inside fixtures arranged to exhibit the greatest possible variety of goods. For stock, select goods suitable to locality, and from the first aim at establishing a reputation for quality and fair dealing. Dress the windows with leading lines, neatly ticketed; change often, study effect, be original in ideas. Profits, to some extent, will be governed by competition, but the successful man must mark out for himself methods of business which will distinguish his establishment in the minds of the public. The purchasing of stock on cash terms is absolutely necessary.

"The key-note of success, and a wise rule, is to buy only what can be paid for. If a cash trade is done, from £200 to £250 worth of stock will be sufficient for the shop in view. The regulation of retail prices is a point where business ability and practical knowledge are so valuable. Bear in mind, working and advertising expenses must be paid before any actual profit is made. It is not wisdom to be undersold in leading articles; but when an article is unduly cut, do not aggravate the evil by cutting lower, but counteract it by introducing other brands and methods; thus by tact and discretion pull yourself out of a current which sweeps so many grocers into bankruptcy. Do not neglect details. Weigh and check everything received into stock. Claim for short weight, damaged tins and excess carriage. Have a system for checking cash and sales. Keep a proper set of books; take stock regularly, and have it thoroughly balanced, showing profit, loss and leakage. Advertising is a stepping-stone to success. For the shop in view, a list of prices carefully arranged and a circular pointing out advantages offered as compared with the large trading stores should be issued, followed up by canvassing orders.

"Identify your business with one or two specialties—a blend of tea, a special dairy of butter, a sole agency for some reliable article of everyday use—anything that will attract new people. By carefully watching the markets, bargains can be met with, which may be used as special advertising lines. A good counter trade should be cultivated by every legitimate means; it is usually the basis of a prosperous business. I have tried to give the young grocer a few hints which will help him to make a start, but success can only be achieved by perseverance, adopting new ideas as they present themselves, giving personal attention to details, studying the requirements of the neighborhood, and securing the confidence of customers."

TO PREVENT LOBSTER BLACKENING.

Editor GROCER, — Seeing from time to time in THE GROCER that experiments were being tried for the prevention of blackening of lobsters in tins, I have kept until now some lobsters which I received from a friend in Newfoundland in January, 1896, and which were caught and canned in July, 1895, and they are as good now as when they were first put in the cans. The method of preserving them from blackening is simply to put a lining of white paper in the cans, one piece for the body of the can and two circular pieces for the ends. I think this is as cheap and simple a way as anyone could desire, without using any chemicals, which, if it prevented blackening, might have some other deleterious effect. I think eighteen months' test is sufficient to guarantee that the lobster will keep a longer period without any risk of poisoning anyone, and if you will put this in THE GROCER it may be of benefit to those who like to eat as well as those who can the lobster.

Yours, etc.,
MRS. F. HUBBLE.

HOTEL HUMOR.

In case of fire, ring the towel.

Board $50 per week. Meals extra.

Guests are requested not to speak to the dumb waiter.

Guests wishing to get up without being called can have self-raising flour for supper.

Guests wishing to do a little driving will find a hammer and nails in the closet.

If rooms get too warm, look out and see fire escape.

If you are fond of athletics and like good jumping, lift the mattress and see the bed spring.

If your lamp or gas goes out, take a feather out of the pillow; that's light enough for any room.

Guests troubled with the nightmare will find a halter on the bed-post.

Don't worry about paying your bill; the house is supported by the foundation.—Exchange.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S TRADE.

TIME was, remarks a contemporary, when we regarded the intervening days between Christmas and New Year's as a dead and alive week to be spent in exchanging misfit presents; a sort of hiatus between two turkey dinners, to be passed in a semi-comatose condition of rest and indolence in reminiscent reverence of the dear departed Yuletide.

The spirit of trade has bridged the breach between the two holidays, however, and banished those dreamy days. We must be up and doing even the very morning after Christmas and peg away until the lights go out on that last night of the year, or our wide-awake neighbor will score a point ahead of us. It is a case of all hands to repel dull trade not only fifty-one weeks of the year, but fifty-two.

And after all it was not so terrible, this yearly struggle. The great secret is to be on time; be a trifle ahead of your neighbor if you can; anticipate the whims of your constituents, and instead of trailing take the lead. Inform yourself of the things that are likely to be as well as those that have been; enquire into the future rather than dream of the past; interest yourself with things probable rather than things accomplished; keep ahead of to-day if you can instead of trailing in the dust of yesterday; and you can do this, if you will, without being a slave yourself or enslaving your help.

You will find it easier to walk on the smooth, fresh turf than upon an old, traveled highway full of ruts and stumbling spots that have existed since you have trod the way.

Break away from old habits, especially unproductive routine, that has nothing but custom back of it.

Be original. If you have an idea that has a shadow of possible good in it, exploit it the coming year, and if healthy continue it; if not a source of good, drop it, but in any case try it if it is promising. The only way to realize whether or not there is vitality in the seed is to plant it; the only way to prove whether a scheme is virtuous or otherwise is to give it a chance.

The pioneers in every line of business are those who put ideas into practice, not those who originate them.

You might dream forever, build castles of fantastical proportions in Spain; picture mirages forever and gain nothing.

The party who studies some common, everyday situation, devises a plan to meet it, makes a hit and profits by it, he is the up-to-date business man.

Butter Crackers

We put these up in 3-pound packages. They are without doubt the biggest package of biscuits on earth for the money. Try a case. Nearly twice the size of a three-pound package of sodas, and the same price. Get out of the rut. Introduce these to your customers and earn their everlasting gratitude. Keep up with the times and have new lines when you can. We put out a new one last week called the "Javas." Order a tin. Choicest biscuit now selling. Watch this space for new biscuits! Remember, T. B. & C. Co'.s Cream Sodas are trade attractors.

THE DEPARTMENT STORE.

By Samuel Hopkins Adams in Scribner's Magazine.

THE great collection of shops gathered together under one roof, conducted as a single organization, and known generically as the "department store," is in this country such a distinctly modern business and in so many ways characteristic of present-day methods, that it offers, perhaps, as good an example as could be selected to begin such a series as this. In many respects retail selling has been turned entirely topsy-turvy by the department store, and yet its influence extends beyond the retailer. Through the ability to consume great quantities of goods a new condition of affairs arises, in that a retail establishment is often able to buy larger quantities and at lower prices than the jobber who from time out of mind has been the go-between from manufacturer and retailer. Just now another step is being taken, the success of which is not yet clearly established. The great department stores are beginning to manufacture for themselves and in a large way. It is obvious that the establishments which can thus often break loose from the manufacturers and the jobbers must do a business of very great magnitude, when it is remembered that the figures all relate to transactions entirely retail.

Still the department store idea is by no means a new one, nor has it reached in this country its highest development. The great establishment in Paris, still pre-eminent of its kind, started in the smallest way in 1852, and to-day transacts a total business of $30,000,000, or more than twice that of any American retail establishment. The greatest advance has been made since it has become strictly co-operative. Not a franc's worth of its stock is held outside of the people in the store, and the leadership of the business is invested in three persons selected from the heads of departments by the vote of the employes (i.e., shareholders), through an election held every three years. The cash paid to stockholders in their annual dividends amounts to about 5 per cent. of the total sales, setting aside suitable sums for contingencies. As the capital stock is but four million dollars, an annual dividend of a million and a-half represents the great yearly profit of 40 per cent. on the capital.

With us the department stores have advanced fortunately in both the quality of the goods sold and the amount of the sales. The business of several amounts annually to from $7,500,000 to $15,000,000, and this, roughly speaking, is as much money as many a prosperous railway 1,000 miles long handles in a twelvemonth; one great store in the west carries a rent account of almost, if not quite, $400,000 a year; the mail order business of another amounts to $900,000 a year; a number of houses send to the homes of their customers more than 20,000 packages in a single day, while perhaps as many more are carried away in the hands of the shoppers. In the busiest days quite 100,000 persons have visited each of the very largest stores of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Brooklyn; one firm spends more than $300,000 a year for advertising; and single departments in several stores sell more than $2,000,000 worth of goods annually.

Just how the department store began and when it became an active factor in business, will probably never be accurately stated. The accepted theory of the starting of these great businesses (which now number in the United States nearly one thousand distinctly important houses), is that they sprang from the rivalry of important stores in cities which sold for the most part dry goods, or notions or similar staple commodities. Profits by competition on standard goods decreased, and the merchant, looking for new opportunities and larger fields, cast about him for means whereby he might enlarge his sales. Growth along the established lines seemed impracticable, and the more progressive stores began to reach out for other lines of trade in which the opportunities for profit seemed greater.

The enlarging process went on gradually at first, for there was great opposition to it, not all inspired by the shops into whose businesses these innovations were cutting. The public viewed such a radical step with distrust. Conservative Philadelphia newspapers severely criticised a dry goods store in that city for going beyond its proper province in offering for sale a stock of umbrellas, parasols and canes, and quite a gale of criticism was stirred up over the matter, dying away in puffs of protest from the pulpits and plaintive epistles in the public prints. Meantime the stores continued to expand. Soon all of them had half a dozen distinct lines of stock and were reaching out eagerly for others offering golden opportunities. The department store was a fact, and between it and the shops whose specialties it had adopted for its own was declared the war that has been waging and increasing ever since.

With the revival of business following the Civil War, began an immense impetus to the department store. It became a giant of trade, a devouring monster, from the standpoint of the smaller establishments, from whose greed and rapacity no trade or profession was safe; until it finally arrived at its present proportions, and became a business world of itself. To-day, within those capacious stores can be bought orchestrions and tooth brushes, instruction on the bicycle and the latest patent liniments; while it is but a short trip from the photograph gallery with its "north light" to the hot-houses on the roofs. All the necessaries and most of the luxuries of life it supplies.

The modern department store, then, is a composition of many diverse stores. No one of these can be said to overshadow the others, although they are of various importance and weight in relation to the compact whole. Even the nucleus of the business has ceased to be the centre of importance in many cases, and one of the greatest stores contains a dozen departments which bring it larger profits than the ready-made clothing stock from which the others branched. To one who has had experience in conducting a single line of business, the difficulties to be encountered in a composite establishment such as this will present themselves forcibly. It is obvious that to organize and conduct an enterprise which must do well with a hundred or more stocks (and one of the new great establishments counts over 400 carried regularly) purchased from all parts of the world and under all sorts of conditions, requires a higher degree of executive skill than to carry on an establishment involving the handling of but a single class of goods. But from the very nature of the department store, these businesses are in competition among themselves in a certain very definite sense. A constant rivalry exist s between them as a result of the effort of each department to aggrandize itself, if necessary at the expense of the others. Here enters the personal equation; the strife on the part of the men who make up the body politic to push, each one, himself and his own concerns to the fore. Here too, works the law—nowhere more inexorably—of the survival of the fittest. Each little store within the great store must perform its part of the work of the organism or be crushed to the wall.

To reconcile all these different and emulous lines of trade, to carry them on under one method and principle, to centralize and distribute the product of the work with the best results for the entire organism and for each distinct part, in short to reduce these small worlds of trade to their least common denominator, is the problem which confronts the head of the firm.

Although nearly all the great business houses are made up of a number of partners, there is commonly one man who undertakes the control of the store organism. He is the real head. Typically he is the self-made man. The formula is familiar enough: Began at the bottom, rose to be a salesman, outstripped his fellows, business ability recognized brought him to the pinnacle. This is the latter-day process where the store is already there for the aspiring youth to make his own; but many of our present merchants built up their own stores for themselves, bringing to the task qualities of mind and spirit with which the ability to estimate the value of a piece of silk or a pair of shoes has no more to do than has a capacity for deciphering obscure inscriptions. They won their battles because they had the courage and strength to grapple with enormous difficulties, and the judgment and insight to solve complicated problems.

Upon the ability of the actual head of the firm to secure men of capacity and to organize them into a compact whole depends largely the success of the department store—as for that matter does of course the success of other large mercantile enterprises. In an important respect the department store is quite different from most business houses where the ability and judgment of the higher assistants are of so much importance. In most branches of business the necessity of a firm's developing its own men is obvious, for those who add life and energy to a house are not as a rule to be purchased from other establishments by higher salaries or special inducements. The best of them do not lightly change their allegiance, and their own firms know their value and are willing to pay the price in one way or another. In important department stores the contrary is true; managers of departments are not generally promoted from the ranks or educated to these positions, but are drawn by offers of larger salaries or better opportunities from other establishments where they have attracted attention through their success. One reason for this is the fact that retail establishments cannot get the good timber to work upon which wholesale houses can easily secure. A boy of good family, who is ambitious, will avoid a position in a retail house; not unnaturally, he does not relish the idea of a life behind the counter; and as one proprietor expressed it: "We get only the lower grade of boys, for the most part uneducated, and 90 per cent. of them incapable of doing work of a high grade."

A buyer whose department is ably managed can, and always does, command the highest pay. The enthusiasm of many of the most valuable men is stimulated by allowing them, in addition to their salaries, a percentage of the profits or of the increase in sales secured on the particular line of goods which they control in the store. This of course has the added merit of keeping their interests identified with that of their employers, and in the case of some departments which are unusually successful the bonus amounts to even more than the salary, and holds the manager on the qui vive of effort and expectation. This plan has only proved successful with men of more character and ability than the average, for the reason that a narrow man will adopt a "penny-wise" policy, bad for the department and worse for the general business.

(To be continued in our next issue.)

INVENTORY GOODS.

A correspondent of Business writes: In reply to "G. S., Hartford, Conn.," would say that I think that the idea advanced by D. A. Keister to inventory goods at cost is open to less objections than any other plan. The illustration that "G. S." has given does not, I think, offer any very serious argument against this method, as (to quote from the article of Mr. Keister referred to) "there can be no profit (or loss) until sold." Let us carry the real estate illustration a little further and suppose the dealer paid $500 for the property, which he valued when he closed his books for the year at $800, his books showing a profit of $300 on the transaction.

He is forced the following spring to sell, and only realizes $700. His books for this year will show a loss of $100, while the facts of the case are he neither made nor lost the amount which his books show, while if he had inventoried the above at cost his books would have indicated the profit on the transaction $200.

A SECRET OF SUCCESS.

"THE writer had the pleasure of a conversation not long ago with a retail grocer who does one of the largest businesses done by any country retailer in our knowledge," says a contributor to Grocery World. "Asked what he regarded as the secret of his success, he said that he had never, in all his experience of over 20 years' as a retail grocer, offered a low price to a customer as an inducement to buy goods. Instead of this, he had incessantly talked quality, quality, quality. The price was often higher than goods which seemed the same could be gotten for elsewhere, but that made no difference. 'The best goods at a fair price' was this grocer's motto, and his sticking to it brought him success. He admitted that he had lost a considerable number of that class of customers to whom a cent saved was an object, regardless of quality, but he asserted, on the other hand, that he had gained many more of those who were well enough situated to ignore the price, but who did insist on high quality. When a grocer once gets a clientele of this class of customers—quality-seekers, not price-seekers—his success is assured, provided he knows how to treat customers when he gets them.

"In every community, no matter how small, there is a sufficient number of this class of customers to make it worth one grocer's while to search for them. Let him systematically lay plans to interest them. Let him send them judiciously-prepared advertising matter. If he gains one such customer in three months he is doing well. Four a year means several hundred dollars added to his yearly income.

"When one reflects upon the difference in self-respect between the grocer who paints his store a glaring red or blue, and starts out to slash prices right and left, securing the very poorest, least desirable trade, as compared with the high-class grocer who has the best trade in town, who knows that his word is respected and that he has the confidence of every customer, it is strange that the ranks of the cutters are being so constantly augmented."

MANITOBA WHEAT.

Mr. William Whyte, superintendent of the western division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who was in Montreal on business the other day, states that of the total amount of nineteen million bushels of wheat in the West at the opening of the season, he estimates that from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 bushels are in the hands of the farmers west of Winnipeg, either in their own granaries or stored in elevators. Some of it will be held until later on, in the hope that export prices will improve. These figures do not include the wheat in the hands of the Lake of the Woods and the Ogilvie Milling Companies, which would bring the amount up to 5,000,000 bushels, nor is it inclusive of the 3,000,000 bushels required for seeding purposes and for food. Up to the close of navigation 7,500,000 bushels were moved east, including wheat and flour, and at the present time there are probably 21,250,000 bushels in the elevators at Fort William. The greater portion of this will probably remain there until navigation opens, unless export prices should advance enough to make it worth while shipping all-rail to the Atlantic seaports. Mr. Whyte thinks the prospects are good for a continuation of the present high prices in view of the small crops in Argentine, Russia and India.

AN EVIDENCE OF BUSINESS.

A well-known tobacconist of upper Broadway employs a novel and interesting method of advertising the extent of his business. Disposed in conspicuous positions about the store are square glass cases filled with what looks at first sight like a coarse mixture, but on closer examination proves to be cigar ends. The largest of the cases, of which there are three, is about two feet in height by one in width and depth. The other two are about half that size. All the butts are the same size and clean cut, evidently by a cigar chopper. One who happened to be in the store the other day made inquiries into the nature, origin and uses of the collection. "All those cigar ends which you see," said the tobacconist, "belonged to cigars bought and lighted in this store. They represent the waste taken from the choppers every night. The collection has taken me 16 years to amass, and I value it very highly. I was offered $100 for the contents of that large case the other day, but I refused it. Indeed, I would not sell my cigar ends for twice or thrice that sum, for not only are they interesting as a curiosity, but they are valuable as giving an indication of the extent of the business I am doing."—N. Y. Evening Sun.

What Shall Your Answer Be ?

From Manufacturer to Retailer Direct.

To suspect is human. Facts count not assurances. To convince is to satisfy, and to satisfy is to secure confidence. You can't change a customer's sense of taste.

What shall your answer be when they ask for Tillson's Roller Process Buckwheat Flour ? Will you offer them something "just as good" ? And if they hesitate are you willing to assure them on quality ? Chances are they go away prepared to find fault and they usually find it. Suspicion creeps in to weaken confidence in you and your methods.

Roller Process Buckwheat Flour is the Flour of confidence — always. Pure—absolutely. White, Rich, Strong, Natural, Buckwheat Flavor. And customers ask for and demand it, because they know all this.

CURRANTS IN NEW YORK.

THE spot currant market has been somewhat unsettled for some time past, and the tendency has been in buyers' favor, notwithstanding the strong reports sent from Greece since early in December last regarding the situation there. The depression in the American market is said to be due to the arrival of a large quantity of stock on several steamers during the dullest time of the year, and also to the uncertainty felt as to the final result of the question of tariff raised by the action of the collector of Customs at San Francisco a year or more ago, which question is still pending in the United States courts.

It is intimated that the low prices quoted by some holders who had become discouraged over the dull condition of trade, or who believed that the final result of the question of imposing the duty on currants will be in the affirmative, have caused a speculative movement, ending, it is said, in a closer concentration of spot stocks. The transactions, however, are understood to have been conducted quietly, and the details have not been permitted as yet to come to the surface. The actual consuming demand has been and still continues to be slow. Rumors are current to the effect that the principal operators are keeping the market down with a view to shaking out the holdings of some of the remaining receivers, who are believed to be weak.

On the other hand, it is claimed that the currant market was never in a better position for an early and substantial advance. The latest mail advices from Greece say that the statistical position there is extremely strong. One hundred and five thousand tons have been shipped up to the close of 1896, leaving not more than 35,000 tons unsold, as against 60,000 tons at the corresponding date a year previous. The writer of the letter had been informed that stocks in all of the markets of consumption were much lighter at the beginning of this month than at the same time last year, and looked forward to an active and rising market during the coming spring. He was encouraged in this belief by the fact that the English markets already show signs of an upward movement.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

A SHREWD GROCER.

The grocer was weighing some sugar for the woman in the dyed blue bonnet, when the man in the black frock coat and yellowish-white tie, who had been standing in the door for some minutes, came inside and laid a silver quarter on the counter.

"I picked it up on the floor, just at the edge of the steps," he said. "It must belong to you. A quarter or a thousand dollars, sir—it is the principle of the thing that I look at. I want nothing that is not mine. There is the money."

The grocer laid a large forefinger on the quarter, and shoved it back across the counter.

"You put dot money in your pocket, mein friend," he said.

"But, sir, you or one of your clerks must have dropped it, and it rolled over there. My motto has always been——"

"I believe," said the grocer, "dot you yoost moved your family in dot house across the street dis morgen. Vas it not so?"

"Yes, sir, I did, and it being convenient, we expect to do a good deal of tra——"

A SHOPKEEPER'S REFLECTION.

Under a tiny patch of cloud
We lead our little life,
And strange it is, though true as strange,
Our joy lies most in strife.

For each man vies with brother man,
And tries to undersell,
He cares not how his brother fares
As long as he does well.

And all the melody of life
Through man's self-love is strained,
Yet, though he tries to raise himself,
His object is not gained.

For let a price be lowered there,
It's lowered, too, next door,
And he who hoped to "draw the crowd"
Is worse off than before.

The rich man is not rich enough,
But must invest his all
In companies, which, if they rise,
Secure his neighbor's fall.

Men who have passed some stiff exams.
The law demands to-day,
Find other men have tricked the law,
And boldly led the way.

At one time trades could be defined,
And then three shops might share
The money spent at one place now,
No need to go elsewhere.

It's high time that we realized
Our methods are all bad!
Thinking more of other men
Would make this life less sad.

O! that in Christian England here
This truth were understood;
Man must be bound to fellow man
In one true brotherhood.

BRITISH FOREIGN TRADE.

THE annual returns of British trade for the year 1896 are presented below. They show a liberal increase in both imports and exports over the year 1895. For the whole year the imports reach the large figure of £441,807,000, as compared with £416,690,000 in 1895, the increase of £25,117,000 being equal to just 6 per cent. The exports of British products were valued at £239,922,000, the total for 1895 having been £225,890,000, and there was thus an increase of £14,032,000 or 6.2 per cent. The summary of imports and exports is as follows:

Successful Business Building.

Keeping the best and purest goods—goods that give satisfaction to the purchaser—is the way to build a successful grocery business. Most of a grocer's goods must stand the test of the family table—the most severe test possible. Poor goods often find a place on a grocers' shelf without him knowing it, and are slowly but surely killing his business. There is no excuse for carrying poor goods in the lines we handle. Every article we sell is the best we know of in its line. Their makers' names are their best guarantee.

TRADE SITUATION IN CANADA.

THE trade situation in Canada is one that is attracting more than usual interest. The cause is primarily a two-fold one.

With the close of the presidential campaign in the United States and the election of the sound money candidate, Canadians, as well as the people more directly interested in that contest, looked for a substantial improvement in business.

For a time the conditions favored this anticipation. But a few weeks sufficed to dissipate these hopes. And for the past couple of months business on the other side of the line has been about as dull as it ever has been in the history of the country. This unsatisfactory condition of affairs has naturally made its impress on business matters in Canada.

Another trade deterrent is the revision of the tariff: While business men are in the dark as to what the nature of this revision will be, they naturally will neither make nor buy anything beyond what is necessary to satisfy their immediate requirements.

At the same time we are open to confess that in our judgment we are, as Canadians, crediting these factors with more influence than is really their province. They are undoubtedly obstacles in the way of the development of trade, but we add to them rather than detract from them by sitting down and folding our arms.

The trouble with us is that we spend too much of our time in bemoaning the adverse conditions and not enough in contemplating the favorable conditions and helping them along.

The most prosperous country in the world to-day is Great Britain. Next in rank comes Canada.

In thus declaiming in regard to Canada we have full cognizance of the fact that business is by no means at that point that can be termed satisfactory. But at the same time THE CANADIAN GROCER does not hesitate to affirm that the commercial conditions in Canada to-day are more favorable than in any other country in the world with the one exception already cited.

Perhaps we have not even seen the worst of the obtaining quietude. But whether we have or not this fact seems patent: The great majority of those industries which are the basis of the trade and commerce of this country are expanding in at least a fairly satisfactory manner.

We have reference to the mining, fishing, lumbering, pulp, dairying and live stock industries. These are unquestionably growing. Our manufacturing industry is at the moment in a somewhat passive state, generally speaking, due to the depression in the United States and the contemplated changes in the tariff at home; yet even in this branch all the members are not in that condition. The flour milling, the agricultural implement, the bicycle manufacturing, and other lines of more or less importance, are all doing well.

Then there are the earnings of the railways. They are pretty good barometers as to the condition of a country's health commercially, and their readings are favorable. Another barometer is the statements of the chartered banks. No one can say but that they are, in the main, favorable.

Reference has hitherto only been made to our home trade. Turning to the export trade the conditions are again favorable, there being a steady expansion.

One thing, too, that must not be overlooked is the manner in which the manufacturers and merchants of the country carry on business. The development in this particular is undoubtedly in the right direction: Credits are being shortened, accounts more closely scrutinized, and business generally is being conducted more akin to business lines than ever before. The importance of this is too obvious to need explanation.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has no desire to ignore the fact that trade is quiet. Neither, on the other hand, has it a desire to see the situation viewed in a wrong light. And that is what we are too often doing. There are some clouds in the situation; but the sunshine predominates. Let us get into it and keep into it as much as possible. It will help the country, and pay us.

It is a pleasant thing to see England and her estranged daughter agree to arbitrate instead of fight.

THE TRADE AND NAVIGATION RETURNS.

IT is seven months since the fiscal year 1895-96 closed, and yet the country is without the Trade and Navigation Returns for that period.

Seldom, if ever, have the returns been issued promptly, but this is the worst for some years at least.

Of all the blue books issued that appertaining to the foreign trade of the country is the most important. And yet, often when it comes to us the information it brings is robbed of value proportionate to the time that has elapsed between the close of the fiscal year and the time it is in the hands of the public.

The position of Canadians in this respect is humiliating. The people of Great Britain, the United States, and all countries of any importance, had in their hands detailed statements appertaining to the export and import trade of their respective countries long ago. But Canada, like a hungry boy at a feast waiting for his turn to come, is compelled to await the pleasure of sleep-charged civil servants for trade returns, while other countries have had and digested theirs months ago.

One would almost wish that the charge of "active partisanship" could be levied and proven against the Printing Bureau. If that cannot, however, incompetence evidently can.

If business is worth anything it is worth studying.

CUTTING ON CONFECTIONERY.

ACCORDING to all accounts there has been some lively cutting in staple lines of confectionery this fall and winter. It was first started by American manufacturers, who succeeded in gathering in a lot of orders.

The ruling basis with local manufacturers has been 12½ less 10 per cent. The Americans came in and offered goods at 9½c. net.

When this leaked out a leading Canadian manufacturer decided to go them one, and if necessary two and several times, better. A large stock was placed in the hands of a Montreal jobbing house with instructions to sell it under the American offers no matter what they were. Prices, therefore, are unsettled, for while wholesale grocers have the American stock that cost them 9½c. net, they find it difficult to dispose of it with the manufacturer above mentioned offering, through his jobber, goods for less money.

The merchant who would win must fight; but cutting prices is hitting below the belt.

THE PACKERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE annual meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association was held in Toronto on the 14th inst. President W. A. Ferguson was in the chair, and there was a good attendance.

President Ferguson, in his opening address, said : I am pleased to see such a manifest interest in our association as is apparent by the large number of gentlemen present. The success or failure of any association or company largely depends on its executive officers, and as this is my first year in office as president of the Canadian Packers' Association, I feel extremely anxious that our association should prosper under my presidentship, more particularly so, as I succeed a gentleman who held the position so long and satisfactorily to all concerned. I refer to our worthy friend, Mr. W. Boulter, and we probably owe to him, more than to anyone else, the existence of an association to-day.

I have called you together somewhat earlier than is usual to hold our annual meeting for two reasons : First, January is usually the quietest month in the year in our business. Secondly, that a full discussion of all matters pertaining to the canning business, past, present and future, might take place before we are committed to anything pertaining to the business of 1897.

You know, gentlemen, that in the past, when a reduction of the pack was recommended as the best remedy for existing evils, we found frequently that contracts had already been entered into for the coming season, and while the individual packers were with us and quite approved of the idea of shortening the acreage as a whole, they were not in a position to fall in line, and the outcome often was that we all went home resolved not to let any smart individual get the better of us, and at once set to work increasing our acreage, and contracts for cans, etc., that our better judgment told us was wrong, with the result that year by year we have produced more than the country required and more than we were able to hold, which, sooner or later, was placed on the market at a cut price, and seriously deranging business.

Some few years ago we could persuade the wholesale trade to help us carry the load by offering them "snaps," and get out of all difficulties in that way ; but lately they seem to have such an aversion to canned goods "snaps" that I don't think you could persuade them that gold dollars in tin cans at 50c. on the dollar was a good thing to buy, and this condition of things, as far as the wholesalers are concerned, is likely to last for some years to come. And if you persist in growing and canning more than the country requires, you either must find an outside market or carry your pack yourselves until wanted, or slaughter the goods at home, as most of us did last season. The only bright spot connected with the business of 1896 is that such a large portion of the pack has gone to consumers at less than cost. The small quantity now in your hands should net you a profit if judiciously marketed.

You who have experimented with outside markets know that the competition is about as keen abroad as at home ; that inland freights are very much against us. Thus far the export trade has been an expensive experiment, and, so far as I can see, must continue to be so, until our freight rates have been greatly reduced. In regard to carrying our pack until wanted by the trade, this might possibly be done if all the packers would work harmoniously and honestly together, and go about it in a common-sense, business-like manner. But for a few individual canners to attempt this is madness. We have tried this. I blush when I think of the results of our several efforts, and, gentlemen, they were honest efforts, made by honest men. Human nature is human nature, always has been, and always will be until the end of time. Who can stand unmoved and see his opponents defeat the objects he has in view ? In our last attempt to bolster up prices by holding goods until wanted, we had enemies within and without our camp. We had inducers, traducers, seducers, reducers to contend with, and, gentlemen, is it to be wondered at that with such a combination of forces, we were finally forced to surrender to the reducers, whose captives we have been ever since. And now, gentlemen, as the reducers have proven that there is something in a name, would it not be well for us to join forces with them and reduce our product until such time as we can induce the trade to pay us a slight advance on cost of production ?

The year 1896, just ended, has made a record for itself as a year of lowest prices, not only in canned goods, but on nearly all articles of commerce, which is satisfactory proof to me that the consuming public of Canada has little, if any, cause to complain about the abuses of monopolies that we sometimes hear about, and I question if this state of affairs can continue with safety much longer. Our reserve forces may be drawn on safely for a time, and the individual or company is fortunate indeed who has it on hand, but is it wise to exhaust it that you may be the survivor of the fittest ? How do you know but what new methods, new capital and new men may spring up from the graves of your enemies and strike you down after you have survived the present pressure ?

Let me briefly call your attention to a few failures in the canning business in the last few years. Analyze, if you will, the effect it has had on new concerns starting up. Since 1885 we have had 25 failures, representing an estimated loss of capital of $300,000. The factories were situated in various parts of Ontario and Quebec, and the heaviest failures were in the most favorable parts of Canada. What effect has it had towards preventing new canning factories from springing up ? Any ? No. The great difficulty seems to be that there are so many favorable locations for factories and so many ambitious towns and villages with enterprising citizens anxious to help the town they live in, that we will always have this difficulty to meet unless we can counteract it by diffusing a thorough knowledge of the real conditions of the canning business throughout the country. This is a matter to consider. Few men like to publish broadcast over the country that they are hard up, and it is a question if it is always wise to do so. We can trace the starting of most of the canning factories to two or three agitators who have been incompetent to hold a job for any length of time, but who have been wonderfully successful as promoters.

Gentlemen, can we not put those men to better use, is a question for consideration.

In conclusion, let me say that we all deplore the present condition of affairs in the canning business, that we know that there are four factories in Canada where there should be only one, that something should be done, and that at once, to place our business in a more healthy condition, and that a reduction of the output for 1897 should be attempted as a step in the right direction, and one that I very strongly recommend you to pursue, and I say, without hesitation, unless this is done you will waste your time, lose your capital and possibly your health, which is capital and which one should guard with zealous care.

Before closing, I desire to call your attention to the condition of the canning industry of our neighbors to the south of us, whose markets have been glutted for the last few years by over-production, and where cost of production ceased to be considered when a sale was in sight.

We have recently had a change in Government in this country, and the gentlemen who now preside over the affairs at Ottawa may revise the tariff, which may or may not affect us. (Who can tell ?). We all know that any lowering of the tariff will aggravate the situation materially. This, to my mind, is another strong reason for a policy of extreme caution for 1897, and should be strictly adhered to by us as a body.

The address was first applauded and then discussed. The reference to the desirability of reducing the pack was warmly endorsed, and the formation of some scheme whereby the desideratum may be obtained.

The election of officers resulted as follows :

President—W. A. Ferguson.

Vice-President—H. J. Matthews.

Secretary-Treasurer—W. C. Breckinridge.

Executive Committee—Messrs. W. Boulter, Matthews, Carson, Marshall and Innes.

EXPORT APPLE TRADE.

THE apple market in England has improved a little according to the latest cables.

Shipments from this side of the Atlantic continue large, during the last five weeks the exports from all parts being on an average about 20,000 barrels weekly.

Total shipments up to the end of last week were 2,180,834 barrels compared with 555,820 barrels the same time a year ago, an increase of over 292 per cent.

Satisfactory, however, as the shipments are as far as quality is concerned, they are anything but satisfactory from a financial standpoint, the losses being heavy. Freight rates are on an average about 35c. per bbl. higher than a year ago, and this has not helped the exporter any.

Many a man has all his life stumbled along the Valley of Nonentity because he lacked the courage to climb the Highlands of Competition.

CANADA'S TEA IMPORTS.

In an article which appeared in last week's issue, it was stated that Canada's imports of tea during 1895 aggregated 10,000,000 pounds. That this was only about one-half within the mark was probably recognized by everyone.

In round numbers our total exports were 20,600,000 pounds made up as follows: Japan alone, 9,081,915 pounds ; black and green from Japan, 4,425,432; black and green from England, 6,190,324 ; India and Ceylon, direct, 491,010 ; Java and other countries, 369,672 pounds.

JAPAN TEAS FOR THE STATES.

A little more interest in Japan tea has been taken in Toronto during the past week on account of fresh pnrchases having been made for shipment to the United States.

The CANADIAN GROCER knows of one lot of 375 packages that were taken for export to a point in New York State.

The cause of the demand from this quarter is, as has already been pointed out, the shortage of the Japan crop.

Advices received in Toronto within the last few days state that the supply of tea in Japan is practically finished, and that a shortage of at least 6,000,000 pounds is assured. This means a shortage of about one-eighth compared with the quantity exported last year.

O'er much modesty in a maiden is pardonable, but o'er much of it in a merchant it worketh evil.

PRUNES STRONG STATISTICALLY.

Reference has been made from time to time this fall to the strong position of the prune market. The course of events is bearing out the expectations set forth previously.

Stocks of French and Bordeaux are smaller than they were at the same time last year, and whereas last year there were considerable consignments of California and Oregon stock offering, this season there are none of the latter and very few of the former. Across the line the same strength, statistically, is shown in leading eastern and middle western centres. According to a recent report there were not over 75 cars all told of California prunes offering at New York, and the stock there is said to be smaller than has been known for many years at this season. At Chicago the stock in first hands recently was estimated at 50 cars.

Diligence may not keep adversity away sometimes, but it will prove the winner ultimately.

HE WENT THROUGH THE ICE.

THE CANADIAN GROCER understands that since the New Year, what is termed a temperance league has been organized by the tea brokers in Toronto and all members of the wholesale trade who promised to touch, taste, nor handle not, that which "biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

Up to within a few days ago the league was gathering strength as fast as a snowball gathers size when rolled by sturdy youngsters. But now it is feared the opposite condition is being experienced. And all because of what is alleged by one member to have been an accident, and by others to have been a deep laid scheme to secure stimulants without forfeiting membership in the league.

The offending member holds a position of trust in a well-known wholesale house, and a few days ago, while skating on Toronto bay, by some means got through a hole in the ice. He says he fell through, but sundry members of the league declare he dipped his legs into the water in order that he might have an excuse for getting "something" as a preventative against a coid. And thus because of a few suspicious natures the league is threatened with dissolution.

WANT A TEA DUTY.

THE CANADIAN GROCER had a chat with several tea dealers and others the other day in relation to the question of a duty on tea. Without exception everyone was in favor of the imposition of a duty.

Mr. Geoffrion, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., believed that a duty would be a good thing. With, say, a specific charge of 5c. per pound and the freight charges and other items, a buyer would think twice before he brought in a cheap, inferior tea which could not be jobbed low enough to catch the trade now demanding it. He was in favor of the retention of the present special discrimination against tea not imported direct in addition to the regular duty.

Mr. Ethier, of Laporte, Martin & Cie., said that his house would back up a tea duty. At present certain sections, of the province of Quebec more particularly, demanded the cheapest tea that they could get. It was his opinion that if a specific duty was imposed it would prevent or at least reduce the importations of the rubbishy article and in the end stop its consumption.

Mr. F. Hughes, of Caverhill, Hughes & Co., while not exactly antagonistic to a duty, did not think that it would have the effect desired. If it was desired to check or prevent the consumption of tea dust, the advocation of a more rigid system of inspection would, in his opinion, best attain this end. There was tea sold in the province of Quebec at present that would not be passed by the inspector in New York or any other United States centre.

Mr. Ewing, of Morrow & Ewing, endorsed what had been said in favor of a duty and believed that it would have the effect of reducing, if not entirely stopping, the importation of the very low-grade stock now imported into Canada to meet the wants of a certain demand. He also was in favor of the discriminatory duty being retained against indirect importations.

Mr. Lindsay, of Kinloch, Lindsay & Co, who is one of the veterans of the trade, remembered the time when there was no 10 or 15c. tea consumed in Canada. This was when a heavy specific as well as ad valorem duty was proposed. He questioned if the average consumer keenly felt the slight extra cost then as compared with the cheap stuff he now consumed. In any event, the present saving was more than offset by the damage that his digestive organs suffered. For this reason he was in favor of a duty on tea, and if the Government were going to do something for the farmers, they would find a tea duty the quickest way of recouping the revenue for losses elsewhere.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

THE Tariff Commission sat at Quebec on Monday and Tuesday, in the Harbor Office. The Ministers in attendance were Hon. Mr. Fielding, Hon. Mr. Paterson, Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere.

THE GROCERY TRADE.

Mr. Richard Turner, wholesale grocer, said he agreed with what the representatives of the dry goods trade had said about the way in which the trade was treated at the different points. With regard to gin, he said that here in Quebec he had paid a lower rate of duty than those in Montreal. There was also a difference in Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and other cities from Quebec. He said that if a sample was sent to Ottawa, and proved there, that it should hold good over the whole Dominion. Gin was a standard article and did not vary in strength, although the difference was largely due to the temperature at which it was tested. They might have to pay more in Quebec than in Toronto on this account, and he thought they would see the justice of his claim. With regard to molasses, he said that it came in under a duty as a direct importation from the place of production. He contended that this was not so, because he had it on good authority that these goods, when they arrived at New York from the southern States, etc., were so manipulated as to lose a certain amount of their character, and then they had them in competition with molasses from the West Indies.

In answer to Mr. Paterson, he said they were reshipped from Boston, New York, etc. With regard to packages, Mr. Turner said they had to complain very much in regard to the duty upon them. After the article which was contained in them was used they were of no use ; and they were thus really valueless. With regard to starch, he said that they could import starch for food at one and a half less than they could buy in this country, and he was opposed to the duty on that article, as he thought the manufacturers were fully protected.

Mr. Turner then referred to the question of the Customs selling smuggled whiskey in the open market. If he understood correctly, distillers were bound to keep whiskey in bond for two years. He was informed, however, that distillers kept their whiskey in steel tanks for two years. When the oil was withdrawn from the whiskey he did not see that keeping it for two years improved the quality. Smuggled whiskey was not always a marketable article, but it was sold without being matured, and it came into contact with those selling the good article. He contended that it should be sold to the distillers or destroyed.

He next referred to the matter of smuggled tobacco, which was on the increase. He had, perhaps, more travelers on the road than any other firm, and they were complaining time and again about the amount of smuggled tobacco on the market, They had sent him samples of it. Those who smuggled the tobacco, after they had emptied the Canadian tobacco from the packages, substituted the American. He thought that the way to prevent it would be to appoint a qualified man to go around looking after the smuggled tobacco.

He was also in favor of a specific duty on teas, as it would tend in a great measure to keep out the inferior class of teas that now flooded the market.

Mr. Thomas Davidson, wholesale grocer, gave evidence as representing his own firm. As a wholesale grocer he had no desire that a special legislation should be promoted for the benefit of the grocery trade unless such could be proven to be of benefit to the whole. He felt it to be his duty to suggest changes which were certain to bring personal financial loss to himself and to the trade with which he had had a life-long connection, if it was for the general interests of the other class, and they required it. The interest of the many must ever prevail over those of the few. He had prepared a memorandum strongly recommending the reduction on rice, basing his conviction on the fact that rice paid a duty of $1.25 per 100 lbs., of which only 30 per cent. went to revenue and apparently 95 to the manufacturers. He had learned, however, that 100 lbs. uncleaned rice produced only 66 lbs. cleaned, and that the revenue received 30 per cent. for 66 lbs. instead of 30 for 100 lbs, which was about 45 per cent., or nearly half-a-cent a pound. The protection on rice was, therefore, not so much as he believed, and in view of the many advantages which the present system possesses, such as the year's supply for the Dominion being bought by one firm at the very lowest ebb of the foreign market, and then sold to the trade in packages so suitable to the consumer —in as small packages as 12½ lbs.—and the fact that good, clean, wholesome rice, was being retailed all over the Dominion at 4c. per lb., and as the Chinese population contributed to the revenue in no other way, he felt bound to recommend if a reduction on this article was to be made that it would be of the slightest. Tea and sugar were articles which should contribute a large portion of the revenue. The low price at present made it a favorable time to increase the revenue from sugar by several millions, which might be done by making the duty on raw sugar a cent a pound and of refined a cent and a half. This would give the refineries a protection of half a cent a pound, which, with freight, insurance and other importing charges, would be a fair margin.

Tea, he said, should pay a duty of, say, 15 or 20 per cent. ad valorem, which would make a large item of revenue, which would have the advantage of going wholly to the Government, and would not be seriously felt by the consumer.

FLOUR, GRAIN, PROVISIONS AND SEEDS.

Mr. G. Lemoine represented the views of the Quebec Board of Trade Committee on flour, grain, provisions and seeds. He said they were in favor of a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States on the natural products of the soil, the mines and fisheries. Until that treaty was accomplished they suggested that a certain duty on flour and wheat was opportune in the interests of the western farmer, although it was a heavy burden on the consumer in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. These provinces raised very little wheat, and the consumption was, on an average, of from five to six barrels of flour per family. They would suggest that the duty be changed to an ad valorem duty, so as to be less oppressive to the poor consumer, who has to use an inferior grade of flour. They would suggest that an ad valorem duty of 10 or 15 per cent. and an equivalent duty be placed on wheat. They were in favor of corn being admitted free. The present duty on cornmeal might remain unchanged, as there were enough mills all through the country to grind the free corn. They did not think that it would be advisable to change the duties on pork and pork products. They were in favor of abolishing the 10 per cent. on clover and timothy seeds.

THE DUTY ON WINES.

Mr. A. Toussaint, of A. Toussaint & Co., stated that there were people who went into the manufacture of wine who were not experienced, and that they added ingredients which were injurious to the public health. As a result customers would not buy the Canadian wine, but went in for the imported. He was of opinion that a high tax should be imposed on the manufacture of the Canadian wines, so as to prevent these small manufacturers from entering into competition with the responsible manufacturer. He thought that it would be desirable to open an office where the Canadian wines could be examined at stated periods. For many years his firm had crossed over to Europe to make purchases, and from these visits they were able to make a careful study of the best process of manufacture. This study had enabled them to make wines with the grapes grown in Ontario, and the good results which had met their efforts had encouraged them to submit this important question to the Government. In the best Canadian vineyards the grapes ripened very quickly, and did not possess enough alcoholic ingredients to guarantee the perfect preservation of the wines. This inferiority was prejudicial to the interest of the grower, and he asked that the duty be taken off the grapes which he had to import from foreign countries to bring the native grape up to a proper standard.

THE DUTY ON TOBACCO.

The firm of B. Houde & Co., tobacco manufacturers, was represented by Mr. Eric Genereux, manager. He said that the duty on leaf tobacco should be reduced, because Canada could not produce sufficient for the demands of the market. The imported leaf could not be blended with Canadian tobacco, because the quality of the latter was not good enough. He had seen it stated by a Montreal manufacturer that this could be done, but that same gentleman had spent thousands of dollars in trying to further the Canadian trade, but until such time as the Canadians grew better tobacco it could not be done. The climate was against its growth, and there were only one or two places in Canada where it might be grown to perfection. He asked that the duty be reduced on the leaf tobacco used for making snuff, as there was only one kind suitable for that purpose, and that was grown in Kentucky. He complained of the large quantities being smuggled into Canada at Beauce and St. John's River. He was in favor of a duty being imposed on the Canadian growth, as it would tend towards the cultivation of a better weed.

Mr. H. D. Barry, cigar manufacturer, objected to the duty being taken off tobacco.

THE DUTY ON CORKS.

Mr. J. J. Lavery, of the Beauport Brewing Co., asked that the duty on crown corks be removed, as they were protected in the States and could not be manufactured in this country unless a royalty was paid the patentees.

HAS GONE OUT OF BUSINESS.

A private cable received in Toronto this week announces that the Japan tea house of C. P. Low & Co., of Yokohama, has gone out of business, owing to heavy losses experienced during the past few years. A new company has, however, been formed. It is called the Eastern Japan Tea Trading Association, Ltd., with Mr. Low as manager. Mr. Twohey has been appointed general agent for the United States and Canada.

"We still are offering old values in Japans," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "Can duplicate any back orders."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

REALLY cold weather and snow have helped to stiffen trade somewhat, but the old complaint of "nothing doing" is still heard in the land. Despite the cry, there is about the usual volume of trade. Business cannot be gauged in Halifax today with what it was ten, fifteen or twenty years ago, although it seems to be on that principle some people base their estimates.

As noted last week, stocks of fish are light and in consequence a better feeling prevails. Large shipments continue to go forward and the enquiry is encouraging. Quotations, tol quol are: Dry cod, shore prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank, $2.50 to $2.75; large do., $3 to $3.25; haddock, Cape Breton, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.50 to $1.75; pollock, $1.50; Bay of Islands herring, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador do., $6; alewives, $3.25; mackerel, No. 3, $6; No. 2, $9; No. 1. $11; salmon, No. 1, $17.50; No. 2, $15.50; No. 3, $13.

In breadstuffs there is the usual business doing. Dealers report prices well maintained, while jobbers are advertising cut prices. Hungarian patents are worth $5.85 to $6; Manitoba strong bakers', $5.60 to $5.70; Canadian pastry, $5.10 to $5.20; 75 per cent. roller patents, $4.80 to $4.90; 80 ditto, $4.70 to $4 85; 90 ditto, $4.60 to $4.70; straights, $4.50 to $4.60; extra, $4.20 to $4.30.

Produce is moving quietly. The last of the P. E. Island fleet has arrived, and potatoes are selling at 28 to 30c. per bushel, and oats at the same figures, from vessels in ordinary-sized lots. Nova Scotia potatoes are worth 5c. per bushel more than Island stocks.

The provision market shows no change. P. E. Island mess pork can be bought today at $12, and sales have been made under that figure. American clear pork is quoted at $14 and American mess at $13.50.

Molasses is steady, although no big sales have been made of late. St. Croix is quoted at 27c., Porto Rico, 30 to 32c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 31c.; Demerara, 39c.; St. Kitts, 25c.

The exportation of rabbits to the States has become quite a business. S. J. Hissex, of Annapolis, has already shipped 10,000 to New York and Boston markets.

The butter trade is quiet. Creamery prints and tubs are worth 21c., fall creamery 20c., summer creamery 18 to 19c. Rolled is lower and plentiful at 14 to 15½c.

Fresh eggs are rather plentiful at 19c. for Nova Scotia and 16 to 18c. for P. E. Island.

Cheese is firmer at 11c. cash.

A MERCHANT MARRIES.

The marriage of Miss Laura Ritchie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ritchie, of Orangeville, and Mr. W. G. Rowland, of the firm of Ritchie & Rowland, Shelburne, was solemnized by the Rev. A. Langford, president of the Toronto Conference of the Methodist Church, at the residence of the bride's parents, "Maplehyrn," on Tuesday evening at five o'clock. Miss Ida May Ritchie, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. W. N. Brown was groomsman. Miss Gertrude Ritchie played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." The presents were beautiful and numerous, showing the esteem in which the bride was held in the hearts of her companions.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland left on the eight o'clock train for Owen Sound, where they will spend a few days before returning home.

A MAN FROM MANITOBA.

Mr. Cecil R. Dixon, who represents Turner, Mackeand & Co., of Winnipeg, in Manitoba and the Northwest, his territory extending as far west as Revelstoke, has been visiting his friends in Toronto and the east during the past few days. Mr. Dixon has been traveling for the firm for about twelve years.

"I suppose you have witnessed a great change in Manitoba during the twelve years you have been on the road?" I remarked.

"Indeed I have," replied Mr. Dixon, as he settled down in a seat and pulled a cigar from his pocket and lit it. "And I'll tell you what it is, Manitoba is going through a state of prosperity such as the province never experienced before. This is due to the two last crops which we had. One gratifying feature is the fact that the business men of the country are getting down to a better financial basis. Next season we are looking for a large influx of population. There is a grand future in store for Manitoba and the Northwest, I can tell you. Business is increasing all the time.

LAUNCHED OUT FOR THEMSELVES

J. B. E. Poirier and Paul Ethier, who have come into prominence as active members of the Retail Grocery Clerks' Association, of Montreal, have embarked in business on their own account. They have the experience necessary for a successful career, and if they will follow THE GROCER'S advice, to deal honorably, buy cheap and aim not to do the largest business in Montreal, but the most profitable, they will win. They have many friends who wish them all prosperity.

Next week Lucas, Steele & Bristol hope to have their 4 and 5 bar "Circle" tea on the market.

Following tobaccos from Empire Tobacco Co. are now in stock with Lucas, Steele & Bristol: "Patriot," "Ensign," "Currency," "Something Good," "Magnolia," "St. Lawrence." They also have "Red Cross."

EGGS IN NEW YORK.

THE yearly receipts of eggs to this market, together with the average price of Western, are shown by the following table :

Year.	Receipts.	Av'ge price.
1896	2,594,992	15½c.
1895	2,282,414	17¾c.
1894	2,379,216	16⅜c.
1893	2,288,646	22½c.
1892	2,157,250	20⅜c.
1891	2,086,137	21½c.
1890	2,063,120	18 1-6c.

From the above it will be seen that last year's arrivals were by far the largest ever received, while the average price for the year was the lowest recorded. The heavy receipts were due in a measure to the mild open weather during the winter in some producing sections—mainly south.

The range of prices for best stock by months for the entire year were as follows :

	Fresh West. Cents.	Fall Refrig. Cents.	Spring Refrig. Cents.	West. Limed. Cents.
Jan	14¾ to 25	11 to 19	10 to 18½	12 to 18
Feb	11 to 15	8 to 10	8 to 10	8 to 12½
March	11 to 11¾	.....	.....	.....
April	10¾ to 12½	.....	.....	.....
May	9½ to 12	.....	.....	.....
June	11½ to 12½	.....	.....	.....
July	12 to 13	.....	.....	.....
Aug	12 to 15	.....	.....	.....
Sept	15 to 18	.....	14 to 15½	.....
Oct	17½ to 19	.....	15 to 16	15 to 15½
Nov	20 to 24	to 19	16 to 18	15 to 16
Dec	17 to 24	14½ to 20	14 to 18	13½ to 16

The mild December of 1895 caused a heavy production, which was held back by speculators until January, causing prices to steadily decline from 25c., first of the month, to 15c. at the close of the month.

February's receipts were very heavy, and prices kept low, closing at 11c.

March brought such large receipts that price kept from 11 to 11¾c.

During April so many eggs were put in storage that market worked up to 12c., but fell back under heavy accumulation to 10¼ to 10½c. at the close.

Supply was so large during May that prices fell to 9½ to 10c., and large quantities were forced into storage. Toward the close of month, however, advices had been so discouraging that shipments were checked, and market worked up to 11½ to 12½c. before the close.

In June prices ranged from 12 to 12½c., dealers taking storage stock out as fast as possible without breaking prices or allowing them to advance.

Receipts were lighter in July, and prices averaged slightly better until near the close, when it eased back to 12½c.

No material improvement was made until middle of August, when market gradually improved until 15c. was reached.

This was fairly sustained during September, market gradually improving, with 18c. reached.

During October stock sold from 17½ to 19c. and during November 20 to 24c.

December brought freer receipts, and prices eased off to 17c. at the close.

This month there has been an increase in arrivals, and prices have steadily declined, closing unusually low.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

THE Toronto Coffee and Spice Co. is putting spices on the market in ¼, ½, and 1-lb. metal-lined packages at only 2c. per lb. above the bulk price.

T. Kinnear & Co. have a carload of New Orleans molasses arriving in a few days.

Lady Charlotte, Knox's, Cox's and sheet gelatine in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The Eby Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of several lines of Ceylon, Young Hyson and Japan teas.

Clemes Bros. have in stock another carload of fancy "Date Palm" brand of California navel oranges.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering their "Diamond" baking powder to the trade at the price of the ordinary article.

T. Kinnear & Co. say that they have in stock a full line of different sizes of Griffin & Skelly's brand of California prunes.

Hubbard's rusks are standard food for infants and invalids. Robert Greig & Co. report a further shipment in these sizes just to hand; 1-lb., 2-lb. and 4-lb. tins.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock "Fancy Crystal" evaporated apricots and peaches, packed in 25-lb. boxes. They have also on hand a full range of California prunes.

The Eby Blain Co., Ltd. are offering a full cream cheese to retail at 10c. a package, "Anchor" brand. This cheese is put up with attractive labels in cartoons 1 doz., and boxes 2 doz.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering good values in canned salmon.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that their self-rising flours are growing more into popular favor than ever, and the sales so far this year have been phenomenal.

"Kolona" Ceylon tea has shown the largest sales last week since its introduction.

Robert Greig & Co. report a steadily growing demand for "Tryphosa," the new jelly powder.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report a good demand for their "Ludella" Ceylon tea in lead packages.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. are offering this week a fine imported sardine, ¼'s, at a remarkably low figure.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. announce that they are quoting figs in mats, taps and 25-lb. boxes at exceptionally low prices.

The past year was the largest in the history of "Crown" brand extracts. The trade in these goods has multiplied many times.

T. A. Lytle & Co., manufacturers of vinegar, pickles, jams, jellies, marmalade and sauces, find that January trade is quite up to their expectations.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are making a special drive this month in California evaporated fruit, consisting of apricots, peaches, egg plums, silver prunes and pitted plums, in bags and boxes.

In Japan teas W. H. Gillard & Co. have a fine range, and in anticipation of the rising market and the possible imposition of a duty on teas, they ask the trade to compare their values with others.

COMPULSORY HALF HOLIDAY.

A deputation representing the Lord's Day Alliance waited upon the Ontario Government on Tuesday afternoon to urge legislation for a compulsory half-day's holiday each week in all shops throughout the province.

The proposals submitted by the Alliance were as follows :

1. All shops shall be closed in each week on the afternoon of one working day at the hour of 1 o'clock, with such exceptions as are necessary in the public interest, such as the cases of drug stores and restaurants at all times, and butcher shops during the months of June, July, August and September.

2. In the absence of a municipal bylaw appointing another day the closing day shall be Saturday.

3. In each municipality the municipal council shall have power by bylaw to appoint another day instead of Saturday.

4. All shop assistants in excepted shops shall have a half-holiday from one o'clock on some working day of the week.

5. When a public holiday occurs in any week, it shall be sufficient to close shops on such holiday instead of the closing day.

6. All shops may remain open on the afternoon of the working day next preceding Christmas Day, New Year's Day, and other public holidays, although such working day may be the day appointed for closing.

7. All shops, except drug stores, shall be closed on Saturday evenings at nine o'clock.

LAW AGAINST TRADE ABUSES.

A BILL is now being introduced in Germany, which, if passed in the United States, would have some effect upon the methods of department stores.

The sketch of a bill against unfair competition was published some time ago by the Imperial Government, early publication being given it that there might be full time for discussion among those concerned.

It aims at a number of trade abuses which are indigenous to no particular country. In this country, however, only a few of the unfair means of competition as covered by the bill are deemed misdemeanors of sufficient magnitude to be punishable by law, by fine or imprisonment. What is proposed in Germany? The bill prescribes that a motion to put a stop to an advertisement which contains mis-statements as to price, mode of manufacture, etc., may be made by any tradesman or corporation engaged in a similar mercantile pursuit. Damages can also be claimed, and, if false statements have been made intentionally, a fine can be imposed. Upon a repetition of the offence the guilty party can be imprisoned.

Other abuses are treated by similar drastic measures. A merchant whose trade or credit is injured by statements of a competitor that are proved untrue can obtain damages, and, if guilty intent is found, the offender may be heavily fined. Another provision covers the same ground that our copyright laws do as to trade marks, with additional restrictions in regard to the use in any way of a name of a firm so as to cause evil. The bill also proposes to grant to the Federal Council the right of discussing the quantity of any particular commodity that shall be sold or offered, and that the same shall be indicated on the wrapper. Furthermore, a fine or imprisonment awaits him who unlawfully communicates any factory or business secrets ; and to incite another to transgress against this regulation is also a punishable offence.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

YOUNG MEN, WORK.

Bob Burdette rang the bell when he said : "There are young men who do not work, young men who make a living by sucking the end of a cane ; whose entire mental development is insufficient to tell them which side of a postage stamp to lick ; young men who can tie a necktie in eleven different knots and never lay a wrinkle in it, and then would get into a West Hill street car to go to Chicago ; who can spend more money in a day than you can earn in a month, and who will go to the sheriff's to buy a postal card, and apply at the office of the street commissioner for a marriage license. But the world is not proud of them. It does not know their name, even ; it simply speaks of them as old Soanso's boys. Nobody likes them, nobody hates them ; the great, busy world doesn't even know they are there, and at the great day of resurrection, if they do not appear at the sound of the trumpet, and they certainly will not unless somebody tells them what it is for and what to do, I don't think Gabriel will miss them or notice their absence, and they will not be sent for nor disturbed. Things will go on just as well without them."

BOARDS OF TRADE.

WATERLOO BOARD.

The Waterloo Board of Trade has elected these new officers : President, Mr. W. H. Riddell ; vice-president, Mr. Jacob Stroh, secretary-treasurer, Mr. A. B. McBride. A banquet will be held.

The Fredericton Board of Trade has elected the following officers for the present year: President, Wm. Lemont ; vice-president, A H. Randolf ; secretary, James W. McCready ; treasurer, C. F. Chestnut.

TORONTO BOARD.

Nominations took place at the Toronto Board of Trade on Tuesday. Four of the officers were elected by acclamation, viz.: President, Edward Gurney ; first vice-president, Elias Rogers ; second vice-president, A. E. Kemp ; treasurer, D. W. Alexander.

These gentlemen were placed in nomination :

Council, fifteen members to be elected—William Christie, J. L. Spink, W. G. Gooderham, J. H. G. Hagarty, J. Carrick, J. Herbert Mason, Hugh Neilson, D. A. Rose, George Keith, E. B. Osler, W. D. Matthews, D. R. Wilkie, E. W. Cox, M. C. Ellis, Stapleton Caldecott, John Flett, J. F. Ellis and H. N. Baird.

Board of Arbitration, twelve members to be elected—Thomas Flynn, James Brandon, J. D. Laidlaw, George A. Chapman, William Cook, C. W. Baird, J. H. Sproule, Hedley Shaw, D. O. Ellis, R. S. Baird, Noel Marshall, J. E. Pearen (Brampton), C. Good, J. J. Higman and William Ross (Port Perry).

Representatives on the Harbor Commission, two to be elected—Thos. Davies, W. A. Geddes, Capt. Crangle, Wm. Galbraith, Alexander Nairn and R. W. Elliot.

Industrial Exhibition representatives, three to be elected—J. L. Coffee, Thomas H. Lee, Andrew Gunn, W. B. Hamilton and George A. Chapman.

The following gentlemen were appointed scrutineers of the vote to be taken on Tuesday, Jan. 26—Walter S. Lee, George McMurrich, C. B. Watts and H. C. Dixon.

"NO PENNIES SHORT."

EVERY reader of The Grocery World will be interested in learning how one grocer in Philadelphia, whose store is located near the centre of the city, succeeded in breaking some of his customers of a habit peculiar to the locality in which his place is situated. This grocer is a fairly progressive man, sells for cash only, and by his industry has built up a very good patronage in the neighborhood.

Not long ago his customers were surprised to see a large sign tacked upon the wall of his store, which contained the following in bold, black letters : "No Pennies Short." Ween questioned as to the meaning of the sign by a representative of The Grocery World, the grocer said :

"That means just what it says, no pennies short, I'll tell you why I put it up. Many of my customers used to come in here, and, after making a purchase, find that they were a few cents short of the amount they would buy. For instance, if two or three articles come to 84c., they would give me 80c., and say that they would pay the rest the next time they called. Now, I do a strictly cash business, buy for cash and sell my goods at a close margin, and the 3 or 4c. owing to me would often mean my profit. I also found that a great many took advantage of the fact that they owed me a few cents to try and start a credit account. Well, that's just what I didn't want, and I made up my mind to stop the 'penny-short' business at once. Even some of my best customers fell into this habit of giving short change, as you might call it. They would order goods to be sent to the house, and when the boy delivered them they would give him the amount less a few cents, and would tell the boy to say they would pay the amount the next time they called at the store. Well, they would forget about it, and I didn't like to say anything, and then sometimes I would forget it, and so the amount was lost. It seems a little thing, but in the course of a year it counts up, I tell you. Why, you wouldn't believe that I have saved nearly $5 a week since I put up that sign. It's a fact, and I should have done it long ago. Little leaks sink the ship, you know, and you have got to watch the pennies if you want to make money these days.—H. F. G., in Grocery World.

MUNRO & CO.'S FAILURE.

The creditors of N. Munro & Co., grocers, Wellesley street, Toronto, met on Tuesday in the office of Geo. Clay. The statement showed liabilities of $11,500 and assets under $5,000. Mr. W. P. Munro, father of the insolvent, is the principal creditor. It was decided to wind up the business and sell the stock by tender.

SPECIALISTS.

We have said enough about TEAS for some time, in our last ad. in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Our tea trade is fully in proportion with the MAGNITUDE of our general grocery business.

Now that you know it, we will not weary you with TEDIOUS advertising on TEAS, TEAS and.....TEAS.

We can make a profit on anything we sell you, although our figures are the lowest current. It need not be TEAS, TEAS and.....TEAS.

We esteem your tea trade very much indeed, but appreciate none the less your orders for Groceries of any description and Wines of all kinds.

We don't proclaim that we make a SPECIALTY of TEAS, TEAS and .....TEAS, but we sell them all the same and sell them right. We sell more than many so-called tea Specialists.

We find that the country is invaded by those Specialists, who can talk nothing else but TEAS, TEAS and.....TEAS.

We have all more or less our "little experience" with Specialists, and can testify that as a rule they do not condescend to low figures. Tea is an article on which no comparison in value can be established without samples, but you need no samples to compare THESE PRICES:

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale trade is by no means active, but it is gradually improving. Teas are still receiving the most attention, both from wholesalers and retailers. Sugar is quiet and the cutting of prices appears to be breaking out a little more vigorously again among the wholesalers. The outside sugar markets are a little easier. Wholesalers report a fair demand for green coffees. Canned goods are quiet, with the tone of the market in regard to tomatoes and peas stronger rather than otherwise. Currants in the primary market continue to gather strength. Other lines are quiet and uninteresting. In spices the feature is an easier feeling in regard to ginger and pepper in the primary market. Payments are on the whole fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The packers at their meeting held a few days ago practically decided to curtail the output during the ensuing season. This has helped to strengthen the position. The packers are wisely not pushing their wares, believing that the next few months will see higher prices ruling for at least tomatoes and peas. The wholesalers share this belief with them, but they are not making any purchases. Some of the packers have advanced their views on tomatoes to 75c. per dozen. Canned salmon is quiet and unchanged. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The outside markets are quiet and steady. Locally there is a fairly good demand for green Rio coffees. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Quiet and unchanged. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The outside markets are a little lower on New Orleans molasses, particularly medium grades. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is on the whole dull and easy. At the close of last week beets advanced ¼d., but on Monday this gain was lost, and the cables reported the tendency of prices downward. In New York at the close of last week Nos. 1 and 2 refined advanced 1-16c., but on Tuesday all grades of hard sugar were reduced 1-8c. and Nos. 1 and 2 declined 1-16c. One of the Canadian refineries is trying to get an advance of 1-16c. on yellow sugars, but generally speaking prices are unchanged. Business, if anything, is a little better on country account, but the output is still light. Wholesalers' quotations for granulated are unchanged at 4 to 4.10c., and yellows range from 3.30 to 3.75c. per lb.

Willett & Gray's weekly summary of the statistical position shows stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 276,291 tons, against 269,918 tons last week and 229,692 tons last year, a plus of 46,599 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe, 2,315,900 tons, against 2,295,200 tons last week, and 2,275,951 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 2,592,191 tons, against 2,565,118 tons last week and 2,505,643 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 86,548 tons, against an excess of 51,227 tons last week, and a deficiency of 6,733 tons December 31, 1896.

SPICES.

Business is quiet and prices unchanged. Pepper is a little firmer. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

Sicily shelled almonds are a little firmer in the outside markets. Locally, there is nothing new to note in nuts of any kind. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Mail advices received in Toronto from Japan state that rice there has advanced equal to about ¼c. per lb. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

There have been a few transactions in Japan teas during the past week in cases where holders were prepared to modify their views a little as to price. There have also been some transactions for shipment to the United States in these teas. Several lines of China black teas have been sold during the past week, the value shown being unusually good. Desirable green teas are scarce. Future shipments of these teas will be of late pickings, and will consequently be of poor quality. A fair trade is being done in Indian and Ceylon teas, chiefly in low grades. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 21 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Private cables from Patras indicate a continuance of firmness in the currant market. A cable received on Monday noted an advance of 1s. from the lowest point recently touched. This advance is probably the same noted in last week's GROCER, as transactions are upon the basis of last week's advance. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

Malaga raisins are in much the same uninteresting condition as before. We quote as follows: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are only receiving moderate attention. We quote 7 to 7½c. for Hallowee and 6½ to 6¾c. for cheaper grades.

California evaporated fruits continue quiet, but an improvement is looked for shortly. We quote: Peaches, 6 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 8½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 5½ to 13½c. There is some of last season's fruit on the market.

Prunes are still neglected. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit trade is still enjoying its seasonable quietude. Both lemons and oranges are easier. Stocks of Almeria grapes are light, and it is not likely that further shipments will be brought on. Grape fruit is in good supply, but the demand is light. There is still an export demand for onions. Cranberries are dull. We quote: Oranges — Jamaicas, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; ditto, barrels, $7; Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.50 to $4 per case; large, 420's, $5 to $5.25; 714's, $4 to $4.25 per case; Mexicans, $3.25 to $3.50 per box; California navels, $3.75 to $4. Lemons — Messinas and Palermos, $2.25 to $2.50 per box for choice to fancy; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. for red fruit or greenings, and 75c. for ordinary; onions, $1 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; cranberries, $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $4 to $5 for Canadians and Nova Scotians; cases, $2 to $2.50; bananas, $1.50; Almeria grapes, $5 to $7.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is no improvement. Receipts are perhaps not as heavy as they were, but they are still large, while the enquiry is poor. Choice butter is still a proportionately scarce article. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 11 to 12c.; pound prints, 11 to 13c. Creamery —Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is 1s. dearer in England, and the feeling locally is stronger in consequence. Some holders are asking as high as 11c. outside for late makes, but purchases can be made at 10 to 10¼c. delivered. Locally the demand is light with late makes quoted in a jobbing way at 10½ to 11c.

50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Are dull and jobbers are quoting 2c. for ordinary and 2½c. for selected stock.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Deliveries are more liberal, but the demand is light. Jobbers quote 3½ to 4c per lb.

EGGS—The market is easier. New laid eggs have been coming in more freely during the past week and fresh gathered are accumulating. The demand is good for new laid, but other kinds are not wanted. We quote: Limed, 13 to 14c.; fresh gathered, 15 to 16c.; new-laid, 17 to 18c.

POTATOES—The market is still dull. On track carload lots are quoted at 25 to 28c. and wagon loads are quoted at 35c.

POULTRY—Receipts are light, and as a result poultry is rather scarce. Prices are higher. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 60c. per pair; turkeys, 7 to 8c.; geese, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.

HONEY—The demand is just moderate. We quote: Comb, 7 to 8c. for dark and 9 to 10c. for light; strained, 7 to 8c. per lb. for amber and 9c. for clover.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — Receipts are moderate. We quote: Wheat, 87 to 87½c. for white and 86 to 86½c. for red, and 67 to 68c. for goose; oats, 21½ to 23c.; peas, 43 to 44c.

FLOUR—Business continues quiet, with prices a little easier. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.15; straight roller, $4.15, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Only a moderate demand is being experienced. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.15 in bags and $3.25 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade in fish and oysters is still quiet. We quote: White fish 7½c.; trout, 7c.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 3½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 7c.; sea herring, $1 to $1.25 per 100; smelts, 7 to 10c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand for provisions is still light. Deliveries of dressed hogs are liberal with prices easy. Packers are paying $4 to $4.50 for carload lots of heavy hogs, and $5 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

SEEDS.

Alsike is moving a little more freely this week, but at prices a trifle lower than before. Only an occasional small lot of timothy is being offered. A few lots of red clover are being offered, but the quality is disappointing. We quote: Alsike, $3 to $4.50 per bushel for ordinary to choice and $4.75 to $5 for strictly fancy; timothy, $1.10 to $1.40 per bushel; red clover, $3 to $4.25 for strictly prime to choice, and $4.50 to $4.75 for seed free from mixtures.

SALT.

Business continues fairly good at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PETROLEUM.

There is still a good trade being done. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are easier.

Sugar is easier in the outside markets. New York declined ⅛c. on hard sugars.

Further lots of Japan tea have during the past week been taken for shipment to the United States.

A cable received by W. G. A. Lambe & Co. on Monday notes an advance of 1s. in currants at Patras.

A new brand of California navel oranges is being offered for the first time on the Toronto market. It is called the "Arlington Heights" brand.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, JAN. 21, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE week has not developed any radical change in the grocery market, business ruling quiet on the whole. Refiners have, it is claimed, shaded values on sugar in some cases in an endeavor to induce business, but with little result. Jobbing prices are unchanged, however. Syrups continue easy, while the firm feeling in molasses is unabated though demand is dull. Spices are held firm, and coffee and rice are as last noted. Jobbers have been placing import orders for teas, but the distributive demand is not active. Dried fruits are quiet on the whole, and stocks in jobbers' hands are extremely light. So much so in fact that they have been compelled to purchase additional supplies to meet the small orders which they are receiving. Small sizes of California prunes have been received during the week, but they have not affected values on the larger sizes. Currants are cabled firm, but there is sufficient stock to go round here, and no immediate change is looked for. Canned goods continue as they were, and there has been no change in fish or produce of a quotable kind except the advance in cheese and butter.

SUGAR.

There has been little change in the sugar market during the week except a somewhat easier feeling manifested at the refineries owing to the difficulty of inducing demand. On this account it is claimed that prices have been shaded to jobbers, but the spot basis is unchanged at 4 to 4⅛c. for granulated and 3¼ to 3¾c. for yellows, as to grade. In New York the raw sugar market has been quiet, while the position on refined is reported easier.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrup continues of a limited character, although prices are low. Sales are confined to the merest hand-to-mouth lots at 22 to 35c., as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The firm feeling in molasses continues, and, with diminishing stocks, values are reasonably certain of appreciation. Demand is not brisk this week, but the fact does not cause sellers any anxiety, as they feel certain that all the stock they have will be wanted before next spring. We quote Barbadoes 30 to 31c., as to quantity.

RICE.

There has been no change in the rice market. Business rules quiet but prices are firmly held. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market continues firm and no fresh supplies could be replaced for the same money. In a jobbing way we quote: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is a quiet feeling in coffee, demand being confined to actual wants. Values generally are steady. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The tea market has shown more activity recentiy, import orders having been placed for Ceylons to a considerable quantity, and the same applies to Japans. In a jobbing way trade is not particularly brisk. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been enquiry lately from jobbers for Valencia raisins, but they find it difficult to secure any except at an advance cost. As a result values are very firmly held on what little fruit there is remaining in jobbers' hands here. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins point upward, as holders on the Coast will not concede a fraction. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Loose Malaga muscatels range from 7 to 7½c. for medium to 8 to 8½c. for high grades.

Sultana raisins continue steady at 7 to 12c. as to quality.

The firm feeling in currants abroad has not affected spot values. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

There has been a fair enquiry for prunes. Some offers of California stock were made this week, but at firm prices. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

Figs continue quiet and unchanged at 9½ to 11c.

Dates are steady under a fair enquiry at 5 to 5½c.

Evaporated California fruits are unchanged. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c. as to brand.

NUTS.

There has been little doing in nuts. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

Both tomatoes and peaches continue firm, as noted last week. Otherwise there is nothing to report, We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

the whole, being lifeless, while receipts of fresh fish have been rather in excess of the demand. We quote as follows: Labrador herrings, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S., $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. C., $6 per half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. Fresh tommycod, $1.25 to $1.40 per bbl,; haddock, 3¼ to 3½c.; frozen salmon, 11 to 12c.; halibut, 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout, 6½c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.30 to $1.50; ciscoes, 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring, 10 to 11c. per lb. Dried cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in green fruit, and business during the week is extremely quiet. Jamaica oranges continue scarce and firm, while low offers on Valencias do not tempt buyers to any extent. We quote: California oranges, $4 to $4.50 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest; cranberries, $2.50 o $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8.

APPLES.

The apple market continues quiet and unchanged under a moderate demand. We quote: No. 1, 90c. to $1.40; No. 2, 40 to 85c.

DRIED APPLES.

There is no improvement in these, prices ruling easy at 3 to 3½c. in small lots and 2½ to 3c. in a large way. Evaporated apples are quiet at 3¼ to 4¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs is limited and the market continues quiet and steady. Montreal limed and choice candled stock are selling at 14 to 14½c., Western limed at 13 to 13½c., and held fresh at 12 to 12½c. per dozen.

BEANS—In beans business is of a small jobbing character and prices are unchanged at 90 to 95c., with car lots offering at 80 to 85c.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes is quiet but steady at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and 45 to 50c. in a small way.

POULTRY—There is no improvement in the poultry market, business being quiet and prices steady. The receipts of choice spring chickens and geese are light and well enquired for. Turkeys are selling at 8 to 8½c., spring chickens at 6½ to 7c., frozen stock at 3 to 5½c.; geese, choice, at 6 to 7c.; frozen, old, at 5 to 5½c., and ducks at 7½ to 8c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market shows no signs of life, the demand being still of a hand-to-mouth character at about steady prices. New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6½ to 7c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb. There was a good demand for light weight hogs, and as the offerings of these are small prices are firmly held at $5.25 per 100 lbs. in car lots, and at $5.50 to $5.75 in a jobbing way. On the other hand heavy hogs are plentiful, and a further decline in prices has taken place, with recent sales of car lots at $4.60 to $4.75 per 100 lbs., and in a jobbing way at $4.90 to $5.

FLOUR, AND MEAL.

The situation of the flour market is unchanged, business being very quiet and millers and dealers do not look for much improvement until sleighing throughout the country sets in. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.65 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.40; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.15. Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5.10 to $5.30; and strong bakers', $4.50 to $5.

The demand for meal is principally in small lots, and the market, on the whole, is quiet and easy, in fact, holders would shade present prices for car lots. We quote: Rolled oats at $3.30 to $3.40 per barrel and at $1.65 to $1.70 per bag.

There was no change in feed, sales being slow at $9.50 to $10 per ton for Manitoba bran, including bags, and at $9 to $9.25 for Ontario in bulk.

HAY.

The tone of the hay market was quiet and steady at $10.25 to $10.50 for No. 1, and at $9 to $9.25 for No. 2 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese has stiffened sharply since last week under an active export demand which has reduced the stocks here to very small dimensions. To-day no finest white cheese is obtainable under 11¼c. an advance of ½ to ¾c. over this time last week, while 10¾ to 10⅞c. is asked for colored.

Butter also is extremely firm, as both export and local enquiry has been good, while supplies of finest are light. None is available under 19½c., but the stock of under grades is in excess of the demand, and prices range down to 18c. in consequence.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The last direct shipment of Valencia raisins for Canada arrived at New York last week ex Cidonia.

Cables on raw beet sugar from London to-day were 1½d. lower, and granulated has declined ⅛c. in New York.

It is reported that local jobbers have placed import orders for Ceylon teas during the past week to the extent of 6,000 packages.

Receipts of the smaller sizes of California prunes arrived this week. They are now being offered by the jobbing trade at 6½c. for 90s. to 100s.

Last week we quoted in these notes net cast prices for Singapore and black pepper. The former should have read 5d., not 5c., and the latter 3d., not 3c.

The Pabst Brewing Company, of Milwaukee, have opened a branch brewery in Canada for the convenience of the trade. The increasing demand for their lager forced them to take this step.

A small consignment of Valencia raisins was offered on this market this week. It was taken by jobbers at 5½c. for the selected off-stalk, and 6 to 6¼c. for the 4-crown layers net cash Montreal.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 21, 1897.

THE little snow we have lately had, and the colder weather, have aided business; but this is at best a quiet season. There is still great need for more snow to aid our lumbermen. Export business via St. John has been large this month. The English steamers have had large cargoes. The merchants complain that collections are slow. Flour has ruled rather lower, but the decline is looked upon as only temporary. Cream of tartar is rather higher. In lobsters, the packing season has commenced. No doubt, owing to the high prices obtained this season, every effort will be made to make the pack a large one. The demand for frozen fish keeps quiet, and arrivals are small. As an example of the mild weather we have had, it might be noted that a car of apples went from Kentville, N.S., to Charlottetown without a heated car, and arrived without injury from frost.

OIL — Market remains as last week. Movement in burning oil is limited, while in lubricating the movement has not yet commenced. But it is to this line that dealers are turning their attention, and travelers are active, endeavoring to make contracts. We quote: Best American, 19½c.; best Canadian, 18¼c.; prime, 16c.

SALT—The last Liverpool steamer had 2,498 sacks salt. There is also a vessel with about 6,000 bags daily expected. Outside points, to which shipments are made, are well supplied for some time to come, and the demand is quiet, so that a quantity of that arriving will have to be put in store. There is no doubt salt could be bought low, to be shipped direct from the sailing vessel when she arrives. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—There is among the wholesale dealers a feeling to advance prices slightly, particularly tomatoes. It also looks as if peas would command higher figures. Corn shows no change. It might also be said there are no lobsters. Salmon seem plentiful, but there is no demand. It is rather early for oysters. Fruits have a rather better movement, but in all lines there is very little sale. Retailers continue to sell corn, peas and tomatoes low. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.75; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; American peaches, 3's, $2.25.

GREEN FRUIT—In apples there is no movement, both retail and wholesale dealers reporting trade dull. Advices from the English market are rather better. In oranges, Valencias remain low, though there is a little firmer feeling. No change in price, is, however, expected. A few West India oranges arrived by last direct steamer, but not enough to affect the market. Very few California and fewer Floridas are here. In lemons there is no change. Grapes are about out of the market. We do not quote them this week. The dull sale for cranberries still continues. Lettuce is now to be seen. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $4; Valencia oranges, $3.25 to $4 per case; California oranges, $4.50 to $5; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $5; pines, $1.50 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Another car of California raisins was sold here this week, this making two since the first of the year. As the price is high it is doubtful if this market will take any more this season. The Valencias have given even poorer satisfaction, so that the California raisin has strengthened its hold upon the market. The importation of California raisins this year to St. John has been about 9 cars. It would have been more but for the high price. Onions are higher with light stocks, but red onions will not bring within 75 cents the price of yellow, and will not sell freely at any price. Dates have quite a demand. There is still no demand for California dried and evaporated fruit. All prunes are dull. We quote: Valencias raisins, 5 to 6c.; layers, 6¾ to 7c.; California 3-crown L.M., 7½ to 7¾c.; 4-crown, 8¾ to 9c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2.00; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6 to 6½c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; California, 6 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4¾ to 5c.; onions, $2.25 to $2.50.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is dull. The market is crowded with poor stock, which will not sell. This affects the demand and price for better grade. Case eggs show lighter demand, and price tends easier. Grocers prefer to pay higher prices for hennery stock. Cheese is small stock here, and everything points to higher prices. The local market is, however, not a large one. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

SUGAR—There is a fair movement, but prices are disappointing, and profits light. There is quite a proportion of Montreal sugars coming into this market. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is little new to say. New Orleans continues to arrive and gives good satisfaction. Stocks of all grades are light. Prices are firmer. New molasses is looked for early this season. It is not expected price will rule high. The sale of syrup in this market this winter is light. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c. ; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

FISH—The arrivals in all lines are light, even frozen fish. It is thought Lent coming so late will hurt the fish market. We this week quote fresh trout. They come here from Quebec. They are not allowed to be caught in New Brunswick at this season. Lobsters arrive more freely, but are small. Frozen cod are quoted rather lower. Herring show no change. Frozen herring show a great difference in quality. Smoked herring are rather firmer, with bloaters dull and kippered scarce. Frozen pollock are offered low, but seem to have little sale. Smelt are quite plentiful, but prices have ruled low this season. Pickled herring and dry cod show no change. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50 ; medium, $2.75 to $3 ; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25 ; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; smoked, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; frozen herring, 60 to 70c. per 100; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. Frozen cod, 2 to 2¼c. per lb.; pollock, 1¼c.

PROVISIONS—There is a fair trade doing. One of our curers of hams and bacon has a splendid trade with the neighboring States. getting regularly large orders from Boston, Lard shows no change, with good stock here. While barreled beef tends higher, there is no local change in price. Pork is low. Smoked meats are dull for the season. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50 ; plate beef, $12 to $13 ; hams, 10 to 11c. ; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is rather lower, but chiefly Manitoba, which has ranged rather higher in proportion than Ontario. Ontario ground Manitoba flour is giving good satisfaction here, and is sold about 15c. under the Manitoba price. This cannot be said of all Ontario ground Manitobas, as many brands have no sale here. There is but little change in Ontario flour. Low grades are of small sale, and in strong bakers' there is no sale. Oatmeal remains easy, with but moderate sale. Oats are easy and move slowly. Cornmeal is again marked lower. This very much affects the sale of other feeds. Beans are low, and no upward movement at present. Barley is quite a little higher, but our merchants have made little change yet. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.70; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10 ; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.50 to $3.60 ; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.90. middlings, $14 to $15 ; bran, $13.50 to $14 ; oats, 32 to 35c. ; hay, $11 to $12 ; barley, $3 to $3.10 ; round peas, $1.10 ; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25 ; beans, hand-picked, 95 to $1; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50 ; yellow buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.65 to $1.75.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Barker & Co., retail grocers, who already have a branch at Moncton, have opened one in Chatham. Mr. Barker's motto is rush sales.

A train of thirteen cars of beef passed through St. John for Halifax this week.

I. J. Hessex, of Laurencetown, has this season shipped 10,000 rabbits. This is somewhat of a new industry.

Middleton merchants have taken a step in the right direction, having decided to close their stores at 6 o'clock three nights a week.

L. D. Shaffner has purchased the share of B. D. Neily in the firm of Neily & Kinney, Bridgetown, the name of the firm being changed to Shaffner & Kinney.

The Exhibition Association have decided to hold the regular Exhibition this fall as usual. We hope for the usual good support from our Upper Canadian friends.

Connor Bros., Black's Harbor, this week made a shipment of scallops to Bauld, Gibson & Co., Halifax. The sardines, clams, scallops, chowder and haddies packed by Connor Bros. have more than local reputation, finding a large demand from the west.

Chas. D. McAlpine, of St. John, has gone to the West Indies and will also visit some of the South American cities with the intention of publishing directories. He is also interested in the trade relations between the West Indies and the Maritime Provinces.

THE GROCER wishes to correct its remark about the time to be allowed the trustees to close the business of the late firm of Robinson & Co. The trustees are to close the business out as soon as possible to the best advantage, which at the longest is expected not to cover but a few months.

The 26th annual statement of the Merchants Bank of P.E. Island shows that half-yearly dividends at 8 per cent. per annum were paid during the year, and $10,000 transferred to rest account. The paid-up capital is $200,020, and the rest $50,000. Net profit for the year, $20,194.43 ; notes in circulation, $92,772. Total assets, $484,533.68.

The wholesale grocery business carried on by the late Vincent S. White, and which since his death has been carried on by the estate, is now being conducted under the style of Vincent S. White & Co. Mr. John Moore, who has been the successful manager of the business for a number of years, has been admitted a partner. This firm is extensively connected with the lumber interests of our provinces.

The fruit growers of Nova Scotia have about decided to take the following steps for their protection : To form a company with, say, $50,000 capital. They will erect warehouses at right centres for proper storage. They will be able to control shipments, that they may be made at right times. The quantity of apples to ship will enable them to get right rates of freight and to secure properly fitted steamers to ship in. They will also appoint agents in the English market for the exclusive handling of their shipments. It is thought that in having the exports controlled in this way and in doing away with so many middle men, to make the results to growers much more satisfactory than in the past.

VERY DIFFERENT.

He fixed a steely glare on the grocer and began :

"I bought a chicken of you, after asking you if it was a spring chicken and being informed by you that it was. It was so tough that it turned the edge of the carving knife."

"I did not tell you that it was a spring chicken," said the grocer. "You picked the fowl up and asked me if that was what I called a spring chicken, and I said it was what I called a spring chicken. If you had asked me direct if it really was a spring chicken, of course, my devotion to truth would have compelled me to admit that it was nothing of the kind." Cincinnati Enquirer.

A barrel of apples for a dozen of eggs was the ratio of exchange between those two commodities in Machias lately.—Kennebec Journal.

The sponge is an animal a little lower in order than a jelly-fish. It is "caught" alive, and cut open is much like a piece of raw beef. The part used for toilet purposes is only the skeleton, and this has to be bathed in Condy's fluid and acids, which bleach it ; it then passes through wringers, is dried on shelves of wire by hot air, and is then ready for sale.

SYSTEMATIC SAVING.

ONE of the principal reasons why so many persons in this country of high wages, and usually steady employment, are reduced to want when work stops is the neglect of systematic saving, writes Harry M. Royal, in Michigan Tradesman.

Not having been educated in the school of adversity, nor even that of economy, the life of the majority of American workingmen is essentially a hand-to-mouth existence, which means hunger and discouragement in times of depression, like that through which we have passed during the past three years.

Unfortunately, this is largely true of clerks and salesmen, whose natural efficiency has fitted them for positions of responsibility, but who so seldom succeed to an independent business of their own, because of their failure to accumulate by their own efforts sufficient means with which to start.

Their salaries would seem princely to many a common laborer, but still they often find it difficult to meet the ordinary expenses of life and maintain themselves and families in a style fitting to their position, as they are expected to do by their associates, the public, and even their employers.

Yet, with a view to provision for misfortune, to say nothing of preparation for bettering one's condition, it would seem that some sacrifices might be made to lay aside a regular monthly saving, which though small in itself, rapidly grows into a substantial sum and increases present satisfaction and future prospects of the owner. The clerk on a small salary would soon find himself the possessor of an amount which, at the start, would be considered a very comfortable "nest egg."

Time is so short—after it has passed—that one often wonders where the year has gone, and there is scarcely a reader of The Tradesman, working on a salary, but will in his own mind admit that he might have saved a portion of his monthly earnings for a series of years without much inconvenience, and not one who will deny that it would be a pleasure to contemplate the possession of the accumulation of five years, if even no larger sum than $5 per month.

It is system that counts, in this as well as in the greater undertakings of life, if, indeed, there be a greater undertaking than that of preparing for misfortunes which may come, or getting ready to launch upon the sea of business with capital of one's own saving.

There are banks in nearly every town, as well as in the cities, which pay interest on time deposits of even small amounts, and local boards of reliable building and loan associations, and if there be none it is easy to remit the monthly instalment to the home office. The clerk having an employer who is in every way responsible could, no doubt, arrange to leave a portion of his wages until the end of the year, when he might draw it in a lump sum for deposit in a convenient bank or investment in paying securities on good real estate.

The essential idea is that there shall be a systematic plan for the regular saving of some portion of the earnings; and if the future plans of the saver have been formed working in that direction, and keeping the money well in hand for use to the best advantage when the proper time arrives, the results, needless to say, will be satisfactory.

HERRING AND LOBSTERS.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the herring fishery, which was once a very profitable source of revenue to the people along the north shore of the Bay of Fundy, and especially around Pisarinco, has greatly decreased in recent years, says the "St John Telegraph." The lobsters along the coast are also much more scarce than they formerly were. While there are various theories to account for this falling off in two valuable branches of the fisheries in St John County, there is no positive knowledge as to the cause, and until there is such nothing in the nature of a remedy can be suggested.

While in Ottawa recently Colonel Tucker directed the attention of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to the matter, and asked that steps be taken to have an inquiry into the subject, with a view to finding a remedy. At his request the Minister will arrange to have a thoroughly qualified expert sent to St. John to make a careful examination and inquiry into the past and present condition of the herring and lobster fisheries along the shore. By securing all the available information it is hoped that not only will the cause of the decline be made clear, but that in the light of this knowledge remedies will be found to restore these important local fisheries to their former flourishing state. If this can be done it will be good news for the fishermen all along the shore.

TRAVELERS' MUTUAL BENEFIT.

The Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society held its sixteenth annual meeting on Saturday. Mr. R. Crean, president, was in the chair. A large number of prominent members, who take an active interest in the progress of the society, were present, and an animated discussion occurred over the report of the Board of Management, which was considered eminently satisfactory and adopted unanimously. The membership has been largely increased, and the great number of applications for insurance waiting to be passed by the board at the next meeting gives every assurance that still greater progress will be made in the current year. Three of the nine Toronto trustees retire each year, and an election resulted in the return of R. L. Patterson, S. R. Wickett and John Burns. The Board of Management for 1897 is composed as follows: President, Robert Crean; vice-president, T. M. Bayne; treasurer, Warring Kennedy; secretary, W. G. H. Lowe. Trustees —R. L. Patterson, S. R. Wickett, John Burns, Thos. Dunnet, Jos. Taylor, W. B. Dack, Hy. Goodman, J. A. Ross, H. Lamont. Trustees for outside places were elected by acclamation.

CANADA'S TRADE WITH NORWAY.

THE following, under date of December 18, 1896, are extracts from a report by Mr. C. E. Sontum, Canadian commercial agent at Christiania, Norway :

"In one of my previous reports I mentioned that a method had been invented and patented by which peat could be made into coal for general purposes, and that a company had been organized for this purpose. Since then the company has got so far as to be able to offer their product to the public. Besides for heating purposes the new coal has been tried for firing up steam boilers, and it is with very good results, although leaving a little more slag than good common coal ; however, this is of so little importance compared with the cheapness of the peat coal, that it will not have any effect on its future use for this purpose.

"It has also been tried by different gas works for manufacturing gas out of and proves to be very well adapted for this purpose, giving out even more gas to the ton than ordinary coal. The patent for making the peat coal is now offered for sale in a number of European countries, and, according to what I hear, large sums are being bid for the privileges. A Canadian mining and real estate firm, who had read my first report concerning the peat coal has written to me for information. I have caused a few sacks of the coal to be sent over to this firm in order that they may try it.

"For Canadian wood pulp manufacturers it may be of interest to learn that a Mr. Anderson, who is manager of the pulp factory in Tistedalen, not a great distance from Christiania, has invented a machine for cleaning off the bark of the wood by washing it off instead of planing it off as heretofore used. This is a great improvement, as in planing the bark off a good deal of wood goes with it. This invention is also patented in several countries and the patents already profitably sold. Where the machine is tried it is said to give very good results.

"For the information of Canadian shoe manufacturers, I will mention that American shoes are getting very popular here lately.

"It had previously been tried to introduce foot wear made in the United States, but without good results, as the shapes differ from what is commonly used here. It now looks as if people have changed their opinions, and the perfect-fitting American shoes find ready buyers. A short time ago a store was opened, where nothing but American shoes are sold, and this shows that the trade is beginning to get confidence in the future of these goods. I shall gladly answer enquiries from Canadian manufacturers in this line, who might wish to get into connection with reliable firms in the Scandinavian countries.

"I am pleased to state that trade during the last quarter has been very lively, and also that there is a marked improvement in the imports from Canada. Of rolled oats alone I have received since my last report eight carloads. I think this promises very well for the future of Canadian cereals on this market when it is taken into consideration that only a couple of years ago I had great difficulty in placing a single car load in the same time. From the same firm I have just received sample barrels of their Molina rolled wheat, flake barley, pot barley, Graham flour and 'Gold Dust' cornmeal, all of which are nice-looking goods, and I am going to see if these articles can be sold here, which I do not doubt as far as some of them are concerned, but it may take some time to get them introduced, as outside of pot barley and cornmeal they have not previously been offered here.

"Beside the company which we represent, there are now two or three other Canadian oatmeal mills represented here, and it is not small quantities of this article that arrive from Canada.

"I have had another shipment of cornflour in 1-lb. and ½-lb. packages. I have already had a couple of small shipments, which have given satisfaction, and I am in hopes that I will get their goods permanently introduced. Large quantities of this article are being imported from the United States.

"About three weeks ago I had the pleasure of cabling an order to an Ontario firm for 400 50-lb boxes of choice evaporated apples, which I have bought outright, and as I have these apples all placed on arrival, I think repeat orders will follow. Much will depend on how these 400 boxes will turn out and if the goods are nicely put up. From the same firm I received a short time ago a carload of fresh Baldwin apples ; but these were not at all satisfactory, being spotted to a great extent and not well enough assorted for this trade. The duty on fresh apples here is kr. 6.00 per bbl., or $1, which in itself is quite an item, and as the duty is the same whether the apples are poor or good, it will be understood that poor apples come unproportionally high. It is, therefore, out of the question to import anything but first-class fruit here, and this the Canadian importers should bear in mind. When people buy imported apples they expect to get good ones, and if they are satisfied with a lower grade apple, there are plenty of these to get of home production.

"I have just received a sample shipment of office desks and chairs and also school seats from an Ontario factory. Those to whom I have shown these desks are favorably impressed with the fine work and select materials employed in the manufacture, and there is no question that Canada can compete in this line as far as quality and workmanship is concerned. Another question is how prices will compare with those of the United States manufacturers. I am afraid the Canadian goods come somewhat higher, according to the quotations I now have.

"Since my last report I have received several orders for Canadian-made 'hot water' and 'steam' radiators. From the tests which have been made with the radiators already received very good results are obtained, and I think business in this line will increase. At present we have three orders floating and are promised a $1,000 order in a few days.

"I have been corresponding with several Canadian flour mills lately and from two of them I am now in receipt of reply that they will be in a position to offer wheat flour after Jan. 1st, 1897.

"A great deal of butter is being imported from the United States. Should there be any Canadian exporters who would like to test this market I shall be glad to be of assistance to them in getting into the right connections. Only natural butter can be imported here to advantage.

"Some time ago I received a letter from the Norwegian Department of the Interior with enquiry about what knowledge I possibly might have in regard to commercial museums, and what I might have seen of the same during my travels in Canada and the United States as Commercial Commissioner for the Norwegian Government in 1893 and 1894. Under separate cover I have the honor of forwarding a copy of one of our leading newspapers, which contains an account of my answer to the Government. You will notice that in the latter part of same I mention the constantly increasing exports from Canada."

HOW TO COMPETE WITH THE BANANA PEDLAR.

A CORRESPONDENT of Ohio Merchant gives the following as his experience in competing with the banana pedlar: "A local store that is dependent for trade upon the good people of the neighborhood experiences sharp competition from these traveling venders of fruit. They come to the doors of our customers with baskets on their shoulders, hand carts and wagons, and they undersell us in spite of ourselves. Therefore, to answer the above question I have adopted a method which has been useful to me, and if it will be of any benefit to my fellow-laborers in the grocery line they are welcome to it. In the first place, to sell bananas cheap you cannot buy the fanciest fruit, for that means a fancy selling price. Get a good medium-ripened, fat fruit. Of course, the outside ones will not all look nice and yellow. Some will be black from various causes, and some bruised and unsightly. I take all these off the tree and place them in a bowl on the counter. This bowl is trimmed up a little so as to draw attention and is always in the same place on the counter. It is the recipient of all the fruit that is slow selling. These have to go at cost price, or a little above cost price, generally the latter. These are the ones I push for a certain class of customers. Of course, as you may well imagine, the customer will look and see what is in the bowl and then at the tree. Those remaining on the tree are nice to look upon, and they cost more than those in the bowl, so you pay your money and you take your choice. The unsightly ones are not allowed to remain long on the tree, but are removed as fast as they become over-ripe and over-stocked. As to the small ones on top, some of these go to the little customers and before they are aware of it they have one or two according to the supply in their hands. Then watch and see the happiness in those eyes. The biblical injunction to cast your bread on the waters is well illustrated and is a good object lesson to him that practises it. And that isn't all. These little customers will call for other things, and tell their friends all about it, too. This will give you a reputation that's worth something and goes a good way to counteract the influence of cheap hucksters and dagos with baskets on their shoulders. I believe by this method I have increased my banana trade and have also experienced pay and other good results."

THE TWINS SAVED HIM.

A LONDON paper salesman, whom I will call Mr. Stickey, got into difficulties some years ago and failed. The creditors appointed one of their number to examine Stickey's accounts and prepare a statement of affairs. This was done, and a meeting took place, with Mr. Tommy in the chair.

During the meeting the liquidator handed the chairman a series of questions for Stickey to answer. Among others he was asked, "Is it true that you have recently bought a piano for £40?" "Yes," replied Stickey. "Is it true that your wife keeps a baker's shop?" "Yes," said the bankrupt again. "There is one more question," said the chairman, adjusting his eye-glasses, "Is it true that Mrs. Stickey has just had twins?" "Yes, yes, yes," replied the proud father triumphantly.

After the laughter had subsided, the chairman suggested to the meeting an adjournment while they visited the happy home, made an inspection of the twins, and sampled the buns to the accompaniment of a tune on the forty piano. The result proved to be a dividend of 4d. in the pound!—London Paper Trade Journal.

PROTECTING RETAILERS AGAINST DEAD BEATS.

IN their search for a plan to protect themselves from loss through bad debts the retail grocers of Atlanta, Ga., have been induced to consider a scheme involving the signing of a blank application by every customer desiring credit, and the local association is reported to be on the eve of adopting it. The following is the form which will be used:

APPLICATION FOR CREDIT FOR GROCERIES.

To.....Street.....
Name.....Residence.....
Occupation.....Monthly salary or income.....Amount wanted .....Each.....

Give the name and address of the merchants you have been dealing with for the past twenty-four months.

.....
Do you own any real estate?.....
Is the deed in your name?.....
If not, in whose name is it?.....
Is it encumbered?.....
How long have you lived in Atlanta?.....
.....In Fulton County?.....
If we agree to credit you, how do you wish to settle account—weekly?.....
Monthly?.....Annually?.....
Will you promise to pay your bill promptly?.....
Applicant's signature.....

In requesting you to make this application on this form, the Retail Grocers' Association of Atlanta seek to protect your interests and their own by extending credit to those who are worthy of it, and withholding it from those who are not entitled to credit. If the grocer loses no money by bad debts, he is able to sell the prompt payer cheaper. Our motto is to give justice to all buyers.

Prompt paying men will gladly fill out and sign this application. Drones and dead beats will complain.

N. B.—The merchant who offers to enter your name on his book before this application is made out and signed by you is unreliable, unworthy, and has deliberately falsified his word to the

HIRAM WALKER & SONS' BILL-HOLDER.

HIRAM WALKER & SONS, LTD, write THE GROCER, explaining that we entirely misunderstood their intentions regarding the bill-holder. It was intended as a compliment to the managing editor personally and to a few of their more intimate friends, and was not intended for general distribution. Thinking it was one of the many souvenirs which manufacturers and others send to their customers at this time of the year, it was unfortunately noticed in these columns. In consequence, there have been several thousand applications for them. Circulars have been sent to enquirers explaining how the mistake, which we regret very much, was made.

USEFUL DESK CALENDAR.

The most useful desk calendar we have yet seen is being sent to the trade throughout Canada by the Pope Manufacturing Co., Hartford, Conn. It is really a desk diary—a pad of 365 pages, mounted on metal. There is a blank page for every day in the year, so that business men can make a memo of future engagements, or things to be attended to, on the page bearing that date. They are sent post-paid on receipt of a card enquiring for them.

TRADE CHAT.

Lake Manitoba whitefish are being teamed into the city, a distance of eighty miles. The quality is good and the price is 5c. per lb.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

Small merchants in Sheboygan, Wis., think they have found a way to meet the damaging competition of the large department stores. Low prices in the latter result largely from the favorable rates at which goods may be purchased in large quantities. The small grocers are now buying goods in large quantities in the aggregate through the purchasing agent of an association which thirty of them have organized. The association, through its improvised jobbing house, buys in even larger quantities than do the department stores, it is said.

The C.P.R. authorities are having constructed a number of stateroom coaches, to meet the requirements of round-the-world tourists, and it is probable one of the cars will be ready for the coming season.

DOGMATIC.

Some traders, says an exchange, who quarreled over a commission on an order, got into verse in the course of their controversy by correspondence. The first remonstrated in rhyme thus:

No one bull-dog yet could eat
Every other bull-dog's meat;
If you have a good-sized bone,
Let the other dog alone.

The other firm had in their employ one who had climbed the heights of Parnassus, and he replied for his firm:

The dog is tough and not yet dead,
Though sometimes troubled with his head
He willing is to share his meat,
But wants a piece himself to eat.

Those two firms settled their differences amicably. The verses are worth studying.

AN AVERAGE EGG.

DIRTY eggs are a disgrace to the shipper, and salted eggs are a disgust to the receiver. No hen has ever been guilty of producing either variety, so the demoralizing touch of man comes in to reduce the grade and lower the cash value of the average egg.

How can a salted egg remain a fresh egg? How can "salt junk" still be a juicy roast? How can salted mackerel continue to carry in stock the freshness and richness of early youth?

There is no law against salting eggs—even our game law don't touch the case, so the thoughtful housewife can continue to provide for winter's needs from summer's abundance as long as the salt holds out and the hens don't strike, but it is an awful sin to swindle the unsuspecting storekeeper with the result of her imprudent prudence.

What is the matter with salted eggs? Let me tell you. The first act of salt on an egg is to knock out the one, only, overtowering virtue it has, which is its freshness. Then follows the next stage of the disease, and the albumen shrinks away and the yolk hardens and becomes attached to the shell, and the "X rays" of a candle reveal a vacuum where once fullness existed, and worthlessness where once real value was in sight.

There is, then, no law prohibiting the salting of eggs, and we have no objections to raise against it, but we do object to marketing salted eggs, for in this lies the "overt act," of which we complain.

To sum up the case, we would say, the only strictly honest thing an egg salter can do is to keep the salted stock for home consumption, and never, under any circumstances, allow it to go into circulation under the cover of a saline falsehood.

The mummy of Potipheri VII. comes nearer being a plump, healthy man of the present Anno Domini than a salted egg does to be a fresh one.

It is an axiom that quality is the prime essential on which grade is fixed and values established, but in the item of eggs, quality is a parallel virtue, and as long as they are sold by count, this factor will hold good.

Those "cute little eggs"—the foot note of the litter—the appendix to the nest full—the terminal cackle of that series, that count one but are not nearly half one, and which slip out of dishonest fingers under the convenient deception that "Aneggszanegg," is another unpleasant feature at the market end of the transaction.

We would draw the line at Guinea eggs, which belong to the "under-size grade," and with them all of those half-grown samples of what a hen usually carries in stock. An average egg is what an average hen will produce in the discharge of an average day's work, and the average buyer wants an average egg every time. This is the equilibrium of trade—the "value received" of merchandising where 16 ounces are given for a pound and 36 inches make a yard. Our counsel is, that you save such hen efforts at home—this is to the poultry-raiser—and if the country merchant is foolish enough to "take them in," we would most heartily counsel him to be wise enough not to ship them to market.

Cleanliness and freshness and sizeness are the three prime factors that constitute "An Average Egg," therefore, be clean, be good, be honest, and stand by the hen that lays a standard egg.—A. A. Egg in Bulletin and Trade.

HE SLUMBERED ON.

"Gentlemen," said the professor of hypnotism, in an oratorical manner, "you will observe that the subject before us has been in a deep hypnotic sleep for seven days, but with a few simple passes I will now restore him to full activity."

But, despite the professor's efforts, the subject slumbered on, nor did he awaken until the rush of spring trade was over.

By a fatal oversight the professor had selected a grocer who never advertised.—Grocery World.

HINTS FOR CLERKS.

ATTEND strictly to your own business. You are not paid for attending to the affairs of others, nor will you receive thanks for it. Besides, you haven't the time.

If ignorant of anything in connection with the stock, the sensible clerk will admit it at once rather than make pretentions to knowledge that exposes him to the danger of being regarded as both knave and fool.

Acquire the faculty of doing your work energetically, expeditiously and thoroughly, but without any show of noise or bustle. There is something wrong with the machinery that rattles.

Late hours and evil company are things in which no upright man can afford to indulge. They threaten both the body and the soul, and are sure to destroy the reputation. Of all men in the world, the clerk should eschew them, for to him a sound body, an upright soul, and an untarnished name, are absolutely indispensable to success.

A great many salesmen, and some who are very competent, injure their influence by a sort of patronizing air which they assume towards their customers. Let such remember that it is the customer who should do the patronizing.

Be very careful about volunteering advice to the proprietor. Know enough about the business to express an intelligent opinion of things relating to it if asked to do so, but do not forget that most men request advice when they wish it, and resent it otherwise.

Don't frown. It promotes wrinkles, induces indigestion, closes the purse-strings of the customer, and defrauds your employer. Don't smirk, either. That is unmanly, inane, idiotic. Be just yourself.

Few people have greater need of self-restraint than the clerk. He must perforce meet so many people who are distasteful to him, and be exposed to such numberless vexations, that, unless he has himself under thorough control, he will indulge in speech or conduct that he will regret.

Guard the reputation of a fellow-salesman as jealously as you would your own. Help him along wherever you can. Get close to him. Like him. You may be competitors, but the world is large enough for both of you. You will be happier and advance faster if you stand shoulder to shoulder.

The Chain That Holds

A chain is only as strong as its weakest link. The confidence of your customers is one of the vital links in the chain that holds them to you—resolutely.

Your store is judged by its methods—as a man by his deeds. Follow your own inclinations about buying of us, of course. We expect it.

But, if you can—feel this way: that no one, anywhere, is more anxious to assist you in welding the chain of confidence between you and your customers than we are. And this is as earnestly for the future as the present.

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, JANUARY 29, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 5

THE DEPARTMENT STORE.*

By Samuel Hopkins Adams in Scribner's Magazine.

A GOOD buyer who year after year increases his business, and the reputation of his department, who leaves for the semi-annual inventory a clean and desirable stock—one who, in fact, has the genius of money making—is paid a salary in the big houses of from $5,000 to $10,000, and often a percentage on the yearly increase of his sales. In some of the largest departments a number of the most capable buyers thus receive as much as $30,000 a year, and are regarded as cheap at that ; a fact which can be readily understood when it is remembered that in a single department of a great shop selling say $1,000,000 worth of goods a year, a difference of 5 per cent in the profits, which may be the result of a good manager as distinguished from a mediocre one, amounts to $50,000. On the other hand, in the lower-class stores, buyers, in many of the departments, are paid as low as $25 a week, with no percentage. If the large incomes are the great exception, it is also to be said that the opportunities are more numerous than the men with the ability to take advantage of them.

The store stretches out like a huge block puzzle which, once fitted together, immediately shifts and changes and presents necessities for prompt rearrangements. One block shrivels, another expands, a third changes its form and nature, and the manipulator must perforce rearrange and reset the composite piece ; or if the need be particularly urgent, perhaps extend his base so that he may have room for all his blocks. The store is the base ; and the departments the troublesome pieces. To start with, there is a definite extent of space, each square foot of which is worth so much per year ; this figure being invariably determined from the receipts of foregoing years with allowances for the general financial prospect of the year under consideration. A certain amount of space must be given up for stock rooms, receiving rooms, packing rooms, work and repair rooms, account rooms, offices of the buyers and executive officers, cash rooms and delivery rooms. All this is reckoned dead weight which the earning portion of the store must carry along. In many stores floor room which might be earning its share of the profits in immediate results as a department, is given over to the use of customers for sitting or writing rooms, or as a restaurant ; but these are reckoned by the far-seeing proprietors as more than earning their share eventually in making the establishment attractive and adding to the comfort of the customers. Taking out the inevitable extent of "dead space," as it is called, there remains in every store a fixed amount of flooring as a basis of active operations ; and here enters the internal rivalry. For in the division of this each department must be regarded as a separate establishment, whose head wishes naturally to obtain for it the greatest advantages.

If the problem were merely to divide a certain space, homogeneous in value, into a given number of equal parts, it would be a matter of measurement and a simple mathematical calculation. But the space is not of equal value all the way through. Obviously, the main aisle on the ground floor is better from a selling point of view than a corner on the third floor. It is on the line of the greatest travel, hence the more attractive staple goods usually line the main aisle, such as silks and dress goods. Blankets or underclothing, which are less ornamental than useful, would hardly be put here, nor would china or glassware, because of the danger of breakage. Places on an upper floor would probably be assigned to these departments ; nevertheless it sometimes happens that a holiday "special," or a sudden cut for bargain purposes may stretch fortifications of blankets along the front of the store, and send fancy glass and china to the centre aisle with a total breakage which would seem formidable to the lay mind. A cut-glass "bargain sale" last winter suffered nearly $200 in accidents in one day, but the head of the department only rubbed his hands and said that he could afford that much per diem indefinitely, if the crowds would but come as they had done. Again, the departments, from their nature, vary greatly in size. Carpets require large space for exhibition ; drugs require no more than the shelf room to store them.

Certain departments, then, fall naturally into place ; but there remain many others, the relative earning power of which must determine their distribution. This is a matter for the firm to decide in council with the executive officers and the heads of the more important departments, who are in almost all cases the buyers. Achievements are mainly considered here, those departments which have made a poor showing in the year past being cut down in space, or sometimes transferred to less desirable locations ; while the man whose department has shown an increase over the previous year's business, in excess of the normal increase which is expected from all departments, may have almost anything, within reason, that he chooses to ask for. In case of a general rearrangement and reapportionment of space, which occurs when an establishment moves into a new building, this rivalry becomes intense.

As it is with the floor space, so it is with the opportunities given. If a department's space is enlarged its portion of the entire expenditure of the firm must be enlarged also to meet the greater requirements, and vice versa. There are other considerations, also, in which the heads of the departments find themselves involved in keen rivalry ; the apportionment of salespeople, both as regards numbers and merit, the opportunities for display in the windows, and the proportion of advertising with which they can succeed in inspiring the advertising man on their respective behalfs. Once started on a successful career, any department, unless it depends upon a fad for its prosperity, proceeds with tremendous momentum. It is not hard to see why this should be.

* This article is one of a series being published in Scribner's Magazine. We regret that lack of space prevents our reproducing the many excellent illustrations which go to make it the most interesting feature of the January issue of that monthly.

Take, for example, the instance of the manager of a dress goods department who hits upon a popular novelty. His department acquires a sudden reputation. Crowds flock there. His stock is sold out, replenished, again sold out, and the firm appreciates. Greater confidence and more capital for stock is meted out to that manager. Special advertisements are devised for him, or he suggests them himself, and the show windows teem with dress goods. Soon his space is found to be too restricted, and a branch is added to his department with an extra staff of salespeople; other departments which have not been doing as well as they should being mulcted of their counters and clerks for the successful one. With this increase of means comes increase of opportunity. Having larger sums at commend the manager can deal more advantageously with the manufacturers, and so he goes on the envy of his rivals in rival stores. When a dozen departments make progress in this way their combined impetus gives to the general business a momentum which to the dealer in a single line of goods would seem little short of miraculous.

Undoubtedly the chief outward exponent of the policy of the store is the manager. His interests are bounded by the four walls, the roof, and the earth underneath. Every detail is, or should be, under his grasp, and in matters of discipline his authority is seldom over-ruled or his judgment questioned. He is practically the court of final appeal in all matters pertaining to the management and conduct of the store. Often upon the disposition of the manager depends a store's reputation among the store people. A man who has a reputation for harshness, quick temper, and unfairness will have difficulty in getting first-class men and women behind his counters. Supplementary to the duties of the manager are those of the superintendent, who generally has assistants under him. Unlike the manager he is seldom a member of the firm.

In general $5,000 is a good salary for a superintendent. This was paid for years to a woman who held that office in one of the largest of the New York department stores. On the other hand the salaries of assistant superintendents go very low in some cases, considering the responsibility of the position. A prosperous department store in upper New York pays to its assistant superintendent, a girl of 22, less than $700 a year.

The buyer is the head of the department in so far as it is considered as a financial integer of the whole establishment. He selects its entire stock. His is the praise for success, or the blame for failure. With him rests the entire responsiblility, and within such bounds as the general policy of the store sets he is a law unto himself in his conduct of the department. Usually a limit to his expenditure is established, beyond which he may not go except by special permission of the firm. To understock is an error ; to overstock a blunder. It is a buyer's maxim that throwing away outgrown stock is cheaper than keeping it on the shelves. The buyer must be a prophetic soul, to foresee what shades of silk will be most popular in the coming season, what make of cloaks, or what style in gowns. Once he has decided, every energy must be put forth toward forcing the style selected into fashion, and the influence thus brought to bear is often very potent.

Special room in the store is set apart for the buyer of each of the more important departments, where the agents for the manufacturing firms bring their samples for examination ; and every morning these gentlemen can be found in large numbers in the ante-room waiting their turn to be received by his honor, the judge of their particular line of goods. They have an opportunity to see the world, too, these buyers ; for many of them must make two trips a year to Europe, or, in these days of startling departures in the business, even to the uttermost parts of the earth. A single store will sometimes send a dozen buyers to Europe and others to Japan, India, and Africa, in pursuit of rugs, silks, mattings, and a thousand and one things. A merit equal to good buying is to arrange the scale of prices well. Every article in the department is sold at the figure the buyer decides upon. On the one hand he must make his price large enough to insure a good profit to his department ; on the other, he must make it small enough so that the public may be sufficiently allured to clean up his stock for him ; and as he steers his course between Scylla and Charybdis, the sails of his rivals loom up in the offing threatening to distance him in the race. One of the bitternesses of life to the hardworking buyer is to have the advertising man (who keeps track of all other stores as well as his own, and is a sort of general information bureau) tell him, after he has made his price on a particularly promising line of goods, that the rival establishment down the street has cut under him 10 per cent. An inflexible rule in many houses is that goods of a standard quality must be sold at a price not higher than that of competitors, or be withdrawn from sale, and the latter course is not the usual solution.

(To be continued in our next issue.)

NEW ORLEANS MOLASSES.

Advices from New Orleans in regard to molasses say : "The season is now nearing its close ; that is, in the way of receipts of the winter crop, and my predictions of last October and November as to the volume of the crop are being verified. Total receipts at this port to date are 177,000 barrels, as against 155,000 barrels same time last year, or only 22,000 barrels more. When the receipts of open kettle do drop off they are going to chop right off suddenly, and nothing but cistern bottoms and scraps and remnants will follow."

SUGAR BOUNTIES.

THE following interesting article is from The London Produce Markets' Review of January 16 :

"In the report of the French Customs Committee on the proposed new bounty law, it is stated that the production of beet sugar in the Mother Country rose from 273,000 tons in 1884-85 to 765,000 tons in 1893. During the same period the production of French colonial sugar fell from 145,000 tons to 110,000 tons, a decrease of 35,000 tons, or 24 per cent. This fact is of importance, because the French colonists have exactly the same bounties as the home beet growers. It follows that the sufferings of cane sugar growers generally are not such as can be neutralized by any probable amount of bounties, and that they are due to general economic causes. During the past 30 years the bonded price of sugar in the open markets of the world has fallen 13s. to 15s. per cwt., and, with every economy, this is a far more serious matter to small producers than to large ones like the beet growers.

"In considering the effect of bounties upon the cultivation of cane sugar, it must be recollected that up to thirty years ago, and with a few exceptions up to the present time, the planters in the West Indian Islands worked practically on the process invented three centuries ago by Pere Labat, the Jesuit missionary. How could it be expected that the pre-scientific system of the worthy father should hold its own against the skilled chemists and machinists of the Europe of to-day? How little bounties have to do with the natural economic progress that has taken place may be judged of from the fact that up to some twenty-five years ago the chief bounties were granted on cane sugar. The French colonists had a very large protection in their home market, as against beet, notwithstanding which the latter became an industry of considerable importance. The great progress in beet took place, however, after German scientists took the matter in hand, and at a time when there was in practice no bounty at all in Germany.

"The bounty arose incidentally and subsequently, through the increased out-turn; but the aim of the growers was not a bounty of 1s. or so per cwt., but the raising of the monetary yield from the crop. If 100 tons of raw beetroot yielded 8 tons of sugar, worth at that time, say, £120, the aim the German growers had in view was to raise that yield to 12 tons, worth £160—a gain to the producer of 5s. per cwt. as compared with the old state of things (less, of course, a rather increased cost of manufacture). The yield is now close on 14 per cent., whereas with Muscovado sugar it is only 6 per cent. in sugar and 3 per cent. in molasses. The German bounty was a mere incident, and totally unintentional on the part of the German Government. Directly they found out what had taken place they took steps to bring the system to an end, acting by reasonable degrees, so as not to suddenly imperil a great industry. Had it not been for the action of the Agrarian party last year the German bounties would have been abolished ere now. It is to be recollected that the German bounties have been the only ones that have had any effect, and that they for some years past have been only 7d. per cwt., and are now 1s. 3d.

"To imagine that the increased production of sugar on the Continent, in the face of an enormous fall in values, is due to such a trumpery cause as this bounty, is a proof that our West Indian colonists are still living in a fool's paradise. If the bounty were removed to-morrow it is very questionable whether sugar would not, after a short time, be normally at about its present level, at which it can be profitably produced on the Continent, when the roots are bought, as they can be, at a proper relative price.

"The immense fall in the price of sugar is, broadly speaking, due to the same economic causes that have brought down all other produce to a similar extent. If the West Indies cannot grow sugar at the present prices they will have to grow something else, for they may be absolutely certain that the Mother Country will not again undertake to give them an artificial price for their sugar. Our own belief is that the West Indies can grow it more cheaply than any other country in the world. They will have to accept, however, a manufacturing profit of a shilling or so per cwt., on which the growers of a hundred or two tons in a year can obviously not subsist, though it may yield 10 to 20 per cent. on the capital employed. It follows either that estates must be amalgamated till they reach a size sufficient to work a proper factory, making, say, 3,000 or 4,000 tons a year; or that central factories should be introduced, to which the planters should sell their canes. It is simply painful to those who are really acquainted with the subject to see our West Indian colonists still wasting their time on futile talk about bounties, while with every day that passes the adoption of a remedy for their undoubtedly lamentable sufferings becomes more difficult, because they are falling constantly more and more behind in the industrial race."

DEPARTMENT STORES IN HALIFAX.

Departmental and co-operative stores have not proved much of a success in Nova Scotia. Last year E. Collishaw started a departmental and co-operative concern at New Glasgow, a town in which are situated several large iron industries. His plan was to supply his customers with goods at 5 per cent. on cost price. To become a customer it was necessary to pay $10 per year. Several hundred workingmen were induced to become customers, and as a consequence, legitimate tradespeople in the town did a lot of kicking. Collishaw managed to get the goods, however, although his capital was known to be limited. A few months ago he made an assignment. Now, T. Graham Fraser advertises that he has purchased the stock ($20,000 worth) at 33½c. on the invoice price, and, in consequence, is able to sell at slaughter prices. It is the old story over again : people like to be humbugged.

STATISTICAL POSITION OF LEMONS.

THE statistical position of Sicily lemons is reported to be stronger than at this season for several years past. Stocks in port and afloat for the United States aggregate in round numbers 188,000 boxes, or about 35 per cent. in 1896. This decrease, it is stated, is in a small measure due to the falling off in the quantity shipped of late to New York, the rest of it being represented by the lighter shipments to Boston and Philadelphia. The decrease at the northern ports is partially compensated for, however, by the increased quantities that have been shipped to the southern ports, notably New Orleans. Exact figures for comparison as to the shipments to the last named port are not at hand, but according to the latest advices the quantity on the way to New Orleans and landing was about 61,700 boxes, or a larger stock than at any previous time.

There are two reasons assigned for the growth in importance of New Orleans as a receiving port for the Sicily fruit, one being the more liberal advances the bankers there are prepared to make, as compared with those offered here. The other is that weather conditions there are more favorable to the prompt marketing of the fruit at this season of the year, which seems reasonable in view of the conditions that have prevailed at the northern ports for some time past.

In spite of the strong statistical showing, however, the market here has been in a somewhat depressed condition for a week or more. Trade has been extremely light, but this is attributed more to the excessively cold weather than to actual indifference on the part of buyers, the general impression in the trade being that stocks in the hands of retailers everywhere are exceedingly light even for this time of the year. Consequently a confident feeling prevails, and it is believed that better prices will be established in the jobbing branch of the trade, as soon as the weather permits shipments to the interior markets. But two cargoes, according to the present programme, will be offered at auction this week and on account of the low temperature prevailing the sales will not be held until Thursday and Friday, the Picqua being offered on the first-named day and the Clive on Friday.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce, Jan. 26.

AT THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

RECIPROCITY with the United States is again becoming a much mooted question. It is also a most important question.

Canada's best market is the home market. The next best under normal conditions is naturally that which is nearest to us. And as the United States is right at our doors it naturally follows that, in its broadest sense, it should be, next to the home market, our best customer.

That it is not so at the moment does not alter the case. Remove the abnormal conditions, and the fact would soon be proved.

These abnormal conditions have not all been created on the other side of the line. Canada has done some contributing.

But there is this difference: The one was actuated with a desire to maim a rival that promised to be formidable, while the other was moved by the first law of nature —the instinct of self-preservation.

The at least modification of these abnormal conditions is the end and aim of the proposed reciprocity treaty.

There was a time when Canada hungered and thirsted for a reciprocity treaty with the United States much more than she now does. But that does not detract anything from the importance of the movement.

The consummation of an equable treaty would mean, on the one hand, the development of closer relations with the United States commercially, and on the other a lessening of our concern regarding our commercial relations with Great Britain.

The way in which our export trade to Great Britain has developed during the past few years is due, in no small degree, to compulsion rather than to choice. In a good many instances we were squeezed out of the United States markets before we began in earnest to cultivate the British market. Naturally, with the cause of this diversion of trade removed, there would at least be an attempt to again turn trade into its former channel.

But while we want freer access to the United States market, and are willing to give them freer access to ours, Canadians do not propose to pay more than a fair market price for the privilege. It must be a straight up-and-down business transaction. We do not want any undue advantages; neither do we propose that the party of the second part shall. We want a treaty that will be fair to both contracting parties. Any other will only be unsatisfactory, and consequently short-lived. Neither do we propose to be a party to any discrimination against Great Britain.

The Motherland was a friend in need, and we propose to be a friend indeed. For some of our products Great Britain will probably always be a better customer than the United States. Therefore, even from a financial point of view, it is better that we should be honorable.

Whether or not a reciprocity treaty with the United States will be consummated remains to be seen. At present Congress seems more concerned about reciprocity treaties with South American republics, with little civilization and small purchasing power, than with Canada.

The why and the wherefore of this strange and short-sighted policy of the United States is doubtless founded upon the belief that in her Canada moves, lives and has her being.

A greater mistake no nation ever made. Canada's destiny is not in the United States. Nor is it in Great Britain. It is in herself.

We very much want freer trade with the United States. But we want still more to preserve our national honor and entity. And if we cannot get the one without maintaining the other we do not want it.

We are at the parting of the ways. If the United States is willing to be a party to a fair and honorable reciprocity treaty, Canada is willing. If not, there is no harm done. But Canada will be induced thereby to take another step in the direction of Great Britain.

The earnest student of window dressing of to-day becomes the valued expert of to-morrow.

EXIT OF DAIRY POUND BUTTER.

Dairy pound print butter is one of those commodities which promises to join those things which have already gone into oblivion.

The increase in the production of creamery pound blocks may be lending its influence in bringing this about, but the greatest factor is no doubt the large quantity of poor quality dairy pound butter which is being placed upon the market.

Where once this particular kind of butter came direct from the farmer's dairy, a great deal of it is now made up from tub butter, which is frequently anything but first-class.

The natural outcome of this is that both the housekeeper and the retailer have lost faith in dairy pound prints.

Business is peculiar: If you do not push it on it will push you out.

CANADIAN BEANS IN ENGLAND.

THE curator of the Imperial Institute states that there has been a large demand for Canadian beans in the English market, but that owing to improper grading the dealers who purchased the Canadian product have lost money.

Our trade with Great Britain in beans has so far been almost nil. Only twice during the five years ending June 30, 1895, did we send any to that market. This was in 1892 and 1895 and the total quantity for the two years was only valued at $1,223, while the least the United States took from us in any one of the five years was valued at over a $250,000, and her purchases from us during the five years aggregated $1,765,659 worth.

It is evident, however, that although our exports of beans to Great Britain are now small they could be made larger if our exporters chose to comply with the requirements of the market, for the curator of the Imperial Institute has stated there is a demand for them.

The trade in this commodity may never be so large as it is with the United States, but that should not deter us from making it as large as we can.

LIBERAL OFFERINGS OF DRIED APPLES.

Holders of dried apples are evidently beginning to weaken if the experience of the past week, as far as the Toronto market is concerned, can be taken as a criterion.

For some time, as every one knows, there has been a tendency on the part of holders to await making sales in the hope that the market would take a turn for the better, but as a stimulus has been given to the output on account of the unsatisfactory keeping properties of the green fruit, it has been thought better to accept the unusually low figures now obtaining than run the risk of conditions that may be still worse.

Reports generally are to the effect that green apples are not keeping well this winter and that farmers are turning their attention to drying them in order to prevent what might otherwise be a total loss.

THE CANNED GOODS INDUSTRY.

THERE is one of the causes of the present unsatisfactory condition of the canned goods industry in Canada that President Ferguson did not dwell upon in the address which he recently delivered at the annual meeting of the association. And yet, being an experienced canner himself, he could not have been blind to the fact. Delicacy must, therefore, have been the cause of his silence upon this particular point.

We have reference to the qualifications which some of the canners possess for the business into which they have been pleased to call themselves.

The canning industry is one in which practical adaptability and practical knowledge are as essential as in any other business sphere.

But this law has been no more set at naught in any other business than that of canning vegetables and fruits.

The bare thought that there was money in putting tomatoes, etc., into cans seems to have been sufficient to have induced men with more money than common sense to forthwith secure a building and put in a plant, particularly if the agent of some plant manufacturer happened to drop in and take the pains to increase his delusion.

Not knowing how to properly and economically put up the goods, they have been equally at sea as to ways and means of selling goods. Not being able to lead themselves, they have essayed to follow those who had the capacity to lead.

But even in this they failed ; for business men with brains do not, like boys playing hare and hounds, throw out paper to reveal to those following every twist and turn they make.

Almost under any conditions whatsoever the canning industry is no easy one to manage successfully, but in Canada, where the field is small and the competition large, success only comes to men of experience, ideas and push.

Men of this class are always studying new departures and watching incessantly for opportunities to expand their trade both at home and abroad. They do not lie low to try and appropriate the ideas of their competitors. They strike out for themselves, and when they create a good article they do not hide it under a bushel, but they advertise it in a bright, interesting and judicious manner in the best and brightest medium they can command.

PEPPER LOOKS STRONGER.

Wm. Schroder, Amsterdam, in giving the statistics of the Government in Holland, says of pepper on Jan. 7 : Pepper is very firm with a rather advancing tendency. The stocks in Holland have been decreased during 1896 by 1,775 tons, the arrivals amounting to 1,316, the deliveries to 3,091 tons. But not only the stocks in Holland are gradually decreasing, but the stocks everywhere show a decrease. The production is decreasing and will yet more decrease, as the cultivation does not pay at the present values. It is with pepper the same thing as with any other article; overproduction creates its own remedy and I have no doubt that we stand at the beginning of a better period for pepper. Higher prices will, of course, encourage planters in the east again, but it takes four to five years ere the new plant bears fruit and thus we can expect as long a good period as the bad one has lasted.

The student of business becomes the wise man of trade.

AN IMPORTANT STATEMENT.

A most important statement in regard to cold storage was made by the Minister of Agriculture at the annual meeting of the Central Canada Agricultural Association held in Montreal on Tuesday.

Briefly, it was to the effect that, as a result of a conference held that day with the chief shipping companies, arrangements had been completed whereby next summer a complete chain of cold storage would be ensured from the railway stations in Canada through the shipping ports to the English markets.

In outlining his plans he said that three hundred of the creameries in the country would have cold storage chambers, while the railways would provide refrigerator cars from their doors to the large centres where cold storage warehouses are built, or will be built. Then at the shipping ports arrangements have been made to provide until the products are on the steamships. In addition to this arrangements had been made whereby a weekly steamship service between Canada and the chief ports in England would be secured.

Outside cheese, no Canadian farm and dairy produce occupies its proper place on the British market. An efficient cold storage system should help us materially in securing the desideratum.

A LINE FROM MR. BOOMER.

Many readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER will be glad to hear from H. C. Boomer, formerly of Warren Bros. & Boomer. He is now traveling around the world with the Misses Boomer, and they are evidently enjoying themselves very much. In a private letter to a member of THE GROCER staff he says : "I want to congratulate you upon the Fall number of THE CANADIAN GROCER, which, in my humble opinion, is your best yet. It does you infinite credit.

"I get the paper regularly, which keeps me well posted as to what is going on. Since I saw you I have been traveling more or less continually, having to some little extent seen Great Britain, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France, and, when all is said and done, I must confess I have yet to find a place to suit me better than Canada and Toronto, and, which is better still, I have seen no people yet to equal the Canadians. I hope to return to England in April and Canada in May or June.

"I notice Capt. and Mrs. Morrow, New York, are registered at the Langham Hotel, Paris. This is, I presume, our old friend John.

"I suppose you are experiencing severe winter weather. Here it is like May ; the oranges and lemons are ripening on the trees ; the early vegetable plants are just above the ground, looking fresh and green."

Many a man's life is a failure because he neglected to watch his opportunities.

THE POSITION OF CURRANTS.

STRENGTH is still the feature of the currant market. This is indicated by further advices received this week on the Toronto market.

The price of Filiatra currants is from 9d. to 1s. per cwt. higher than it was about a month ago, while the finer grades, such as Amalias and Patras, are fully 1s. 3d. higher compared with the same period.

In the two latter grades the Patras market is almost bare, and shippers advise their agents in this country not to ask quotations on them.

The cause of the relatively higher price which rules on the Amalia and Patras grades is largely due to the large demand that is being experienced from Continental Europe.

Mail advices from Patras, Greece, to the 5th inst. give a comparative statement of the exports of currants as follows : To Great Britain and the Continent the total shipments for the season of 1896-97 to the end of December last year were 88,019 tons, as compared with 98,874 tons for the season of 1895-96 ; to the United States the shipments were 10,975 tons, against 7,980 tons last season. To Canada there were shipped this past season 1,198 tons, as compared with 1,164 tons a year ago. The shipments to Australia amounted to 2,261 tons this season and 1,502 tons last year. The total shipments from Greece for the season of 1896-97 at last mail advices amounted to 106,482 tons, as against 109,523 tons for the corresponding period last year.

MR. EDWARD GURNEY.

IN the year 1843 two brothers, Edward and Charles Gurney, came from the state of New York into Upper Canada, and settled in the then town of Hamilton. In those days the lines were pretty strictly drawn between the Yankees and Canadians, and these men had reason to complain of the limitations under which they were placed because of their nationality. But soon the name came to be a synonym of thrift and industry, and their nice sense of honor commended them to their neighbors. It was not long, therefore, before they took first rank as citizens of that burg. Although always interested in public affairs, they never became what might be called technically public men, rather shrinking from that designation. They could not be called colorless in relation to religion or politics, and they were dominant in business in the community in which they lived. Both of these men maintained a good name, acquired throughout long life, and have passed to their reward.

Mr. Edward Gurney, the subject of this sketch, was the son of the elder of these two brothers, and claims special interest to-day because of his recent election to the responsible and honorable position of president of the Toronto Board of Trade. Born in the town of Hamilton (for it was then only a town, in the year 1845), he was educated in the private schools of that town, which immediately preceded the establishment of the public school system, and speaks with some humor of the earnestness displayed by the masters of those days in their methods of discipline. He passed through the different forms of the common school, and, with a short interregnum amongst the Quakers of Prince Edward County, and another short period at the Phillips Academy, of Hamilton, may be said to have finished his education in the common school.

The conception of practical education which we hold now was not then even new, but was held by the father of this particular boy, who, during the holidays and other intervals in the process of ordinary education, compelled his son to take the practical education of an apprentice in the different departments of the foundry business.

On leaving the school Edward Gurney passed into the hands of another schoolmaster, namely, the manager of the business, who advanced him grade by grade until he in turn was fitted for the management of a business of this class.

Mr. Gurney always speaks in high terms of this man, who taught him to read, or, in other words, gave him a taste for the best literature, at a time when without such guidance he might have made a less valuable selection for himself.

In 1869 the firm of E. & C. Gurney purchased the business of the late John McGee, of Toronto, which business was placed in charge of the subject of this sketch, who has resided in the "Queen City" since that date. At the end of the first five years of business here, the advance had been so marked as to require the erection of larger premises. The present site was selected on King street west, and buildings erected, which indicated by their size a good deal of faith in the future of Canada and in the executive capacity of the man in charge, as measured by the judgment of the proprietors. From time to time these premises have been largely increased, until to-day they are easily the largest of their class in the Dominion, and take rank with the large concerns of the United States. In 1891 the firm was turned into a joint stock company, under the style of the Gurney Foundry Co., with Edward Gurney as president.

Mr. Edward Gurney, President Toronto Board of Trade.

In 1887 Mr. Gurney established a branch of the business in Boston, Mass., where he spends a small portion of his time, that concern being so organized as not to require a very great share of his attention; the same remark might be applied to the Gurney-Massey Co., of Montreal, which was also established under his general direction.

The remarks made concerning the attitude of the father and uncle of the subject of this sketch may be said to apply quite justly also to him. While not willing to avoid any responsibility that belongs to him as a citizen, he has successfully resisted hitherto every attempt to bring him into public life of the city or the Dominion, and although he may be said to be amongst our well-known citizens, he cannot, up to this time, be held to be a public man. THE CANADIAN GROCER hopes, however, that this will not always be so. The country is in need of practical business men who will devote their time to public affairs.

As a business man Mr. Gurney ranks high. As already intimated, he began at the foot of the ladder, and the knowledge which he gained while climbing to the top has been invaluable to him: To-day he can stroll through the molding shop and, at a glance, tell whether this or that workman is doing his work properly or not, and in the business office he is fully cognizant of all the details. Like an able-bodied seaman, he knows every rope.

The head of such a firm as that of the Gurney Foundry Co. should necessarily be a far-seeing man. Mr. Gurney is well equipped in this respect, and, if anything, to a more than usual degree. He is a stickler for system, and, for new ideas for the promotion of his business he is ever on the outlook, while his judgment is sound and frequently sought after. Besides his business qualifications, he is a persistent reader and a deep thinker. And his reading and thinking have made him one of the most broad-minded of men. Toward his employes his disposition is the most kindly, and he has men in his employ to-day who came with him from Hamilton in 1869.

Another thing that is peculiar with Mr. Gurney is his temperament. "During all the years I have been associated with him," said a friend of his to THE CANADIAN GROCER, "I have never once known him to lose his temper."

The Toronto Board of Trade is to be congratulated upon its new president, and it is to be hoped that now Mr. Gurney has stepped into a semi-public position he will ultimately be persuaded to take that other step which will make him a full-fledged public man.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

GOOD sleighing is the rule just now and consequently there is a slight improvement in trade, which it is hoped will continue and increase. Trade in the Annapolis Valley and the Island of Cape Breton is none too good and particularly with the former the outlook is none too hopeful. This result is brought about by the small returns on apple shipments.

Green fruits are in fair supply, but the demand is limited. Nova Scotia cranberries are worth $6 to $6.50. Canadian onions are worth 1½c., and American, 2c. California navel oranges are selling at about $4.50 per box of 150; Valencias, regular size box, sell at $3.25, and special large at $4.50. These prices are shaded 10 and 15 per cent. on five-case lots. Cocoanuts are worth $4 per 100. Lemons sold this week at $2.50 to $3.50 in single-case lots. Malaga grapes bring $8 per barrel. Trere is nothing doing in bananas. The quotation is $2.25 per bunch. Apples are plentiful and cheap. First-class fruit can be had at $1.25 per barrel, and a fair article can be had at 75c. to $1.00.

Stocks of dried fruit are small, though sufficient for the demand. Valencia layer raisins in 100-box lots are quoted at 6½c., and in 50-box lots at 6⅝c.; smaller lots are quoted at 7c. Fine off-stalk are quoted at 5½c. in 100-box lots, and 5⅝c. in lots of 50 boxes; in small lots the quotation is 6c. Prunes are worth 5½c.; dates, 6 to 6½c., and currants 4¾ to 5c. Evaporated apples are quoted at 4¾c. Table figs in 10-lb. boxes sell at about 11c.

Flour dealers continue to tell their customers that prices are sure to go higher, but the gods seem to be against them just now, as the advance does not seem to materialize. A local dealer puts out a sign announcing that he is retailing choice brands at $4.75, and this puzzles both the dealers and millers' agents. Halifax prices to-day are about as follows: Hungarian patents are worth $5.85 to $6; Manitoba strong bakers', $5.60 to $5.70; Canadian pastry, $5.10 to $5.20; 75 per cent. roller patents, $4.80 to $4.90; 80 ditto, $4.70 to $4 85; 90 ditto, $4.60 to $4.70; straights, $4.50 to $4.60; extra, $4.20 to $4.30.

Fish dealers are anticipating a brisk demand for the coming Lenten season. There is a fair export trade. The schooner Minnie Maud is the only vessel loading to-day. She is bound for Porto Rico. Grocery cod is still wanting. Prices are: Dry cod, shore prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank, $2.50 to $2.75; large do., $3 to $3.25; haddock, Cape Breton, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.50 to $1.75; pollock, $1.50; Bay of Islands herring, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador do., $6; alewives, $3.25; mackerel, No. 3, $6; No. 2, $9; No. 1. $11; salmon, No. 1, $17.50; No. 2, $15.50; No. 3, $13.

The refinery reports prices steady, but the amount of business is really insignificant. Quotations are: Yellows, 3½ to 3⅝c. for bright and 3⅜c. for fair.

Quotations on molasses have been shaded considerably of late and bargains can be secured without any trouble to-day. Quotations nominally are: St. Croix, 27c., Porto Rico, 30 to 32c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 31c.; Demerara, 39c.; St. Kitts, 25c.

P.E.I. produce is showing signs of improvement on account of the fact that shipments have ceased. All the vessels have about cleared out their cargoes. Potatoes have advanced somewhat and dealers are asking about 35c. ex store. Oats are still obtainable at 28 to 30c., and as there are over 20,000 bushels in store on Island account no advance is looked for in the near future.

What little business there is doing in butter is in Canadian rolls, which are jobbing at 15 to 16c. Fresh creamery in prints is selling at 21c., and tub creamery at 20c., which are about last week's quotations.

Selected stock, P.E. Island eggs, are scarce at 18c. Good Nova Scotia case eggs are quoted at 19c.

The domestic cheese market remains unchanged in tone and price. The cash quotation is about 11c.

There was a small sized boom in Canadian beef at the close of last week. The price was 5 to 6c. per lb.

There is a good demand for Canadian poultry, and barrel lots of turkeys sell at 11c. (undrawn). Geese are worth 9c., and are very fat and tender. Canadian poultry is growing very popular on this market.

Dressed hogs are worth 5c. this week.

Some of our retail dealers are waging a war in canned vegetables. One firm advertise as follows: "1 can tomatoes, 1 can corn, 1 can beans, 1 can peas, 25c." Another firm went one better and announced: "1 can of corn, 5c." The goods are in good order, and, it is needless to say, are selling fast.

THE CARP.

The extermination of the carp has been seriously recommended by several newspapers and by some of the fish commissions of states who have read the essays of the aforesaid newspapers or heard of them at their angling association rooms. The carp is a good, wholesome food fish; it grows large and is readily sold in the markets; consequently, it has considerable value to the fishermen.

The statement recently published in a Missouri paper that "it feeds upon the spawn of every other variety of fish, and very rapidly depopulates streams and lakes of everything but its own kind," would be important if true, but it is not true. It is time to stop such silly twaddle and give the subject the full and fair consideration which it deserves.

The carp is worth at least $80,000 a year to the fishermen. It is eaten with enjoyment by thousands of people. Having no teeth in its jaws, its powers of destruction are far below the known rapacity of such species as the black bass, the pike perch, the trout and a host of other game fish. Give the carp and the fisherman a chance. When the truth becomes known it will be discovered that both possess many good points. —Fishing Gazette.

UNSATISFACTORY SALT TRADE.

The English salt trade in 1896 has been by no means satisfaatory; the returns just issued show decreased shipments amounting to 57,984 tons. The total exports and coastwise shipments amounted to 1,022,617 tons. The greatest falling off is evident in the Mersey shipments, which are 81,619 tons less than in 1895. The Liverpool trade was 93,441 tons behind that of the previous year, but the Runcorn exports were 11,822 in excess. In exports the United States shows the greatest falling off, they having taken 119,096 tons only, as against 157,037. This is a reduction of 37,941, which is closely followed by a decrease of 34,929 to Asia.

BEHIND THE COUNTER.

The whole world seems against you?
Brace up, man, and hustle!
Joys come but to the few?
Thev're for all who'll work!
But they won't come if you mope,
And fritter away your chances;
While life you've got to cope,
And seize all it advances.
They only lose who shirk!
So jump into the tussle.
Brace up, man, and hustle!

GROCERS' SHOW WINDOWS.

IT is seldom that the department stores exhibit groceries in their show windows, but when they do they certainly produce effects worth seeing. The only time the writer has ever seen a crowd of ordinary shoppers of the fair sex staring into a grocery window has been when some professional window-dresser has exhibited his skill at trimming a department store window with groceries and the results are free to public inspection.

A characteristic grocery window display at this season is to be seen in a certain city store. A paper covered board has been placed within an inch or less of the glass pane, for about two feet up from the bottom of the window, and between the board and the glass enough loose muscatel raisins have been dropped to give the appearance of a solid mass of fruit. From the upper edge of the board, a piece of planking also covered with paper extends back about a foot, and the raisins are strewed upon it to complete the illusion began by the arrangement below. About 10 pounds of fruit are used in all. Above and behind the raisin display are a number of boxes of dried fruit, piled up with the open tops facing the spectator, the whole forming a solid pyramidal mass running nearly to the top of the window and shutting out a good deal of light from the store. The boxes contain magnificent cluster raisins, fancy prunes and evaporated apricots and peaches. A very fine sample of citron is laid on the loose raisins, exactly in the centre of the window.

Almost opposite to the store just mentioned is a tea store where gift schemes are used. The window here makes a brave display with tea and coffee in shallow pans, but the specimens of chromos exhibited outnumber all other articles in the window. These chromos are oblong, panel-shaped pictures in white frames, and really have some pretensions to beauty. The place of honor in the window is occupied by a large leather case containing a gold-plated set of spoons, forks and knives, which, with the chromos, are used, of course, as premiums to draw trade.

Totally different from either of these displays is that which a certain department store in Greater New York made for a few days around Thanksgiving. Here no attempt was made to crowd the window, which was spacious enough. Only seasonable goods were used—raisins, prunes and nuts, and preserved fruits in glass, also oranges. But only a few of each, and those were scattered about so that there looked to be less than there really was.

Near the centre of the window a couple of light stands, with two shelves, one at the top and the other midway to the floor, were fastened, about three feet separating them. The shelves on each side of these stands, circular in shape, were edged with oranges —about half a dozen of the fruit being used on each shelf, each specimen being three or four inches apart. A few prunes and dates were scattered in the circles formed by the oranges.

At each end of the window hung a set of glass oval shelves, tapering upwards from large to small, on which were placed magnificent specimens of raisins, etc., also bottles of brandy, fruits, etc. On the floor of the window several small drums of figs and boxes of dates, citron, orange peel and raisins were laid, with the tops off, and here and there a basket of nuts attracted the eye, lying on its side with the nuts partly spilled from it. It is difficult to give every detail of this window, but it produced an effect that was surprising, in view of the few things made use of for the purpose. — Merchants' Review.

TWO WAYS OF GETTING CUSTOMERS.

There are two ways for a grocer to get customers to his store. One way is right, honest and businesslike; the other is wrong, dishonest, unbusinesslike and contemptible. The first way is to please the customer, keep good reliable goods, make a fair profit, treat children as nicely as grown people, and be clean, orderly, quick, attentive and courteous. The second way, which ought to be detested by all grocers is, in luring customers to the store by fake advertising, selling below cost, giving away presents, damaging the name and honor of a competitor and tipping the cooks and servants. I hear that so-called good grocers are doing the latter to a large extent, giving the servants regular monthly allowances or sending them bottled wine or liquors. Members of the Grocers' Union should not do it. Any one who is practising this method should not be a member. It is entirely wrong. If this is kept on in such a way that all business men have to do it in order to save themselves and their business from going under, where would it lead to in the end? It would be a large extra addition to the expense account. Servants, who leave one place, would go to another, and the first thing they would do, ask the unsuspecting grocer for the allowance which they were accustomed to receive in the former place. One servant would tell the other, by and by the same demand will be made by all servants upon all grocers. This evil is just commencing to grow; it should be stopped at once by all right-minded grocers.—"H. G.," in Retail Grocers' Advocate.

GROCERS STILL GETTING RICH.

TIME has brought wonderful changes in every line of business and there is no end to the changes constantly going on. As a rule the changes, however, are no financial improvement. The prevailing tendency is continual depression. Competition seems to have the same influence upon the retail business as it does upon wages, and that tendency is a continual reduction of the annual earnings, in most cases, except with a certain class of concerns, that continue to grow larger with the population. The average retail grocer of to-day, at least in the large cities, cannot make as much money as he could twenty years ago, although there may be many who make more. The reason for this is not difficult to find. Almost every article sold in a store has become cheaper. There was a time when starch was sold at 10c., sugar at 15c. or more, soda at 4 or 5c., etc., and when the price of groceries was almost twice as high as it is to-day. The percentage of profit at that time was about as high as it is to-day, but the expenses were much less in proportion to receipts. If the goods are twice as high a clerk naturally takes in twice as much money as he would when they are twice as cheap. The higher price paid for the goods naturally increases the amount of money taken in the same proportion. There are less clerks needed to take in $100 per day when prices are high than when they are low. Rents are just as high now as 20 years ago. The expenses are higher than formerly, consequently the annual profits are usually lower. There are a number of other causes that have reduced profits, such as the growth of department stores, the cheap stores of people who buy directly, and the tendency is to continue in the same direction. There are some redeeming features, however, such as shorter hours, etc., and after all there is still a number of grocers who manage to get rich.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

GAS FROM MOLASSES.

Owing to the low price of molasses it is proposed in Germany to use it for the manufacture of gas. It has long since been demonstrated that 100 pounds of calcined molasses are equivalent to 30 pounds of oil, and it is possible from 220 pounds of the residuum to obtain nearly 2,000 cubic feet of gas which may be used for heating purposes. If we admit that 35.3 cubic feet is equivalent to 6,000 calories (or one-half the number in the same volume of gas from coal), it would be possible to calculate exactly at what price the gas could be made from the residuum. There would remain potassa, etc.. which have also a commercial value.—Picayune.

PEEP INTO A SPICE MILL.

I HAD a brief run through a coffee and spice mill a few days ago. The mill was that of the Toronto Coffee and Spice Co., Ltd., Bay and Esplanade streets.

H. H. Suydam, Pres. and Treas.

Tongue and pen would fail me to tell all I saw. The building on the one side faces the east, and, on the other, the south. It was in the middle of the afternoon when I strolled into the place, and the sun was streaming in through the windows of the private office, which faces both the east and the south. First impressions are often lasting. And the first good impression which the bright and cheery private office gave me did not depart, even when I was groping my way in the darker parts of the mill.

Mr. J. A. Watson and Mr. J. D. Roberts kindly undertook to guide me through the mill and explain to me the mysteries appertaining to an industry of that kind.

On the ground floor, in the rear of the private and business offices, is the laboratory, where the firm's chemist, among his gigantic bottles of varied colors, was busy producing the flavoring extracts, such as lemon, vanilla, etc., which are now so necessary to every grocer's stock and every housewife's kitchen.

Just outside the chemist's laboratory was a machine which looked like a gigantic funnel, and seated at it was a young woman (and not a bad-looking one, by the way) dexterously filling paper tubes of about eight inches long, with a coffee-like looking substance. This, it was explained, was coffee extract, while the machine was the only one of the kind in Canada. On the same floor, further on, were a number of girls putting up and labelling cans and glass jars of baking powder.

In the rear of the ground floor is located the shipping room, where a number of boxes were standing ready to be lowered through the door into the wagons standing below in the lane outside, the floor being about eight or ten feet above the ground.

On the second floor are situated the pepper, cinnamon, coffee and other mills; also the coffee and chicory roasters. Most of the machinery on this flat is of the latest and most improved design.

What interested me a great deal was the roasters. They stood side by side in the middle of the floor, encased in walls of brick strengthened by bands of iron. The roasters were long boiler-shaped machines which revolved rapidly, while a brisk coke fire burned beneath.

"We use coke," explained Mr. Watson, "because it gives a steadier heat and emits no gas."

The capacity of the coffee roaster is 4,000 pounds per day, and a new batch of coffee is run into it every 30 or 35 minutes. The capacity of the chicory roaster is 1,200 pounds per day, and it takes an hour for this machine to put a batch into condition for grinding. In front of each roaster is a large tray about six feet by four, with a woven wire bottom. When the coffee or chicory is roasted sufficiently it is run into its respective tray, while a huge power fan is set simultaneously revolving to draw the smoke through the bottom of the trays and drive it through a flue into the chimney. Besides drawing off the smoke, this fan also, in a few minutes, cools the contents of the trays.

"In the old days, before this fan was brought into requisition," said Mr. Watson, "this room would become so dense with smoke when the coffee or chicory was emptied into the trays, that you could not see your hand before your face."

J. D. Roberts, Vice-President.

Alongside the roasters is the chicory grinding machine, with its long trough-like sieve of five different meshes for producing as many different merchantable grades of chicory.

In another part of the same floor was an intricate and most interesting coffee mill. It is known as Burns' granulator, and is for grinding fine grades of coffee only. As the coffee comes through the rollers it is carried along a narrow sieve of about three feet in length. All that reaches the end of the sieve without falling through is conveyed into a pocket and then back through a worm into the mill again. And so the operation goes on until all becomes fine enough to pass through the vibrating sieve. A feature of this machine is a little rotatory fan, which blows out from the coffee that white fluffy substance which is found in the heart of every bean.

"You may as well drink tobacco water as that fluffy stuff," explained Mr. Watson, as he gathered up a handful of it from the receiver. "It is as bitter as gall. There is about a pound and a half of this fluffy stuff to a hundred pounds of beans."

The capacity of this mill at moderate running rate is 1,500 pounds per day, and the coffee which comes from it is supplied to the leading hotels in Toronto, and also in the east as far as Halifax.

"Is this sand or pepper?" I jocularly remarked, as I pointed to a barrel of white pepper standing in the pepper mill room.

"It is pepper, pure and unadulterated," rejoined Mr. Watson. "And, what is more, I'll give you a dollar for every pound of compound you can find in this factory. We make no compound goods unless especially ordered."

The third floor is used as a storage department for the firm's raw material, while in the basement is stored most of the stock which the firm carries, and there is also stationed there the 30 horse-power engine, which drives the various machines in the mill.

The Toronto Coffee and Spice Co. turns out large quantities of flavoring extracts, but its specialty is coffee, pure spices and baking powder. Its business extends from Halifax to Victoria, and five travelers are employed covering the ground in addition to the traveler who looks after the firm's interests in the city.

The company's trade mark is the word "Orient."

There was Orient here and Orient there,
And Orient did meet my gaze everywhere

as I looked upon coffee tins, baking powder packages, bottles of flavoring extracts, etc.

The Toronto Coffee and Spice Co., Ltd., was organized three years ago, and is now further strengthened by Mr. J. D. Roberts, formerly of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., becoming a member of the company, taking the office of vice-president.

Since its inception in 1893 the firm's business has grown rapidly, the output, reckoned in dollars, being over 300 per cent. larger in 1896 than in 1893.

The president of the company is Mr. H. H. Suydam. He is a sharp, shrewd, affable business man, with an eye which gallops up and down a man and looks through him in a moment. He is a native of the United States, and came to Toronto about two years ago from Toledo to accept his present position of president and business manager. Since he entered the company, its output has more than doubled.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, the vice-president, has been actively engaged in the spice business for over ten years. His experience in mercantile life began 22 years ago, when he became a grocer's clerk in St. Thomas. In 1880 he went to the Sandwich Islands, where he was engaged in the coffee business. Ten years ago he returned to Canada and entered the employ of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., of Toronto, accepting the position of representative in Manitoba and British Columbia. Three years ago he became manager and junior partner of the company. As stated last week, he retired from the firm on the 1st inst. and connected himself with the Toronto Coffee and Spice Co. Mr. Roberts is one of the best salesmen in the country, and in his new position will superintend the selling of the company's goods and also have charge of the traveling staff.

Mr. James A. Watson, the secretary of the company, may be said to have been to the coffee and spice business born, his father being the late Mr. James Watson. Indeed, his father was once heard to declare that he found him in a coffee sack. He joined his father in the coffee and spice business eleven years ago, going right into the mill, and there beginning with the mechanical part of its mysteries. Four years later found him upon the road as traveler, and in that capacity he spent five years. He is known in the trade as an expert coffee man, and his peculiar duties in the firm are the buying of goods and the management of the mill, while in addition to these he keeps an eye on the wholesale trade.

This ought to be a business-winning triumvirate.

PRACTICAL POINTERS FOR THOSE WHO SHOOT.

A pocket edition of "Practical Pointers for Those Who Shoot" has just been issued.

It is a book for those wishing to know what rifles, pistols or pocket rifles to choose for various purposes. Positions adopted by experts in rifle and pistol shooting are shown by handsome engravings. Directions for building a rifle range. All the recognized targets used in rifle or pistol shooting are described, and shooting rules governing competitions are given in full.

Any readers who wish one can have a copy sent by sending a postal card requesting it to The J. Stevens Arms Co., Chicopee Falls, Mass. It is a useful little book for shooting men to have by them.

BOARDS OF TRADE.

TORONTO BOARD.

THE annual election of the Toronto Board of Trade was held on Tuesday, but the interest was not as great as usual, which is accounted for by the fact that the four leading officers president, first and second vice-presidents and treasurer—had been elected by acclamation a week ago. The officers for 1897 are as follows:

President, Edward Gurney; first vice-president, Elias Rogers; second vice president, A. E. Kemp; treasurer, W. D. Alexander.

Council—E. B. Osler, D. R. Wilkie, William Christie, W. D. Matthews, H. N. Baird, W. G. Gooderham, J. G. Spink, S. Caldecott, M. C. Ellis, J. Herbert Mason. J. H. G. Hagarty, John Carrick, Ed. W. Cox, George Keith, John Flett.

Industrial Exhibition—John L. Coffee, W. B. Hamilton, Geo. A. Chapman.

Harbor Commission—W. A. Geddes and Wm. Galbraith.

Board of Arbitration—Thos. Flynn, J. D. Laidlaw, J. H. Sproule, C. W. Band, R. S. Baird, Noel Marshall, W. Ross (Port Perry), W. Cooke, D. O. Ellis, J. E. Pearen (Brampton), C. Goode, J. J. Higman.

Mr. Osler, the retiring president, spoke in part as follows:

The year 1896 will be memorable in Canada through the advent to powor of the Reform party after more than 18 years in opposition. The dread of serious change in the fiscal policy of the country by the new Government has to some extent checked enterprise, but I am sure that the general belief is that there will be no damage done to our industries, and that changes in the tariff will be made only after most careful consideration, and with due regard for established industries. I believe that all parties recognize fully the great importance to this country of having a large and prosperous manufacturing community within itself.

Much is expected of the present Government. If they can advance the prosperity of the country, increase immigration, help to develop our industries and our national wealth, they will receive full credit and support from all true Canadians.

I believe that, first and above all other immediate necessities for our development, is the building of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway to let our merchants and manufacturers into our own mining district, East and West Kootenay, etc. British Columbia is to be in the immediate future one of the great mining regions of the world, and the Rainy River District in Ontario bids fair to even rival British Columbia. Miners are always good customers to merchants and manufacturers. As a rule they buy high-class goods at full prices and pay cash. At present the bulk of the miners' trade in British Columbia is with Americans. It belongs to Canada, and we must have it.

James K. Cranston, - Galt, Ont.

The opening up of the mines in British Columbia and the Rainy River District will give Manitoba and Ontario farmers a market, give our merchants and manufacturers a market, and generally do much to promote the interests of Canada. I believe that the trade with the mines is going to develop to an enormous extent, and to our merchants and manufacturers, if they are enterprising and energetic, a splendid field is opening up, and a period of expansion and success is before them.

I wish I could speak with more certainty of Toronto's future. We have here everything that is necessary to make a prosperous city; but, for some reason or other, we have stood still for many years past. No real enterprise has been taken up by our citizens since the days of the late George Laidlaw, when our merchants and citizens banded together and built railroads reaching out in all directions, rapidly adding to our wealth and population.

Since then we have been ready to go into all sorts of schemes, voting large sums of money to carry out "fads"—among them the Don improvement, the Court House, enormous local improvement expansion, and anything that would cause money to be spent, if it could be borrowed on the credit of the city, without giving one thought as to what would be the result. The result has been to add enormously to our debt and taxation, without adding in the slightest degree to our prosperity.

Mr. Edward Gurney, the new president, spoke in part as follows:

I have nothing but words of commendation to utter regarding the relations that have existed between the board and the authorities of the city. We have always been met in the kindest way, and have had afforded to us every facility required to secure a knowledge of questions affecting the interests of the business community. I shall ask your co-operation in endeavoring to exert an influence in the direction of conserving the interests of the business community against the too manifest purpose of increasing the obligations of the city, and thereby increasing the annual tax on business, whereby this best of all Canadian trade centres is being gradually emasculated.

The board should be keenly alive to everything that concerns the business public in the mining territory, so rapidly filling up with people, in this province and in British Columbia. Subsidies are being freely suggested, and the issue will soon be clearly declared as between the bonusing of a company to build certain roads, or the building and control of the roads by the Government. Our past history warrants the greatest solicitude as to the decision to be reached. You may exercise a potent influence if you will. I shall endeavor to secure all facts that are attainable, and shall do what I may to influence the Council to send all these facts with their conclusions on to you. The Crow's Nest Pass is said to be valuable to Canada in a degree hard to exaggerate, and we are enjoined by our British Columbia friends to hold that pass against all comers, as the condition precedent of all others to the future success of that country. These representations have been made recently to the Government by a deputation sent here for the purpose. We should be seized of the facts at as early a date as possible, and should exert an influence to conserve whatever interests this country may have in that district, which might otherwise be endangered.

Perhaps no city in the world has been as frank as Toronto in an exposition to the world of what are sometimes called its "outs." We have overbuilt. We have too many houses, too many stores, but the excess of dwellings is not much above the normal; while as regards store property, the excess of vacancies is so thoroughly understood to be attributable to the changes of trade growing out of the establishment of great departmental stores, that it should not be accepted as an indication of a lessened business. This cause has also had its part in affecting the jobbing in certain lines of trade; this has affected individuals sadly, but the change shall come. Manufacturers' agents from Europe and the United States have come amongst us, and Toronto, like other western cities of America, must adjust itself to the changed conditions. The business may be done by different men and in a different way, but the business will be done. The houses may belong to different owners, but we have the houses and they will be occupied. Toronto is not a finished city; it has a great future, and upon us rests the responsibility of a rapid or deferred recovery.

While I do not approve of a permanent bankrupt law, thereby justifying in the minds of traders of the baser sort the idea that somehow some unknown sum less than 100 cents is right, and that such a law is an indication of the expected in commercial affairs, I know that I stand pretty nearly alone in this view, the general feeling being that the equitable distribution of the proceeds of an estate is the main thing to be attained. I do, however, so far agree in the immediate necessity of such an enactment as to advocate it, and shall urge the Council to take the matter up with the Government at as early a day as possible, for the relief of many worthy debtors who have been, or may be, driven from the country by the renewal of judgments against them year after year, even when it is conceded that they have been just in their treatment of their creditors.

BURMAH RICE CROP.

The official summary of the reports on the rice crop of Lower Burmah says: "The total area of rice under cultivation in the fourteen chief rice-producing districts in Lower Burmah is now estimated at 5,240,416 acres, or 172,269 acres more than the area actually under cultivation last year. Crop prospects are on the whole excellent. It is estimated that there will be available for export 1,800,000 tons of cargo rice, equivalent to 3,058,000 cwt. of cleaned rice."

NUT MEATS.

NUT meats are used mostly for confectioners' purposes, but they are sold also for domestic use, for home cake and candy making, and for table use as dessert. The meats chiefly sold are those of the English walnuts, pecans, hickory nuts, black walnuts, Brazil nuts and almonds.

Years ago, when the consumption of nut meats was comparatively small, the nuts were cracked by hand, now they are shelled by patented machines of ingenious construction, varying in their method of operation according to the kinds of nuts for which they are designed. Such nuts, for example, as pecans and English walnuts, the meats of which are formed in substantially uniform halves, are fed into hoppers from which they fall singly between knives so arranged that they cut only the shell, without cutting or marring the meat. From the cutters the nut drops upon a sifter, constantly shaken, where the shells are shaken clear of the meats and thrown off. The nut meats are left entire, and they are seldom broken. The meats are then separated into halves to remove the fine partition that divides the nut.

Brazil nuts are put into machines that cut the ends from the nut; the structure of the Brazil nutshell is such that all or the greater part of the shell is usually detached by the operation of cutting the ends. Whatever may remain is cut off with knives by hand. Hickory nuts are cracked in machines. It is impossible to get whole meats; there are likely to be some halves, but hickory meats are usually in fragments.

The various nut meats, when they have been taken from the shells, are put through a drying process in blowers to remove superfluous moisture; the meats keep better when properly dried. Nut meats packed for domestic use are put up in half-pound and pound paper boxes. The usual commercial packages of nut meats are twenty-five and fifty pound boxes and barrels containing about 150 pounds.

Nut meats are also imported. Of the imported English walnuts, about 60 per cent. come in the form of meats; the filberts imported are shelled almost altogether. From this country pecan nut meats are exported. —N.Y. Sun.

BACK FROM ENGLAND.

Mr. C. E. Colson, Montreal, the Canadian representative of Crosse & Blackwell, has just returned from a two months' trip to England. He reports the past year as having been a prosperous one with the trade over there, one of the best they have had for some time.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale trade during the past week has not exhibited much life. As far as the influence of the proposed tariff revision is concerned, it has a double effect. For instance, while it tends to induce to buy sugar sparingly the suggestion that a duty may be put upon tea is causing a stimulus to the demand for that commodity. Canned goods are still in light demand, although firmness is still the feature of tomatoes and peas. While the demand for teas is perhaps not as brisk as it was, still a larger trade is being done than is usual at this time of the year. Coffees are meeting with a fair enquiry. Sugar is decidedly dull, with prices locally as before. There is very little doing in either syrups or molasses. Currants continue strong, but as far as business is concerned there is scarcely anything doing in any kind of foreign dried fruit. The foreign green fruit trade is also quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

The firmness of tomatoes and peas is still the feature of the canned goods market. The poor quality of corn on the market is the cause of some lack of confidence in the market for this commodity. The position of salmon is unchanged. It is the opinion that the low-priced salmon, at least some of which is showing excellent value, will injuriously affect the sale of the better grades. The demand for all kinds of canned goods is light. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Wholesalers are experiencing a fairly brisk demand for Brazilian coffees, which are, according to latest advices, rather easier in the primary market. The finer grades of Rio coffee are still scarce. Maracaibo coffees are a little firmer. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

The refineries are selling a few syrups, but business in this line is, on the whole, dull. Offerings are fairly liberal. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There have been some transactions during the last few days in New Orleans molasses, but at prices said to be about 2c. per gallon more than those at which a similar grade was quoted six weeks ago. Latest advices to hand state that the market in New Orleans exhibits an improvement. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market, either at home or abroad, fails to attract any attention. Locally the demand is merely of a hand-to-mouth character. According to advices from the primary markets there is little prospect of any change in the situation until the sawing of the next beet crop becomes a factor in the market. Cane is a little lower in London, but prices in Canada are much as before. Stocks in New York at the close of last week were 126,507 tons, compared with 54,748 tons a year ago. Wholesalers' quotations for granulated are unchanged at 4 to 4.10c., and yellows range from 3.30 to 3.75c. per lb.

SPICES.

There is a firmer feeling in pepper, and the Old Country houses advise that prices are likely to go higher, Business is quiet on the local market. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

The market is quiet and featureless. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business is quiet in these lines. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

There are still a good many teas selling, although the demand is scarcely as brisk as it was a week or two ago. The buying of Indian and Ceylon teas from the London market has fallen off a little, owing to merchants being somewhat in doubt as to whether the teas would arrive before the new tariff is brought down, when it is thought a duty might be placed upon this article. In some cases buyers are asking that the seller guarantee the arrival of the tea before that event takes place. A little more interest has been shown in Japan teas, owing to the fact that two or three shippers from Japan have been on the spot looking up business for the coming season. They have not, however, been able to take many opening orders, owing to the uncertainty in regard to the tariff. There has been a little doing in China teas, both blacks and greens. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 21 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The currant market continues firm. Locally business is light. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins, quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

Malaga raisins are without change. We quote as follows: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Shipments continue to arrive, but the demand is limited. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee, net figures.

The demand for California evaporated fruits is beginning to improve. Very little of this fruit, however, is coming forward from the primary market, and not much is expected this season on account of the quantity and cheapness of domestic dried apples. We quote: Peaches, 6 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 8½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 5½ to 13½c. There is some of last season's fruit on the market.

There has been some enquiry for Bosnia prunes during the week and a few orders have been placed, but at prices below the figures obtaining in Europe. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb. ; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

A rather good business has been done in California oranges, some very low offers by houses who have not hitherto catered to the Canadian trade having been made. The shipping of California oranges to this market has heretofore been confined to a few firms on the Coast. Valencia oranges are quoted 1s. lower from Liverpool. The demand from retailers during the past week has been principally for California navel oranges. The demand for lemons is fairly good. Bananas are in fairly good demand, and Toronto is now taking about two carloads per day. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.50 to $3.75 per case; large, 420's, $5; 714's, $4.25 to $4.50 per case; Mexicans, $3.25 to $3.50 per box; California navels, $3.50 to $4. Lemons—Messinas, $2 to $2.75 per box for choice to fancy; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. for red fruit or greenings, and 75c. for ordinary; onions, $1 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; cranberries, $6.50 to $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $3.50 to $4 for soft berries, cases, $2.25 to $2.50; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75; grape fruit, $5.50 to $6 per box.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter—The butter market is dull and prices weak. Receipts, while not perhaps as large, are still liberal, and poor quality butter still predominates. A nice lot of medium roll butter changed hands at 9c. this week. There is only a limited quantity of creamery butter wanted. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 10 to 11c. for choice, and 8 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 11 to 12c. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

Cheese—The market is firm with the demand good. We quote early makes at 11 to 11½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Are much as before. We quote: 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES — Offerings are more liberal and receipts heavier. For the best stock there is a fair export demand, but otherwise business is dull. We hear of the sale of a round lot held by a Toronto jobber at 2½c. Jobbers still quote 2 to 2½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Advices from London, Eng., state that the market there is over supplied on account of the liberal shipments from the United States. We hear of 100 cases on spot changing hands at 3¾c. Exporters are paying 3½c. f.o.b. for choice fruit. Jobbers quote 3½ to 4c. in an ordinary way.

EGGS—The market is a little easier on account of freer receipts. The demand is fair. We quote: Limed, 12 to 13c.; fresh gathered, 15 to 16c.; new-laid, 17 to 18c.

POULTRY—Receipts are light, and there is a good demand for all offered. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 60c. per pair; turkeys, 8 to 9c.; geese, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.

POTATOES—There is no change. For carloads on track 25c. per bag is the idea, and out of store 35c.

HONEY — Quiet and unchanged. We quote: Comb, 7 to 8c. for dark and 9 to 10c. for light; strained, 7 to 8c. per lb. for amber and 9c. for clover.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts are fair. We quote: Wheat, 86c. for white and 83c. for red, and 65½c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 43 to 44c.

FLOUR—There is no change. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.15; straight roller, $4.15, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quieter than usual this week, but prices are unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.15 in bags and $3.25 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Business in fish is better than it has been since Christmas. In oysters there is not much doing. We quote: White fish 6½ to 7c.; trout, 6½ to 7c.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 3½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 6½ to 7c.; sea herring, $1 to $1.25 per 100; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

A fair trade in provisions is been done locally, but business generally is quiet. Dressed hogs are weak. Carload lots have changed hands at $4.25 to $4.50 for heavy weights and $5 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼c.; tubs, 6½c.; pails, 6¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

SALT.

Business is still fair. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

As far as trade in alsike is concerned there is practically nothing doing, dealers refusing to purchase except at a reduction. In view of this condition of affairs we cannot safely give figures. Red clover is dull, and 10 to 15c. per bush. lower. Timothy is only offering in small quantities. We quote: Timothy, $1.10 to $1.40 per bushel; red clover, $2.90 to $4.10 for strictly prime to choice, and $4.40 to $4.60 for seed free from mixtures.

PETROLEUM.

Business continues fair. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Red clover is 10 to 15c. per bushel lower.

Valencia oranges are 1s. lower in Liverpool.

The Salada Tea Co. state that they have met with more success in Pittsburg than in any other city in which they have yet introduced their package tea.

OUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, JAN. 28, 1897.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS in groceries is by no means active, and though some increase in volume of orders is noted, the change is hardly appreciable, while all of the orders coming in are confined to small lots for actual wants except in the case of tea. In this branch the jobbers have been operating rather extensively in all kinds—Japans, Ceylons, Packlings, Young Hysons and Gunpowders — and the feeling is firm. Sugar, on the other hand, is quiet, and the same can be said of syrups and molasses. Spices maintain their steady tone, but do not exhibit much activity. Coffees are dull but very steady in their tendency. Canned goods are quiet, with the scarcity of tomatoes and peaches still a feature of the local situation. Dried fruit are quiet but generally steady as regards values. This applies with equal force to Valencia and California raisins and currants, all of which are held firm.

SUGAR.

There has been no decided change in the sugar market since last report. Demand continues of a limited character, and the volume of business doing is very small, buyers having enough on hand to supply current wants. Prices exhibit no change, at the refineries or in a jobbing way. Outside markets exhibit little change. In a jobbing way we quote granulated 4 to 4⅛c. and yellows 3¼ to 3¾c. as to grade.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market rules very quiet and the market is without change, prices ruling steady at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound, and in a jobbing way 22 to 35c. as to grade.

MOLASSES.

There was a slow demand for molasses during the past week and little change is expected during the current month. Values continue firm as last quoted at 30 to 31c., as to quantity. In round lots sales of Barbadoes have been made at 28½ to 29c. and mixed at 26½ to 27c.

RICE.

Business in rice was rather slow, as buyers appear to have ample supplies to get along with for the present. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The firm feeling in spices is fully maintained, especially on pepper. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market continues dull and prices are not quotably changed. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

There has been a better demand for tea during the week with quite an enquiry from jobbers for supplies of Japans, Chinas and Ceylons. Japans have moved quite freely in lots of 150 packages at prices ranging from 15 to 25c., as to quality, and sales of Packlings were made at 10½c, Young Hysons at 10c., and Gunpowders at 10c. in straight invoice lots. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been a fair demand between jobbers for Valencia raisins, stocks of which continue light. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are scarce and firmly held, aarivals being very light. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Loose Malaga raisins are dull and steady at 7 to 7½c. for medium to 8 to 8½c. for high grades.

Sultanas are unchanged at 7 to 12c. as to quality.

Currants continue firm abroad, but demand is light here and prices are unchanged. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes have met a quiet, steady enquiry this week. We quote as follows: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c.

Figs rule dull at 9½ to 11c.

There is a rather better feeling in dates, under a fair enquiry. Jobbing lots sold this week at 5½c., and smaller quantities, 6c., and we now quote 5½ to 6c.

Evaporated California fruits are as before. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c. as to brand.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts, trade ruling quiet. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods is quiet, as it is in all other lines. Values generally are steady, especially on tomatoes and peaches. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

There is no change in the fish market, business continuing quiet. We quote as follows: Labrador herrings, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S., $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive ; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl. ; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. Fresh tommycod, $1.25 to $1.40 per bbl,; haddock, 3¼ to 3½c.; frozen salmon, 11 to 12c.; halibut, 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout, 6½c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6 to 7c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.30 to $1.50; ciscoes, 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring, 10 to 11c. per lb. Dried cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs. ; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl. ; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5 ; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

No special change is to report in the green fruit market. The scarcity of Jamaica oranges continues; in fact, they are practically off the market. We quote : California oranges, $4 to $4.50 per box ; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box ; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $3.75 per box ; lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest ; cranberries, $2.50 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate ; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8.

APPLES.

Apples are a drug on the market, and demand is extremely slow, former prices, viz., 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2, ruling.

DRIED APPLES.

There is no change in dried apples, which we quote 3 to 3½c. in small lots, while jobbers are paying 2½ to 3c. for them laid down in Montreal. Evaporated apples range from 3¼ to 4¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Eggs—The demand for eggs was slow, and the market was quiet, with no change in prices to note. Montreal limed and choice candled stock are selling at 14 to 14½c., Western limed at 13 to 13½c., and held fresh at 12 to 12½c. per dozen.

Beans—Business in beans was of a jobbing character and prices were steady at 80 to 85c., in car lots, and at 90 to 95c. in a small way.

Potatoes—The tone of the market for potatoes rules steady, but the volume of business doing at present is small. Car lots are offering at 35 to 40c. per bag, and in a jobbing way sales were made at 45 to 50c. per bag.

Poultry—The demand for poultry was limited, and the market rules quiet, with no change to note. Turkeys, 8½ to 9c.; spring chickens, 6½ to 7c.; frozen stock, 3 to 5½c.; geese, choice, 6 to 7c.; frozen, old, 5 to 5½c., and ducks, 7½ to 8c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

Trade in this line shows no improvement, the demand being chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants. New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12 ; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6½ to 7c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

There continues to be a good demand for light weight dressed hogs, and prices for such rule firm at $5.25 per 100 lbs. in car lots, and at $5.50 to $5.75 in a jobbing way. Heavy hogs are moving slow at $4.60 to $4.75 in car lots, and at $4.90 to $5 in a small way.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There is no material change in the situation of the flour market, values ruling steady all round. A fair demand is reported by millers, but Ontario dealers state that sales are slow. We quote : Winter wheat patents at $4.65 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.40; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.15. Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5.10 to $5.30 ; and strong bakers', $4.50 to $5.

The demand for oatmeal continues slow and the market is dull and easy. We quote: Rolled oats at $3.25 to $3.35 per barrel and at $1.62½ to $1.67½ per bag.

There was no change in feed, and business continues quiet. Manitoba bran, $9.50 to $10 per ton, including bags, and Ontario $9 to $9.25 per ton in bulk.

HAY

The hay market is quiet, the demand being only for small lots at $10.25 to $10.50 for No. 1, and at $9 to $9.25 for No. 2 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese has continued to stiffen since last week, and the remaining supply available here has been reduced to a couple of thousand boxes. This is held firm to-day at 12c., an advance of ½ to ¾c. on a week ago.

Butter is firm also owing to the great difficulty experienced in obtaining any really finest creamery. Any that is carried here is held firm at 20c. The supply of under grades is more plentiful, and they have a slow sale all the way from 18 to 19c. for creamery. Roll butter is offering in a small way at 15 to 17c., as to quality.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Jamaica oranges are practically off the market, there being none offering this week.

There were considerable sales of Japan, Young Hyson, Packlings and Gunpowder teas between traders on this market recently.

There is little demand for molasses in a jobbing way, but prices are firmly held, and Barbadoes in round lots has sold up to 29c., and none is obtainable here under 28½c.

Though reports of cutting on refined sugars are again to hand this week, representatives of both the Montreal refineries state that their factory prices are held steady.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of The Canadian Grocer.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 28, 1897.

THERE is little change yet in business, nor is any expected till after February. The little snow we have had has been particularly useful to the lumbermen, who were beginning, in some cases, to leave the woods. Money keeps scarce. Several merchants say it is very hard to get their customers to meet their notes, and that they have had to allow more renewals than at any time for a long while. The country market has been but poorly supplied. The West India steamer leaving this week had a very large cargo. As the last three steamers have returned good profits on the potatoes shipped, there was an extra quantity shipped by this last one. In hops, the advance of some time ago, which amounted to about 75 per cent., is firmly held, and all prospects point to much higher prices. The stocks here are fair. There is not a large demand, but it shows an improvement, though still light, to that of some years ago. Brokers are beginning to book spring orders for their different lines.

Oil—There is still an active movement in burning oil ; chiefly city demand, as country buyers are well supplied. The situation as regards price is peculiar, as the city price continues to be below the regular price to outside points. In lubricating, active efforts are being made to secure contracts for future business. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19¾ to 21c.; Canadian, 18½ to 19½c. ; prime, 16¼ to 17c.

Salt—The continued arrival of English salt by steamer, and the desire on the part of the importers not to store, has led to very low prices. In fact, the fishermen, it is said have been able to buy at about what the importers usually charge the wholesale men. The market is well supplied and prices will rule low. There is a fairly steady demand for Canadian salt. We quote : Coarse, 45 to 50c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25 ; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

Canned Goods.—Trade is dull, and while there is talk of higher prices, there is no change. Stocks are quite large and in a good many hands. Goods are sold below the market. Fruits show better demand, and peaches are held firm. The sale of jams and jellies in wood pails is becoming quite large here, particularly the former. Quite low prices are quoted. In jelly, both sweet and unsweetened are sold ; the latter makes a very nice table jelly with meats. These goods are sold chiefly in 7 and 14 pound pails. We quote : Corn, 65 to 70c. ; peas, 70 to 80c. ; tomatoes, 70 to 80c. ; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2 ; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35 ; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.45 to $1.65 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3 ; 2's, $1.90 to $2 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65 ; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—The fact that Valencia oranges keep so sour this season has caused quite a demand for better grades, even where the price is very much higher. Californias are giving better satisfaction than last season. Valencia oranges are retailed as low as 11 to 12c. per doz. Apples show a little better demand, but the market is very dull, and prices correspondingly low. Retailers are well supplied with stock bought earlier in the season. Lemons are low and of good quality. Cranberries are very dull and in many cases dealers are selling at a loss. We quote : Messina lemons, $3 to $3.75 ; oranges, Valencia, $3 to $3.75 ; Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5 ; California oranges, $4.50 to $5 ; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 ; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25 ; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl. ; keg grapes, $7 to $8 ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $5.50 per bbl. ; bog cranberries, native, $4 to $5 ; pineapples, $1.50 to $2 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Some nice currants arrived this week. There is a good, steady demand, particularly for the cleaned, prices tending higher. In dates some are daily expected. At best, stocks are not large. Very good prices have been obtained here, and it is expected prices will go higher. California raisins are very firm at the higher prices and stocks are large. Evaporated apples, while yet showing no change, are in much better position, and it is fully expected prices will go no higher. Both here and in Nova Scotia there is quite a quantity of dried apples, but there is no sale. If these apples were rightly packed, as THE CANADIAN GROCER has often explained, they could be sold at a price, but even this is not possible as it is. There is a rather better demand for California prunes. Price is very firm. We quote : Valencias, 5 to 6c. ; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c. ; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c. ; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c. ; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7½c. ; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c. ; prunes, boxes, 5 to 6c. ; dates, 5½ to 6c. ; dried apples, 3 to 3½c. ; evaporated apples, 5 to 5¼c. ; Canadian onions, $2.20 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 10 to 12c. ; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c. ; citron peel, 17 to 17½c. ; orange and lemon, 12½ to 13c. ; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c. ; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 8½ to 9c.

SUGAR — This line, while having some attention, is not one of particular interest. Sugars are selling so near to lowest cost there is little advantage in pushing sales, and the outlook is upward. Montreal yellow are being quite freely sold here. We quote : Granulated, 4 to 4¼c. ; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c. ; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c. ; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—While there is a firm feeling the fact that new is getting so near will prevent higher prices, it being thought the next steamer, due within a month, may have a small quantity on board. The sale of New Orleans has affected the market, the quantity being good and the price low. About 400 bbls., of 40 gallons each, have been imported here in the past three months.

The principal West India molasses selling has been Porto Rico. It is doubtful if as much will be imported next season as profits have not been very satisfactory. The quality of Barbadoes leads people to seek other grades. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—Quite a quantity of dry fish has arrived here this week, chiefly from Yarmouth. These fish are not as well liked as the bay fish. There is but a fair trade doing in pickled fish, but better business is expected, although coming late, it will prevent fresh fish being used. The frozen fish trade so far has not been as large as usual. Prices are easy. Quite a large quantity of dry fish were shipped by the West India boat this trip, and large quantities of smoked haddies continue to go west. Lobsters are a small trade yet, and those arriving are small. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50 ; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50 ; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box ; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. ; frozen herring, 65 to 70 per 100; smelt, 4 to 5c.; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 4 to 6c. each ; smoked haddies, 5c. per lb.; frozen pollock, 1¼ to 1⅛c.

PROVISIONS—There seems to be an upward tendency to pork, which will be welcome. The movement in pork and beef is not large. In smoked meats P.E. Island are quoting quite low. There is, however, a limited sale. Lard shows no change. We quote as follows : Clear pork, $13.50 to $14.50; mess pork, $12.50 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $13 ; hams, 10 to 12c.; rolls, 7 to 7½c.; pure lard, 7¾ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—There is still a large stock of butter here, but sale is dull owing to quality. If good stock it moves freely, but the poor in the market keeps the price down. There is very little demand for cheese. Stocks held here are very light. There is no doubt price will be higher, but our dealers are not anxious enough to buy to pay high prices. In eggs there is slow sale for held stock. People now want fresh eggs. We quote : Dairy tubs, 16 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c. ; prints, 21 to 22c. ; eggs, 17 to 18c.; cheese, 10½ to 11.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The week has shown fair sales. The drop in the price of Manitoba has affected the demand, buyers hoping for lower prices. The market is, however, not weak. In oats the price does not show any further decline ; in fact, is held firm at the price. Dealers are sellers of oatmeal. Prices show no change from last week. Beans are still low. Over a car was shipped from here to the West Indies by last steamer. The local market is well supplied. Cornmeal continues at the low price quoted last week. Owing to the price there continues to be a large sale. Barley is higher and held firm. Split peas move in a small way at even prices. We quote as follows : Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.70 ; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.60 to $3.70 ; cornmeal, $1.85 to $1.95 ; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do , do., $12.50 to $13.50; hand-picked beans, 90c. to $1 ; prime, 80 to 90c.; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12 ; barley, $3 ; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50 ; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25 ; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

C. & E. Macmichael received this week a shipment of Beardsley's shredded codfish.

The St. John Iron and Hardware Association held their second annual dinner during the past week at the Dufferin Hotel. About fifty were present.

"Reindeer" condensed milk, coffee, cocoa, and evaporated cream need little advertisement here, the quality being so well known. The merchants accepted with pleasure the calendars presented them by F. H. Tippet & Co., the local agents.

Large quantities of apples are now being shipped to the English market, and freight rates are being much cut. The lowest yet heard is 38c. a barrel from Halifax to Liverpool, although it is reported a competing line has made a further cut.

The position of St. John as a successful shipping point becomes almost daily more apparent. Watson & Todd, the large Liverpool lumber house, it is said, will open an office here this spring. They have for some time shipped large quantities of lumber via this port, a large proportion of which comes from Upper Canada.

Mr. Bentham, of the well-known house of C. D. Proctor & Co., hop merchants, Montreal, visited St. John this week. He was introduced to the trade by their local representative, Mr. Hunter White. While their particular business is brewers' hops, their pressed hops, the "Beaver" brand, has a large demand here. Mr. Bentham was able to do business in both lines.

It must not be thought all the Canadian gold is in the west. Nova Scotia has a good share. A brick weighing 100 oz. was brought into Windsor during the week, the result of twenty days' crushing at the Withrow mine, South Uniacke. At Truro was seen this week specimens of quartz from the Cariboo mine, which were so rich as to be gold with quartz in it, not quartz with gold in it.

"DON'TS" FOR CHEESE MEN.

At last week's session of the Western Dairymen's Association, held at Brantford, Mr. Geo. H. Barr gave the following advice to factory men :

Don't cut your cheese-maker's wages any lower.

Don't buy a gang press with a tin trough under the hoops. Have it wooden.

Don't buy a cheese truck with four wheels ; get one with three, invented by R. M. Ballantyne, and not patented.

Don't expect a man to make a good fall cheese in a skating rink without a stove.

To cheese-makers :

Don't tender for a factory so low that you cannot live, just for the fun of making cheese.

Don't take in bad milk.

Don't over-ripen your milk to hasten the work ; you will retard it and make poor cheese.

Don't give your curd more than ¼ inch of acid.

Don't wash your curd sinks once a week ; wash them every day.

Don't wear the same pair of pants from April to November without washing them ; keep yourself and factory neat and clean.

SYSTEM FOR DOING BUSINESS.

A system for taking care of and giving a complete check on the transactions which occur between clerks and customers, is one of the greatest needs of a retail store. On account of the great number and varying amounts of the sales which are made each day, it is necessary, however, that such a system be simple and easy to understand and operate.

Within the last few years several systems which combine accuracy and simplicity have been introduced by the National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio. In addition to taking care of and giving an absolute check on all transactions, these systems tend directly to increase cash trade, and also serve as a first-class advertisement of the grocer who uses it.

To any grocer who will send his name, address, number of clerks employed, and percentage of business done on credit, together with a rough diagram of his store, showing location of counters, bins, cash drawers, show windows, etc., to Department "P," the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio, they will send a handsomely printed pamphlet, describing one of these systems, as used by many of the most successful grocers in the country.

ASSUMING TOO MUCH.

SOME business men are tempted to advertise by the glowing accounts they hear of others' successes, writes John C. Graham, in Printers' Ink. It is to be feared, however, that these are, too often, much exaggerated. The whole truth is not told about them—the amount of labor, time and money involved in securing success, the untiring energy required, the eternal vigilance necessary to win and hold popularity. Instantaneous, or even rapid, successes in advertising are extremely rare. For each one of them known to-day, we can count hundreds of instances where success has only been attained by the expenditure of much capital through years of hard work and unflagging attention.

This fact should not discourage sensible merchants. In advertising, as in all other things, the certainty of success lies rather in patient perseverance and persistent energy than in brilliant but brief effort—the spasmodic, "flash-in-the-pan" sort of methods that have marked the meteor-like existence of some concerns. Again, as a general rule, the longer it takes to build up a business by advertising, the more solid and permanent is the success, while, invariably, the quick triumph is soon changed to decline and failure. We can all remember a long list of "brief booms" that lacked stamina, and consequently died a natural death. Their fate should be a warning to others.

In commencing advertising it is not wise to assume too much in regard to results. It would be more judicious to prepare for small losses at first, to anticipate those little disappointments that are sure to come in the best managed concerns, and to set to work with the clear understanding that many difficulties have to be overcome and much annoyance endured before lasting success comes. But it will come if brains and industry are properly combined in the effort to produce it, if the advertising is well-worded and well-placed, and the statements and promises embodied in them are honestly adhered to by the advertiser.

Some men assume too much at the start by supposing that it is only necessary to advertise in order to draw a crowd and sell goods. There are others in business besides themselves—others who may be doing a good trade because of their previous persistent advertising. It is not likely that the single effort of a new advertiser is going to take business from those who have already built up a solid reputation by advertising, and thus popularized their goods with the public. It is more reasonable to suppose that the newcomer will have to do the same amount of advertising as they did before he can secure the same amount of business they enjoy. Neither is it sensible to assume that the public will, or should, believe the first announcements of a new advertiser. True, it may have no valid reason for doubt, but it is not in human nature nowadays to place implicit faith in the professions and promises of a stranger—as one who has never sought publicity before must necessarily be to the public. The new advertiser may reasonably assume that by using good, attractive matter that states the truth about his goods, in mediums of large circulation, and keeping his ads regularly in those mediums, he may ultimately secure a fair share of business, which will recompense him for all his outlay and give him a handsome profit, but if he expects to make a fortune quickly, with little or no effort, on a small cash investment, he is deluding himself and assuming too much.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

A LARGE audience gathered in the Council Chamber, Halifax, Thursday morning, to listen to the statements of the different interests represented at the first sitting of the Tariff Commission. The trades represented were : dry goods, hardware, West India, wholesale grocers, fruit, cocoa and chocolate, and tobacco.

Hon. W. S. Fielding presided, and with the other members of the Commission, Messrs. Cartwright, Paterson and Borden, frequently questioned those that appeared before them on points touched in their statements.

WEST INDIA TRADE.

The West India merchants, represented by Mr. George Mitchell, made a statement of which the following is a brief summary :

The present duty of 50c. per 100 lbs. on all grades under No. 16, Dutch standard in color, bears very inequitably on the lower grades, resulting in the frequent occurrence, during the past two years, in the proceeds of account sales of many consignments from the West Indies being less than the amount of duty.

All sugars have been for some years past, and are still, sold on the basis of their saccharine strength, as tested by the polariscope, and this should constitute the basis for duty as well as of value.

We would, therefore, suggest that the new sugar tariff be framed on this basis, starting with a fixed rate per 100 lbs. on all sugar testing by the polariscope 70 or under, with an increase of 3⅓c. per 100 lbs. for each degree. This would virtually mean an ad valorem rate, and is based on the true value of the sugar.

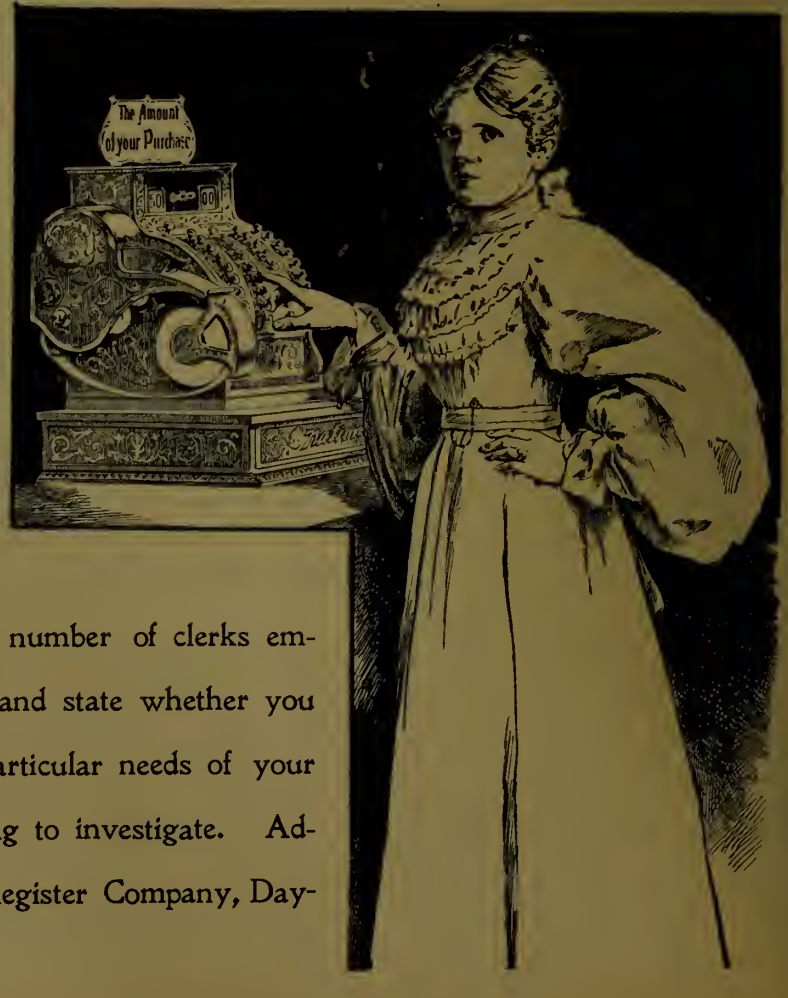
In addition to the above, we would suggest that on all sugars above No. 16 Dutch standard in color and on all refined sugars an additional duty of 60c. per 100 lbs. should be levied, as we feel that such a duty is absolutely necessary to protect our refiners from the unfair competition resulting from the bounties paid by foreign Governments.

Mr. Mitchell pressed these views at some length, giving illustrations of the unfair working of the present tariff arrangements. The present system makes it possible to charge as high as $1.25 per 100 lbs. ad valorem. He objected to the tariff clause which compels merchants to export imported West India commodities to other countries Newfoundland excepted—without the consideration of a rebate of the duties paid. He explained that in summer molasses soured, and when they shipped it to Boston and other places for distillation, they could get no drawback. Oldest trade in Maritime Provinces will be snuffed out if West India trade is hampered. West India trade could be helped by reduction of freight rates on Intercolonial.

FARMING INTERESTS.

The delegation of farmers from Kings county had the next hearing. John E. Starr, of Cornwallis, spoke for them, saying that he was happy that he came to ask no favors in the way of protection. He pointed out that the heavier machinery a farmer uses is highly taxed, and the lighter tools largely used also bear a heavy weight of taxation. Builders' hardware employed in constructing the many and expensive buildings required by farmers, was also an item which entailed considerable outlay. Barb wire fencing, he said, was rapidly coming into favor with farmers, and large quantities were used each spring, and it, too, was heavily taxed. Horse clothing of a kind used for the most part by farmers, was taxed as high as 60 per cent. The duty on flour also made his flour pay 75c. per barrel and was an article from which there is not much revenue from importation. He showed that cornmeal, which could be obtained from abroad at $1.60, pays 40c.

We Want to Study Your Needs.



We have devised systems for handling the transactions between their clerks and customers and sold registers to 110,000 merchants in all parts of the civilized world.

It is probable we could be of assistance to you.

Send us your name, address, business, number of clerks employed, per cent. of business done on credit, and state whether you employ a cashier, and we will give the particular needs of your store careful study. It will cost you nothing to investigate. Address Department P, The National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio, U. S. A.

duty, bringing it up to $2 a barrel, the amount which the millers here charge for it. Pork raising would form a feature of provincial farming if cheap cornmeal could be obtained. He drew attention to the fact that corn is not successfully raised in Canada, and therefore little is produced. The duty on oil he considered a great grievance, for now that dairying is becoming so common great quantities are used. Boots and shoes and other commodities are taxed so as to make production at the low prices now prevailing very oppressive. He pointed out that the excessive taxes imposed on articles largely used prevented them from getting profitable returns for their labor, especially in the case where their products are exported, because in that case he has to pay the taxes of the buyer and the taxes on his own commodities, thus paying a double tax. There was nothing he would like to see better than reciprocity. He hoped the Commission would reduce the taxes on the commodities which he named, including cornmeal, for if the latter article could be procured more cheaply the farmers would engage in pork raising.

The duties on machinery have made millionaires of the Massey-Harris combine. He denounced protection as a license to rob, not shelter from harm. In expressing a wish for reciprocity he said if it were effected fruit could be sent to the United States, especially that of a perishable character, which cannot now be sent to England, unless we have proper cold storage accommodation. Over 200,000 barrels of apples have already been exported this year, and they expect to export nearly 500,000. Nova Scotia apples keep better than either Ontario or United States. Every barrel has at least given $1, although the majority go up to $2. The farming community do not want taxes levied for their benefit.

WHOLESALE GROCERS.

M. F. Eagar represented the wholesale grocers. What he complained of chiefly was the tax on packages and cases, and of the regulation which practically prohibited their buying certain articles, such as figs, dates, nuts, etc., except from the countries where they are produced. When in season they have to be imported in large quantities, for when out of season they cannot be obtained in the producing country at all, and tariff restrictions debar them from the storehouses of other countries. He considered the consular certificate for light wines in the case of treaty countries a hardship.

He said that imported cocoa was admitted two years ago at 4c. per pound, and now it was levied at 20 per cent. ad valorem. This places cocoa at a high price. Duty in the United States is 2c. a pound. A duty on tea of 2c. and 2c. on cocoa would contribute more revenue to the Dominion. The appraisers' interpretations were complained of. A package was shown which pays taxes three times on the wrappers, and this refers to a large class of goods. There is great loss of time now to merchants' clerks for this reason.

John Peters showed a package that illustrated the absurdity of ruling on the article of salt. The duties on this were changed three years ago by Mr. O'Keefe, of the Customs, who, it will be remembered, was sent here by the Customs authorities on detective work. Mr. Peters showed how the Customs Department was not worked with any degree of fairness to merchants engaged in business. The duty on packages was 16 times as great as the contents at one time; now it is 1½ times as great. He also urged that as a large part of this country cannot raise cattle and the fishing and lumbering community have to pay the very excessive duty of $4 on beef, that that duty be reduced.

Geo. A. Pyke mentioned their greatest grievance as duties on packages, beef and pork. They are compelled to buy American beef and pork, as there is not enough produced in Canada. The duty on rice of 1¾c. per pound, for protection of one company in Montreal, is enormous, being greater than original cost of article, which is one cent.

W. Atkinson's greatest difficulty is in regard to Malaga grapes, of 2½c. a pound, and suggested a change of duty on that. Duty on boxes, now 25 per cent., should be reduced to 15 per cent. Orange trade with Jamaica has depreciated greatly on account of fruit arriving in a damaged condition, when the duty is the same. Thirty cents specific duty, instead of the present 55c. duty, would enable the importer to assume all risks of damage done in transit. Specific duty on tomatoes should be removed; a 10 per cent. would be fair enough. Watermelons, plums, cabbage, cucumbers, nuts, almonds, walnuts, figs, dates and onions were spoken of as articles on which excessive duty is now levied.

T. E. Kenny, ex-M.P., with Hon. Robt. Boak, asked for an interview, at Ottawa, when Montreal refiners are to give their evidence. It was granted.

OTHER INTERESTS.

J. Walter Allison, on behalf of J. P. Mott & Co., wanted a rearrangement of the duties on cocoa and chocolate, which are at present confusing, so as to give them their raw materials more cheaply, and wanted a specific duty of 5c. per pound or ad valorem of 30 per cent. on the manufactured article. The duties on apples and soaps might remain as at present.

C. H. Harvey read a statement, protesting against any increase of duty on tobacco and cigars, as demanded by Montreal manufacturers. In some cases cigar manufacturers have a protection of 500 per cent. Customs duty on tobacco discriminated against trade with the Mother Country. A reduction of the Customs duty would give more revenue and relieve importers. The statement was signed by a large number of Halifax importers.

S. P. Benjamin, lumberman, of Wolfville, pointed out that their raw materials, corn, corn meal, oats, pork and beef, were heavily taxed. Duty on pork and beef ranged from 40 to 60 per cent. If not made free there should be a substantial reduction, and duty on flour should be reduced. He wanted the American market, but in case a fair reciprocity treaty could not be obtained, or the American duty on lumber was increased, he urged the imposition of an export duty on logs. Pork and beef raised in this country is not suitable for lumbermen—they must have the imported article at any price.

THE DUTY ON ALCOHOL.

On the second day, (Friday), W. H. Webb, of Brown & Webb, came as the representative of the drug trade. He objected to the excessive duties of $3.71 per imperial gallon, and excise of $2.80 on alcohol, an article which is largely used in making essences, extracts, etc., and also to the excise regulation which requires it to remain in bond for two years, thus greatly deteriorating its value for manufacturing purposes. They only gave the manufacturer in Canada a monopoly. The former duty of 20 per cent. ought to be restored. The patent medicine regulation he considered inadequate and proposed a new definition to guide appraisers. He thought the Pharmacopœia a poor book for Customs officers to follow, but if the British Pharmacopoeia must be used he wanted the German used also. He did not see the reason for making separate duties for solid and liquid medicines. He wanted sulphuric acid, so largely used in fertilizer manufacture, reduced, and said that it was necessary to pay duty again and again on the carboys and cylinders. He thought 20 per cent. on the sulphuric acid sufficient. Spirits of nitre ought to be admitted as a medicine. He pleaded for a simplification of the tariff.

Mr. Simson, of Simson Bros., also spoke for a few minutes, corroborating what Mr. Webb said, especially with regard to excise.

LUNENBURG FISH DELEGATION.

H. H. McIntosh laid before the Commission the serious handicap experienced by the bounty on French fish, which are sold to Halifax and other dealers at a low rate. They are sorted, packed, repacked and shipped along with our fish to the markets of the world. The fact that they are bought in bulk enables the dealer to keep a reserve supply, and thus there is no chance of an improvement in the market. Fish in bulk is our merchantable commodity, and fish in packages another. We wish it so arranged that the man who buys this fish in bulk should export it in bulk. He also called the attention of the Commission to the fact that our fishermen receive scant treatment at St. Pierre. The exports of this bounty back fish last year amounted to $50,000, while $60,000 worth remained unsold at Lunenburg alone.

Mr. Fielding pointed out to Mr. McIntosh that this was a very difficult question to deal with. The late Government had considered the question, but could find no way out of the difficulty. The Commission would give the matter serious consideration.

MILLERS.

A. E. Curren, of Cunningham & Curren, said that some of the speakers had mentioned "the obnoxious duty" on cornmeal. There was no duty on cornmeal for the consumer. There are plenty of mills in Canada, and anyone who wants to import cornmeal can purchase it cheaper than he could in the States to-day. Would like to see corn on the free list. There is no reason why corn should be kiln-dried. It does not better the meal, and in winter time when there is a demand for fresh meal the millers should be allowed to enjoy it.

FARMERS AND FRUIT GROWERS.

Henry Shaw, speaking for fruit growers and farmers, only wanted one favor—a free chance. He wanted free bread and free cornmeal. Corn comes free to millers and whisky makers. He wanted barbed wire and plants and shrubs of all kinds and fertilizers put on free list. Farmers have to compete with other fruit growers in other parts of the world.

Sir Richard: Are you not afraid of being flooded with American rubbish?

Mr. Shaw: Let them flood. We are ready for them. We want free garden seeds or make it uniform. Of other taxes we want that on kerosene oil taken off or reduced. It is the worst abomination—even unto desolation. Make it free. We want reduction on farming implements. Farmers are beginning to use windmills, but there is an enormous tax on them. The people pay two revenues, one for the Government and one for the manufacturer. If the manufacturers, after 18 years' of protection, cannot stand on their own feet, they had better lie down.

F. W. Lydiard spoke for the gardeners of Halifax, Dartmouth, Cole Harbor, etc. He read a paper from the people interested in the above. Owing to the earlier season in the States, the Americans control this market for about two months in the year. Farmers have been known to drive around town, unable to sell their produce, the market being flooded by American stuff. The late Government were appealed to, but, from the tenor of their reply, they were not interested in the garden industry. We believe in the policy of free trade, but also in fair trade. The farmer does not ask for favors, but for justice.

John G. Bissett, Cole Harbor, endorsed Mr. Lydiard's statement.

W. E. Roscoe spoke for the Kentville Board of Trade. The interests of agriculture would be best served by some measure of reciprocity. The main support of Kings is apples, potatoes and cranberries. Our market is found in Great Britain and the United States. The latter would give us reciprocal relations for some varieties we raise, on account of their superiority. We could have a market for potatoes in the States were it not for the duty. Would like a reciprocal arrangement with Spain which would give a market in the West Indies for potatoes. We can buy feeds in the States cheaper than we can raise them. If corn was made free we would not have to rely on Ontario. If we had free corn we would be able to revive the beef industry. This section of the country has suffered very much since the abrogation of the treaty. We need for our orchards a combination of potash and bone. Bone is admitted free, but potash has a duty of 25 per cent. We cannot even get the bone meal in free, as the Customs require it to be prepared for manufacture. Artificial fertilizers should be free. Did not think the duty should be taken off pork and beef. If agricultural implements are to be taxed canned meats should be also, as a sort of compensation. Mr. Roscoe was fearful that if the duty was taken off coal it would interfere with our coal industry. Reciprocity, however, might help it.

AT ST. JOHN, N.B.

The Tariff Commission began its session at St. John, N.B., on Monday. Before the hearing of statements began Mr. J. V. Ellis, M.P., addressed the Commission. Speaking generally he said he was in favor of tariff reform as laid down at the Ottawa convention, and then proceeded to express himself in favor of cheaper oil, a commodity used very largely here. He directed attention to the difference in the price of oils in the United States and Canada, referring especially to what they cost on each side of the border, where New Brunswick joins Maine.

In behalf of the grocery trade it was asked that there be no change in tariff to affect the Canadian sugar trade, and that raw rice be increased 10 per cent. Objection was taken to the duty on starch, glucose, peanuts, paraffine, wax, chocolate, machinery for confectionery manufacturing, extracts, etc.

Mr. W. Frank Hatheway said the trade objected to the duty on packages, coverings, etc., and favored a reduction on oil of from 1 to 4c. per gallon, and thought the cornmeal duty should be reduced from 40 to 25c. per barrel, and hoped the flour duty would be reduced from 75 to 60c. per barrel.

Messrs. Potts, Goodwin and F. L. Potts, representing the fruit trade, requested that the duty on grapes be reduced from 2c. per pound to 15 per cent. ad valorem, the duty on peaches from 1 to ½c. per pound, a specific duty of 20c. per bushel on tomatoes, and the continuance of free bananas. The duty on packages was unfair and absurd.

Mr. J. J. McGaffigan, speaking for the tea importers, said they favored a specific duty and urged the inspection of teas, all inferior qualities being rejected. The importation of blended teas from England should be prohibited, so that the work of blending might be done here.

Mr. Andrew Malcolm asked that beef, pork and lard should only pay a duty of 1c. per pound, instead of 2c., and that cordage should pay a specific duty of 1c.

Mr. John Seely said our fishermen cannot compete with American fishermen, who are able to buy their supplies cheaper than Canadian fishermen. A man on the Maine shore is able to live cheaper than the Canadian fisherman. Messrs. Seely and Malcolm agreed to forward the Commission a comparative statement of the cost of fishermen's supplies in Grand Manan, Brier Island, etc., as compared with Eastport, Lubec, Portland and other Maine ports.

TEST OF A FIRE-PROOF PLASTER.

THE Champ de Mars, Montreal, on Saturday morning, was the scene of a very interesting exhibit, the object of which was to illustrate the fire-proof and other remarkable qualities of the new wall plaster, known as "Asbetic." Quite a large number of influential and representative people were present, among whom were most of the important architects and insurance underwriters, besides many gentlemen in high standing connected with other businesses and professions.

A small frame building was erected, plastered inside with this material, and raised about a foot from the ground to allow of a strong draught. This was then more than half filled with dry kindling wood, shavings, saturated with coal oil, etc., sufficient to make a fierce blaze, and ignited. The fire inside was kept supplied with similar combustible materials for nearly three-quarters of an hour, and was then extinguished by the means of an ordinary fire hose, in the hands of Capt. Dolan, of St. Gabriel street station. When the interior was cool enough to examine it was found that the plaster, although a little discolored, was otherwise uninjured, and the building itself showed absolutely no signs of any contact with the flames, not being even singed. A more thorough test it is hard to conceive of, and there is no doubt that, wherever this material is used, a fire will be confined for a long time, if not entirely, to the apartment in which it takes place.

A similar test was made in Washington, under the supervision of the principal officials of the supervising architects' office, amongst whom were Mr. Haymond, in charge of the testing and experimental work; Mr. Adams, chief of the heating and ventilating department; Chief Engineer Watts, General Steinmetz and Mr. H. G. Balkam, inspector and surveyor of risks for the Association of Fire Underwriters.

Similar tests have been arranged for in Ottawa, and in both London and Birmingham, England, whilst the principal architects in the United States and Montreal are proving their appreciation by specifying it. For example, in Montreal, such buildings as the Young Women's Christian Association, on Dorchester street; the McDonald & McIntyre building, on Victoria square; the Royal Victoria College, Verdun Insane Asylum and many smaller structures, have been, or are in process of being, plastered with "Asbestic."

Reuter's agency thought that this test was of sufficient importance to the architects and builders in Europe that they cabled the result to London, England, from where it would be transmitted to the newspapers throughout Europe.

It might be added that Sir Donald Smith's new house at Glencoe, Scotland, is being plastered throughout with Asbestic.

BALFOUR & CO., HAMILTON

FOOD FOR CLERKS.

COULD I give the youth of this country but one word of advice it would be this: Let no moment pass until you have extracted from it every possibility. Watch every grain in the hourglass.

Time is exactly what we make it: In the hands of the wise, a blessing; in the hands of the foolish, a curse; in the hands of the wise, a preparation for life eternal; in the hands of the foolish a preparation for the condemnation that is everlasting. To you it is much; to your neighbor it is naught.

The country boy often bemoans his lack of a chance as did Clay, Webster and thousands of others, and thinks his youth among the rocks, the mountains, the forests, has been almost thrown away; and he longs for the time when he can shake off his farm fetters and flee to the city where there is opportunity. But years after, in some great legislative emergency, perhaps, in some contest with the city-bred youth, the rocks, the mountains, the streams, the granite hills which had unconsciously entered into the fibre and stamina of his life, rush to his assistance and force his city opponent to the wall. No, these grand schoolmasters of his youth have not taught their lessons in vain, but they have become a part of his very life. "At the call of a noble sentiment, again the woods wave, the pines murmur, the river rolls and shines, and the cattle low upon the mountain, putting the spells of persuasion, the keys of power, into man's hand. Bend to the persuasion which is flowing to you from every object in nature, to be tongue to the heart of man, and to show the besotted world how passing fair is wisdom." The best part of our education comes from nature, and she makes us pay a heavy price for shutting ourselves up in the city where we cannot breathe her sweet breath, nor learn lessons from her birds and streams and flowers, her mountains, her valleys and forests, her meadows and hills. She keeps the great school of the world; she is the developer of mankind, the unfolder of life, the invigorator of the race. She holds the balm for all our ills, and he who shuts himself out from her influences must pay the penalty. He must forever be dwarfed in some part of his manhood, his horizon limited, his education incomplete. The muscle and sinew, the nerve, the stamina, the staying powers, the courage, the fortitude, the grit, the grip and pluck of the world have ever come mostly from the country. The tendency of city life is to deteriorate the physical and the moral man. There is more refinement, but less vigor; more culture, but less stamina; more grace, but less hardihood; more sentiment, but less sense; more books, but less knowledge; more learning, but less wisdom; more information, but less practical ability; more of the ethereal, but less of the substantial; more gristle, but less backbone; more newspaper reading, but poorer memories; more society, but less sincerity.

Not until the wounds of the world are healed, not until the last thirsty soul has been led to the River of Life, has an able-bodied man a right to lay down his armor and call a halt.

"What a grand sight! How soul-inspiring and thought-producing!" exclaimed John Marshall, as he gazed on the mountains of Virginia. "No wonder Patrick Henry was an orator, no wonder he was eloquent; how could he have been otherwise, reared amid such sublime scenes as these?"

"I could not help thinking," said Stephen Allen in his reminiscences of Daniel Webster, "as I stood with some of his neighbors and kinsmen upon the spot where Webster first saw the light of day, that those wild, bleak hills among which he was cradled, and those rough pastures in which he grew, had left their impress upon his soul."—Architects of Fate.

CANADIAN EGGS IN GLASGOW.

A trade letter from Glasgow, in The London Grocer, says that the popularity of fried ham and eggs as a breakfast dish causes an enormous consumption of eggs in Glasgow. Prices in 1896 were about the average. One of the leading features was the remarkable increase in the imports of Russian eggs, which seem to be gaining in popularity, as they suit a cheap trade. The trade in Canadian eggs is now better regulated, and, on the whole, there has been less cause for complaint than in the early shipments. Continental eggs, such as German pickled, met with considerable favor, and held their ground during the year. Canadian eggs are perhaps their greatest rival.

HERE'S A SCHEME.

THERE are ways and means of winding up a business, but an old German merchant of Seguin, Texas, has discovered a most effective method of getting all his liabilities in quickly and getting out of business with facility, says an exchange. This particular merchant has had a long career of singularly straightforward business dealings, and his credit was unimpeachable. For this reason he had a long list of friends among the traveling fraternity, and for the same reason they were all dumbfounded when his failure was announced. They all gathered in to Seguin at once to proffer their condolence to their old friend and patron, and incidentally, also, to present the accounts of their respective houses.

The old merchant didn't seem cast down by his misfortunes, but, on the contrary, greeted the boys with a particularly smiling countenance. When they were all in he called the first one up.

"Do I owe your house anything?" he asked.

"Yes, sir; a small balance."

"How much is it?"

"Here's the bill, I think the amount is $300."

Then he took the man back, opened up his safe, and, to his utter astonishment, counted him out the full amount and took his receipt. In this way he went down the line, and every man was treated to the same sensation. After they had adjourned to a neighboring cafe, carrying their German friend with them, the boys got at the real situation. Their old patron was not only perfectly solvent, but he had a big reserve after all his debts were paid. He had come to the conclusion that he had been long enough in business, and after cudgeling his brain to find the most expeditious way of retiring, he concluded to fail. The method proved as effective as it was novel, and the boys and their firms are thinking of recommending the old German's plan to all their customers who may now or hereafter, either in Texas or elsewhere, have occasion to fail.

TEA SALES IN NEW YORK.

The offerings of 10,074 packages tea through the auction room Wednesday brought together a large company of buyers. But following the large catalogue of the previous week many grades were in excessive supply and they suffered a little in price. The Formosa Oolongs especially favored buyers, and it was figured that some grades had sold at a full cent decline ; however, there was no question of an average yielding in the price of at least ½c. The Ping Suey alone stood at steady prices, but the other qualities generally were only slightly easier.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, FEBRUARY 5, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 6

THE DEPARTMENT STORE.

By Samuel Hopkins Adams in Scribner's Magazine.

IN the working machinery of the store's daily existence, the buyer has no part. Even in his own department, for which he has supplied the stock, he has no direct authority. The floor-walker, sometimes called an "usher" (either name is equally inadequate as descriptive of his duties) gets from $15 to $40 a week, and he earns it fully. What the buyer is to the inner management of the store he is to the outer. To the public he is nothing nore than a politely convenient living directory, who knows promptly that the ribbon sale is seven counters down to the left, and that carpet-sweepers may be found at the middle aisle on the third floor. Such matters as these are the simplest of his duties. To keep his salespeople up to the standard in dress, deportment, and activity; to be polite to everybody, to stand as a buffer between the salespeople and the wrath of those who have grievances against the store for goods missent, or other mistakes made; to see that the rules are obeyed, in short to be the arbiter of conduct and store etiquette; these are enough to guard him against ennui. Under a combination of a far-seeing, shrewd buyer, and a courteous, hard-working "aisle manager," as he prefers to be called, with a knack of managing people, any department will more than pay its share of the expenses of the establishment.

Under the floor-walkers as captains, and the executive officers as generals, with the firm as commander-in-chief, the great army of salespeople goes through its daily drill. In first-class stores they receive from $6 to $15 per week; in low-class, as little as $3. As yet the co-operative system, such as exists in some of the Paris shops, has not taken hold in this country; although occasionally as an incentive to "cleaning out" some particular stock, a percentage on sales from that counter is allowed. All the stores have rules of greater or less strictness to which their salespeople are held. The duties of the clerks are so well known as to require no description here. Anyone who has ever made a purchase at a department store counter has had opportunity while waiting for change to observe the process of sale. The very largest of the stores employ in the holiday season 2,500 salespeople, whose duties are entirely at the counters, of whom 500 are "extra help." Lowest of all in the scale come the errand boys and cash girls, who, while gaining the experience which will fit them to go behind the counters when they grow older, are content to be at everybody's beck and call for a consideration of $1.50 up to $3 a week. It will not be long, by the way, before the cash boys and girls are done away with entirely, and to the benefit of all concerned. The mechanical "carriers" are much more convenient, and, of course, vastly cheaper than human hands and feet. In the newest stores every department has its own cashier and wrapper. This is an expensive system for the store, but swift and convenient for the purchaser.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work necessary in the carrying on of one of these establishments may be gained from the fact that only one-third of the staff comes in contact with the public. At the top of the building, where the space is least valuable, are the stock rooms, where a busy corps, under command of the "head of stock," arranges the goods, unpacked in the receiving-room next door, in their places on the shelves, and transfers them upon order from the floor-walker, when he needs them to keep his department fully stocked. The work-rooms, where hundreds of girls, mend, repair, and alter all day long, are tucked away here and there, where the customers may pass their doors without suspecting their existence. It is but due to the merchants as a class to say that the "sweat shop" does not exist in the big stores. As a rule the working rooms are light and well ventilated, the pay of the women is about the same as that of the saleswomen, and the rules of the department are far less strict than those which obtain behind the counters.

Not so in the cashier's department, the pool into which all the rivulets of coin in the place empty. In many stores this is a dark room in the basement, where the air is poor, the light artificial, and the noise like a boiler factory. As the pay is not exceptional and the work is extremely trying, the cause for the envy with which the average salesgirl regards her sisters in the cashier's department is a puzzle over which the writer declines to waste time. To add to the difficulties of the cashier's department is the necessity of absolute accuracy; and where actual money is handled in some days during the busy season amounting to $100,000, practically all of it in small and odd sums of money with much change-making, the chances of mistake and error are enormous. Each day's business is balanced, and the totals must agree with the cash tickets.

In obedience to the law of gravitation the delivery department is most often in the basement, and here a great corps of men is employed sending out purchases. This department is like an express office, and it keeps in employment some four or five hundred men in the largest stores. It is the hardest worked part of the establishment, particularly in the holidays, when the men are on duty day and night, often for eighteen hours a day. For the two or three nights preceding Christmas many of them do not leave the store, having their meals served there and getting such cat-naps as they can in corners or improvised beds of bagging. To the delivery department by elevator, in wheeled boxes, or in the baskets of the floor boys, come all articles bought and not taken away by the purchasers. It is divided into local, freight and express delivery, the mail-order department being separate. Each article having come to the delivery room, and having been properly wrapped, marked and entered on the books, if ad dressed for local delivery, is thrown on a long table, manned by youths who carry implements like the rake of the croupier. Around these tables, which are smooth and slippery, are sets of bins, each bearing a number, corresponding to the number of the driver who collects from it. As soon as the address on a parcel is read the youth who gets it slides it over the table, calling out the number to which it goes, whence it is raked in by another youth who unerringly tosses it to its destination. It is as good as watching a game to see the parcels disposed of, so swift and accurate is the action of the practised corps. Outside and above, in the streets, stands a long row of delivery wagons, of which a number of firms own more than 125 each, with twice that number of horses. In each wagon sits a "driver's boy." From his own bin the driver collects his goods and sends them up to his boy, who packs them in order for delivery.

Over the delivery department in every store presides a genius. How it happens that there are enough geniuses to go round is a mystery; but surely that is none too exalted a term for a man who keeps a whole city mapped out in his brain, and can tell you at once the nature of any locality you may name, whether it is built in brown stone or brick, the average of rents and whether it is a residence, boarding-house or apartment district. This employe in a New York store remembers and can immediately recall the address of several thousand credit customers. He keeps track of the growth of the city and the changes in character of various neighborhoods, a particularly difficult matter within the last three years, during which the character of many districts has changed radically. With the delivery of the goods at the house of the purchaser the store's duty ends, unless there is some mistake. Each article after it gets to the store is handled by six persons before it reaches the customer in the hands of the sales clerk and by nine more before it is finally delivered at the house—fifteen in all. Some goods go through a longer course than this; as, for instance, articles which are to be altered to suit the customer; but every bit of stuff, whether it be a hundred-dollar piece of silk or a five-cent notion, must pass through the fifteen processes. The persons who handle goods are in order as follows:

The receiving-room man, who unpacks it.

The head of the stock, who disposes of it in the stock-room.

The buyer's assistant, who marks it with his price.

The transfer or stock-boy, who carries it down to the sales-room.

The head of counter, who receives it.

The head clerk, who places it on the shelf or counter where it belongs.

The salesman or saleswoman, who sells it.

The inspector, who examines it after the sale.

The collector, who takes it in his basket to the delivery-room.

The packer, who makes a neat bundle of it.

The addresser, who copies from the accompanying slip the name and address of the purchaser, writing it upon the wrapping paper.

The assorter, who distributes the bundles into lots to go to the different parts of the city.

The youth of the long table mentioned above, who slides it with unerring dexterity into the proper bin.

The driver, who takes it from that bin.

The driver's boy, who helps the driver pack it in the wagon, and who finally completes the long list by handing it in at the door.

No other business that is conducted under one roof equals the department store in magnitude of detail. Take, for instance, the case of one of the giants of the species. It employs from 3,500 to 5,000 persons, according to the season. In a year it does nearly $10,000,000 of business. Its largest individual sale last year was an orchestrion for $4,500, and its smallest a patent clothespin for 1c. During the holiday rush there were several days when its gross receipts ran over $100,000. It has more than 70 departments. To heat it 100 miles of steam pipe are required, and the electric light plant would adequately equip a small city. It represents a rental of nearly $300,000 a year, and at a conservative estimate the daily expenses of the store are $5,000. When it is considered that this enormous sum is made up from the profits on sales, for the most part in small parcels, one gets an inkling of the infinite care in details and the perfection of system which go to make such enterprises as largely profitable as they are. A man who has himself conducted one of these businesses recently made this statement:

"The profits of the department store are represented by the cash discounts on its bills."

That is, the big store, by virtue of its quick returns, is able to pay cash for purchases instead of buying on long time; and as it is well known that five per cent. is a high average discount we have an index as to yearly profits if this statement, which has been several times verified, is exact. So fine is the line that divides profit from loss. The store should turn over its whole stock five or six times a year, though some special stock may turn a dozen times. It is a water-wheel which is propelled by the stream of trade, and the drops which it throws off in its revolutions are the profits. And here it may be said that in the conduct of the business the unvarying rule is that for every expenditure of time, space, or money there must be a sufficient and calculable return. This principle pervades every department.

The finances of the department store are constantly in motion, a never-ending stream pouring in and out and in and out, and leaving at the end of the year a sediment of gold at the bottom. But, in addition to this perpetually moving capital, there is a stationary capital; for such the brains of men who do the firm's work must be considered. In order to keep the employes who are most useful to the store, men with ideas in their heads and originality in their ideas, the firm must offer opportunities for progress; for the men best worth having will not stay where there is no chance to rise. Death and retirement are constantly making breaches in the executive forces, and men must be found who can step into the places of those made vacant. This is why every firm makes the human element

FALSIFYING INVOICES.

CASES are frequently made public in which importers pass goods through the Customs on false invoices. It is reasonable to suppose that there are many other cases which are not made public. These false invoices often work great injury to honest business men, because the rogue can undersell the man who pays full rates. When a man is found guilty of passing goods through on such an invoice he is generally let off very easily. It is often hinted, and there can be no doubt of it, that on his political opinions very often depends the severity of his punishment.

A. M. Bell, wholesale hardware merchant, Halifax, in giving evidence before the Tariff Commission last week, discussed this question. He said: "I would put a man who passed a fictitious invoice into the penitentiary and keep him there so long as not to give him an opportunity of repeating the offence."

Several leading members of the different branches of trade were called upon in Montreal in regard to the matter. They all were unanimous in condemning the practice.

President Bickerdike, of the Board of Trade, said that such practices tended to lower the ethical standard of the business community, and he could not condemn them too strongly. When an unscrupulous merchant found that he could practically ignore one law it was calculated to create a feeling of contempt for all laws, and engender a low code of business morality. If the law was on the statute books it should either be rigidly enforced or wiped off. A law that could not be enforced should never be enacted, and if it was the case in this instance, the best thing to do would be to repeal it and enact some practical measure in its place. While it was law, however, the Custom House authorities should try and have it as rigidly enforced as possible. There was a penalty in the case of a man perjuring himself in the courts. Why should a man who committed practically the same offence at a Custom House not be treated in the same manner? If it was suspected that an importer falsified his invoice and swore to it as correct he should be tried in the courts the same as any other perjurer, and if found guilty sentenced as such.

Geo. E. Drummond, president of the Montreal Metal and Hardware Association, had been told that the Custom House authorities experienced considerable trouble in regard to falsified invoices. He was in favor of as severe a penalty in case of infractions of the law as in the case of perjury in the criminal courts. When an importer testified to a false invoice he was committing as grave an offence as a witness who swore a false oath in a court of law. The crime was identical in each case, and the same penalty should be imposed. If it was true, as claimed, that the practice was winked at or passed lightly, it was bad in a moral sense, inasmuch as it tended to create a contempt for the law. Mr. Drummond added that a system of specific duties would be the best safeguard against such immoral practices in the case of heavy hardware. On such lines the freight rate from point of production formed a large part of the actual cost. Then there was great variation in the price of such material, making the proper collection of ad valorem duties difficult. United States pig iron furnished an instance. The price was gauged on the cost at northern markets, which was say $10.50 to $13 per ton, according to grade, whereas in the south, owing to cheap negro labor, they were as low as $6.50 to $7 per ton. The only safe form of duty to guarantee a revenue in such a case was the specific. Pig iron fluctuated in price from year to year almost as much as wheat. For that reason also the specific duty was the only sure guarantee of a stable revenue.

L. E. Geoffrion, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., said that dealers who falsified their invoices should certainly be prosecuted the same as any other person who took a false oath. It was his experience, however, that the Customs people by their methods encouraged importers to make declarations which they could not conscientiously swear to. He had called the officials' attention to this on more than one occasion, and the reply was that such declarations were more a matter of form than anything else. In one case he had positively refused to sign a declaration because he could not agree to the values set forth in the document. He did know how it was in other branches of business, but in the grocery trade importers were frequently obliged to "declare" invoices the value of which had been altered by the Customs people. For instance, his firm might import a line of groceries the actual cost value of which was, say, 10s., but the Customs authorities might mark it 12s. and the importer before he got his goods through had to declare to such, knowing at the same time that it was incorrect. Such practices were, in his opinion, calculated to create contempt for the laws, which was bad socially and morally.

Geo. B. Fraser, of S. Greenshields, Son & Co., the partner who bought and fixed values on the large quantities of dry goods handled by this firm, said that they had experienced very little trouble in regard to the Customs. Their goods, however, were different to hardware and groceries, which were sold from a list and frequently fluctuated in value. With a chief appraiser who knew his business as well as Mr. Brosseau, of Montreal, the chances for trouble of this kind were slim. In any case where a dishonest trader passed goods at an undervaluation it was bound to render injustice to his honest confrere. If the Customs authorities came across such cases, the offender should certainly be as severely punished as the law allowed.

CROW'S NEST SURVEY.

C. E. PERRY, the Canadian Pacific Railway Co.'s engineer in this district, accompanied by a corps of 15 men, has established a camp at the mouth of Duck Creek, near where the Kootenay River empties into Kootenay Lake. The party will remain in the field at least six weeks, for the purpose of making a survey for a railroad from Duck Creek to a point opposite Balfour.

This is the route of the main line of the Crow's Nest Pass railway and is the second section of location by the C. P. R. officials, the first section being along the south shore of the outlet from Nelson to a point opposite Balfour, which was made some time ago. The completion of the work now being done will give sixty connecting miles from Nelson eastward.

The third section will embrace the territory lying between Duck Creek and the divide which separates East and West Kootenay. The survey of this will very probably be commenced as soon as the snow will permit. The location of the line across East Kootenay to the Crow's Nest Pass will then quickly follow. The pass and its approaches have been surveyed, as has the route through Southern Alberta.—Rossland Miner.

SPICE-ODORED STORES.

Next to the florist's the grocer's place of business appeals with most success to the olfactory nerves, and it is a pretty good criterion of the rank of a grocer in the business when the spicy odors of tea, coffee, cinnamon, cloves and pimento, to mention only a few of the most aromatic articles, are not overpowered by less pleasant scents, remarks Merchants' Review. The cleaner the store, the better the stock and the more prosperous the grocer—the more grateful are the odors which assail one's nostrils when one enters the store. Sometimes the fruit and vegetable trade of a grocer assumes such proportions that the scent of crushed leaves and wilted vegetables and fruit completely overpower the usual odors of the grocery part of the business, and we have noticed that when the green grocery smells prevail the grocery part of the business is apt to be neglected to a degree that injures trade.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE Tariff Commission sat in Ottawa on Friday, Saturday and Monday last.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

The case for duty on coal oil was presented by Mr. Jenkins, who said the question was simply one of business life or death. Going into the history of the industry, he said that petroleum was early considered by the Government to be a fit subject for taxation. When it became an article of commerce in the early sixties, the Government imposed a revenue tariff of 10c. a wine gallon upon all oils. At that time Canada had many flowing wells. The United States imposed a duty of 48c. a gallon upon Canadian refined oil. There was no change until after Confederation, when the business was put under excise at 5c. per wine gallon. A revenue tariff of 18c. per Imperial gallon was imposed by Canada upon importations. In 1873 it was proposed to place the duty at a low figure. An enquiry took place, and the Mackenzie Government dealt with the industry in a bold and progressive way by making the duty 7 1-5c. a gallon. This remained for 17 years, until in 1894 it was reduced to 6c. a gallon. The Government of the day were told the business could not stand that reduction. The effect of it was that for months Petrolea was like a city of the dead. Providentially the United States market improved, and the industry began to thrive again. Mr. Jenkins proceeded to quote calculations to show that Canadian oil did not enjoy the full advantage of the six cents protection. The Government charges equalled one cent a gallon, duties paid by oil producers equal one cent a gallon on the oil produced. One cent a gallon was lost by competition with the American oil. The Canadian oil sold at from 2 to 4½c. less than the American oil. This was not due to any inherent defect, but to the fact that most of our lamps are constructed to burn American oil. The Canadian oil contains more carbon than the American, and consequently requires greater draught or more oxygen than the other. In a proper lamp it was worth one-third more than the American oil. The geographical conditions of Canada were very hard on the industry, too. The Dominion is a long, thin country, and freight charges are therefore very high. The oil industry is one which has been now 30 years in existence, and they claimed that the public have been well and faithfully served. Their working margin was infinitely small, and any action to lower the duty would have the effect of putting the business on the first stage of decline.

In reply to a question from Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Jenkins stated that the price of oil in Canada was regulated from Halifax. He estimated the production of petroleum in Canada at 800,000 barrels per annum, and of this between 41 and 42 per cent. is manufactured into coal oil. There are five active refineries in the country at the present day, all separate and distinct from one another. There are 8,000 oil wells in operation in the Petrolea district, owned by 600 different parties.

Mr. F. A. Fitzgerald said the American consumer has been stated to pay less for his coal oil than the Canadian, but the oil men of Canada had gone to the expense of securing sworn testimony from points in every part of the United States to show that the price usually was about the same as in Canada.

Mr. J. H. Fairbanks set down the average consumption of oil per family in Canada as 15 gallons. At present the Government gets 6c. a gallon from coal oil, but, supposing this were removed, the public would only have to pay the money on other articles, and the question is a very grave one whether, if the Canadian competition were cut off, the price would go up instead of down. The Canadian interests would certainly die. Canadian oil has been improving right along. The duty to-day is just one-half what it was before the National Policy. The last reduction in the tariff was ill-advised, and the Finance Minister himself opposed it in Parliament. If the American oil industry had not made the opening the drills would have stopped, and the men would be walking the streets. One-third of the oil consumed in Canada is American and two-thirds Canadian. Last year $1,200,000 was the amount spent on oil.

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY.

A deputation representing the sugar industry waited upon the Commission on Saturday. The deputation consisted of Senator Drummond, Messrs. J. F. Stairs, ex-M.P., W. W. Watson, E. Baumgarten, T. Labatt, G. N. Greenshilds, B. T. Rogers, Vancouver, and T. M. Cutler, Halifax.

The interview was private. The duty at present is 50c. per 100 pounds on raw material, and $1.14 on the hundredweight for the finished article. If the duty on raw material is raised they pointed out that to continue the protection it would be necessary to increase the duty on the finished article. Senator Drummond, who was the chief spokesman, declared that Cananian granulated sugar was the best in the world. Employment was given to about 3,875 men, including subsidiary trades. The plant in existence could turn out 50 per cent. more refined sugar if there was a market for it.

THE VALUE OF CREDIT.

IS there anything under the sun, says a writer in Dry Goods Chronicle, that will fill the place of credit? I believe not. If there is I have never met with it. Cash is the only available substitute, and even that fails in many instances.

There are firms in New York that will refuse to open account for cash with a man who has no credit; they will have no business transactions with anyone who has not a current credit rating in this market. Yet those same firms will not hesitate to open an account with a man whom they find relatively well rated.

I have experienced that singular thing, a wholesale firm that refused to sell goods for cash to a merchant who had no credit rating. Reference showed that he always paid cash and neither sought nor received credit. The firm in question refused to sell him; they had no assurance of his soundness, no other testimony of his disposition to play fair other than that he paid as he went, so they positively refused to do business with him. He asked no accommodation at their hands; he wanted goods and would pay on the spot, yet they positively refused to place his name upon their books in any capacity whatever.

This only goes to show that "no record" is a bad record. The man who is not rated good is bad. Some men will persist in judging every man a rogue until he is proven honest.

Be careful of your credit; you can have no more precious possession than a good name, nor more valuable capital than a credit rating. The practice of having your check received by your creditor the day it is due, instead of sending it on that day, is a trifling thing, yet it will not go unnoticed. Trifles like this supplement your rating in dollars and cents, and help to stiffen it. Make no promises you cannot keep, and whether prompt or slow, be as good as your word.

There is only one way to make a successful business. That is to handle only such goods as are known to the public for their high quality. Such goods are the kind we handle. Would you like to try a sample order ?

PROSPECTS FOR RECIPROCITY.

ONE cannot tell what a day may bring forth in national life any more than in the individual life; but, judging from the present outlook, the prospect for reciprocal trade relations between Canada and the United States appears to be remote indeed.

As every newspaper reader is aware, a movement is on foot in the United States to rehabilitate the reciprocity policy, fathered by the late James Blaine, and given effect by the McKinley tariff. But in all the discussions which have taken place practically no reference has been made to a trade arrangement with Canada. Reciprocal trade relations with the republics of South America is the one object apparently sought.

Only last week the National Association of Manufacturers in session at Philadelphia signified its approval of the principle of reciprocity, but it is evident from a perusal of the resolution which was adopted that it was designed that Canada should not come within the provisions of the scheme. Here is the resolution in question:

Resolved, That Congress be invited to re-establish and extend the system of reciprocity which may be employed to secure for us tariff favors in Latin-American and other markets in which we are the la gest buyers, while Europe is the preferred seller solely because of the lower wage rates and lower general costs of production in European factories.

He who runs may interpret this.

Of course, the attitude of the United States in regard to this matter is not very satisfactory to Canadians.

At least nine-tenths of us in this country are in favor of extended trade relations with the United States on an equable basis. We would be foolish if we were not. Individuals do not hesitate to enlarge business relations with each other. And nations are aggregations of individuals.

But Canada will not mourn like men without hope if the United States refuses to be a party to reciprocal relations with her. If the United States sets more value upon the trade of a group of semi-civilized republics, whose purchases from it aggregate but a few million dollars, more than it does the fifty-five million dollars worth of goods it sells to Canada annually all we can do is to stand aghast at the short-sightedness of its statesmen and business men.

The United States' total exports last year to the five Central American republics aggregated but $7,844,880; to eight countries comprising the West Indies, $26,541,529; and to twelve countries in South America, $36,296,984. A total all told of $70,683,393, divided among twenty-five countries, or only about ten millions more than to her near-by neighbor alone. Of course, it is only with comparatively a few of these countries that our neighbors expect to make treaty arrangements. It is only fair to state that the figures above given do not include the exports of the United States to Mexico, valued at $19,000,000.

Canada is by no means dependent upon the United States, and if our cousins across the border have an idea to the contrary they never had a more erroneous one.

Canada is by far a better customer of United States products than the latter is those of the former: Of the total exports of this country 36 per cent. go to the United States, but of our total imports a percentage of over 50 per cent. comes from the land to the south of us.

THE CANADIAN GROCER only wishes that the efforts of the Government to bring about a reciprocity treaty with the United States might be successful, but we are decidedly sceptical about the matter. And in the meantime we should redouble our efforts to develope our export trade with Great Britain and other countries.

FURTHER ADVANCE IN CURRANTS

CURRANTS have experienced another advance during the past week, private cables received in Toronto this week quoting prices 6d. higher, with the tendency still upward.

The strength of the market is due to its statistical position, stocks in Greece being less than one-half what they were this time a year ago. Stocks in all the chief consuming centres are also lighter than usual. This latter remark also applies to the local market.

Last year at this time the market fluctuated a great deal, with the tendency as a rule downward. The remembrance of this fact caused importers to exercise caution with the result already cited.

As already noted, the tendency of the market is now upward, while prices are from 3 to 4s. per cwt. higher than those which obtained a year ago.

A LESS VEXATIOUS TARIFF.

WHILE very little can be gained from the Ministers as to what they propose doing in a general way with the tariff, THE CANADIAN GROCER learned from a member of the Government that one important object they will have in view when preparing a new tariff will be to simplify it as much as possible.

For the past two years this policy has been continually advocated in these columns. Hon. Clarke Wallace endeavored to make changes, but he had a hard fight with the permanent officials and politicians.

The ordinary Customs officer imagines the tariff is made for him and not for business men and the country. He is fond of red tape, and is continually making regulations for importers. These suit his own convenience, but they harass the importer. The Government has selected the officials for their political and not for their practical business experience. By chance we occasionally get good men.

A sample case was mentioned the other day by a Montreal dry goods merchant. A man who knows nothing about dry goods was appointed assistant to the appraiser in dry goods. He had been a dealer in hides.

The evidence given before the Commission at every point emphasized the strong feeling among business men against the vexatious annoyances to which they are subjected by officious officials and unfair rulings. It is also likely that a strong effort will be made to reduce to a minimum the different valuations for duty of the same article at different points.

Among the hardware jobbers it is generally understood that there will be a reduction in the duty on shovels. We doubt if there is any ground for this rumor. Still it is what might happen in view of the very injudicious action of the shovel manufacturers in combining to pay a large sum of money to American makers to keep them out of this market.

SHARP ADVANCE IN VANILLA BEANS.

During the past three or four months vanilla beans have been advancing in price by leaps and bounds. Ordinary qualities of Mexicans, which could have been purchased a year ago as low as $6 to $8 per lb. are now held at $9.50 to $12, and are scarce. This is caused by a partial failure of the crops in all the principal places of growth, and it appears unlikely that any great decline in prices can take place during the next year. This will in all probability have a tendency to increase the price of extract of vanilla, which is one of the most popular flavors in use in this country.

WANT CITY POSTAGE REDUCED.

AT the recent annual meeting of the Montreal Board of Trade, J. B. Learmont, of the firm of Caverhill, Learmont & Co., spoke strongly in favor of the reduction in the rate of city letters from two to one cent.

He contended, and with considerable reason, that the cities and towns were taxed in order to make up for the deficiency that occurred in the country.

A large proportion of the city postage was distributed by the Government at practically little or no cost, being simply dropped in the post office and called for without ever touching the hands of the carriers.

He made the strong plea that by maintaining the present rate the country rather lost than gained in revenue, as many merchants found it cheaper to employ one of their junior clerks part of the day in delivering business letters than to pay postage on them.

The board had called attention to the matter before, but he presumed that it had been pigeon-holed like many other petitions.

The business men should keep persistently at the Government, which was the only way to secure the desired reform.

A motion in accordance with his remarks was unanimously adopted, and the Government will be again petitioned.

Everything is changing these days : Even Jack Frost is being cut out of his job by the ice machine.

PEPPER STILL ADVANCING.

Pepper, both black and white, continues to advance in the primary markets.

Compared with a year ago, prices are fully 1½c. per pound dearer. The lowest point touched last year was the lowest ever known.

Stocks in both London and New York are much reduced. One reason for this is that during the last three years the pepper market has been an unsatisfactory one, advancing one day and receding the next, thus causing a lack of confidence and an absence of buying.

Shippers' agents report that a few good-sized orders have lately been placed in Toronto, but as a rule there is not a great deal being done in this commodity.

CALIFORNIA ORANGES ARE KING.

California oranges are king on the Canadian market at the moment.

In spite of the fact that they are materially higher than the Valencia product, the demand for them is much keener than for the latter.

The way things are at present on the Toronto market wholesalers report that it takes about as many weeks to dispose of a carload of Valencia oranges as it does days a carload of the California product.

California oranges are not only larger than usual, but the quality this season is exceptionally good, dealers declaring that they have not had as good fruit of the kind since the calamity which befel the Florida orange a couple of years ago.

WANTS NO DELAY.

THE question whether prospective changes in the tariff should take effect at once in the ordinary course or whether a certain space of time should elapse before they go into effect is attracting a great deal of attention.

A leading manufacturer, speaking of the matter the other day, delivered himself as follows : "There are good arguments in favor of both courses. It is unquestionable that sudden changes in the tariff are a hardship in many instances, and frequently inflict serious losses on importers. Still, I think that with the conditions as they are, the chief object to be strived for is to dissipate the present contraction in business. The Customs returns prove this. At Montreal the duty collections for January were $517,362, against $773,184 in January, 1896, a decrease of $255,821. At Toronto they were $312,507, against $418,925, or, in other words, there was a falling off at the two centres of $362,239 during the past month.

"I contend that such a shrinkage is abnormal, is mainly owing to the uncertainty regarding the tariff changes, and anything calculated to prolong the undesirable condition of affairs is prejudicial to the best interests of the mercantile community. Besides, the general belief is that the alteration will be in the direction of declines. In this event there is nothing to be gained by delay. Then, with importers confining themselves, as they now are, to the barest necessities, the inconvenience, even in case of an advance, will be slight. Altogether to my mind it seems highly advisable that the proposed tariff changes should be brought down and go into effect with as little delay as possible."

CHANGE IN AN OLD FIRM.

After nearly 40 years in the grocery trade Mr. M. Masuret, of the wholesale firm of M. Masuret & Co., London, has decided to retire from business. The business itself, however, will still "go marching on," Mr. Masuret having transferred it to his three sons, William, E. J., and Albert, who will continue under the old firm name.

THE CANADIAN GROCER hopes that health and long life will attend him in his retirement, and that the success which attended him will follow his successors.

HINTS FOR STOREKEEPERS.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—As you are aware, I have been traveling a good deal west of Toronto since the first of the month, and as I once sold sugar, tea, etc., behind a grocer's counter and am now trying to induce the grocers to buy a good article from me, I naturally allow my eyes to wander over every grocery I call upon to see how the store is conducted, etc., and I must say we have hundreds of people selling food stuffs who have very little idea of the "fitness of things," as far as the arrangement of their stocks is concerned. So many have their teas, coffees, butter, coal oil, etc., jumbled up that I often wonder they ever sell one dollar's worth. I have repeatedly (in my most polite way) suggested alterations that, I am pleased to say, have been accepted and acted upon in almost every case with pleasure, but there are some men whom, to offer such a suggestion, would be to gain their everlasting enmity, and a traveler can't afford that in this age of competition.

I hope every grocer in Canada will read this and profit by it. Stocks should be so arranged that the flavor of the coffee is not affected by the odor from his spices. Butter, lard, etc., should be kept away from the fish barrel. All canned goods, woodenware, etc., can be near any of the above, but the general mixing up of groceries is to cause danger to the fine flavor of many of the articles the merchant has for sale. In one store I noticed that the boxes of biscuits were without any covers, all exposed to the atmosphere, dust, etc., and, to crown all, the biscuits were immediately above boxes of laundry and toilet soap, likewise exposed, and lending their beautiful flavors to the biscuits. Above all, no grocery store should be left at night time without some opening whereby a supply of fresh air can be admitted into the shop, if not, then the smell of fish, butter, soap, coffee, etc., is transmitted one to the other, and the whole is ruined. If you doubt this, observe the awful conglomeration of smells that meet you on "opening up" in the morning.

DRUMMER.

Work like a nigger if you would enjoy the comforts of a white man.

JUMP IN MATCHES.

For some time there has been a great deal of senseless cutting among the makers of matches in Canada. And to such an extent was this carried on that the manufacturers were actually losing business.

During the last few days, however, an arrangement has been made whereby prices have been advanced 40 to 50c. per case. The new figures are given in our prices current.

MR. A. E. KEMP.

BY W. L. E.

THE Toronto Board of Trade is to be congratulated upon its wisdom in selecting Mr. A. E. Kemp as its second vice-president, while it was a tribute to Mr. Kemp's ability in electing him to the office by acclamation. Mr. Kemp did not seek the honor ; the honor sought him. That the Board will ever regret the wisdom of its choice is about as likely as it is that water will refuse to find its level. Mr. Kemp is a man who when he puts his hand to the plow never turns back. In business he does with his might what his hand finds him to do, and it is safe venturing that the same peculiarity will characterize him in his conduct of the second vice-presidency of the Toronto Board of Trade.

Mr. Kemp first saw the light of day in the Eastern Townships, Quebec. That was in August, 1858, not yet 39 years ago. The inducements for him to remain in his native place were brighter than they are for a good many boys : His father was a farmer, besides controlling other industrial enterprises in the neighborhood. But the subject of this sketch had made up his mind to seek a larger sphere, and, accordingly, in 1874, at about the age of 16 he set off for Montreal to court fortune there. In his inside pocket he carried testimonials, but under his vest he had what was still better, namely, a determined and resolute heart.

On one occasion, while conversing with Mr. Kemp about his first venture from home, I remarked : "What avocation had you planned out for yourself ?"

Mr. A. E. Kemp, 2nd Vice-President Toronto Board of Trade.

"None ; I only wanted to get away from the farm."

When young Kemp reached Montreal he realized that distance indeed often lends enchantment to the view. The year Mr. Kemp went to Montreal was just about the dawn of that period of depression which spread over the American continent, and it was by no means an easy thing for young Kemp or any other boy to find work. But, nothing daunted, he persevered until he at last found employment in a retail hardware store.

> There is a divinity that shapes our ends,
> Rough hew them how we will sings the poet. And it seems to me that it was a divinity that shaped the boy Kemp's course. At any rate, that retailer's store was the stepping stone which eventually led him to where he is to-day.

In 1885 Mr. Kemp removed to Toronto, where he became a partner in the manufacturing business owned by Mr. McDonald at Gerrard and River streets, under the style of McDonald, Kemp & Co. Before the expiration of two years, however, the partnership was dissolved, Mr. McDonald retiring.

Mr. Kemp soon after associated his brother, W. A. Kemp, with him and reorganized the business, the firm name becoming what it is to-day, namely, the Kemp Manufacturing Co.

Besides getting a new name the business took, as it were, a fresh start in life. Besides having confidence in himself Mr. Kemp has also confidence in the country, and one of the first things he decided upon after the new firm had been launched was to undertake the manufacture of many of those lines appertaining to the sheet metal trade which hitherto had been imported. Besides extending the lines of stamped tinware, etc., it was decided to manufacture a number of specialties. About five years ago the bold venture of manufacturing enamelled ware was undertaken. This was one the most important things the firm has so far undertaken, for not only was there the difficulty of working out the secret of producing a first-class article, but there was the keen competition of the German and United States manufacturers to contend with. The success which attended the efforts in this direction are too obvious to need any elucidation on my part. The company's business now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In the Maritime Provinces, when Mr. Kemp came to Toronto, the demand for the lines he manufactures was largely supplied by the United States. He decided it should be captured for Canadian manufacturers, and he, with his competitors, has secured the desideratum.

The expansion of the firm's business has naturally necessitated an extension of the firm's premises. And this has gone on to such an extent that the works of eleven years ago would scarcely be recognized in the works of to-day.

In 1885 the only substantial brick building was that immediately on the corner of Gerrard and River streets. It was 90 feet deep by 40 feet wide. Since then that building has been enlarged until it to-day extends for a distance of 410 feet along Gerrard street. This building ranges from three to four storeys in height. Then, on Bell street has been erected a large enamelling factory and an extensive warehouse. The latest improvement in the way of buildings is the erection of a new engine and boiler house and the putting therein of a new steam and electric lighting plant. The steam plant consists of two new engines. One is a compound Wheelock, with a horse power of 250, while the other is known as the Ideal, and its particular office is to generate electricity for the 450-light dynamo. In the boiler room there are two high-pressure boilers. The boiler and engine rooms combined have a frontage of 85 feet by 40 deep. The new smoke stack is about 200 feet high.

But I am getting away from Mr. Kemp. And, in getting back to him, I am reminded of a conversation I once had with him regarding young men launching out into life.

"Now," I said to him, "you have had a great deal of experience in life, even if you are but a middle-aged man ; what advice would you give a young man who was starting out into life ?''

''Briefly, my advice to any young man,'' rejoined Mr. Kemp, as he swung around in his chair, ''is this : Be careful what avocation in life you select. And then, having selected it, stick to it. In other words, set a goal and steer for it all the time. Never change from one thing to another. Every day that a man spends in one particular avocation naturally gains him experience. Well, is it not unwise for him to take up another and distinct avocation and throw all that experience away ? Then, let there be no such word as 'can't.' It is time enough to say 'I can't' when the effort has failed. Another thing, 'Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day.' ''

''As far as Canada is concerned,'' said Mr. Kemp to me on this same occasion, ''I hold that there is lots of room at the top in this country for young men who strive to get there. Economic conditions are changing, but I have every confidence in the Dominion. I always had. And when young men of my acquaintanceship were running off to Boston, New York and Chicago, I decided to stay on. This is a great country.''

A few days after the Board of Trade elections I was talking with a gentleman regarding Mr. Kemp's qualities. This gentleman knew him in Montreal as well as in Toronto, and this is in substance what he said : ''He is one of those men who would make this country if he only had a chance. Mr. Kemp is a man of enterprise, who has confidence in this country. Combined with that is that integrity that brings about the development of national industries, and during times of trial and depression would carry the community through to a better state of affairs again. Then there is his quiet, confident bearing. I like that.''

Mr. Kemp is connected with other local industries besides his own business, and is president of the Manufacturers' Association.

During the last general elections of the Dominion Mr. Kemp's name was actively canvassed for Parliamentary honors. And it is to be hoped that his business interests will some day allow him to accept the honor which so many of his fellow-citizens are desirous of bestowing upon him.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. H. Clemes, of Clemes Bros., and Mr. Howard Clemes, of D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., left on Tuesday last for a trip to Jamaica. They will be away about a month.

Major A. G. Campbell, representing the MacLean Publishing Co.'s admirable trade journals—Dry Goods Review, CANADIAN GROCER, Hardware and Metal, Printer and Publisher, Bookseller and Stationer and Military Gazette—is in town on business. Mr. Campbell has just returned from a thorough trip of the Northwest and British Columbia, and, like most travelers, is immensely pleased with the far west. He speaks in glowing terms of the wealth and prospects of British Columbia, and has a specimen of the Le Roi gold ore in his inside pocket the place where he carries his wad of mining stocks.—Brockville Daily Times.

WINDOW DRESSING HINTS.

''HARLEM GROCER'' writes as follows in Retail Grocers' Advocate regarding window dressing :

''I think there is one part of the grocery business, which is not very well understood by the majority of grocers, I mean the art of window display. I will give my idea of it and start the subject in your valuable paper:

''To fix up a good grocery display is not to bring into a show window an agglomeration of cans, bottles, cases, barrels, etc., but in order to make a success of it, it is necessary to study the use of each article. Take, for instance, such articles as preserved fruits and sweets, which are mostly intended for dessert ; it is a good policy to introduce the original fruit and show with the preserved, so as to give a chance for comparison and to let people see what kind of stuff the preserves are made of. It is also best to display them in just about the same way as they would be served ready to eat. I think by showing bottles of any kind of fruits with a big jar of the same is a good idea, as the latter gives more chance for people to appreciate the quality of the goods. Leaving fruits aside and coming to canned fish and vegetables, a different sort of display must be made, introducing samples of natural goods displayed, surrounded with cans of the same. If the whole is surrounded with spices it makes a very inviting display. Of course, these suggestions do not seem to be of much account on paper ; it is for the window dresser to know how to profit by them. My display of groceries only consists of fruit—that is, the fresh and the same preserved. I also display the fruit liquors for beverages, and have a display of preserved olives and pickles in the rear. I also show samples in bottles of asparagus, peas, French beans, carrots, etc., to give it a general grocery appearance. This being my first attempt of this kind of a window, my ideas have not quite been carried out to advantage, but I have been successful in pleasing the public and in making everybody's mouth water who has seen the display.''

SUGAR NOT INJURIOUS.

A writer in The Contemporary Review devotes most of an article on champagne to the popular idea that gout is produced by the sugar contained in that drink. The paper is ''not a medical paper,'' but the writer brings forward considerable evidence to show that champagne has nothing to do with the production of gout, and in an aside speaks of that other popular notion that sugar destroys the teeth. He says :

''In corroboration of the fallacy of the sugar and gout idea it may be mentioned that the still more reprehensible dogma, from a sanitary point of view, that sugar ruins the teeth, is equally false. Indeed, how the idea ever came into existence is a mystery, seeing that the finest, whitest and strongest teeth are found in the mouths of negroes brought up on sugar plantations, who, from the earliest years upward, consumed more sugar than any other class of people whatever. Those at all skeptical of the value of this fact have only to look around among their personal friends and see whether the sugar eaters or the sugar shunners have the finest teeth, and they will find other things being equal that the sugar eaters, as a rule, have the best teeth. The only possible way for accounting for this libel against sugar seems to be by supposing that it originated in the brain of one of our economically disposed great-grandmothers at the time when sugar was two shillings a pound, in order to prevent her children gratifying their cravings for sweets at the expense of the contents of the sugar basin.''

MAXIMS FOR ADVERTISERS.

Honesty is the best advertisement.

There is no politics in an advertisement.

An advertisement pulls in every direction.

Business needs advertising as the flowers need rain.

When a merchant drops his advertising something is going to break.

Advertising is the locomotive that butts the bull of dullness off the bridge.

Praying without ceasing is to religion what advertising without ceasing is to business.

The larger the cheque the advertiser draws, the larger the trade the advertisement draws.

As all roads lead to Rome, so do all advertisements lead to the advertiser's place of business.

An advertisement is an inclined railway down which trade slides without pushing and lands in the advertiser's bosom, as it were.—Fame.

THE POINT OF VIEW.

THERE'S a great deal of unnecessary discontent among merchants nowadays, writes "C.B.R." in Grocery World. My business necessitates that I shall go among all classes of small merchants, grocers, hardware men, dry goods men, clothing dealers, and so on. I reflected last week, after a hard day's tramping among them, that I hadn't heard a single bright expression regarding the future from a single one.

One hardware man said to me: "Oh, this business is all cut to the deuce? I was a fool to go into it! Now, if I'd only learned the dry goods business, or the grocery business, or some other nice, easy profitable line, how much better I'd be off."

A grocer said to me: "If you know any boy who talks about learning the grocery business, for heaven's sake stave him off! The young man who learns the business nowadays will starve to death or lose a lot of money, one of the two. I've had this store here for 18 years, and I'm only making a bare living. Last year I lost money. Every day I kick myself because I didn't go into some other business!"

A clothing man talked to me thus:

"My business is awful! You see, the trouble with the clothing business is that people will economize in clothing when they haven't got any money, or else they'll get the clothes on credit. Either is about as bad as the other. I regard the grocery business as the best to be in nowadays. The grocer sells the necessaries of life. People have got to eat, while they haven't got to buy new clothes, or jewelry, or lots of other things. I believe the grocers here are about the only people who are making any money."

And that's what I heard everywhere. Every man's business was terrible, and they all regretted not having gone into something else. At least they said they did, but my private opinion, expressed confidentially to the reaeers of The Grocery World, is that every last man of them would fight a good while before he would give up his business for any other. "We never miss the water till the well runs dry," you know. A thing gets more valuable and more desirable according as the danger of losing it increases.

WHITE TEA OF PERSIA.

The British Consul at Ispahan has sent home a small quantity of the "white tea" of Persia for the Museum of Economic Botany. The tea proved to be very similar to that described in The Kew Bulletin under the name of P'u-erh tea, in 1889. The finest of this tea is said to be reserved for the Court of Peking. The sample from Yezd was composed of the undeveloped leaf buds so thickly coated with fine hairs as to give them a silvery appearance. The liquor from the Persian white tea was of a pale straw color, with the delicate flavor of good China tea. It is not unknown, but now little appreciated in the English market. The following particulars respecting it were communicated by a well-known firm of tea brokers in London: "This class of tea has been very scarce during the last few years upon the London market, the price which the English trade were prepared to pay being very unsatisfactory compared with that which could be obtained in Persia. In London this class of tea is called 'Flowery Pekoe Congou,' and the last lot that we remember having seen, which was some two or three years ago, we ourselves sold to a client in Constantinople, the tea evidently being destined for the Persian market. For home consumption this tea is not worth much more than 1s. per pound, but for export purposes good specimens command as much as 3 to 5s. lb."

SOME STRANGE TEA NOTES.

Lovers of the fragrant cup of tea, as we know it in Britain, would scarcely recognize their favorite drink were they invited to partake of it with their Tibetan brethren, who are no less devoted to tea, made after their own particular fashion. Brick-tea, made at best of the offscouring and dust of tea leaves and stems of the tea plants (though more often of any worthless plant dust) is used by them, instead of the crisp, curly tea leaves we employ. It derives its name from the dust being pressed into hard, solid, brick-shaped lumps, from which pieces are clipped when tea is to be made.

Substitutes for tea have been found at different times by settlers in out-of-the-way places. Thus, in Tasmania and the Falkland Islands, the leaves of certain myrtles have been used to make "tea," and from this fact have received the name of "tea trees." The Tasmanian "tea tree" is usually a shrub. The leaves are too aromatic to produce a really satisfactory infusion. The "tea tree" of the Falkland Islands has less aromatic leaves, which, therefore, give a more palatable beverage. The leaves of another variety were used for a similar purpose by the crews of Capt. Cook's ships, who found this "tea" passable, though, if made too "strong," it had an emetic tendency, as has what we call green tea. These leaves, if added to spruce leaves, in equal quantity, modify the astringency of the beer brewed from the spruce leaves, and much improve its flavor.—Chambers's Journal.

WHERE CREDIT IS NECESSARY.

THE Washington Evening Star tells a story of a Kentucky postmaster which illustrates the value of credit and the resourcefulness of both buyer and seller in the case rather than the advantages enjoyed by Kentucky trading postmasters.

Most salesmen would have left the trader to buy the postage stamps of the Government, and by so doing lose the sale of his goods. The trading instinct in this instance came to the fore and made both ends meet.

"I obtained a peculiar order from a Kentucky storekeeper," said a cigar salesman. "I left the railroad to work some interior towns and stopped at the country stores en route. At one of these places I found a man whom the commercial agencies gave a good rating and who acted as postmaster as well as storekeeper. I handed him my card, and he said:

"'Thar ain't but one thing yo' kin sell me.'

"'What is that?' I enquired.

"'Yo' kin sell me 'bout $50 wuth o' stamps, envelopes an' postal kyards.'

"'Why, you can get them from the Government.'

"'No. I kain't. Yo' see they won't credit me. I hev ter sell stamps an' put 'em on people's bills, but th' Government won't let me hev none 'thout sendin' th' money. 'Tain't right, o' cose, fer I'm good, they orter know thet. But I hain't got a stamp nor a kyard in th' office an' no way ter git none. I'll hev ter buy 'em somwhars.'

"After becoming convinced of the man's solvency, I sold him a line of stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards, to be shipped with a bill of cigars."

HAS GOT TWO STOCKS FOR SALE.

Mr. James Adams, formerly manager for Smith & Keighley, can be found for the time being at 154 King street east, near St. Lawrence Market, Toronto, where he has two stocks of groceries to dispose of, both in a jobbing and retail way. The stocks are those of Peters & Co. and Munro & Co. This latter stock Mr. Adams purchased at 45c. on the dollar and consists of exceptionally fine goods.

Fresh salt water herrings are offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol in barrels and casks. They are big Newfoundlanders; not ordinary Nova Scotians.

E. C. Harvey, druggist, has purchased the grocery business of J. T. Clarridge, Mitchell street. The business will be carried on by Mr. Harvey's father-in-law, of Mooretown.—Times, St. Thomas.

MR. JOHN McKERGOW.

FORTY odd years or so ago a boy of Scotch parentage was born within sound of London's famous Bow Bells who was destined to make his mark in the Canadian business community. This youngster was John McKergow, the popular Montreal merchant, who was elected to the presidency of the Board of Trade last week.

Although born in the world's metropolis, the new president is a native Montrealer to all practical intents and purposes, as he came to Canada with his parents when very young. They settled in Montreal, and their son, John, was educated with a number of others, who now are also leading merchants of the city, at the old McGill Model School.

Leaving school, young Mr. McKergow entered the employment of the Grand Trunk Railway, and was with that company for several years. While still a railway employe he attracted the attention of A. A. Ayer, the senior partner of the firm of which he now is a member. This discovery of men with latent valuable talent is a characteristic of Mr. Ayer, and not a little of the success of his great business depends upon this faculty of his to select and pick out the right men for his purposes. Mr. McKergow is, of course, the most notable example of it, but other employes of the old house have made a success in business for themselves, Messrs. Duckett and Hodge being two other examples. However, to get back to our mutton, it was not many years before Mr. Ayer was convinced that his judgment in regard to John McKergow was correct.

Mr. John McKergow, President Montreal Board of Trade.

After two or three years as an employe he was promoted to be a junior partner, and has now been for a number of years a full partner in the enormous export business that A. A. Ayer & Co. carry on. It is probably the largest dairy produce business in the world and some idea of its magnitude may be gathered from the fact that last year this firm exported over 500,000 packages of cheese and butter which approximately represented a turnover of over $4,000,000. It is questionable if there is another individual house in Canada, in any branch of trade, that handles such a volume of business as these figures involve. Mr. McKergow has been closely identified with the development of this great house, and not a little of its present position is due to his keen business sagacity. Perhaps the most striking characteristic of Mr. McKergow—and one that in the opinion of those who know him well is largely responsible for his success—is his faculty of discernment or power of quick analysis.

His intimates state that the promptitude and soundness of his judgment in business matters is almost marvellous, and how valuable such a faculty is to a merchant engaged in a business where speculation so largely enters as the exporting of dairy produce need not be dwelt on here. In a word he, like a few other lucky men, has the gift of promptly seizing on the fallacy or soundness of any certain line of argument submitted to him for consideration. For this reason he has always been considered an invaluable man in committee ever since his connection with the Council of the Board of Trade. Another equally strong trait is his unassuming nature.

Like many another Scotchman he is a believer in the adage that in the great majority of cases silence is golden. He is disposed to let others do the talking if he will be allowed to do the thinking, and it is certain that this habit of his has meant a lot of money to his firm. No one can say that John McKergow ever committed himself in any way. But while a silent man in the general acceptation of the term, when the occasion arises he possesses in a high degree a power of curt, concise expression that is far more effective than the gift of florid eloquence. It is at such times that the dry, cutting humor inherited from his Scotch forbears comes out strikingly. In fact, it is frequently epigrammatic.

His associates tell numberless stories of this faculty of replying with a single phrase or sentence. Perhaps one illustration will suffice. In the early days of his partnership Mr. McKergow, on one of his visits to England, made annually in the spring months, had what he would himself call an "irregular," but considerable line of cheese to dispose of. One gentleman who inspected the lot was especially fluent regarding the defects, and he himself tells the story. He dilated at length on this and that fault, to all of which Mr. McKergow listened in silence. Finally, when the Englishman had exhausted his flow of adjectives, came the reply, like the stroke of a scimitar, to all his verbiage—"you have forgot the boxes." It is not related whether the Briton took the cheese, but if he didn't he ought to.

Mr. McKergow's judgment of quality in regard to the delicate goods handled by his firm is second to none. In fact, he is considered one of the best judges in Canada, as attested by the frequent demand for his services at the different annual exhibitions. This and his ability as an economical buyer are proverbial in the trade of which he is a member. In addition to his connection with A. A. Ayer & Co, Mr. McKergow is largely interested in real estate in Montreal, is a director of the Laprairie Brick Works Co., the Laurie Engine Co. and other industrial works. He has been a member of the Council of the Board of Trade since 1893, and for two years was the second vice-president.

It is well to keep in mind Bacon's famous saying, that "There be three things which make a nation great and prosperous: A fertile soil, busy workshops, and easy conveyance for men and goods from place to place."

HOW CURRANTS ARE PICKED, PACKED AND SHIPPED.

THOSE who enjoy the delicate, sweet raisin in Christmas plum puddings and fruit cakes seldom think how many miles it has traveled to tempt the American palate. For more than half a century the Peloponnesus has supplied the markets of the world with currants. Throughout the Morea the fertile valleys between the mighty ranges of rugged and often barren mountains are literally covered with currant vineyards. The demand for currants became so great about ten years ago that the Greek peasants cut down splendid olive groves, some of them centuries old, to make way for the currant vine.

Patras is the port from which these small grapes are shipped. About the 1st of September the Gulf of Patras begins to be crowded with the vessels of every nationality. On every road leading to the city a peculiar caravan may be seen slowly coming to meet these ships. These caravans consist of a long line of small donkeys across whose back are balanced two heavy bags of dried currants. The leader of the procession is generally a stalwart Greek peasant, dressed in white fustinella and gayly embroidered jacket.

When the currants reach Patras the shipper or middle man is ready for the farmer. He buys for cash as cheaply as possible, and sells to the commission merchant at a much better price. The primitive caravan returns to the interior village well satisfied with the exchange, and the fleet-winged sail ships or steamers bear tons of the fruit away over every sea. The peasant is generally pleased with his bargain, because his currant vines need very little attention. The soil and climate are especially adapted to the culture of this sweet little grape. The only trouble comes when the crop is about to be harvested. At this time the proprietor builds a kind of roost—something like a wild duck blind—in a tree near the middle of his vineyard. He remains in this roost all day, armed with a long-barreled rifle, which he understands thoroughly, and will not hesitate to use, on the lookout for thieves, to whom the rich purple clusters are a great temptation. It is not considered a crime in the interior of the Peloponnesus to kill a man who steals currants at this season, and I doubt if a Greek jury could be found who would condemn a vine-grower for protecting his property in this summary and very effective manner. In addition to the long-barreled rifle the proprietor's watch is shared by two or three dogs nearly as large and quite as fierce as the notorious shepherd dogs which tend the flocks of sheep on Mount Parnassus.

The method of packing these grapes is unique and interesting. A description of it is not calculated to whet the appetite, but the process is worth knowing. The peasant empties his bag of dried currants on the unwashed floor of the shippers' store room. When the store room is full, the currants are packed in barrels for American ports, and in boxes for other markets. The currants are shoveled into these barrels and boxes, while a big Greek, who has previously washed his feet in a tub of salt water, tramples down the fruit. When his feet get sticky, he jumps out of the barrel or box into the tub of salt water. The salt water is used because it is supposed to give a desired flavor to the currants. This water is dipped up in buckets out of the Gulf of Patras, which is an arm of the classic and beautiful Ionian Sea, but this does not ameliorate any of the suggestive features of the operation, even to the most enthusiastic Philhellene. I suggested to several Greeks the advisability of using some American machine, like a cotton compress, for instance, instead of the Greek tramplers, but the suggestion met with great scorn. I was informed that the flavor of the currants would be lost, and the absence of the slight admixture of sea water would damage the trade. As I do not wish to injure, but rather enhance, the currant industry of the Morea, I will add that if people stop eating currants because of this method they will also desist from drinking many of the finest wines made in France, Spain, Italy and Greece, for the same reason. Moreover, as soon as Greek currants reach New York they are thoroughly cleansed and repacked for the dealers. In view of the facts presented in this paper, I do not think it would be a bad plan for the American housewives to scald them before they make their Christmas cakes and puddings.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

LARGE FRUIT SALES.

The largest fruit sale ever held in Toronto took place on Wednesday of last week. It was held by Clemes Bros. and Mr. G. McWilliam was the auctioneer. Besides local merchants buyers were present from most of the commercial centres in Western Ontario, and the bidding keen and brisk. In about two hours seven carloads of lemons, one carload of navel oranges, besides other discriptions of fruit, were disposed of, and a satisfactory prices. The lemons sold at $1.50 to $1.75 per case in carload lots, and the naval oranges at $3.25 to $3.70.

FLORIDA STRAWBERRIES.

THE first strawberries of the season come in from Florida early in January, and when weather is mild and favorable shippers often get a few in for the Christmas holiday trade. This year the weather was so favorable that a larger quantity than usual arrived during January. Naturally these berries command high prices when of desirable quality, as the first-class hotels and fancy fruit dealers can work them out, but when they are too green or poor to find buyers from this trade they are neglected and have to sell very low, as ordinary grocers and dealers cannot use them. In fact, regular dealers will not take any until they can obtain them regularly, and at comparatively low prices. The arrivals last month were generally poor, and while a few scattering lots were sold at very fair prices, bulk of the receipts were very difficult to move, and prices ranged so low that wagon boys or vendors were often the chief buyers. It was rather an unusual sight to find these pedlars crying "strawberries" through the streets during some of the severe cold and snowy days we experienced last month. Prices realized for these berries were so low that growers realized little or nothing on their shipments. The recent cold wave which extended into the far south has damaged the fruit and vines to such an extent that advices report that shipments for the present will be entirely cut off, though a few lots are still arriving. Florida strawberries are nearly always small in size, and early in the season they lack color and flavor. Later in the season it is difficult to get them to this market in good shape, as they lack keeping qualities to ship such a distance. Charleston strawberries are usually of much better quality than more southerly berries, and as soon as they commence to arrive the Florida are neglected unless of exceptional quality.—N. Y. Markets and Market Notes

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

A GOOD deal of complaint is heard regarding the quietness of trade, but in spite of this January business was larger than it was for the same month a year ago. During the past week business has, if anything, improved, and appears on the whole to be fair for this time of the year. Tea is receiving the most attention, there still being some speculative buying. There is a little more doing in sugar than there was a week ago. Canned goods are still quiet and on the whole firm. Currants are cabled dearer, but locally there is no change.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change in the situation. The demand for all kinds is limited with prices steady on tomatoes, peas, salmon and lobster. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is a fair demand for Rio coffees at unchanged prices. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Trade is quiet. The refineries are offering a few, but there is no demand. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

While locally wholesalers are buying a little more freely than they were, the market is not in a satisfactory condition at the moment, on account of an easier feeling in the outside markets in regard to price. In London beet sugar is about 1½d. cheaper. It is said that holders of raws in New York are talking of withdrawing for the present from the market. Granulated is quoted at 4 1-16 to 4.10c., and yellows at 3.35c. up by local wholesalers.

SPICES.

Pepper is higher in the primary market and spices generally are firm. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

Stocks of nuts on the spot are light, but further shipments of almonds and walnuts are on the way. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business continues quiet.. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

don, by fully ¼d. per lb. at any rate, but on the spot here the same grades continue to be sold at old prices. Locally there has been a great deal of enquiry and a great deal of buying of China teas, particularly greens, during the past week. For medium Japan teas, at about 15 to 16c., there has been a good demand. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 21 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The week has experienced a further advance of 6d. per cwt. in the price of currants, according to cables received from Patras. There have been some transactions during the week. One was noted in which 1,000 packages were concerned. The retail demand is only light. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are still quiet and featureless. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

Malaga raisins are unchanged. We quote as follows: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

California loose muscatel raisins are without change. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are only moving in limited quantities. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee, net figures.

California evaporated fruits are beginning to receive a little more attention. We quote: Peaches, 6 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 8½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 5½ to 13½c.

Prunes of all kinds are neglected. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

California navel oranges are in good demand. On the Coast there has been an advance of 25c. per case, and a further appreciation is expected. Valencia oranges are neglected. There is a fair demand for lemons. Bananas are only moving slowly. Onions are higher. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.50 to $3.75 per case; large, 420's, $5; 714's, $4.25 to $4.50 per case. California navels, $3.50 to $4. Lemons — Messinas, $2 to $2.75 per box for choice to fancy, with prices lower for 25-box lots; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. for red fruit or greenings, and 75c. for ordinary; onions, $1.25 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers; cranberries, $6.50 to $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $3.50 to $4 for soft berries; cases, $2.25 to $2.50; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75; grape fruit, $5.50 to $6 per box.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — Receipts, especially of large rolls, are liberal. Choice dairy butter is scarce, while business is quiet. Creamery butter is in fair supply and the demand is good. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 10 to 11c. for choice, and 8 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb., blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

pathy with the export demand, which is active. Prices are firm at 11 to 11½c. per lb. for late makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Beans—There is no improvement. We quote 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

Dried Apples—There is a little export demand for bright stock, but business is on the whole dull. Jobbers are quoting 2 to 2½c., and the outside figure is about the price exporters are willing to pay for bright stock f.o.b.

Evaporated Apples—Market is dull. Jobbers quote 3½ to 4c. in an ordinary way.

Eggs—New-laid eggs are coming forward with increased liberality and prices are easier in consequence. The ruling idea as to price for new-laid is 17c., but this figure is being shaded. Practically no attention is being paid to cold storage or held stock. We quote: Limed, 12 to 13½c.; new-laid, 17c.

Poultry—The demand is light and there is not much coming forward. We quote: Chickens, 35 to 50c. per pair; turkeys, 8 to 9c.; geese, 6½ to 7½c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.

Potatoes—Quiet and unchanged at 25c. for carload lots on track and 35c. out of store.

Honey — Quiet and unchanged. We quote: Comb, 7 to 8c. for dark and 9 to 10c. for light; strained, 7 to 8c. per lb. for amber and 9c. for clover.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

Grain—Receipts are fair and prices lower than a week ago. We quote: Wheat, 80 to 81c. for white and 78 to 79c. for red, and 63½c. for goose; oats, 21 to 21½c.; peas, 41½ to 43c.

Flour—Prices are easier and the demand is light. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.05; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.65; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.75; straight roller, $4, Toronto freights.

Breakfast Foods—Oatmeal has been reduced 10 to 15c. per 100 lbs. and rolled wheat is 10c. lower. Business is quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.00 in bags and $3.15 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Ciscoes are a little higher while sea herrings, trout and white fish are quoted lower.

Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Business in provisions has been quiet during the past week, and our quotations are a little lower. Dressed hogs are coming forward freely, especially from Western Ontario. Packers are paying $4.50 for heavy weights and $5 to $5.40 for light weights. The $5.40 is for northern hogs.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots ; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c. ; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9 to 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c. ; small hams, 10½c.; backs, 9½c.; shoulder hams, 6¾c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼ to 6½c.; tubs, 6½ to 6¾c.; pails, 6¾ to 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 ; Canadian short-cut, $12 to $12.50 ; clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

Business has improved during the past week and prices are without change. We quote at Toronto : In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Markets for red and alsike clovers, as well as timothy, are practically stagnant in the absence of either local or shipping demand, and any buying just now is purely speculative and at very low prices. A revival of trade is looked for in the near future, when all hope prices may be maintained. Nominal values at present for red clover, $3 to $4.50; alsike, $3 to $4.25; timothy, $1.10 to $1.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¼ to 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5c. to 6c for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 90c. to $1.

WOOL—The market is steady. Combing fleece nominal at 20 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

PETROLEUM.

Business, if anything, has improved a little during the past week. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c. ; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Sugar is easier in London.

Indian teas of all grades are dearer in London.

Further advances in pepper are announced.

California navel oranges are 25c. per case higher on the Coast.

Cables to P. L. Mason & Co. and Watt & Scott report a further advance of 6d. in the price of currants at Patras.

Shipments of C. Ceroni's brand of currants have arrived on this market, and the excellent quality of the fruit is attracting a good deal of attention. This is the first season this brand has been on the Canadian market.

OUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, FEB. 4, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery market has exhibited few radical changes during the past week, the majority of buyers contenting themselves with hand-to-mouth orders. In sugar quietness is the rule and no speculative spirit whatever is shown, despite the fact that a duty on raw sugar seems to be generally expected. In tea the jobbers have been doing some trading between themselves and also from first hands in all grades and descriptions in the belief that a duty is to be imposed, but the fact has had little influence in spurring retailers into extra activity, for the latter content themselves with filling actual wants. Syrups, molasses, spices and coffees are unchanged, while dried fruits generally are firmly held under light stocks. There has been some demand for canned vegetables and in addition to tomatoes corn and peas now exhibit a firmer tendency.

SUGAR.

The only change in the sugar situation during the week has been a rather unsettled situation outside, but the fact has not influenced the local situation to any material extent. Business shows little improvement over a week ago in spite of the fact that stocks both in second and third hands are generally reported to be light. This is considered all the more curious for though there is possibility of a duty on the raw article, the market is absolutely without speculative feeling, buyers generally showing little disposition to lay in stock ahead. At the refineries car lots of granulated sold at 3⅞ to 4c., and yellows, 3⅛ to 3¾c., net f.o.b. Montreal. In a smaller way we quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c., and yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups continues slow and business is exceedingly quiet at 1⅜ to 1⅞c.

MOLASSES.

Business in molasses continues quiet, but this is the normal condition at this season of the year. There is no indication, however, despite the dulness, of any disposition to shade prices or make concessions in any way to effect sales. In car lots Barbadoes are offered at 29c., mixed 27c., Porto Rico 27½c., Antigua 23c. and St. Kitts 24c., while in a jobbing way the basis ranges from 29 to 31c., according to grade.

RICE.

There is no change in the rice market, business ruling quiet. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50 to $3.60; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market continues quiet and unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 50 to 85c.

COFFEE.

There is little life in the coffee market aside from a few invoice lots of Maracaibo, Santos and Rio, which changed hands at figures about equivalent to our jobbing range. The call from second hands is of limited volume. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The tea market has shown quite a lot of activity between jobbers, who seem convinced of the fact that a duty is to be imposed. Accordingly, there is a lot of speculative activity, but it cannot be said that the excitement has spread to the retailers, who seem content to get along on as small orders as possible. Values rule firm, Japans having sold in lots at 15 to 17c.; Ceylons at 16 to 17c., and Young Hysons at 12c. in 100 to 150 package lots. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

A few small orders for Valencia raisins have come to hand, but stocks are very light here and prices are firmly held. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins continue steady. A few car lots are expected this week, but they are all sold to arrive, and prices are firm, in fact firmer than last quoted, as follows: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

There is no change in loose Malaga raisins, which job out slowly at 7 to 7½c. for medium and 8 to 8½c. for high grades.

Sultanas continue quiet at 7 to 12c., as to grade.

There is no change in currants, which rule firm. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4¾c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

There is quite a steady trade passing in prunes at steady prices. We quote as follows: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

Figs are quiet and steady at 9½ to 11c.

Dates are in fair enquiry at 5½c. in jobbing lots, with smaller lots 6c.

Evaporated California fruits are quiet. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

NUTS.

There is only a quiet trade in nuts. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts,

CANNED GOODS.

There has been some enquiry for canned vegetables. Tomatoes are scarce and firm, as last quoted, while corn is held 10c. higher this week at 75c. as the inside price, and peas at 80c. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

The improved condition of the country roads and the more seasonable weather has favorably affected the fish market, and a better trade is noted in all lines. Pickled fish steady, the only new feature being a scarcity of salmon, and prices are more firmly held as a result. We quote, in a jobbing way: No. 1 green cod, $4.50; No. 1 large, $5.25; No. 2, $3.40; No. 1 green haddock, $3.40 to $3.50; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $12.50 to $13 per barrel; Labrador, $13 to $13.50 per barrel; genuine Labrador herrings, $4.75; No. 1 N. S., $4; No. 1 lake trout, $3.60 to $3.75.

Receipts of fresh fish continue liberal and in excess of the demand. Prices, therefore, rule easy. Haddock and cod are selling at 2¾ to 3¼c.; steak cod, 3½ to 4c.; smelts, 3 to 5c., and salmon, 11 to 12c. Manitoba pike are ½c. lower at 3½ to 4c.; dore, 1c. lower, at 5 to 5½c., and white fish and trout ½c. lower at 6c. Fresh herrings sold lower at 65c. to $1 per 100.

Smoked fish continue quiet, moving only in a small way. Prices generally are steady.

Haddies are selling at 6 to 7c. per lb.; Yarmouth and bay bloaters at 85c. to $1 per box; kippered herrings at $1.25 to $1 50 per box ; ciscoes at 50c. per basket, and smoked herrings at 10c. per box.

There is only a limited demand for dried and boneless fish, and values are steady. We quote : Cod, $3.75 to $4 per cwt. ; pollock, $1.65 to $1.75 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5.10 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has ruled quiet on the whole since last report. Lemons continue steady, while oranges are much as they were last week. Spanish onions are almost exhausted. We quote : California oranges, $4 to $4.25 per box ; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box ; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box ; lemons, $1.75 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest ; cranberries, $1 to $4.50 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate ; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8.

APPLES.

The apple market has rather steadier feeling this week, but the fact has not improved prices, which rule easy at 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2.

DRIED APPLES.

The demand for these is slack and offers have been freely made to jobbers here at 3c. laid down in Montreal. We quote : 3 to 3½c. Evaporated range from 3¾ to 4¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to the continued liberal receipts of new laid eggs the tone of the market is weak, and prices have a downward tendency, and it is more than likely dealers would shade present figures for fair sized lots. We quote : New laid, 20 to 22c.; choice fall stock, 15 to 18c.; Montreal limed, 13½ to 14c.; Western limed, 12 to 13c., and cold storage, 12 to 12½ per dozen.

POULTRY—The receipts of poultry continue very small, and although there is a fair enquiry for choice stock, buyers find it difficult to fill their wants, and the market in consequence is quiet and steady. Turkeys, 8½ to 9c.; spring chickens, 6½ to 7c.; frozen stock, 3 to 5½c.; geese, choice, 6 to 7c.; frozen, old, 5 to 5½c., and ducks, 7½ to 8c. per lb.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes was slow, and prices are unhanged at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

ONIONS—There has been quite a demand for Canadian onions from American buyers, and prices here rule firm at $1.75 to $2 for red and $2 to $2.25 for yellow.

HONEY—Continues dull at 11 to 12c. for fancy in small cases and 8 to 10c. in large for white comb stock. Extracted ranges from 7½ to 9c.

BEANS—Have ruled lower, being marked down 5c. on Tuesday to 75 to 80c. in car lats and 85 to 90c. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

There was no material change in the situation of the local provision market, trade being slow and prices unchanged. New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12 ; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6½ to 7c., and compound refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

Dressed hogs are irregular. Light weights have ruled firm under small supplies, but they sagged off this week to $5 to $5.15, a decline of 10 to 25c. Heavy weights have been demoralized all along under large receipts and they are freely offered at $4.50.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The continued downward tendency of the American grain markets does not tend to improve the local flour trade any, as buyers still continue to hold off, and the market at present is very quiet and easy, with only a small jobbing trade in progress. We quote : Winter wheat patents at $4.65 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.20 to $4.30 ; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.15. Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $4.90 to $5.05 ; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.75.

There was no improvement in the oatmeal market, sales being slow on the basis of $3.20 to $3.30 per barrel for rolled oats, and at $1.60 to $1.65 per bag.

The demand for feed was limited and business continues quiet at $9.50 to $10 for Manitoba per ton, including bags, and Ontario at $9 to $9.25 in bulk.

HAY.

A fair local trade was reported in hay and the market is steady at $10 to $10.25 for No. 1, and at $8.75 to $9 for No. 2 per ton, in car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The export business in cheese was practically wound up last week when the last remaining lots of finest fall makes were sold at 12c. This was a higher wind up than many expected, representing an advance of over 2c. per pound since January 1st. As a result the speculators on this side are bewailing the fact that they did not hold on a little longer, for the great bulk of them got out from 10¼ to 10½c per pound, and, therefore, according to the ruling cost to-day, lost 1½c. per pound by so doing.

The exports of cheese last week were 587 to Leith, 207 to Hull, 15,469 to Liverpool and 10,980 to London, a total of 27,243 boxes. This makes a total to date since the 1st of May last, 1,920,523 boxes.

There was some enquiry from shippers for choice creamery, but they find it very difficult to fill their wants owing to the scarcity of such stock, and the bulk of the fresh receipts are being picked up by the grocery trade at prices ranging from 19 to 20½c., while rolled is selling at 12 to 13c., as to quality.

The exports of butter last week were 1,115 packages to Liverpool and 50 to London, a total of 1,165. This makes the total exports to date, since the 1st of May last, 185,652 packages.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Beans have been offered 5c. lower in car lots since last Tuesday.

Stocks of Spanish onions on this market are almost exhausted this week.

Both canned corn and peas are held 10c. firmer here this week by jobbers.

American buyers have been free buyers of Canadian onions here during the week at full prices.

Liberal receipts of fresh fish have led to declines this week, despite the fact that demand is fair.

There has been some difficulty experienced this week to supply orders for Rio coffee, which is scarce for the moment.

It is claimed that no Singapore pepper could be laid down in Montreal under 9 to 9½c. and black, 6 to 6½c., net cash in straight invoice lots.

Jobbers have been doing a lot of trading in tea between themselves, as well as from first hands, in Japans, Ceylons and Young Hysons, at firm values.

The last lot of September cheese, 2,000 boxes, was closed out for export on Monday, at 12c. This netted the seller a profit of 1½c. per pound, or over $100 per box.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 4, 1897.

DURING the month just passed brokers in making sales have been met by this request from merchants : "Do not have these goods come in till after February 1." Stock has now been taken, and from now business will be more active, though much improvement cannot be looked for before March. Stocks here are quite heavy owing largely to the very low prices which have ruled, and as the demand is light at this season it had made money scarce. Much interest was taken in the meeting of the Tariff Commission here this week, full particulars of which will be found in another part of the paper. In groceries tea, sugar and oil received the most attention, although pork. flour and almost all lines were touched on. On one point there was great unanimity of opinion among the representatives of all lines of business, and that was that the duty on packages should be done away with.

OIL—From week to week as the days lengthen a decreasing demand is noticed for burning oil. This, however, is somewhat made up by the opening of the lubricating oil trade. In this line the movement has commenced, and while not such a large trade as that in burning oil, it gives a chance for larger profits and a greater chance for salesmen to show their ability. We quote: Best American, 19½c.; best Canadian, 18¼c.; prime. 16c.

SALT—The Liverpool steamer again brought a quantity of coarse salt this week for local merchants. This salt is sold here, as western dealers find it cheaper to buy on through bills of lading. Over 20,000 bags have been brought by these steamers for the trade here this winter, one importer having as many as 17,000 sacks. Demand at present very light. We quote: Coarse, 45 to 50c., factory-filled, 85c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS — There is rather an improvement noted. The strength in peas and tomatoes before noted is becoming more marked. In Early June peas some dealers are now holding for 90c., and the same for tomatoes. Corn does not seem to share in this advance. Gallon apples are slow and price might be shaded on round lots. Peaches are firm. Pineapple shows quite a range, there being first the sliced, then the whole, and lastly the grated; this last now having the chief demand. Canned clams and scallops show a better trade, but the local demand is not large. There are very few lobsters here. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; American peaches, 3's, $2.25.

GREEN FRUIT—There is but little movement, and that little is city trade. Apples are being shipped to the English market in large quantities, but the market here does not improve, and prices remain very low, with sale slow. Oranges keep low, showing little or no change. Valencias are coming to hand less sour, particularly the larger sizes. Grapes are out of the market. Lemons tend rather lower. Cape Cod cranberries are lower, but there is really no demand at any price. Green fruit should pay a good profit, there is such a large waste. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $4; Valencia oranges, $3 to $3.50 per case; California oranges, $4.50 to $5; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4.50 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $5; pines, $1.50 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Last year money was lost in onions, but this year anyone fortunate enough to have any will make money. The trouble is, the stock is quite light. There is little proper storage to keep onions here. Some red onions held here were this week shipped to Boston. The red have no sale here. Dates tend upward, the stock here being light. In prunes sale shows little life. There begins to be a demand in a small way for California prunes. In evaporated apples the market is well stocked. While there is as yet no change in price, there is a better feeling in the market. Dried are still no sale. In currants dealers do not push sale of bulk cleaned, preferring to sell cartoons, prices of which are held very firm. We quote: Valencias raisins, 5 to 6c.; layers, 6¾ to 7c.; California 3-crown L.M., 7½ to 7¾c.; 4-crown, 8¾ to 9c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2.00; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls.. 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6 to 6½c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; California, 6 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4¾ to 5c.; onions, $2.25 to $2.50.

Dairy Produce— Butter continues dull. Efforts are being made to sell Ontario and Quebec butter, but there is little opening even at the very low prices. Cheese sells slow, but higher prices are looked for. Eggs remain as quoted last week. Dealers are very shy of held stock, preferring to buy small lots of fresh in the country market at 20 to 22c. We quote : Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

Sugar—Feeling is stronger, some refineries asking a shade higher prices than last week. Quite a quantity of sugar is being brought here, because stocks have become low, but chiefly on account of expected change in duty. We quote : Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

Molasses—Trade is light, prices showing little change. It is very difficult to sell a poor grade. Stocks will be well cleaned up before new comes in. The year has not proved as profitable to importers of molasses as did the last. In syrups a very limited quantity has been handled. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

Fish—There is rather more doing in boneless fish than for some time. These goods are almost all shipped west. There are several grades sold as boneless fish : First there is that which is not cod, or only part cod, then there is the pure cod, and the pure cod without a bone ; the other grades having little ends of bone in them. This, like the last few years, has been but a fair year for frozen herring and the season is now nearing its close. All fresh fish is in light movement. In pickled demand is so light there is hardly any market. There is a fair movement in dry fish. Medium cod are preferred. Smoked herring are dull and the price low. There are no kippered herring. Frozen smelt have been moving in quite large quantities of late. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3 ; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25 ; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; smoked, 5 to 6c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; frozen herring, 60 to 65c. per 100; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. Frozen cod, 2 to 2¼c. per lb.; pollock, 1¼c.; smelt, 4 to 5c.

Provisions—Trade is dull. Pork is still low, particularly mess. In beef the price is better maintained. Smoked meats have rather better attention, but show limited sale. Lard shows quite a range, but little change in price. We quote : Clear pork, $13 to $14; mess, $12 to $13 ; plate beef, $12 to $13 ; hams, 10 to 11c. ; rolls, 7 to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

Flour, Feed and Meal—Brokers have found rather a better demand for flour during the past week, chiefly owing to stocks running low. Prices show little or no change. Oatmeal keeps easy, with stocks still quite large. Oats also tend easy, but there is little change. There is a fair trade doing. Cornmeal shows a good sale at the very low price still ruling. Hay is dull, and keeps low. While feed shows rather better demand the sale is still light. Barley we quote rather higher. Peas remain as last week ; the trade here is not large. Beans are rather lower, being where they were before the last advance, in fact, are about as low as ever known. Stocks held are large. In yellow-eye beans the trade are supplied by the local farmers and from Nova Scotia, very nice, improved yellow-eye beans coming from the latter place. The price is kept low owing to the low price of the white. Buckwheat meal begins to move slowly ; what little demand there is is for the grey. We quote : Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.70; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10 ; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.50 to $3.60 ; cornmeal, $1.85 to $1.90. middlings, $14 to $15 ; bran, $13.50 to $14 ; oats, 32 to 35c. ; hay, $11 to $12 ; barley, $3.25 to $3.50; round peas, $1.10; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25 ; beans, hand-picked, 90 to $1; prime, 85 to 90c.; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50 ; yellow buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.65 to $1.75.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Large quantities of eels are being speared in the Richibucto river and shipped to the American market.

The Lake Ontario, of the Beaver Line, this week landed 3,500 sacks Liverpool coarse salt. There is practically no fine brought here this way.

A car of Nova Scotia manilla paper, the first to come here, has just arrived. It is from Hartville, near Windsor, both pulp and paper being made there. The paper is of good quality, giving every satisfaction to the buyer.

The annual meeting of the farmers and dairymen of Nova Scotia was held during the past week at Middleton. That of the New Brunswick Association will be held at Fredericton on the 10th, 11th and 12th of this month.

The Canadian Grocer congratulates the St. John grocery travelers who came off so well from the very bad railway accident on the I.C.R., Mr. Puddington, with Merritt Bros. & Co., receiving practically no injury, while Mr. Horace Cole, with Jardine & Co., though quite badly hurt, is likely soon to be around again. Six tons of cents in the express cars are said to have been the cause of the accident.

The Duart Castle, sailing this past week, had a large passenger list, among whom were Mr. Wm. McCavour and wife, of the well-known wholesale fish and grocery house of McCavour & Co.; also Walter J. Mell, of the firm of S. H. White & Co., Sussex, and Harvey White, also of Sussex. Not only is this a splendid time of year to go to the West Indies, but the exhibition at Trinidad is an extra attraction.

A MAN FROM QU'APPELLE.

Mr. Alex. Stewart, of Fort Qu'Appelle, N.W.T., is in Toronto this week. Mr. Stewart is an interesting personage. About 30 years ago he left for the Cariboo mining country, and for 17 years was engaged in gold hunting there, coming back to Ontario a few years for a brief sojourn loaded with gold nuggets, some of which were valued at about $500. He followed this gold-hunting life for about 17 years. At present he is engaged in farming near Fort Qu'Appelle. "But," said he, "I may take a turn at mining again next year in the Kootenay country."

Mr. Stewart is enthusiastic regarding the country around Fort Qu'Appelle. "It is the best farming country in Manitoba or the Territories. Our crops last season yielded 30 per cent. more than in any other part of the West, and next year we expect to see a great influx of immigrants."

In regard to fruits, he said : "I have experimented with the larger fruits, but for some reason or other after standing for about three years they suddenly die off. Small fruits, however, do better than they do in Ontario."

NEXT SEASON'S MAPLE SYRUP.

Macdonald Bros., Montreal, expect to make about 2,000 gallons of high-grade maple syrup this season. Their sugar bush is one of the finest in Canada, and it is equipped with the most modern improvements. Should the season be favorable they expect to boil the latter part of March.

CIGAR BOX WOOD.

CIGAR and cigar box manufacturers will learn with satisfaction that there is no immediate prospect of the prices of cedar being increased beyond present quotations, remarks Tobacco Leaf. It was rumored in the city last week that an agreement among lumber importers was on the tapis, the object of which was to secure an advance by general vote. From enquiries made at headquarters we are assured that no such intention has existed—or, rather, has not been put forward as a serious proposal. That a rumor of this alleged movement should have received ready credence is not a matter of surprise when the condition of the cedar market is taken into consideration. The wonder is that it has stopped short at rumor.

The main supplies for the cigar-box industry are drawn from Cuba, Mexico coming next. Chaos has had Cuba in its clutches for the past two years, upsetting all plans and business calculations, especially those of merchants in the tobacco and lumber trades. That cigar manufacturers have not been inconvenienced before this by the scarcity of cedar, says much for the forethought and admirable arrangements of lumber importers.

The exports of Mexico are greatly influenced by the rainfalls, the logs having often to be floated down the rivers for a distance of 1,000 miles. Dependent on an element of more or less uncertainty, it often happens that the supplies available for the United States markets fall short of demand. At the present moment there is probably a six months' supply of cedar from all sources in sight, and should this not be augmented by occasional shipments from Cuba and Mexico, the situation at the end of that time will be decidedly blue. Even should the Cuban tangle be straightened out in the immediate future, it will take fully a year to get trade back in its old channels. The timber getters have been dispersed, their oxen taken away, their appliances destroyed, and the entire business all but ruined. Although the Mexican article is not equal to the Cuban in quality, it has been generally believed that supplies from that country were both safe and ample. That theory, however, has now been upset by the fact already referred to—the occasional shortage in the rainfall, and resultant obstacles of floating logs to the seaboard.

Cedar, and good cedar at that, is an essential factor to the prosperity of the cigar trade. Manufacturers of high-grade cigars naturally select the best boxes procurable for packing their goods, and in this way their interests run side by side with those of the lumber importer and cigar-box maker. When supplies are plentiful and prices correspondingly low, all benefit alike by increased trade; when the former are short and the latter high, then in turn must all interested in the industry be fellow losers. And at the present time the cigar manufacturing trade is not so flourishing but that the knowledge that cedar prices are not to be advanced will be a matter for congratulation.

CANNED TOMATOES IN THE STATES.

In reference to the canned tomato situation in Baltimore, Thos. J. Meehan & Co. write: "The distributive trade in tomatoes has been remarkably large all through December and January, and the jobbers in all sections have been surprised at the quantity of tomatoes which they have sold at this time in the season. All these goods go directly into consumption, and it is the frequent repetition of retail orders which gives the jobbers, as well as the packers, more confidence in the future of them. The lowest prices to-day on tomatoes are 55c. for 2-lb. standards and 67½c. for 3-lb. standards, net cash, f. o. b., with the majority of the packers asking 2½c. dozen higher on each size."

A well written and well set advertisement. While the argument isn't conclusive, the statement is pointed, and is likely to be believed. I criticize two points in the advertisement. First, there is no necessity of using the expression, "Call at." That is what the advertisement is for, and it is so understood, and there is no need of wasting space saying it. Second, the firm name appears twice. Once is enough. Advertisements of this class can be frequently used to advantage, as they are brief, pointed, and catchy, but they never should be used continuously, as they are only intended to be as supplementary to a definite advertisement of definite things. I rewrite and reset this advertisement, bringing out the saving idea very prominently in the heading. The advertisement, as I rewrite it, applies to almost any line of goods, but should be used only occasionally, as its argument, while likely to be appreciated, and while reading well and having in it a style which may be remembered, is not fully convincing. The advertisement would be improved and strengthened by mentioning some one article, or some definite line of articles.

HAVE STRENGTH TO SAY "NO."

MOST of the young men and women who are lost in our cities are ruined because of their inability to say "No" to the thousand allurements and temptations which appeal to their weak passions. If they would only show a little decision at first, one emphatic "No" might silence their solicitors forever. But they are weak, they are afraid of offending, they don't like to say "No," and thus they throw down the gauntlet and are soon on the broad road to ruin. A little resolution early in life will soon conquer the right to mind one's own business.

To indolent, shiftless, listless people life becomes a mere shuffle of expedients. They do not realize that the habit of putting everything off puts off their manhood, their capacity, their success; their contagion infects their whole neighborhood. Scott used to caution youth against the habit of dawdling, which creeps in at every crevice of unoccupied time and often ruins a bright life. "Your motto must be," he says, "Hoc age,"—do instantly. This is the only way to check the propensity to dawdling. How many hours have been wasted dawdling in bed, turning over and dreading to get up? Many a career has been crippled by it. Burton could not overcome this habit and, convinced that it would ruin his success, made his servant promise before he went to bed to get him up at just such a time; the servant called, and coaxed; but Burton would beg him to be left a little longer. The servant, knowing that he would lose his shilling if he did not get him up, then dashed cold water into the bed between the sheets, and Burton came out with a bound. When one asked a lazy young fellow what made him lie in bed so long, "I am employed," said he, "in hearing counsel every morning. Industry advises me to get up; sloth to lie still; and they give my twenty reasons for and against. It is my part, as an impartial judge, to hear all that can be said on both sides, and by the time the cause is over dinner is ready."

There is no doubt that, as a rule, great decision of character is usually accompanied by great constitutional firmness. Men who have been noted for great firmness of character have usually been strong and robust. There is no quality of the mind which does not sympathize with bodily weakness, and especially is this true with the power of decision, which is usually impaired or weakened from physical suffering, or any great physical debility. As a rule, it is the strong physical man who carries weight and conviction. Any bodily weakness, or lassitude, or lack of tone and vigor, is, perhaps, first felt in the weakened or debilitated power of decision. Nothing will give greater confidence in a young man, and bring assistance more quickly from the bank or from a friend, than the reputation of promptness. The world knows that the prompt man's bills and notes will be paid on the day, and will trust him. "Let it be your first study to teach the world that you are not wood and straw; that there is some iron in you." "Let men know that what you say you will do; that your decision, once made, is final—no wavering; that, once resolved, you are not to be allured or intimidated."

Some minds are so constructed that they are bewildered and dazed whenever a responsibility is thrust upon them; they have a mortal dread of deciding anything. The very effort to come to immediate and unflinching decision starts up all sorts of doubts, difficulties and fears, and they cannot seem to get light enough to decide nor courage enough to attempt to remove the obstacle. They know that hesitation is fatal to enterprise, fatal to progress, fatal to success. Yet somehow they seem fated with a morbid introspection which ever holds them in suspense. They have just energy enough to weigh motives, but nothing left for the momentum of action. They analyze and analyze, deliberate, weigh, consider, ponder, but never act. How many a man can trace his downfall to the failure to seize his opportunity at the favorable moment, when it was within easy grasp, the nick of time, which often does not present itself but once.—Architects of Fate.

GERMAN CLERKS IN LONDON.

London clerks complain bitterly of the competition they have to meet in the shape of innumerable young Germans who come to that city, not to earn a living, but to learn the language. These invaders are content with wages ridiculously small, as they look upon the service merely as a sort of post-graduate course in business methods, and expect to find compensation in the high salaries they will command at home, after it is completed.

DID NOT KEEP "JACKPOTS."

An exchange vouches for the truth of the following: "No, ma'am," said the grocer, making a clatter among the tins, "I have coffee and teapots, but there isn't such a thing as a jackpot in the store." "I'm so sorry," wailed the young wife. "We haven't been married long, and my husband's mother always cooked for him, and when I heard him talking in his sleep about a jackpot I thought I'd get one, for he mentioned it so often that he must be used to it. Could you tell me what they cook in it?" "Fish—suckers," said the grocer, and sent her to the tin shop in the next block.

THE COFFEE CROP.

A NEW YORK firm has issued a circular regarding the new coffee crop. The receipts up to the present time in Rio and Santos, says The Journal of Commerce, justify the conclusion that 8,500,000 bags is likely to be the actual out-turn of the new current crop. "This agrees," the circular says, "with the estimates received from our friends, who have cabled again during the past few days to the effect that they believe 4,750,000 bags in Santos and 3,750,000 bags in Rio as measuring the probable receipts up to the 1st of July. If we take these figures and deduct the receipts now in, the balance of the crop to come down during the five months from February 1 to June 30 means an average in Rio and Santos together of 14,500 bags per day; and from the manner in which the receipts have been sent down during January, this means a falling off of receipts between February and June, with the probability of an increase during the month of June. Taking 8,500,000 bags as the total receipts of the season, then the quantity marketed for the first six months of the crop will prove to be 68 per cent. of the total, or the heaviest percentage on record of a large crop marketed within the time stated. * * * There is one noticeable instance of an estimate as low as 7,000,000 bags (in The Circulaire Anonyme of December 31), and persisted in with the desperation of a drowning man catching at a straw.

"The Circulaire Anonyme accepts this estimate of 7,000,000 bags for Rio and Santos, and at the same time adopts a total of 4,750,000 bags for the mild crops. In so doing it adopts a minimum which obviously is 2,000,000 bags too small; but as the same author was last year fully 1,000,000 bags out in respect to the visible supply, it seems like an effort to beat that record, as sufficient evidence exists that the estimates taken are at least 2,000,000 bags short of the actual production of this year.

"The present crop in Rio and Santos is no longer debatable ground, on the basis of any figure less than 8,000,000 bags, and this some parties already commence to appreciate; but those who made very small estimates on the current crop are repeating the same practice as regards the 1897-1898 crop.

"As regards the coming crop, it has been very noticeable that the London people, who have apparently the largest interests in existing stocks and speculative accounts, promulgated estimates of 6,000,000 bags for the next Rio and Santos crops long before the first flowering commenced. Any higher figures than these did not suit their interests, and now that it is quite clear that the present crop is much larger than they have predicted, it seems to them only a natural and proper course to decrease their estimates of the next crop to conform with the excess the present crop is showing over their own figures. This action is on a parallel with the great variety of reports disseminated from Brazil since July by parties identified with the same interests—frost in July, too much rain in August, drought in October, heavy rains in November, drought in December and drought and too much rain at the same time during January.

"That the Brazilians, in marketing the largest crop on record, and in a period of a financial crisis and difficulties, should find it patriotic to represent the new crop as small as possible, and obtain for themselves the benefit of every doubt in connection with same, we consider to be quite natural, and that such tactics were adopted has been frankly admitted by one of the most experienced Anglo-Brazilians down there. The communications from this gentleman are absolutely unbiassed, and his observations go to prove that notwithstanding the enormous extensions of area under plantation and the undoubted heavy crop, the farmers have persistently talked damage to the growing crop to help them in selling the current one. But why consuming countries and legitimate dealers here and in Europe should accept these subterfuges is extremely difficult for us to understand. That the large speculators in London and elsewhere in Europe who are heavily involved should, through their branch houses, foster these reports, can be more easily understood, but it taxes the intelligence of the coffee trade generally a little too heavily to try to force upon them the idea that 'drought' and 'rains' can cause damage at one and the same time; to believe in 'frost' reports, presented with estimates in July, or two months prior to the first flowering, or to believe that young and inexperienced firms in Brazil should possess a more accurate knowledge of conditions throughout the country there than the old and recognized leading firms who have had from fifty to sixty years' experience in the same business, and whose forecasts concerning the crops have proved exceptionally correct when figuring on crop yields six months before the season actually commences.

"Our estimates on the next Rio and Santos crop (based on information from firms quoted in connection with our estimates on the present crop) are 7,000,000 bags as a minimum, but with the possibility of 7,500,000 to 7,750,000 bags ultimately. In view of the enormous increase in the acreage of coffee plantations in the State of Sao Paulo, a crop in Santos of say 3,500,000 bags must be looked upon as not merely a small crop, but, in fact, almost amounting to crop failure, and an out-turn of 4,000,000 bags must be regarded as moderate under unfavorable circumstances.

"During the past ten years the run of the Rio crops has been irregular, and so much so as to render it very difficult to make predictions which will serve as a good guide. The Rio Commissarios in their estimate given out December 1st, 1896, put the next Rio crop at 2,500,000 bags minimum for export, to which they add whatever may be left over in the interior of the present crop, as well as that coffee which grows from the December-January flowerings, usually termee Cafe das Aguas. An estimate in terms like these is very elastic, which is only too apparent. Estimates on the next crop given out by other firms in Rio are between 3,000,000 and 3,500,000 bags, which seem to be, to say the least, reasonable. From this time of the year and onward, no damage has ever been known to occur to the growing crop. Unfavorable weather occurring from February forward, and particularly drought, would affect the trees themselves, in respect to the following crop (in this case the 1898-1899 season), but such remote contingencies as these have no bearing upon serious commercial discussions affecting the current and the next crops.

"The out-turn of the outside crops, apart from Rio and Santos (in which are included the crops produced in Espirito Santo, Victoria, Bahia and Ceara), cannot be gauged with absolute certainty until the crops are fully invested. The average out-turn of the outside crops for the past three years has been, say, 5,422,000 bags, as demonstrated in our circular of July 8th, 1896. For the current season, the Central American crops as well as those in Victoria and Bahia, are known to be giving very satisfactory results, and, therefore, the ultimate out-turn is not likely to be less than the average we refer to, but in all probability more; and if, therefore, we offset the doubt of an additional 500,000 bags on the mild crops, with the probable half million beyond our minimum estimate on the current Rio and Santos crops, the total production for the 1896-1897 season is not likely to be less than 14,000,000 bags, or practically the same figures as adopted in our two previous circulars.

"We think, in view of the deliveries so far, that the output for trade purposes for the crop season may be about 500,000 bags more than the generally accepted consumption total of 11,000,000 bags, but if so, the coffee world will still witness an increase in the world's supplies of, say, 2,500,000 bags, as a surplus in one single crop season, bringing the visible supply for the world on the first of July next up to about 5,000,000 bags.

deliveries in this country have been unusually heavy, due, no doubt, to the reduced prices of roasted coffee. Some of the trade do not consider the decline in the roasted article as a natural one, but due to other influences, notwithstanding it is a fact that this decline is simply in proportion to the reduced value of green coffee, that one must follow the other, and consequently the demand for roasted is likely to be less urgent for that same reason. Heavy deliveries in the past do not constitute a good argument for better prices to follow, and it has been frequently proven that circumstances like this have been much distorted by speculators to make a favorable point of it, but we entertain the reverse view and consider that heavy deliveries at one period will be compensated in a natural way by smaller ones."

JAPS LOOKING FOR FOREIGN BUSINESS.

The merchants and manufacturers of Japan are going in for the export trade in a thoroughly practical manner. The objects of their Foreign Trades Association may give some hints to Sir Richard Cartwright, who is looking for pointers. The following is a list of committees and their objects :

1. To report facts important to exporters.
2. To secure increased facilities.
3. To prevent the exportation of spurious products.
4. To secure Government encouragement for the export trade.
5. For the education of able men for the export trade.
6. To encourage intimacy between producers and exporters.
7. To encourage the development of industries for export.
8. To examine the commercial conditions and requirements of foreign markets.

DRIED FRUITS IN THE STATES.

FROM all accounts the United States is at present the cheapest market for dried fruits, but more particularly raisins. The results of the past few months covering the period of shipments seems to have been most unsatisfactory to sellers of foreign raisins, whereas they had been led to believe that a market for all they could spare from the supplying of European demands could be found here. As the result proves, they were mistaken and the market is depressed under efforts to sell.

The California crop turned out to be much larger than, according to the early reports, was expected, and in consequence the market for weeks past has been in a demoralized condition so far as layers and clusters were concerned.

There has been and still continues to be a good demand for loose raisins. However, that demand has been checked to some extent by the general business depression. All kinds of foreign raisins have shown a downward tendency, and present prices, it is reported, are about the lowest that have been made here for several years past. At the same time reports from the primary markets indicate that stocks are light, and that prices are strong and advancing. For the season to date the receipts of Valencia raisins have amounted to about 210,000 boxes, as compared with 140,000 boxes for the same period in 1896. Of Malaga raisins, we have received so far this season 55,000 boxes, against 22,000 boxes for the corresponding period last year.

This increase in the importations of foreign fruit is attributed to the reports sent out early in the season that the California crop would fall far short of supplying the demand. As the result shows California had an ample, though not large, crop, and the sellers of California raisins have had to meet an excessive competition from abroad, it is claimed, because of the misleading reports as to the extent of the crop sent out from California at the beginning of the season. With large supplies on hand and with a dull market holders of foreign raisins seem anxious to sell.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

A LARGE TEA SALE.

Messrs. Kearney Bros., of Montreal, sold on the 1st day of March, 1895, to Leclaire & Letellier, of Quebec, 62;601½ pounds of teas for the sum of $10,016.24. Upon action being taken for the recovery of a balance of $1,829.25 upon an invoice, the defendant contended that instead of the sale being made at 16c. per lb., the same was made at the prices marked on the different samples of the teas furnished. Plaintiff, immediately after the sale to Messrs. Leclaire & Letellier, sent invoices showing that the sale had been made at 16c. per lb., and then drew upon them for the amount of $10,016.24. Defendants accepted three drafts on account, but refused to accept the last one, contending that the prices, instead of being 16c. all round, were 10, 12, 13, 14, 16, 20 and 22c. per lb. The Superior Court held that as the defendants had received the invoice at the uniform price of 16c., before any tea was delivered to them, and as they did not object to this price, and that as the invoice had been retained by them from February to August without any objection, that this invoice should be considered as stating the conditions of sale and the price, and condemned defendants to pay the balance of $1,829.25. This judgment was reversed by the Court of Queen's Bench, but the Supreme Court has now reversed the judgment of the latter court, confirming the judgment rendered by Mr. Justice Andrews in the Superior Court, with costs against defendants.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of "Neptune" currants in half-cases.

Robert Greig & Co. have constantly on hand a full range of Bryant & May's safety matches, wax vestas and tapers.

The Silver Dust Mfg. Co. write that they already notice a movement in their goods in anticipation of spring house-cleaning.

Gunn Bros. & Co. report that their consignments of new laid eggs and butter are larger than usual for this time of year.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have still a limited number of show cases for grocers' use, which they are offering at a low figure.

There is good demand just now for jams, jellies, and marmalade, and T. A. Lytle & Co. report that they are getting their share of the trade.

W. H. Gillard & Co.'s travelers are taking orders fast for Young & Smylie's new line of triple-tube cent licorice. This is a taker with the consumer.

W. H. Gillard & Co. advise having made extensive purchases in Japans and Young Hysons, which are offered to the trade at a price based on purchases made at a low point of the market.

The Canadian Cocoanut Co. are putting up a neat and attractive 5-lb. package. It is a tin canister, nicely decorated, with a glass front showing the "White Moss." They have quite a few orders booked for them, and, as they make attractive shelf goods, should take well.

CIRCLE TEA.

This tea, which has jumped into such prominence during the past few weeks, certainly deserves all the praise it is receiving from the leading retail trade. The quality is most excellent, as we can safely say, having tried it ourselves. The label is a striking one, both tea and packing being quite original. Full instructions for opening the can are given on a neatly printed card placed on the top of the packet, thus ensuring to the housekeeper a very useful container after the tea has been taken out. The "Circle" tea packet is air-tight and odorless. No tea should be kept open in bulk, as the leaves give out their flavor and aroma, often receiving in exchange more than they give out in the way of odors of soap, fish, cheese, etc. The cases contain 60 lbs. net; 3-bar is put up in pounds only, the higher grades, 4 and 5-bar, in pounds and halves.

HE MADE A GOOD PRESIDENT.

THE retirement of Robert Bickerdike from the presidency of the Montreal Board of Trade is very much regretted by all the members. He has been one of the best men who has ever occupied that position. He could have easily been re-elected by acclamation, for there was a very strong feeling among the members that he should take office for a second term. Mr. Bickerdike, however, had announced at the time of his election last year that he thought the honor should go round, and that one man should not hold the position for more than a year. It is greatly to his credit that, notwithstanding the strong pressure brought to bear by his friends, he refused to take office for another term, much as he would have liked to.

He has been an ideal president, not because he was a man with numerous new schemes or fads to carry out, but because of his strong personal influence in political and municipal affairs he was able to bring the regular work of the board to a successful conclusion. Important questions which came before the board could not have been as well handled with a president possessing less personal power. This factor is worth considering when selecting any business man for this office. A man who has no personal weight, tact and ability will not have the strength to carry through important matters, even when supported by the moral influence of much more prominent members.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

The Davidson & Hay Ltd. have a complete stock of fish on hand and merchants ordering for their Lent trade will find their prices right.

The Davidson & Hay Ltd. report large sales of "Kurma" tea during the past 30 days, showing a large increase over the corresponding period of last year.

This is a copy of a letter sent the F. F. Dalley Co., Ltd., by A. Waddell & Co: "Dear Sirs,—Please send to us as soon as possible one gross of your English Army blacking. I am pleased to say that during my 40 years' experience in the grocery business, in this and in the Old Country, I have never used nor sold a blacking that gave better satisfaction. For a quick and lasting polish it is unsurpassed."

A CORNER IN CLOVES.

THE position of cloves just now is an exceedingly interesting one, and though the individual transactions of grocers may be, compared with their dealings in other produce, rather limited, the aggregate business done by them therein is of a sufficiently large bulk to make a movement one way or the other worthy of attention. Moreover, it is in small things that the balance of profit or loss is oftentimes struck. The Nitrate King, now no more troubled by "slumps" or upward dashes, did not confine himself in later years to South America or the Stock Exchange, but dabbled in every article that could be bought or sold largely with a view to increasing his goodly store. One department of Mincing Lane struck him as ripe for a corner. Spices had long been depressed. He conceived the idea of moving them out of the rut, and began with cloves. A syndicate was formed to buy up stocks, and in ordinary cases it might have succeeded by its strength. But this was not an ordinary case. For years cloves have been over-produced, bounteous nature and the inexpensive character of the labor required to cultivate the trees (being entirely slave labor) have combined to make the stambas, or plantations, a continual source of profit to their owners without trouble or expense, and the market has been so flooded that prices have gone down lower by comparison than even kindred depressed articles of consumption. For there is a very clearly defined limit to the use of the clove. If butter or cheese or other articles of the food of the people get low, consumption is stimulated and the glut gets removed. But people will not rush on to cloves, however cheap they may be, and production, having a long lead on consumption, has resulted in ever-increasing stocks. The syndicate did not last long, as the inopportuneness of its appearance was rapidly made evident by an even greater output than before, sales in Zanzibar amounting during the season of 1895-6 to 20,723,565 lbs. against 14,006,615 lbs., an increase of 6,716,950 lbs. over those of 1894-5. On the collapse of this syndicate it was concluded that "bulls on cloves" would not easily be found again, as the stocks in Europe were large and production showed no sign of diminution, and only recently, when the rumor went round the market that the old game was to be played once more, the old heads laughed and talked about burnt fingers. But from some statistics just received from Zanzibar, together with an analysis of the situation which we have made from the antecedent and existing circumstances, it would appear that those gentlemen who in September were reported to be buying heavily in London were actuated by a knowledge of the potentialities not generally possessed here; and if they are holding and can still hold, they may make some money yet. The position is not too clear, even on the spot, as the Government officials, the merchants, and the Custom authorities are at variance as to the reasons for the complete change which appears to have come over the situation. But that a change has come is as clear as the sun is said to be at noonday. The season of picking begins in September and ends in March. The first two months are generally very heavy ones, as stamba proprietors are hastening to rake in the money for which they have so long been waiting. Therefore, it is startling to find that during September and October this season only 960,995 lbs. were brought to market from Pemba and Zanzibar combined, being a decrease to the enormous amount of 3,303,300 lbs. as compared with the corresponding two months of last season. The season was undoubtedly late, and the heavy rains interfered to some extent with the bringing to market of those picked; but though General Sir Lloyd Matthews, who has an intimate knowledge of the subject, puts these causes down as the sole reasons for the decline in the marketings, the collector of Customs at Zanzibar gives it as his opinion that 25 per cent. of the crop has been lost through scarcity of labor, many hundreds of pounds rotting on the ground, while others have been allowed to wither on the trees for want of attention. A merchant on the spot also gives it as his opinion that the enormous falling off cannot be accounted for by lateness of the season alone, nor does he think that the reason is to be found in the cuteness of proprietors of plantations holding for a rise, as it is well known they are in desperate straits for money at the opening of the season; therefore, it is necessary to look elsewhere for a cause. Slavery still exists in Pemba and Zanzibar—that is to say, old slaves remain; but, owing to the passing of the slavery law, no new ones can be imported, and as the old ones die off, or are manumitted, their places can only be filled by paid labor. As the price of cloves at Zanzibar, which averaged Rs. 4¾ in 1895, fell to Rs. 3¾ per frazil in 1896, there was not much encouragement to planters to put paid labor on their stambas, and the freed slaves who have been given land whereon to work have shown themselves disinclined to do more than they are compelled, so that they make no addition to the available supply. The want of attention which the plantations have thus received has probably seriously affected the trees themselves, as well as causing a loss of a certain quantity, and though it would be idle, from the results of simply two months' receipts out of six, to gauge the whole season, it is not unreasonable to suppose that the total output will show a decrease when March has arrived. The bombardment of Zanzibar caused a slight dislocation of the trade, but as the usurper was so swiftly wiped off the face of the earth, together with the palace which sheltered him, and the zealots who surrounded him, a week encompassed the whole of the trouble. The bubonic plague at Bombay has had a more appreciable effect, trade being paralysed there by the outbreak; but the cessation of shipments thither will only cause the demand to be greater later on, when things settle down once more. An ordinary decrease would not be felt much. We could meet that from large English stocks. But if the extraordinary rate of decrease we have noted be maintained throughout the season a rise must come, even though it be small. The present year is expected to show an improvement from the recent bed-rock prices of many articles of commerce, and, considering that a 25 per cent. decrease in values showed itself last season over its predecessors, it is not at all improbable that cloves will this year show a better return to producers. The corner in cloves may, therefore, be a reality after all.—The Grocers' Journal.

PAY AS YOU GO.

THIS is a good time—the eve of a universal business revival for merchants of all classes to prepare the way for the introduction of the cash system, says Mercantile Journal.

It cannot be done all at once—all economic reforms are evolutions, not creations, but a beginning can be made by limiting credits and making them dependent upon prompt payment at specified periods.

Prompt payment is the parent of cash payment; and limited credit is not materielly different from no credit. The one soon merges into the other.

Prospects are that the people will soon have full employment at good wages, when they will have no reasonable excuse for running bills. It is greatly to their interest to pay as they go.

The past three or four years has been very trying on retailers, especially grocers, who have found it impossible to collect outstanding bills for goods for which they had to pay cash. This severe experience should admonish them to be more cautious in the future.

The cash system does not benefit the dealer so much as the consumer. The latter gets his goods cheaper, because they can be sold cheaper. It enables the dealer to go into the open market and buy to the best advantage, often making an extra profit. This he shares with his customers.

Somebody must pay bad bills. The dealer cannot lose them. It would break him up. It is done indirectly, by increasing the price of his goods. There would be no necessity for this if the cash system prevailed.

As a matter of economy consumers should study this matter for themselves. If they will do so they will find that they can make a fair profit by paying as they go.

THE "DIAMOND"

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

Our Javas and Corduroy

Biscuits are prime favorites and just the kind for this time of the year. We have this week put out another new Biscuit that for price and quality is a "Cracker." We call it "CUBANS." It meets the demand for a cheap line. It will pay you to watch this space every week. Maple Syrup is beginning to sell.

The Lard that Sells

The real value of anything—the profit, either to you or your customers—lies in the goodness it is possible to extract from it. The best value contains the greatest amount of goodness condensed—purity, or—much in little.

The first profit is only the stepping stone to confidence. Look out for the first profit.

"Rose Brand"
Hams, Bacon, Lard.

Rose Brand Lard is absolutely free from Acids to make it firm or white.

It leaves no sediment when melted because there is no sediment to leave. Whatever is fried in it won't stick to the frying pan.

It is always fresh because the demand for it keeps us making it all the time.

FIT FOR THE QUEEN

Our condensed mince meat is a pure, clean and wholesome article fit for the very best tables. It pleases the most fastidious tastes just as it comes from the package, but is improved by the addition of a little cider or wine.

For mince pie, plum pudding, or fruit cake it is most delicious. Easily and quickly prepared.

By Samuel Hopkins Adams in Scribner's Magazine.

IT is along this line of selecting the best material for the work to be done that the great stores are successfully conducted. There is often an annual "taking of stock" of all the employes as well as of the goods; and that one who has by faithfulness and cleverness earned the good opinion of the floor-walker or superintendent, or perhaps of the buyer, who is likely to be wandering casually about his department seeing how things go, will experience a change of salary for the better at the end of the year. Many stores will not retain clerks who cannot prove themselves of increasing value. Others graduate their employes every year, reducing some while promoting others.

Honesty on the part of the employes must of necessity be taken for granted to a great extent; nevertheless there is in every store a complete system of checks on dishonesty that runs from top to bottom, the buyer alone being beyond its reach. For his actions he is responsible to the firm alone, nor is there any way in which they can tell beyond some easily taken precautions whether he is buying for their advantage or his own. Some years ago the head of a department in a Boston store bought, so the story goes, $40,000 worth of furniture from a certain manufacturer, where he should have purchased not more than $7,000. Of course he was instantly discharged. Moreover the store strove to repudiate the debt, but the courts decided against it. It was impossible to prove that the buyer was bribed. Another instance is said to have occurred in New York where a buyer, being sure of his impending discharge, bought 250,000 red plush albums all of one pattern, most of which were subsequently given away as souvenirs, because they could be disposed of in no other manner.

Some houses require all buyers to send to the firm each day a duplicate of any order given— as a rule, too, figured out in dollars and cents—and each order is passed upon a high authority before it is confirmed; thus the purchases are kept account of as close as the sales. This, of course, does not refer to purchases made by the buyers when traveling, but to purchases made in the offices of the buyers themselves, where the great bulk of buying is done. A large Brooklyn store sends a notice to all houses from whom it buys, that the firm will not be responsible for any order given for future delivery of which a copy is not sent for verification. While this may seem to cast suspicion upon the buyers it makes such dishonest purchases as above described impossible.

In general, two kinds of peculations must be guarded against—thefts of cash and thefts of goods. To illustrate how the barriers to dishonesty are set it may be said that the sales or cash tickets will identify all of the fifteen or more employes described above who handle every article sold. At the conclusion of the transaction, the purchaser has one check giving all the details of the sale in concise form, and the firm has the other, and the books and cash fill out the complete record. For every parcel that goes to the delivery-room or is taken away by the customer, there must be a corresponding amount of cash, or a check indicating either credit or that the goods are to be sent C.O.D.

All records are kept, in case of complaint. Under the system of delivery the percentage of error is about one-hundredth of 1 per cent. It is no uncommon thing for the firm using this system to deliver nearly, if not quite, 20,000 packages in one day, and receive not a single complaint of failure to deliver.

Credit checks are in some stores sent through a special line of tubing to an office separate from the cash desk; in others, to the cash desk and thence to the credit office, where they are marked O. K. if credit is to be allowed, or with a small private mark if not. The authorization clerk, upon whom rests the responsibility of this marking, can, after a few years' experience, tell at a glance in most cases, whether the name and address given on any slip is that of a regular credit customer in good standing. Considering that the number of credit customers varies from 10,000 to 60,000 in different stores, this is something of a feat.

These credit customers may be a source of enormous loss to the store. To look after them is the business of the credit, or authorization department, consisting of the credit-man, a number of underlings who do a species of detective work, and the authorization clerk, whose work is merely a sort of book-keeping. The credit-man can more quickly ruin a store than any other employe. As a financial authority he is unequalled. Every large customer of the house is known to him by name, reputation, and pecuniary status. He knows the customer's habits, and very likely the number of servants he keeps. If there is a rumor of decline in the customer's business, the credit-man quickly finds out if his bills are promptly paid. It is a grave matter to withdraw credit, however, meaning as it does the loss of a person's trade, so that the credit-man is slow to do it. The New York credit men have a club, of which the members meet weekly to exchange views and information on business matters; for rivalry between the big stores is almost invariably friendly, and they exchange courtesies continually in such matters as information derived regarding the responsibility of prospective credit customers. Each large city has its Retail Protective Association, and the well-managed store, on learning that a customer has become "bad pay," will notify the association, with the result of shutting off his credit at other stores. In this way the "bad pay" buyer is prevented from going to some neighboring establishment, the result being that he will probably continue to buy at the first store and pay cash.

Dishonesty of a professional character is the kind least to be feared by the merchants. Still, it is reckoned on as an element in profit and loss, one store calculating its loss by shoplifting at $15,000 a year. To keep this crime within limits the store detective is employed. The keen-eyed mysterious sleuth of fiction, with his disguises and strategems, couldn't get a place at any price in a department store. The best store detective is the man or woman who looks the least like one. His or her business is to wander around inconspicuously and look uninterested. When one of them appears most moribund it is probable that he has just discovered some woman dropping a lace handkerchief into her unrolled parasol in an informal manner. When he does make an arrest it is done very quietly ; and the shoplifter, if she be a woman, as nearly all shoplifters are, is escorted to a cabinet where a woman searcher goes through her clothes, often extracting more things than Mr. Herman gets from a silk hat. Professional shop thieves are provided with what is technically known as a "kick," a long pocket of amazing capacity, extending the length of the skirt. Some of their other wiles are the half-open umbrella, the loose blouse waist, and the infant in arms, who is made an innocent receiver of stolen goods thrust under its long skirts. More dreaded by the detective than the professionals, all of whom he knows, is the kleptomaniac. She will steal anything, and in many cases it is inadvisable to prosecute her, for business reasons. If there is any reason to suppose a woman respectable who is caught stealing, she is never prosecuted for the first offence, but is compelled to write out a confession, which is held over her as a warning. At least five New York stores hold such confessions from a woman reputed to be very wealthy. A Chicago store offers a scale of rewards to employes discovering shoplifters, and this scheme has had excellent results.

To the merchant whose tremendous store machinery is running without friction and turning out what profits it should there still remains one great vital problem : what new thing he shall attempt. Progress, he knows, is necessary to his success. The methods which were successful ten years ago are antiquated now, just as the most progressive methods of to-day will be outgrown early in the coming century. He knows, too, the disastrous consequences of a false step. To be conservative, yet bold ; to branch out in some startling innovation which shall yet be a safe venture, and shall not impair the firm's reputation for soundness ; these are his hopes for the future. New styles of business have, in the past, established firmly the stores which first brought them out. A purpose always in the minds of the proprietors is to introduce some new feature which will add to the attractiveness of the store ; if original, and to be found nowhere else, so much the better. One Brooklyn store has sent to its thousands of credit customers a little silver tag containing the number of the shopper's account. Upon this being shown and the name given to prove that the proper person is using it, she may carry away such purchases as she may desire, or have cheques cashed. Clerks are trained to know their customer's name and desires, and a thousand and one little attentions are shown to make the purchaser feel at home. One important feature that the stores practically first introduced is that of allowing goods to be returned which are not wanted by the purchasers, even if no fault can be found with them.

The mail-order system, which sprung at once into popularity, gave an enormous impetus to the business of the firm that first tried it. Every other firm copied it, but the pioneers had covered a large field before their imitators followed. The department stores prophesied and probably accelerated the scorching into popular favor of the bicycle, and to-day, almost without exception, the big establishments have a wheel department, while not a few conduct bicycling academies. The progressive store—and all must be progressive—responds instantly to the latest fad ; no new thing comes into the market but is quickly pushed into notice, and indeed many ideas are first put forward in one of the many departments. One original enterprise, which has had a gratifying success to those engaged in it, is a combination of some of the stores in the smaller cities, whereby they exchange goods, and in that way rectify to an extent errors of stock. For instance, that a certain line of novelties would not sell in Rochester is no argument that Denver would not buy it, so the Rochester merchant with an overstock in his hands, sends it to his Denver fellow-merchant and he sells it out for him. In return the Rochester man undertakes a line of silks which the Colorado merchant couldn't dispose of at all, and conducts a highly successful bargain sale therewith. A dozen cities are now represented in this combination. A feature of this combination is syndicate buying. A single experienced buyer purchases goods for a string of a dozen stores in different cities, thus they are all able to get goods at a rate which only the largest consumer could secure, and each bears its proportion of the expense of the buyer's salary and his assistants.

LOBSTERS AND PACKERS.

Lobster packers, from all one can learn, are going more largely than ever into the trade next season, and many new men will try their hand at the business. No one doubts now that the ground all round the island is being over-fished, and if some restrictions are not put upon the catchers, the lobster in Newfoundland will soon be as extinct as the auk. The uniform close time system does not apply to the varying coastal conditions of this country, and the sooner it is substituted for a uniform length of time (the starting point to be decided by the packers within their own districts, with defined boundaries, the better. We take this occasion to reply to two or three persons who have written us on this subject to say that we believe that the Government are willing to support any reasonable suggestion that those interested in this fishery will make them.—Trade Review, St. John's, Nfld.

TRADE CHAT.

THE Woodstock Board of Trade will memorialize the Government to put up a new municipal or other public building in that town.

The produce business carried on by Mr. D. L. Schultz, Guelph, has been purchased by Mr. James Ryan.

The merchants of Tilsonburg are troubled with sneak thieves who purloin articles from the front of their stores.

Winnipeg grain dealers are taking off their buyers from provincial markets, as deliveries have closed almost entirely.

A meeting of the creditors of Bate & Co,. Merrickville, insolvents, was held yesterday. The statement showed liabilities about $5,500, and assets $400.

Thomas Brady, of Peterboro', grocer, who was committed for trial on a charge of defrauding his creditors, has assigned to Robert B. Rice, of H. P. Eckardt & Co.

The Yokohama Gazette states that "owing to a great rise in the price of timber Japanese timber dealers of Yokohama propose to import pine and other timber from Victoria, B.C."

Store proprietor : "So you want a job as floor walker, do you? Have you any recommendations?" "No, but I'm an experienced hand, sir. I'm the father of nine children."

A report is current that before the rush of spring immigration the headquarters of the Lake Manitoba Railway and Canal Co., generally known as the Dauphin railway, will be located in the city.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

The creditors of Halliday & Co., general merchants, Chesley, met at the Royal Hotel on Friday and accepted an offer of 70c. on the dollar to secured creditors and 50c. to unsecured creditors. The liabilities were stated to be $10,000.

The business men of Dauphin, Man., have decided on forming a board of trade, and at the initial meeting Messrs. McIntosh, Barker and Rintoul were appointed a committee to communicate with the Winnipeg board as to constitution, bylaws, etc.

At London the stock of George F. Burns, gentlemen's furnisher, was sold by Auctioneer J. W. Jones to Mr. Boughner, of St. Thomas, at 57c. on the dollar. The stock of Parker & Co., of Woodstock, was purchased by A. E. Pavey & Co., at 39c.

Hibborne Bros., general mercnants, Baden are seeking an extension of time spread over two, four, six and eight months, without interest. The assets of the firm, according to the statement, amount to $12,037, and liabilities to $7,362, leaving a surplus of $4,676.

INCREASED BOUNTY ON SUGAR.

The notable event of the week in connection with sugar, say Willett & Gray, is the discussion in the French Chamber of Deputies of the new French sugar bounty law, which has passed its first reading and is now receiving amendments. After passing the Chamber of Deputies it has still to pass the French Senate, and it will be some time before it becomes law. The bill provides for bounty on exports of 3½ to 4½ francs, or, say, equal to 30¾c. per 100 pounds on raw sugar and 39⅜c. per 100 pounds on refined. These rates are above the German rates, which allow bounty of 27c. per 100 pounds on raws and 38¼c. per pounds on refined. The bill is retroactive in its application, and will apply to about 100,000 tons sugar remaining in stock in France. It remains to be seen if French granulated will be sent to the United States in competition with German and Dutch granulated, but we presume it is the intention of the law to find export markets for all sugars. At present, in connection with our own remodelling of the sugar tariff, the foreign bounty laws are of the utmost importance, as it is absolutely necessary for the protection of American interests that these foreign bounties should receive careful consideration by our Congress.

THE BRAZILIAN COFFEE CROP.

THE following calculation regarding coffee receipts, made by a prominent house, will be of interest, says N. Y. Journal of Commerce : The Rio and Santos crops for the 1891-92 season were 7,386,000 bags, the largest on record up to that time. By Feb. 1, 1892, the receipts from these crops were : Rio, 2,532,000 bags ; Santos, 2,434,000 bags; total, 4,966,000 bags, practically two-thirds of the total yield. The balance of those crops (Rio, 1,190,000 bags, and Santos, 1,241,000 bags) was received as follows :

	Daily average Rio.	Daily average Santos.	Total daily avg. Rio and Santos.
February	10,000	10,000	20,000
March	9,675	9,193	18,868
April	7,833	8,666	16,499
May	6,130	7,580	13,710
June	6,666	6,000	12,665

If such statistics concerning the previous largest crop on record have any comparative value, it is interesting to observe how they might apply on the current Rio and Santos crops, which will prove the largest ever grown :

	Rio Bags.	Santos Bags.
Total receipts to Feb. 1, 1897	2,456,000	3,922.000
If to these are added the quantities received in the five months, February to June, 1892	1,190,000	1,241,000
The total yield of the current crops could be put down as	3,646,000	5,163,000
		3,646,000
Total		8,809,000

Given that the current Rio and Santos crops have been marketed more rapidly than usual, the fact remains they are admittedly larger than in 1891-92, and it requires no stretch of imagination to expect that just as much remains in the interior now of the current Rio and Santos crops as there was at the corresponding period of the 1891-92 crops. It is, therefore, quite reasonable to calculate that the average receipts for February, March, April, May and June this year may not be less than in 1892, viz :

	Bags per day.
February	20,000
March	18,000
April	16 500
May	13,700
June	12,600

If the new Rio and Santos crops should be early, the receipts for May and June may be much larger.

SOME PRACTICAL ADVICE.

PERSEVERANCE is the only certain road to success. The man who takes up a business, no matter what it is, and pursues it, and nothing else, almost invariably comes out ahead, while the man who is constantly changing from one thing to another, is equally certain to fail.

This truism has received a fresh illustration in a town within less than a dozen miles of Pittsburgh. About ten years ago two men started in the grocery business on a small scale. They soon received a respectable trade. For a while both prospered. But at length one of them was seized with the get-rich-quick mania, and commenced dabbling in outside interests. Oil was his hobby. He neglected his store, and his business fell off. Finally he sold out. Then he met with losses in oil. A short time ago he secured a situation in a city house.

The other man stuck to his store, leaving outside matters alone. He prospered. He will soon move into a new building—one of the largest in the place—which he has erected at a cost of about $8,000. His future is secure.

A glance over the list of successful grocers in Pittsburg affords further illustrations of the value of perseverance. They have not achieved prominence in a year or two. Success has not been thrust upon them. They have won it by hard, persistent work and singleness of purpose. They have let other things alone. Instead of aspiring to sudden wealth, they have been content with the slow but certain gains of their legitimate calling.

The beginning of a new year is a good time to consider this matter and lay it to heart. In taking stock grocers should consider their purposes and methods as well as their goods. To begin well is to end well. "Too many irons in the fire" is the cause of many failures. The grocery business is so complicated as to demand undivided attention. Nothing less will assure success.

A country grocer not long ago called on a wholesaler, and, in the course of the conversation that ensued, remarked, "I am thinking of going into an outside speculation." "Don't do it," replied the wholesaler. "It will involve you in difficulty, weaken your credit, and may lead to disaster. You are making money in your present business. Let well enough alone."

This advice is worth heeding. It is sensible, and those who accept it will find that it will lead to success. Let well enough alone is a good motto for the year that has just been rung in.—Mercantile Journal.

"And you will never forget me ?" asked the girl of her lover, a grocer's assistant. "Never," he said absently. "Is there anything more to-day ?"

The Hull In the Throat

It is impossible to clear the hulls from Rolled Oats as they are commonly prepared. Hulls have no virtue anyway—by themselves. Consumers don't want them. But the trouble is they usually get 'em, want 'em or not. If they don't stick in the throat they hurt digestion, so they're bad either way.

We think we clear 99 per cent. of the hulls from our "Pan Dried" (REGISTERED) Rolled Oats by a new process. We do not believe in "good enough"—neither do your customers. The hull in the throat is almost as bad as the sand in the sugar, but—hulls make their presence unpleasantly noticeable at once. . . . . .

NEWFOUNDLAND COD FISHERIES.

THE Newfoundland correspondent of The N. Y. Fishing Gazette has the following in a recent issue of that journal :

"The beginning of the year 1897 has suggested a review of the exports of fish and fish products from this country during the year just ended, and also to compare these exports with those of the previous year.

"Of codfish, 333,417 quintals were shipped from St. John's, against 389,538 quintals in 1895, a difference of 56,121 quintals in favor of 1895. In seal oil, 471 tuns were exported, against 571 tuns for 1895. Cod oil, 2,496 tuns for 1896 and 3,189 tuns for 1895. Many were of opinion that the heavy shipments between July and December would result in a larger quantity going out of the country than was exported the preceding year ; but a difference of 693 tuns favors 1865. Salmon, 2,273 tierces for 1896, against 1,784 tierces in 1895. Herring, 1,385 barrels for 1896, against 2,572 barrels in 1895. Lobsters, 31,519 cases for 1896, against 23,910 cases for 1895.

"When the French fish merchants reported that in a few years the Newfoundland and Labrador fisheries would be things of the past, they evidently had good grounds for such an alarming statement. We observe that St. Pierre exported in five years —1891 to 1895— 123,101,707 kilogrammes, or 2,198,244 quintals, of codfish. In 1891 the quantity exported was 373,764 quintals, while in 1895 there was exported from the same island 532,681 quintals — an increase of 158,917 quintals, or over 4 per cent. Ten francs per quintal is the bounty on French fish, and a franc being worth about 20 cents, we find that the immense sum of $4,000,000 has been paid those who fit out the fleet of fishing vessels which sail from France and make St. Pierre their headquarters. Is it any wonder that the exports from our markets in Europe are so discouraging?

"At the present writing a fish exporting firm of this city has 100,000 quintals of dried cod in its stores, with no promise of their immediate disposal. It is also stated that there are 60,000 quintals more in the Oporto market than it can absorb. It really looks as though Newfoundland would shortly see another financial cloud in her commercial horizon. Let us hope not !"

AS TO PEPPER.

"It has always amused me," remarked a botanical expert to a contemporary, "to hear people talking of their preference for black pepper over white and the various explanations they give for the same. Little do they know that both black and white pepper grow upon the one shrub. Over the pepper seed grows a black covering. The seed itself is white, or nearly so. To make black pepper the seed and its external covering are ground up, while the white pepper is the seed alone ground up. White pepper is milder than black, the greater part of the pungency being in the covering. A pepper made of the covering alone would be such, to use a slang term, hot stuff that it would burn the mouth. The black covering of the pepper seed contains the oil."

CALIFORNIA RAISIN POSITION.

In its issue of January 30 The California Fruit Grower says regarding the position of raisins on the Coast : "There is no lack of confidence in the raisin situation, and Fresno holders are firm in their views as to price for sound, well graded stock. We are informed that several orders for carload lots of layers have been turned down, as buyers would not meet holders' views. One order for 1,000 boxes was rejected on a firm offer of 97½c., when the asking price was $1, f.o.b. One large house purchased a whole crop of fine raisins on the basis of 3¼c. less 5 per cent. commission, and we learn that some of these goods are being sold a shade below the present asking prices, or at 2¼, 3¼ and 5¼c. for 2, 3 and 4-crown respectively. Estimates place the stock on hand at primary points at less than 400 cars. Several Fresno packers have purchased choice stock on the 3¼c. basis for 2-crown, hence cannot sell for less than 3½c. The entire output of the San Joaquin valley for 1896 is now estimated at about 3,000 cars."

A HINT TO WINDOW DRESSERS.

MAX BEERBOHM, the English artist, has been expressing his views on window dressing and other things in The London Daily Mail. He tells the British retailers that their windows are "quite repulsive." Addressing the jeweler as an example : "You fill your windows," he says, "with a garish and unseemly chaos of all you have—bracelets, sleeve links, penknives, tiaras—toute la boutique. Your rival in Paris, even in New York, is much wiser. He understands the value of a reticent symbolism. Very little puts he into his window. What he puts in is good. Men and women beholding praise it. But their imagination has been stirred, their appetite whetted for the things that are withheld and they long to enter in at the door."

The grocer will find a good suggestion in the above, remarks Chicago Grocer. The majority of windows are usually chock-full of everything and the display, if it may be called such, remains for weeks. In window dressing, as in business, the old adage holds good, "Do one thing and do it well." Few merchants have the advantage of the grocer in material for display. The purveyor of delicacies can obtain beautiful effects and at the same time tempt the appetite. Window dressing is an advertisement that pays, no matter whether the store is located in the city, town or country.

CLERKS AND WINDOW DRESSING.

Three points of vital interest to the grocer who would be successful are good clerks, attractive show windows and perfect system.

Very few grocers get the assistance and co-operation of their clerks to the fullest possible extent. The proprietor who does not consult with and take advantage of the suggestions made by his clerks is not alive to his best interests. To every grocer who will send his name and address to the National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, O., they will be glad to send a copy of their booklet "Hints to Clerks."

The value of attractively dressed show windows is more appreciated every year. The National Cash Register Co., has for those who are interested in this subject, a booklet called "How to Dress Show Windows."

But most important of all is the matter of having a perfect system for handling the money which comes in and goes out over the counter in the course of a day's business. A letter to the company mentioned above, giving your name, address, number of clerks employed, percentage of business on credit, and stating whether or not you employ a casher, will bring a handsomely printed description of a system used in stores like yours.

INDEPENDENT OF THE STATES.

THE two members of the Canadian Government who are in Washington, on a reciprocity tariff mission, according to press despatches, do not appear to be meeting with much encouragement.

This may have more foundation in the imagination of the United States newspaper men than in fact, but still, in view of the utterances of public men and newspapers over there THE CANADIAN GROCER fears that the allegations are only too true.

It is a pity that Canada and the United States cannot live more peaceably with each other in a commercial sense. Our parentage is the same. Our language is the same. But in trade matters it appears that we are at daggers drawn.

There is, no doubt, fault on both sides. But ours is the lesser, and theirs the greater fault.

Canada has more than once gone more than half way with a view to bringing about a better trade relationship. But her propositions fell upon deaf ears. And it appears that they are likely to do so for some time to come.

If a fair, businesslike, reciprocal treaty with the United States can be obtained, Canada will be only too glad to accept it. But we are not disposed to importune till our knees get threadbare. Life is too short, let alone the quantity of dignity that would be sacrificed if we were disposed to do so.

Canada is ready and willing to reason, to discuss the question with the United States; but not to importune her. All we want is "yes" or "no." If it is the latter, we'll to our business. We have other and more friendly customers to which we must attend.

Next to Great Britain the United States is the best market for our products, but it has not been one which we have been able to develop satisfactorily. Away back in 1873 we sent more goods than we did in 1895.

Taking our export trade with the various foreign countries during the five years ending June 30, 1895, we find the percentage of increase to be as follows: Great Britain, 24.40; United States, .308; France, 32.40; Germany, 17.60; Holland, 178; Belgium, 248.60; Newfoundland, 58; West Indies, 19; China and Japan, 39; South America, 22.58.

Of course our export trade to all the other countries outside Great Britain is not to be compared in volume with that to the United States; but still, to know that our trade with them and the Motherland is increasing substantially, while that with the United States is practically at a standstill, should increase our independence of the latter's markets and stimulate us to push our products all the harder in those countries which have a kindlier feeling towards them.

CIVIL SERVANT'S SACRED SALARY.

FRESH interest in the movement having for its object the abrogation of the law which shields dishonest civil servants from their creditors has been created by the decision of the merchants of Ottawa to seek an amendment to the law whereby the garnishing of civil servants' salaries may be permitted.

Civil servants, as a class, may be no more dishonest than any other class of citizens. Neither do they appear to be more richly blessed with the quality of honesty than the butcher the baker or the candle-stick maker. There are a lot of them that do not pay their debts. And the fact that various communities of business men in the country have time and again urged the removal of the special privileges which the Ottawa merchants are now seeking to have removed is evidence of that.

Morally, the man who scribbles in a Government office has no more right to be made the special ward of the law than has the man who hoes corn.

The reason forsooth that he is the special ward is born of a notion long ago exploded.

Being the servant of the Crown it was conceived in a "moment of weakness" that his person, like that of the king he served, was sacred At any rate, if the doctrine was never asserted it was at least implied. And his purse was made as sacred as his person, for it was enacted that no creditor should attach it

No matter how orthodox this view might have been in the long ago it is not so to-day. To-day it is heterodox The civil servant is not now the servant of the Crown; he is the servant of the people. And it is full time that, like other mortals, he should be made pay his debts.

A GOVERNMENT MISTAKE.

IT is becoming more evident every day that the Government made a mistake in not delegating to a commission of business men the duty of gathering data for revising the tariff, as suggested six months ago by THE CANADIAN GROCER.

The work was too great for three or four Ministers to circumnavigate it in the time allotted them. These Ministers, as heads of Departments, had their work cut out for them without being compelled to travel from one end of the country to the other in quest of material for tariff making.

It is obvious that either the Department which they manage or the tariff which they are enquiring into must suffer. And it is most likely that both have suffered to a more or less extent notwithstanding that the three members of the Commission have been working like Trojans since they set out upon the present task.

No blame can be attached to the Commissioners. It is only the principle which heaps double duties upon their head which is at fault.

The result of this faulty system is to be seen in the condition of affairs to-day.

Here we are into the middle of February. By the time the House meets we shall be practically into the middle of March. And it is quite reasonable to expect that another two or three weeks will have elapsed before the new tariff can be brought down. This will bring us into April.

Had the Government done as this paper suggested the tariff could have been brought down two months earlier at least than it now possibly can be.

And because the tariff was not brought down as early as it might have been the trade of the country is suffering, and that unnecessarily.

The tariff needs revision, and THE CANADIAN GROCER pressed this upon the attention of the late as well as the present Government. But we have also urged that it should be done as expeditiously as possible and in a manner that would cause the least trouble to the trade and commerce of the country.

Now, however, the commercial interests of the country have been on the tenterhooks for several months. They are still hanging there. And the longer they hang there the more uncomfortable does their position become.

To-day the trade of the country is almost at a standstill. In a few lines, upon which it is thought possible that the Government may increase the duty, there is a little speculative buying, but in other lines the manufacturers will neither make nor the merchants buy any more than is necessary for their immediate and pressing wants.

TO FIX THE PRICE OF PAPER BAGS.

A MOVEMENT is on foot having for its object the fixing of a uniform price on paper bags. Whether it will be successful remains to be seen.

But whether it will or not, one thing seems about certain. Prices can scarcely go lower than they are to-day.

And in view of this fact merchants throughout the country would do well to keep their supply of paper bags complete.

The paper bag industry of Canada has not been a satisfactory one to the manufacturers for some time as far as prices are concerned, they claiming that at the present figures they are losing money. If, therefore, the movement to fix prices is consummated a sharp advance in values may naturally be expected.

It was not always, by any means, that low prices obtained in the paper bag industry. Only a few years ago, when the industry was practically monopolized by one manufacturer in the west, the prices he obtained yielded him a handsome profit. But by-and-bye a new and extensive concern, with new and improved machinery, sprang up in the east, and the result is the cheap paper bags of to-day.

When this new paper bag factory in the east started operations the discount for large quantities was about 25 to 30 per cent. To-day 50 per cent. is a common discount, while 50 and 10 to 50, 10 and 5 per cent., with 3 per cent off for cash, is obtained by some.

When a man grasps the situation he has obtained the under hold that will enable him to throw the difficulties.

THE CANNED GOODS PACK.

At the last meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association the Executive Committee was instructed to devise ways and means for endeavoring to curtail the coming season's pack of vegetables and fruits. In pursuance of these instructions the committee met at the Walker House, Toronto, on Tuesday. Little, however, was done beyond collating figures as to the pack of 1896.

The total pack of vegetables and fruits in the country, both factories inside and outside the association, was estimated at about 600,000 cases, or nearly 14½ million cans. About nine-tenths of the pack was by factories in the association, and the figures regarding that portion were sworn to.

A meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday next to receive the Executive Committee's report.

Exports of canned goods during the past season have been larger than ever before, and it is estimated that, besides what has already been consumed by the home market, something like 150,000 cases have been exported, leaving stocks now in packers' hands light.

A convention of snuff manufacturers was held in Philadelphia the other day. It was a sneezer.

FREIGHT DISCRIMINATION.

THE complaint is general among jobbers in green fruit in Montreal that business is abnormally dull this winter.

Traders who ought to know state that instead of eight or ten carloads of fruit leaving Montreal each week, as was the case last winter, there is hardly one carload this year.

This is an abnormal condition of affairs, and it is due to new conditions which did not rule last winter. Chief among these are the high freights to Montreal owing to the advance in ocean and railway carriage on all bulky freight this fall and winter, the difference being 25 per cent. greater than the rates prevailing last year. For instance, lemons and oranges can be bought at Liverpool this winter and laid down in New York at a freight cost of 40c. per box.

To lay them down in Montreal costs $1. Accordingly, the green fruit jobbers are only bringing to Montreal what they want for local consumption in its immediate vicinity.

All other orders for points in Ontario, up the Ottawa Valley, and in Quebec, are imported direct via New York on a through rate, which means a saving of 25 to 50c. per box in freights.

As a result of this unusual state of affairs Montreal has almost ceased to be a distributing centre for European green fruit, and if the same conditions prevail next year, will lose still more of this trade. During the summer season of course the circumstances will be different.

The Lamp Chimney Trust in the United States has collapsed. Competition evidently got too hot.

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN GINGER.

Cables received on the Toronto market this week announce another advance of equal to ½c. per pound in the price of Cochin ginger.

Canada's supply of ginger now comes nearly altogether from China, the Cochin variety, on account of its lower price, having to a large extent replaced that of Jamaica growth. The latter costs about 6 to 7c. per pound more than the former, hence grinders give the Cochin article the preference.

GROCERS' SMOKING CONCERT.

THERE was a pleasant gathering of retail grocers, wholesalers and commercial travelers in St. George's Hall, Elm street, Toronto, on Monday night last. It was on the occasion of a smoking concert under the auspices of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association.

The affair was a success from every standpoint: There were about 200 present; there was an abundance of "the weed" in its various forms; there was an ample supply of refreshments; there were a couple of score of card tables and there was an excellent and varied programme.

The president of the association, Mr. J. S. Bond, was chairman and master of ceremonies. In a neat little speech, with which he introduced the programme, he expressed his pleasure in seeing so many present, and took occasion to notice the diversity of interests represented. This latter feature led him to animadvert upon the advantages to be derived from retailers, wholesalers and travelers meeting in the social circle occasionally. To the retailers present who were not members of the association he extended a warm welcome and urged them to join the organization and help solve the problems which from time to time confronted the trade. "It is not, however, our purpose," he remarked amid laughter, "to solve the problem how to sell at 35c. per dozen canned goods bought at 50c. per dozen. At any rate, the school I was raised in taught us to try and make a profit on everything we sold."

Those who contributed to the programme were: W. E. Dunn, piano soloist; Sam Wilson, humorist; — Kettles, mouth organ soloist; — Wallbridge, impersonator; W. J. Moody, vocal soloist; M. Yorill, reader; — Fletcher, instrumental soloist.

MR. LEGENDRE TAKES THE CANE.

At a monthly meeting of the Grocers' Clerks' Society, held at St. Joseph's Hall, February 7th inst., the treasurer's report was read and found satisfactory. The secretary's report shows an increase of 47 members since last report. The president presented Mr. O. Legendre with a fine cane, he being the winner of the competition open to members of the society bringing the largest number of bona fide members during the year. The following officers were elected for the year:

President, J. P. Beauvais, (re-elected).

1st Vice-president, E. A. Barsalou.

2nd Vice-president, P. J. Wayland.

Secretary, H. A. Sirois.

Treasurer, G. N. Robert.

A pleasant afternoon was spent by the members.

CONVENTION OF MANITOBA MERCHANTS.

A TWO days' session of Manitoba and Northwest merchants was held in Winnipeg on Thursday and Friday, the 4th and 5th inst. Among those present were : Alex. Acheson, Rosenfeld ; W. C. Bond, Gladstone; J. F. Boyd, Minnedosa; J. J. Bargen, Plum Coulee ; R. E. Bradford, Macdonald; E. J. Coade, Carievale ; E. O. Denison, Minnedosa; W. A. Donald, Pilot Mound; J. F. Fumerton, F. Frederickson, Glenboro, W; W. Fraser, Emerson ; J. H. Fargey, Lakeview; T. S. Gray, Beausejour ; F. Graham and R. M. Graham, Melita ; J. J. Heaslip, Alameda; G. H. Healy, Virden ; J. F. Knight, Gleichen ; Jos. G. King, Port Arthur ; F. G. Lewis, Birtle ; C. Landry, Mariapolis ; Isaac Loewen, M. Long, Gretna; G. W. Morfitt, Gladstone; T. B. Mickle, J. D. H. Mickle, Carman; J. Murray, Brandon; D. A. Macdonald, Regina ; Joseph McLean, Hamiota; D. McIntosh, Dauphin; R. G. McLaren, Souris ; John McKinnon, Dauphin; R. J. Noble, Oxbow; J. E. Parrott, Saltcoats ; G. Peacock, Emerson ; C. Pieper, Gretna; H. S. Paterson, Portage la Prairie; N K. Reed, Strathclair; J. H Standing, Belmont ; Edi Shilson, Snowflake ; A. G. Williams, Gladstone ; J. W. Whitman, Emerson; James White, Rapid City ; J. O. Johnstone, Birtle; John Lane, Birtle ; Thos. Lane, Birtle; J. A. Merrick, Virden ; E. A. Ramsay, Virden; J. M. Stewart, Virden ; W. J. Stinson, Austin ; T. J. Agnew, Prince Albert; O. J. Abraham, Deleau ; W. W. Bole, Moose Jaw ; Wm. Dickson, Alexander ; John S. Dawson, Regina ; Jas. Dowswell, Emerson; Chas. A. Flower, Birtle; Octavius Field, Hugh Ferguson, A. Hitchcock, J. A. Healey, Moose Jaw; J. A. Johnson, John Law, Thos Leese, Birtle ; Jas. A. Merrick, Virden; G. Michaelis, Regina; G. W. Mahon, Douglas; M. J. MacLeod, Moose Jaw; John McGurl, Moosomin ; H. McDougall, Moose Jaw; J. R. McPhail, Prince Albert ; E. A. Ramsay, Virden; R. Rolston, Killarney ; J. M. Stewart, Birtle; W. J. Stinson, Austin ; J. J. Story, Wawanesa ; W. C. Thorburn, Broadview ; Wm. Trant, Regina ; R. S. Thompson, Glenboro ; A. Whitelaw, Brandon ; R. H. Williams, Regina.

The proceedings of the convention were opened on Thursday evening in City Council Chamber.

Mr. D. W. Bole, president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, called the meeting to order. He extended a hearty welcome to the delegates. He then briefly related the steps that had been taken. About three months ago a business men's convention had been suggested. The Board of Trade had sent out some 600 postal cards of inquiry all over Manitoba and the western territories. These had been very extensively answered, and a unanimous wish had been expressed that a business men's convention should be held. There were throughout the country a great many very successful business men, and their success indicated that they had good methods. He was sure they would be patriotic enough to discuss these methods.

Mayor McCreary was called upon to welcome the delegates. He said it afforded him a great deal of pleasure, indeed, to do so on behalf of the city. The object was very important, namely, to discuss the best manner of conducting the business matters throughout the province. The delegates were untrammelled by political ties ; they had no constituents to whom they were responsible, but were here to do what they wished in the best interests of the province. He spoke of the effect upon trade of departmental stores ; also of the desirability of having a bankruptcy Act passed as soon as possible. Such an Act should extend, not only to the merchants, but to the farming community. After having given up all his assets a man should get a discharge from his liabilities. The Dominion Government should be urged to let some other matters go and pass this necessary legislation.

The chairman declared the convention opened, and stated that 19 resolutions had been handed in for consideration. He suggested the appointment of a small committee on organization, and on motion of Mr. Denison, seconded by Mr. Acheson, it was resolved that a committee of 10 be appointed to nominate officers.

The chairman, being requested to do so, nominated the following as the Organization Committee, and the nominations were approved : Messrs. Denison, Acheson, R. T. Riley, Fraser, R. M. Graham, King, Lewis, Mickle, McIntosh, A. Strang, with R. T. Riley as convenor.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATIONS.

It was moved by W. G. McLaren, seconded by J. W. Whitman, and resolved:

Whereas, it would be of great advantage to the business men of Western Canada if some means existed that would enable those in one town or village to meet together for the consideration of matters of common interest and to communicate with those in other towns and villages ; and whereas boards of trade may be incorporated only in places having a population of 2,500, making it impossible to establish such boards in small places ; and whereas this convention considers that some form of trade councils with a simple form of constitution and bylaws, might be inaugurated and made workable : Be it resolved, that this convention appoint a committee (to be named by the chairman), to draft such form of constitution and bylaws as may be deemed necessary, and further, that members of this convention agree to take steps to give a fair trial to the attempt to establish such trade councils, in the towns and villages where they reside.

Short speeches were made by Messrs. C. N. Bell, R. J. Whitla, Francis Graham and G. Pocock.

The Organization Committee then reported, Mr. R. T. Riley reading the recommendations, which were, that the officers consist of one chairman, two vice-chairmen, one secretary and an assistant secretary ; that a committee on resolutions be appointed, to consist of eight members, who shall have a meeting previous to each session of the convention, to which shall be submitted all resolutions which shall decide as to the order, and whose decision shall stand absolute unless overruled by a majority vote ; that the meetings of the convention shall be called to order at 10 a.m., adjourn at 12.30; assemble at 2 p.m., adjourn at 6; assemble at 8 and adjourn at 11; that, before the final adjournment of the convention, a committee of not less than seven shall be appointed, whose special duty it shall be to see that all recommendations and resolutions of the convention are brought to the notice of the proper authorities ; that the following be the permanent officers of the convention :

J. G. King, Port Arthur, chairman.
H. S. Paterson, Portage la Prairie, 1st vice-president.
E. O. Denison, Minnedosa, 2nd vice-president.
C. N. Bell, Winnipeg, secretary.
Committee on Resolutions—Alex. Acheson, Rosenfeld; J. F. Boyd, Minnedosa ; D. McIntosh, Dauphin ; J. W. Whitman, Emerson ; F. W. Adams, Brandon ; Geo. H. Healey, Virden: D. A. Macdonald, Regina· James E. Steen, Winnipeg.

The report was adopted.

The president-elect, on taking the chair, referred to the fact that he did not belong to this province, and added that it was a great misfortune Manitoba did not extend down to the head of the lakes, as all the interests and desires of the people there were with this western country, of which they were really a portion. He hoped that out of this meeting would come a business association, a western Board of Trade, or something of the kind, in which business men might meet and discuss business questions on business principles. He accepted the presidency of the convention as a great honor.

The resolutions in the hands of the secretary were referred to the Committee on Resolutions, and the convention adjourned.

The convention resumed on Friday morning.

TWO-CENT POSTAL RATE.

The Committee on Resolutions reported having sanctioned the submission to the convention of resolutions re the following subjects : A uniform rate of two cents postage, appointment for Northern Europe of commercial agents who would assist immigration, the needs of manufacturers, Crow's Nest Pass railway, handling of dairy goods, fire insurance rates, early closing of stores in rural districts, the credit system and laws relating thereto, the grain standards and who should make them, immigration and express and local freight rates.

The first resolution taken up was that in regard to the two-cent letter rate for Canada. The resolution submitted was in the form of a memorial and read as follows :

To His Excellency, the Right Honorable the Earl of Aberdeen, etc., etc., Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada, in Council.

The petition of the business men's convention humbly showeth,

That this convention is of the opinion that a revision of the postal rates and classification of mail matter should be made that would provide for a uniform rate of two cents per ounce on letters for carriage within Canada, and from Canada to Newfoundland and the United States.

Wherefore, your petitioners do pray that Your Excellency in Council will sanction legislation providing for a uniform rate of two cents per ounce on letters posted in Canada for delivery in Canada, Newfoundland and the United States.

And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Signed on behalf of the business men's convention.

The memorial was unanimously adopted.

CONSULAR AGENTS.

The next resolution was in regard to the appointment of consular agents in Northern Europe. It was proposed by Mr. Steen, and seconded by Mr. F. H. Mathewson, ex-president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, and urged the appointing by the Dominion Government of a regular staff of commercial agents general, one to each of the countries in Northern Europe, who could each have numerous deputies in leading points of each country ; and that one leading duty of such agents and their deputies should be to furnish to applicants in search of a home in the new world, the fullest information regarding the resources of the Dominion and its advantages as a new land to settle in. "This convention," concluded the resolution, "sees also, in this arrangement, a valuable power in furthering the trade interests of both importers and exporters in the Dominion, enabling importers to deal direct with foreign manufacturers instead of through British middlemen, and also enabling exporters of grain and other Canadian products to deal direct with continental European purchasers, instead of through the commission houses of London, Liverpool and New York, as has been the general rule heretofore."

Mr. Thomas Gilroy, who was one of the framers of the resolution, spoke very earnestly in its favor.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

On motion of Mr. Mathewson, seconded by Mr. Macdonald, it was decided to limit the speeches of movers and seconders to fifteen minutes, and of all others to five minutes.

On motion of Mr. Steen, seconded by Mr. D. A. Macdonald, of Regina, it was resolved to impress upon all good citizens of the country that every encouragement should be given to the establishment of manufacturing industries in the Canadian Northwest, to supply local demands, where that only is possible, and to export where that is possible ; and especially should attention be given to building up industries which would utilize the immense amount of raw material now allowed to go to waste in that part of the Dominion.

Secretary Bell then submitted the following resolution :

That the present rates of fire insurance on town and village property where there is no fire protection are unfairly apportioned and that the Manitoba Board of Underwriters should be petitioned to appoint an inspector who will rate every risk according to its construction, occupation and exposures.

This resolution was moved by Mr. C. Shilson (Snowflake) and seconded by Mr. M. Long (Gretna). Mr. R. T. Riley, Winnipeg ; Mr. R. S. Thompson, Glenboro ; Wm. Dickson, Alexander ; Mr. Murray, Brandon ; J. H. Brock, Winnipeg ; T. B. Mickle, Carberry ; J. A. Merrick, Virden ; J. A. Teissman, Winnipeg ; T. Gilroy, Winnipeg, and other gentlemen, discussed the resolution. Mr. Brock, a member of the Board of Underwriters, assured the convention that their resolution would receive greatest respect and most careful consideration. The resolution was adopted.

EARLY CLOSING.

A resolution on deep waterways, and one on the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway were received and referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The chairman nominated as a committee to draft a committee to draft a constitution and bylaws for boards of trade or trades committees for smaller towns in different portions of the province, Messrs, D. W. Bole, F. H. Mathewson and C. N. Bell, of Winnipeg.

Tne following motion re early closing of stores in rural districts was moved by Mr. A. Strang, seconded by Mr. Williams :

Whereas it is the custom of the business people of many of our towns and villages to continue their establishments open to a very late hour of the night ; and whereas, such does not in any manner increase the amount of business to be done, does not give time for reasonable recreation, and is detrimental to health and spirits alike of proprietors and employes ; therefore be it resolved that, in the opinion of this convention, it is desirable that merchants in every business community should have an understanding to close their places of business at a reasonable hour in the evening, 6 o'clock, and that an understanding having been come to among the merchants of any given community that they should then communicate with neighboring towns and villages to endeavor to have a similar arrangement made, with a view of its universal adoption.

Messrs. J. W. Whitman, Emerson ; Graham, Melita ; G. H. Healey, Virden, and others, stated the experience in their several towns, and favored the hour of six o'clock instead of seven in summer and eight in winter, as suggested in the resolution, in the fprm in which it was moved. The change was made and the resolution passed unanimously.

BUTTER MAKING.

Mr. R. M. Graham, of Melita, moved, seconded by Mr. J. J. Shorey, of Wawanesa, a resolution in reference to the making and handling of butter.

Mr. Whitman pointed out the difficulties of merchants in the butter trade. There was no market for the old-fashioned roll butter ; and it was not found profitable to buy at 15c. and sell at 13c. down to 4c. He suggested that it would be well to have an understanding that the roll butter would not be taken, but that it must be worked up into one or two-pound prints. The farmers, he complained, did not back up the merchants in their efforts to improve the state of things.

Mr. J. J. Storey said that not 10 per cent. of the farmers have a fit place to make butter in.

Mr. J. A. Merrick, of Virden, spoke in favor of using fibre butter tubs. At Virden an inspector had been appointed and paid so much a pound for inspecting. Grades 1, 2, 3 and rejected had been fixed, with a difference of 2c. a pound. The first year a great deal had been rejected ; but the second year the quality was improved.

Mr. D. W. Buchanan, of Winnipeg, spoke in favor of establishing creameries wherever possible, and encouraging the farmers to support them where established.

Mr. R M. Graham thought it impossible to establish creameries everywhere, and held that farmers should be urged to take greater care in making.

Mr. T. B. Baker found that the use of separators would do much to evercome the difficulty. He approved of the recommendations that butter never be repacked in the same tubs, and that care should be taken in making. In answer to Chairman King as to the superior quality of imported Liverpool dairy salt, he said that Canadian salt was quite capable of filling the bill.

Mr. A. Whitehall, Brandon, regarded the creamery system as the perfect system. His experience was that farmers would not bring in butter until three or four months after it was made. He had been in the butter business 14 years in this country, and two or three years in the east. He held that spruce packages were as good as fibre packages. Efforts should be made to keep the creamery business in operation the year round. A difficulty now was that as soon as the retail price of butter goes up a little they cease to supply milk.

Mr. S. Barre emphasized the importance of discouraging the manufacture of dairy butter, and encouraging its manufacture in creameries.

Vice-President E. O. Denison, of Minnedosa, suggested that merchants agree to stop buying dairy butter where creameries exist.

The motion was then carried in the following form, the mover and seconder accepting some amendments proposed by Mr. Whitelaw, of Brandon.

Resolved: That owing to the changed condition in the dairy trade, owing to the introduction of the factory system, and to other causes, it is more necessary than ever that dairy grades of butter should be marketed promptly, while it is fresh and sweet, in order to enable it to compete at all with the fine factory butter. When butter factories have been established it is urged that the merchants and farmers should encourage and support in every way possible the factories in their respective districts in preference to home-made dairy butter, as the demand for dairy grades of butter is limited. and in many cases cannot be exported to advantage in competition with factory-made goods. Merchants who handle butter are further advised to urge their patrons to use a good quality of dairy salt in making butter and to use uniform packages of desirable size and style.

On motion of Mr. Steen, seconded by Mr. Barre, a resolution was adopted recognizing the fact "that a system of cold storage linked with an efficient refrigerator system of transportation is necessary for Canada as a whole," and urging the Government to extend liberal aid to the project.

EXEMPTION LAWS.

The following motion was then moved by Mr. E. Shilson, of Snowflake, seconded by Mr. Wm. Cousers, of Medicine Hat:

Resolved, that any legislation, whether in the form of exemption laws or otherwise, which places the debtor possessed of means beyond the power of the creditor to collect just debts from him, is a deliberate abuse of the powers placed in the hands of legislators and places a premium upon dishonesty; and furthermore, even the economic advantages alleged to be gained by exemption legislation cannot possibly be attained by any law or laws which enable a man to evade payment for the food, clothing and other necessary household supplies of his home. Therefore, this convention appeals to the Legislature of Manitoba and the Northwest Assembly to amend the exemption provisions of such laws so as to give powers of seizure within the limits now exempt to creditors who have supplied such household goods.

The resolution was supported by R. Rolston, of Killarney; W. Trant, of Regina, and R. L. Richardson, M.P., and adopted unanimously.

A resolution favoring the establishing of grain standards similar in quality and value to those with which Manitoba and Northwest wheat came into competition, was moved by S. Nairn, seconded by R. McGurl, of Moosomin, and unanimously adopted.

WATERWAYS AND RAILWAYS.

It was moved by Mr. A. Strang, and seconded by Mr. Steen;

That this convention, composed of business men of Manitoba and the Territories, learn with satisfaction that the Dominion Government is now taking steps looking toward the construction of a canal at the St. Andrew's Rapids, recognizing as they do that the construction of this work would form one of the most important links in the development of our great western waterways. This convention would urge the early completion of this important work, and would further urge upon the Dominion Government that during the coming summer survey work be undertaken, of a preliminary nature at least, to determine the following: First, the feasibility and approximate cost of securing an unbroken water route from the Upper North Saskatchewan to Winnipeg and other Manitoba points, via the Lake Winnipeg route; and also by the alternate route via Lakes Manitoba and Winnipegoosis and the connecting rivers. Secondly, the feasibility of securing a water route from the Red River to the Lake of the Woods, and thence easterly to Lake Superior. Thirdly, the feasibility of opening a water route from Lake Winnipeg to Hudson Bay. This convention would further urge upon the Dominion Government the advisability of considering the usefulness of the navigable waterways of the Peace-Mackenzie River basin, in improving communication on that great river. The business men of Manitoba and the Territories assembled at this convention would further desire to place themselves on record as opposed to the granting of control over any of our waterways to private individuals or incorporations.

It was moved by Mr. A. Strang, seconded by Mr. R. Rolston, Killarney, and resolved "that this convention desires to impress upon the Dominion Government the extreme desirability of having a railroad built to connect the province of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories with the Hudson Bay, and that substantial aid should be given to any bona fide company undertaking the construction of such a railroad."

COLLECTION OF SMALL DEBTS.

Mr. W. Trant, of Regina, introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, a large volume of business is done under the credit system, and it is desirable that the seller should be protected against the dishonest purchaser;

Resolved:

First—That the existing law should be modified so that the cost of collecting small debts be reduced.

Second—That the amount exempt from garnishee order should be reduced to $10, and that the assignment of unearned salaries be made illegal.

Third—That so far as the collection of debts is concerned Government employes should be placed on the same footing as other citizens.

Mr. Trant complained that the collection of small debts is expensive, dilatory and uncertain, whereas the action of the law should be cheap, rapid and certain. He proposed as a remedy for existing evils that a debtor having against him a judgment and costs of less than $100, and not having the means to pay, be permitted to pay in instalments of say $10 a month. He explained the working of the plan in the Old Country. He suggested the establishment of a small costs court, for the cheap disposal of small debts.

The motion was seconded by Capt. D. McIntosh, of Dauphin.

The president gave some of his experience as an employer of labor, of the hardships resulting from the garnishee law. He found that credit was granted too freely by merchants to extravagant families of men known to be getting good salaries.

Mr. Steen proposed that only a certain portion of a man's salary be made subject to garnishee, leaving a married man a certain amount for the support of his family, and a single man a certain proportion for board.

The motion was unanimously passed.

A resolution favoring the reduction of freight rates and improving communication between the prairie districts and British Columbia was carried without discussion.

Mr. T. J. Agnew, of Prince Albert, moved and Mr. J. R. McPhail seconded a resolution expressing the opinion that substantial aid should be given by the Dominion Government to the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway to enable the company to extend its line to the town of Prince Albert.

The mover and seconder and Mr. H. S. Paterson, of Portage la Prairie, and Mr. R. S. McPhail, of Prince Albert, spoke in support of this motion, and it was passed with out opposition.

Mr. R. J. Noble moved, "that this convention desires to impress upon the Canadian Pacific Railway managers, the necessity for the extension of the Pipestone branch of their road into the Moose Mountain district, seeing there is a well settled country there, containing hundreds of settlers, who have been located there from 12 to 15 years who have still to haul their marketable products from 20 to 70 miles to the nearest railway point."

The resolution was carried.

EXPRESS CHARGES.

Mr. J. H. Ashton moved that:

Whereas the express charges on goods from point to point over the western division of the Canadian Pacific Railway are based upon an advance over rates charged by the same company in the eastern provinces of from 33⅓ to 125 per cent. and over, and whereas such excessive rates are very detrimental to the interest of the business community of this country, and whereas the reducing of the express charges on the western division would result in a very material increase of business done, therefore be it resolved that the Dominion Express Co. be memorialized and requested to reduce the rates on the western division to a point but little, if any, in excess of those charged in the eastern provinces.

In speaking to the motion, Mr. Ashdown made a comparison of eastern with western express charges, showing that the latter are greater for similar distances by 33⅓, 50, 66⅔, and even 100 per cent. The rates, he said, were such that comparatively little stuff was carried by express; a reduction, he held, would increase the traffic.

Mr. J. Agnew seconded the motion, Mr. Thorburn, of Broadview, supported it, and it was adopted without further discussion.

C. P. R. FREIGHT RATES.

A motion was introduced by Mr. J. H. Ashdown, and after discussion was amended and adopted in the following form :

Whereas it is advisable that trade between the different points within the province of Manitoba and the Territories to the west of us should increase to the greatest possible degree, and whereas the rates charged on the various lines of communication have much to do with the increase or otherwise of the said traffic, and whereas the rates of freight charged on the Canadian Pacific Railway from point to point within Manitoba and the Northwest Territories are very greatly in excess of the rates charged for similar service in the eastern provinces on that road, Therefore be it resolved that the Dominion Government be memorialized and asked that in any arrangement with the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. looking to the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass railway, the purchasing of lands or other dealings, that the matters of rates of freight on the western division be taken into consideration and such arrangement made as will bring them down to but little, if any, over the rates prevailing in the eastern provinces.

Mr. Ashdown claimed that the progress of the country had been retarded by the railroad freight rates. The C. P. R. was built for the country; a large amount of land was given to the company and held for an increase of value. There was no reason why the rates through the wheat lands should be so much in excess of those to the east. The traffic, he held, would have been double what it is if there had been a more liberal policy in regard to land and freight rates. There should be lower rates of freight on produce going out. If the policy outlined by Mr. Van Horne had been carried out, and grain had been carried at a little over cost, fuel at cost and building material at a little over cost, instead of the adoption of a policy of taking as much as the traffic would bear, great advantage would have resulted to the country. The company had had representations made, without effect; there was no hope that it would do anything; hence it was necessary to ask the Government to intervene. The policy of charging a certain percentage over eastern rates had been adopted. On all classes of merchandise the increase was at least 50 per cent.

Mr. R. A. Williams, of Regina, seconded the motion. He gave several instances. He had shipped from Regina to Golden, B.C., produce which cost $150 and the charge was $189.

President King wished for a reconstruction of the preamble. He said the through rates were less on all railroads than local rates.

In the discussion that followed those taking part were Messrs. Geo. Pocock, Emerson, McPhail, Johnston, H. S. Paterson, J. H. Brock, A. Macdonald, Wm. Trant and G. F. Carruthers, after which the motion was carried without opposition in the form in which it appears above.

ASSESSMENT OF MERCHANTS' STOCKS.

Mr. R. T. Riley moved and Mr. G. F. Carruthers seconded the following resolution :

That the assessment of stocks of merchandise for municipal taxation, as at present, should be abolished—a system of taxation based on rental value or income being considered fairer. The mover pronounced the present system of assessment of stocks a farce as now carried out; and he said that if carried out it would be found so unjust that there would be a general outcry against it. He gave examples of inequalities. In one case stock and fixtures, worth $41,000, had been assessed at $3,600; three stocks worth respectively $30,000, $120,000 and $66,000, had been assessed in one year at $20,000 each. A stock of $8,000 to $12,000 had been assessed at $2,000 only. This system of taxation was wrong. The merchandise in one's possession does not represent his ability to pay taxes. He favored a system of rental, or income tax.

The resolution was unanimously passed.

Mr. Thos. Gilroy moved and Mr. A. Strang seconded a resolution pointing out the need of increased population in Manitoba and the Northwest and making the following recommendations as a means of securing that end :

1. That far more effort be used than has yet been made. 2. That much larger appropriations be set aside for immigration in accordance with its importance as necessary and profitable public expenditure. 3. That united effort be used and strictly business-like methods, free from party influence. 4. That wise selection be exercised and thoughtful attention be given to the needs and facilities of incoming home-seekers in order as far as possible to encourage and help them to attain the comfort and ultimate success so readily within the reach of men of the right kind. This convention is also deeply impressed with the great value and need of individual exertion, and would pledge the members thereof, and urge on each and every one of the community to try and do something to help along the common good, and thus secure the rapid and substantial progress which the advantages and attractions of Canada should unquestionably command.

The resolution was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Denison, it was referred to the Winnipeg Board of Trade to appoint a committee to carry into effect the resolutions of the convention and forward them to their proper destinations.

Mr. Ashdown said that he had fallen in heartily with the idea of a convention; and he hoped that it would be only the beginning of meetings of this sort. If other questions of importance to the country were considered they would perhaps be able to accomplish, 12 months hence, more than had now been done. He was glad to see so many of his friends from the country present, and hoped they had had a pleasant time.

On motion of Mr. Thos. Gilroy, seconded by Mr. D. W. Bole, a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. King, president, and Messrs. Paterson and Denison, vice-presidents. Mr. C. N. Bell, secretary, was also thanked for his services.

On motion of Messrs. Bole and Paterson, thanks were voted to the Mayor and City Council of Winnipeg for their kindness; on motion of Messrs. McGurl and Noble, to the Winnipeg Board of Trade, and on motion of Messrs. Ashdown and Gilroy, to the railroad companies for reduced rates.

The convention was closed shortly after 11 o'clock on Friday night.

STRASSBERG TRUFFLE AND GOOSE LIVER SAUSAGE.

For this sausage, which should be made frequently in small quantities, in order to keep it juicy, make batches of about 10 lbs. Use 2 lbs. white calf's liver, cut into thin slices, broiled a little in hot water, chop up a little; then add 8 lbs. pork of young solid hogs from the belly and neck, half fat, half lean, and chop the pork very fine.

Then roast to a light yellow in fresh butter, 4 pieces shelots, rub them fine with a pinch of salt, and add same to the mass.

Then take 5¼ oz. salt, ½ oz. finely ground white pepper, 76 grains best white ginger, 76 grains mace, finely ground.

Mix well with the mass and taste; this sausage, which is regarded as a fashionable delicacy, should not be too sharp.

Then cut 7-oz. nice, red salted boiled tongues into fine dice, about half-grain size, add 1¾ oz. Perigord truffle in dice about the same size, and mix it to the mass.

When all is well distributed, throw firmly into the stuffing machine and stuff lightly into very wide fresh hog guts. The sausage should not be longer than one foot; if it is made longer there is danger of its being dry and parboiled at the thin ends.

Boil the sausage from three-quarters of an hour to an hour, according to thickness; on being pricked, the fat which exudes should be perfectly clear and white. Boil in clear broth; never boil with blood sausage. When finished, put into cold water which is frequently changed, until sausage is perfectly cold. This procedure keeps the juice nice and white.—National Provisioner.

COST MARKS FOR GOODS.

A WRITER in an exchange, who has evidently devoted some time and study to the subject, has recently been compiling for the use of long-suffering business men, a list of keys for cost marks on goods, and below is given the result of his labor.

Ever since the shopkeepers bought at wholesale and sold at retail it has been a time-honored custom to mark the cost and selling price upon articles for sale. That these marks, or at least the cost mark, may be clear and enlightening to the merchant and his employes, while baffling and untranslatable to the rest of the world, considerable ingenuity is sometimes employed, but the average man is content to take some easily rememberable word having ten letters to represent the ten Arabic numerals.

The choice of a cost mark is an easy matter. The most common one is the first ten letters of the alphabet. Next to that, the last ten. But these are quickly guessed. Better than these are words (one or more) which have ten letters. All that is necessary is to be careful to choose a word or phrase in which there are no duplicate letters. For instance :

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0

will not do, because 2 and 7 are represented by the letter R. Substitute "Quick" for "Brisk" and the cost mark will be all right.

If you are leaning toward the prohibition party this might suit you :

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0
B A D W H I S K E Y

Here are a few words or phrases which are used for this purpose. A merchant must be very particular if he cannot be suited in such a list.

You might get a "Snug Profit" or a "Cash Profit." If you keep a "Gainful Job," you must stick to the "Big Factory." If you are a "Big Scholar," you would be an "Elucidator" of what is "Profitable." Keep in mind the "importance" of attending to your own business. Keep away from the law. Don't be so "Friendly" with the disciples of "Blackstone" as to get upon the wrong side of the "Prison Gate."

More than one firm uses the name "Jane Bishop" or "Bishop Jane." The writer knows a David Wilson who uses "Wilson Dave," and also another whose name, "John Bagley," is his cost mark.

Better than any of these, however, is a lot of letters which will not spell anything. Such a cost mark is a little more difficult to memorise, but, once learned, it is better, as it lessens the chances of guessing or making it out. I have heard of "Wig But Kymp" being used for this purpose.

Another way is as follows : If an article cost 3s. 6d., the cost is made by adding one to each of the numerals, and placing 1 each side of it, thus :

1 4 7 1

This is quickly legible to the initiated, but baffling to the guesser.

A very good plan is to draw two upright lines, with two across them, thus making spaces for the nine numerals, thus :

The figures can be arranged to suit. The symbol which surrounds the figure is used to represent that figure. For instance, a figure like a U with square shoulders would represent 4, and one like an L would mean 6. The square would stand for 9. Either an O or an X could be used for a cipher.

This scheme may be modified by turning the figure cornerways, in which case the hieroglyphics would resemble V or Λ or portions of a diamond.

Such a list should satisfy the demand of any reasonable person in need of a cost mark. There are thousands of others, but enough have been given to show what can be used. If there are none there which suit the reader, he is invited to hunt one up, or make one to suit himself.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE PACKAGE SYSTEM.

THE retail grocer who can look back over years of experience in the business of filling orders behind the counter has had more than one occasion to speculate on the improvements that are to come with the steady advance in methods and appliances for doing business. It would seem only a comparatively short time since every article of food came in bulk. Huge boxes and bins contained the different kinds of groceries, and from these receptacles the grocer was obliged to scoop out the desired quantity, weight it, throw back the surplus, and then wrap the purchase in an unwieldy piece of brown paper. This took considerable time and demanded a knack acquired by long experience. These parcels were awkward to carry and frequently caused the customer no little annoyance through breakage or coming untied. The first improvement of note was the paper bag, but this did not do away with the bins and trouble of weighing. It was not until manufacturers generally adopted the system of putting up many of the leading staples in paper boxes that grocers began to appreciate what had been done for them.

Oatmeal and the other cereals were probably the first substances upon which the new plan was tried, and the form in which they now come, in pasteboard boxes, has been familiar for several years. Later, all kinds of dried fruits—apples, peaches, raisins, currants, figs, dates, etc.—were likewise put up in weighed packages in the same manner, instead of being kept, as formerly, loose in large receptacles. Tea is frequently sold now in packages, though that is a more recent development, and has not yet become as common as the others. Coffee is also sold in the same way, though many people will not buy it so, for fear that it has lost some of its aroma. It is quite true that this loss does take place easily, and to prevent such deterioration the grocers have the packages put up freshly each day from the air-tight bin in which the bulk of the coffee is kept.

The package system now extends to almost every staple—not only in the line of "dry," but wet goods, including even soups.

This custom not only saves time, but a more important advantage is that it maintains a better quality of each article. When articles of food are kept in bins or barrels they are exposed more or less to the effects of the climate and dust, to say nothing of the sampler. It is also much easier for the grocer to take stock and prevent dishonesty.

When staples were first introduced in package form they cost a trifle more on account of the additional cost of the box, but competition has about done away with this, as factories are operated on an extensive scale. In many of the larger plants manufacturers own and control special machinery for making and filling boxes, which reduces the cost to a minimum. This is especially true of the great coffee roasters and baking powder manufacturers. Cracker bakers are now extending their business in this direction with good results, and more recently sugar refiners have taken up the package system, although they were forced into it by the competition of the Arbuckles, who have for some time made it a feature of their business.

Looked at from an advertising point of view, the opportunities for the grocer to keep his name before his customers are not so good with ready-made packages, as the space is entirely taken up by the manufacturer. The shrewd grocer will not get left, however. It is a simple matter to have neat strips printed, bearing the name and card of the retailer.—Chicago Grocer.

HAMILTON CASH REGISTER

Manufactured by the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co.

HAMILTON, ONT.

Before buying a Cash Register, write to the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co., and we will guarantee to save money for you in the price you pay for a Cash Register and in the handling of your business.

The Hamilton Cash Register is a duplicate of the National Cash Register, and is of the highest class. You can make no mistake in buying the Hamilton Cash Register, as the National Cash Register Co. will pay you in cash the full amount you pay for a Hamilton Cash Register. This they advertise to do, and give their agents instructions to carry it out, and in some cases the agent has offered $35 more for a Hamilton machine than what was paid for it. This should satisfy you that the Hamilton Cash Register, if not the best, is equal to the National in every respect.

We have a number of the National Cash Registers on hand, both new and second-hand, which we have taken out and replaced with the Hamilton Cash Register. We now have those machines for sale for about one-half the price which was paid the National Cash Register Co.

Write for catalogue and particulars of Cash Registers, Cash Carriers, and Store Fixtures of all kinds.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

TRADE conditions locally are much about the same as a week ago. They evidently are no better at any rate. The volume of business during January was larger than the corresponding month a year ago. All wholesalers appear to be agreed on that point. They also agree that February has so far been diappointing, and they all ascribe it to the proposed revision of the tariff. The only line in which there is any activity is tea, and while the wholesalers are buying less freely than they were, the retailers, on the other hand, are buying more freely. A further advance has taken place in currants, and ginger and tapioca are both cabled dearer. Payments are moderate only.

CANNED GOODS.

The feeling in regard to canned tomatoes and peas continues strong, notwithstanding the fact that business is almost at a standstill. Some of the wholesale houses have advanced their ideas in regard to tomatoes from 2½ to 5c. per dozen. There are no features to note in other lines. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The outside coffee markets rule dull. Locally there is a fair demand, although the volume of business is not as large as it was a week or two ago. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are not many offering, and there are not many wanted. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is dull. With the falling off in receipts in New Orleans higher prices in that description of molasses are looked for. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Refiners' agents report that while the demand from wholesalers is a little better than it was a week ago, business on the whole is decidedly dull. Deliveries are reported by some refineries to be a little better. The raw market has touched the lowest point ever known. The outside markets are dull. Wholesalers report only a hand-to-mouth demand. The ruling wholesalers' quotations for granulated are 4 1-16 to 4.10c. per lb. and for yellows, 3.35c. upwards.

SPICES.

The general tone of the spice market is still strong. Ginger is cabled ½c. per lb. dearer. On Monday last London advised a rise of 3¼c. in Singapore pepper. Advices received in New York quote cloves ¼c. dearer and China cassia a trifle dearer. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

Beyond an upward tendency in shelled almonds there is no feature in the nut market worthy of note. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bor-

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The rice market continues strong, mainly on account of the large purchases of this article for distribution in India. Tapioca is firm with prices 1s. 3d. higher than it was the beginning of the month. We quote : Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3½c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c. ; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c. ; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The retail trade appears to be paying a little more attention to the purchasing of teas, but wholesalers are buying less than they were a week ago, partly owing to the fact that their stocks are now getting heavy, and partly due to the danger that teas bought now in London might not reach this country until after the new tariff is brought down, when a duty may be placed on this commodity. On Thursday and Friday of last week some of the London houses cabled their agents in Toronto to the effect that, in view of the nearness of the time when the new tariff will be brought down by the Canadian Government, they would not undertake to deliver teas bought after Tuesday, the 9th inst. In teas on spot a good business is still being done. This applies to Indian, Ceylon and China teas. There is little or nothing doing in Japan teas, principally due to the fact that there are but few offering from first hands. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The advance of 6d. noted last week in the price of currants has been followed by another similar advance. Some of the local wholesale houses have advanced their ideas on Filiatras and Amalias ⅛ to ¼c. per lb. The demand is moderate. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do , half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are still quiet. We quote : Off stalk, 5 to 5¼c. ; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c. ; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

In Malaga raisins a few orders are being received. We quote : Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4 ; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50 ; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5 ; Imperial Russian clusters, $4.50 to $5.

A few orders are being received for loose muscatels, but they are only for small quantities. We quote : 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull and wholesalers are marking down figures in order to effect sales. Wholesale quotations are : 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c. ; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are quiet, as before. We quote : 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee, net figures.

California evaporated fruits are receiving a little more attention this week, both from wholesalers and retailers. We quote : Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality ; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

Prunes of California growth are receiving a little more attention, but it is scarcely worth noting. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c. ; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb. ; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 11½ to 12½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The orange trade has been decidedly quiet, but the demand is beginning to improve a little. Lemons are in fair demand, but prices are low. The banana trade is moderate. The apple market is a little better in England. Locally there is not much doing. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.50 to $3.75 per case; 714's, $4 to $4.25 per case. California navels, $3.50 to $4. Lemons — Messinas, $2 to $2.25 per box for fancy, and $1.75 to $2 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, $1 per bbl. for greenings and Baldwins, and $1.50 for spies; onions, $1.25 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75; grape fruit, $5.50 to $6 per box.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter — Receipts are not as large as they were, although there is still too much of poor quality coming forward to allow the trade to feel comfortable. Prices are much about as before. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 11 to 12c. for choice, and 8 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb., blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

Cheese—The English market is higher and the local market is firmer in consequence. Prices are firm at 11 to 11½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Beans—Still dull. We quote 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

Dried Apples—There is a little doing in an export way, but it appears to be only in the choicest fruit, for which 2½c. f.o.b. is being paid. Jobbers report business dull at 2 to 2½c. per lb. for choice.

Evaporated Apples—There is no demand. Jobbers are quoting 3½ to 4c.

Eggs—Eggs are weaker on account of liberal supplies. The demand is good for new-laid. We quote: New-laid, 14 to 14½c.; limed, 10 to 11c.

Poultry — Receipts are light and all offering is taken. We quote: Chickens, 35 to 50c. per pair; turkeys, 7 to 8c.; geese, 6½ to 7½c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.

Potatoes—There have been transactions on track at 23c., and 25c. is the very outside figure. For lots out of store 30 to 35c. is the idea.

HONEY—Very little doing. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts are small and prices are a little higher than they were a week ago. We quote: Wheat, 81 to 82c. for white and 79 to 80c. for red, and 63 to 64½c. for goose; oats, 22 to 23½c.; peas, 41 to 42c.

FLOUR — Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.05; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.65; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.75; straight roller, $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Quiet and unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.00 in bags and $3.15 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

There is a fairly good demand for fresh water herrings, Labrador herrings, and white fish and trout in kegs. White fish in kegs are scarce. We quote: White fish 6c.; ditto in kegs, $5 to $5.50; trout, 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 3½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 6½ to 7c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The provision trade keeps quiet and prices unchanged. Dressed $4.25 to $5.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9 to 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 10½c.; backs, 9½c.; shoulder hams, 6¾c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼ to 6½c.; tubs, 6½ to 6¾c.; pails, 6¾ to 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12; Canadian short-cut, $12 to $12.50; clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

The improvement noted last week has been maintained. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Trade remains quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Red clover, $3 to $4.50; alsike, $3 to $4.25; timothy, $1.10 to $1.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¼ to 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5c. to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 90c. to $1.

WOOL—The market is steady. Combing fleece nominal at 20 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

PETROLEUM.

A fair trade is still being done. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

California oranges are again a trifle dearer on the Coast.

Tapioca has advanced 1s 3d. per cwt. since February 1.

A cable received in Toronto on Monday noted an advance of equal to ½c per lb. in ginger.

Another advance of 6d. has taken place in currants according to cables received from Patras.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, FEB. 11, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market exhibits no improvement whatever, and business in all lines is confined strictly to actual wants owing to the tariff uncertainty. In fact, the only line that presents the slightest appearance of life is tea, in which there has been further speculative trading this week. Sugar continues dull and shading is reported in some cases in the effort to court demand. Syrups are the same way, and the enquiry for molasses that traders expected after the first of the month has failed to put in an appearance. Dried fruit, canned goods, nuts, etc., only furnish a small scattering sort of trade.

SUGAR.

There has been no improvement in the sugar market here during the week, and buying is confined to a small hand-to-mouth business. The outside situation, which has fluctuated quite frequently lately, has absolutely no influence on local prices. Some tendency to shade these is noted in the efforts to induce demand, but not of a nature to call for any alteration in the range as quoted last week. At the refineries car lots of granulated are offering at 3⅞ to 4c., and yellows, 3⅞ to 3¾c., net. In a jobbing way prices are as follows: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c., and yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c., as to grade.

MONTREAL.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market is positively lifeless. Sales for the week have been confined to a few scattered transactions at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound.

MOLASSES.

The traders who expected a demand for molasses to set in with the opening of the present month have been completely disappointed. A few car lots of Barbadoes have changed hands at 28c. In round lots we quote Barbadoes at 29c., mixed 27c., Porto Rico 27½c., Antigua 23c. and St. Kitts 24c., while in a jobbing way the basis ranges from 29 to 31c., according to grade. Cables state that the market at Barbadoes has opened at 11c., but the figure is a nominal one, as no business has been reported yet in new crop.

RICE.

Business in rice continues very quiet with no change in prices. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

There has been no change in the spice market. Demand is light while values in pepper are firmly held. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 50 to 85c.

COFFEE.

Demand for coffee is confined to small lots, business, on the whole, being inactive. Prices generally are steady, Maracaibo to arrive being quoted at 17½ to 18c. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The activity noticed in the tea market lately continues in a speculative sense, but otherwise the jobbing and distributing demand is exceptionally dull. Values generally are firm, round lots of Japans selling up to 16c. for mediums. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins have moved in a small jobbing way at firm prices. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Advices from the Coast are very firm on California raisins and stocks here are light. Prices range as follows: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Loose Malaga raisins move along quietly at 7 to 7½c. for medium and 8 to 8½c. for high grades. Sultanas are unchanged at 7 to 12c., as to quality.

Currants are without feature. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

There is a fair local demand for prunes, but it is confined to immediate wants. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

Figs are quiet and rather easier for the inside figure at 7½ to 10c.

There is a moderate enquiry for dates at 5½ to 6c.

Evaporated California fruits are quiet and steady. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts, business ruling quiet. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoa nuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods continues quiet. Stocks are not excessive in the case of vegetables, which are held firm, but in other lines traders are supplied for some time ahead. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

Pickled and salted fish continue much as they were last week. Demand is quiet. We quote, in a jobbing way: No. 1 green cod, $4.50; No. 1 large, $5.25; No. 2, $3.40; No. 1 green haddock, $3.40 to $3.50; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $12.50 to $13 per barrel; Labrador, $13 to $13.50 per barrel; genuine Labrador herrings, $4.75; No. 1 N. S., $4; No. 1 lake trout, $3.60 to $3.75.

In fresh fish the only change is in fresh herrings, which rule lower at 65 to 90c. We quote: Haddock and cod at 2¾ to 3¼c.; steak cod, 3½ to 4c.; smelts, 3 to 5c.; salmon, 11 to 12c.; Manitoba pike, 3½ to 4c.; dore, 5 to 5½c.; white fish, 6c.; fresh herrings, 65c. to 90c. per 100.

Smoked fish continue quiet and steady. Haddies range from 6 to 7c. Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 85c. to $1 per box; kippered herrings, $1.25 to $1 50; ciscoes 50c. per basket, and smoked herrings 10c. per box.

Dried and boneless fish were quiet and steady. We quote: Cod, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.65 to $1.75 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5.10 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market is quiet with business of a hand-to-mouth character. Lemons are unchanged while Jamaica oranges rule firm. Valencia oranges are easy. We quote as follows: California oranges, $4 to $4.25 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $4.50 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8.

APPLES.

There has been no improvement in the apple market. Values are unchanged at 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2.

DRIED APPLES.

These show no improvement. Offers are freely made of 2½ to 3c. laid down in Montreal, and we quote 3 to 3½c., and evaporated, 3¾ to 4¼c.

ing the past week have resulted in a slump in prices. We quote : New laid, 17 to 18c.; Montreal limed, 12½ to 13c.; Western limed, 11 to 11½c., and cold storage, 11 to 12c. per dozen.

POULTRY—There was no change in the situation of the poultry market. The receipts continue small, and buyers have some difficulty in filling their wants with fresh stock. Turkeys, 8½ to 9c.; spring chickens, 6½ to 7c.; frozen stock, 3 to 5½c.; geese, choice, 6 to 7c.; frozen, old, 5 to 5½c., and ducks, 7½ to 8c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans continues slow, and prices are easy at 70 to 75c. in car lots and at 80 to 85c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—There was no change in potatoes, sales being slow at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a small way.

ONIONS — Have continued in good demand at $1.75 for red and $2 to $2.25 for yellow.

HONEY—There is no change in honey which is dull at 11 to 12c. for fancy comb stick in small cases and 8 to 10c. in large.

PROVISIONS.

There was no improvement in the local provision market. The demand continues of a hand-to-mouth character and prices rule easy. We quote as follows : New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12 ; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6 to 6½c., and compound refined at 5c. per lb. ; hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

The feature in the dressed hog market continues to be the easy feeling for heavy-weights and prices show a decline of 5 to 10c. per 100 lbs., with recent sales of car lots at $4.35 to $4.40 per 100 lbs. and in a jobbing way at $4.75. Light hogs ruled steady and met with a fair sale at $5 to $5.15 in car lots, and at $5.25 to $5.75 in a small way.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been little change in the flour market, though demand has been somewhat better this week, and some export business on Belfast and London account, amounting to 5,000 sacks, was put through. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.45 to $4.70; straight rollers, $4.20 to $4.30; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.15. Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $4.90 to $5.05 ; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.75.

Business in oatmeal continues very quiet and the market is dull and easy at $3.20 to $3.30 for rolled oats in wood, and at $1.60 to $1.65 per bag.

In feed Manitoba millers in some cases advanced prices for bran $1 per ton at all western points, which makes the price now $11, including bags, and state they are not offering any in this market. Ontario dealers, however, are selling at $9.50 to $10, including bags, and Ontario at $9 to $9.25 in bulk.

HAY.

The large receipts of baled hay continue to have a depressing effect on the market, and prices have scored another decline of 25c. per ton, recent sales of No. 1 having been made at $9.50 to $9.75, and at $8.25 to $8.50 for No. 2 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market is without interest. It is now claimed that some of the recent high-priced purchases were made on speculation, and that about 1,000 boxes are still held for sale here.

The butter market was unchanged. Local demand is of a fair character at steady prices, viz., 19 to 20c. for creamery. Exporters have been doing a little also within this range, but the difficulty is to obtain the right kind of stock for the English market. Roll dairy continues at 12 to 13c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The Barbadoes molasses market has opened at the Islands at 11c.

It is reported that prices have been shaded in some cases on sugar in an effort to induce demand.

Speculative transactions in all kinds of tea are again noted this week, but otherwise the market is lifeless.

Fully ten cars of Canadian onions have been taken from this market by American buyers during the past fortnight.

Traders who expected that enquiry for molasses would pick up after the opening of the present month have been disappointed.

Heavy-weight dressed hogs continue to glut the market, receipts increasing this week. As a result, prices have slumped off another 10c. or so.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 11, 1897.

THE week has been an active one. The export business has been large, besides the regular English steamer one clearing for Bermuda. Tea bought to arrive before the House meets has begun to arrive in large quantities, both by C. P. R. direct shipments and from England. The quantity bought is large, a number having from one to upwards of 5,000 chests. In spice there is some enquiry for spring stock. Prices show little change. As a rule at present New York quotations are lower than those from London. While cream of tartar remains low, it is rather higher than last week. Collections are rather better since the first of the month. Molasses, pork and oatmeal have been sold at cut prices during the week.

OIL—There continues to be a light movement in burning oil, the trade in lubricating occupying the attention of the dealers. Owing to the large lumber interests of this province and Nova Scotia there are a great many large mills to be supplied. There is also a large quantity used by other manufacturers and machine men, making the lubricating business a valuable one. We quote : Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c. ; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT—The demand is dull. The Bay fishermen do not begin to use any large quantity till summer, and they are already well supplied with what they will then need. Quite a quantity of both fine and coarse English salt is daily expected. Not only is coarse salt brought by the Liverpool steamers for Western Canada, but also quite a large quantity of fine, some of it being of the finest grade. We quote : Coarse, 45 to 50c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS. — Packers hold such stock as they still have on hand firmly, particularly peas, tomatoes and peaches. In oysters there is a better inquiry from the trade. Prices show no change. The best grades are chiefly sold here, there being practically no demand whatever for light-weights. We quote as follows : Corn, 65 to 70c. ; peas, 75 to 90c. ; tomatoes, 80 to 90c. ; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2 ; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35 ; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.45 to $1.65 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.90 to $2 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $3 ; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $3; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—In prunes, while there is still little demand, the market begins to be firmer, and prices must go higher. But for the light demand this would have happened before. Quite a few Bosnias are daily expected. Onions remain firm at the advance of last week, and show a fair demand. Evaporated apples begin to occupy the attention of wholesale dealers. California raisins are daily expected. Owing to advanced cost they will have to bring higher price than those here. At present the market is almost bare. Some Valencia layers and Malaga loose muscatels are to hand from New York. Two small shipments of dates are to hand this week. The stock is light and prices held firm. We quote : Valencias, 5 to 6c. ; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 3 to 5c.; dried

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

Heinz's Pickles.

The Germans have taught us some things. One is how to make Sauer Kraut, and the English and French speaking people are rapidly learning to like this substantial winter food. Heinz's Sauer Kraut is made of large, solid cabbage, carefully trimmed. It is fine cut, entirely free from lumps. By our method packages contain from 20 to 40 per cent. more Kraut than those packed in the ordinary way. . . .

apples, 3 to 3¾c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; onions, $3; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; Valencias, layers, 7 to 7½c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8½ to 9c.

GREEN FRUIT—Business during the week has been better. A large trade continues to be done in oranges. Prices remain low, particularly Valencias. Apples, though dull, are in rather better demand, and best grades of sound fruit bring rather higher prices. The advanced English market has helped the position. A few bananas are yet being received, and within a few weeks a much larger trade is expected. Cranberries are still dull and low. Pineapples are high, very few being brought here. We quote: Messina lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3 to $4; California oranges, $4.25 to $5.25; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.75 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4.

SUGAR—Yellows seem rather firmer than granulated. The price of granulated is being cut. The expected increase in the duty by some is aiding the refineries in making quite a few sales. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5⅛ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The market is easier, particularly in Barbadoes kinds. The quality in some cases is only fair. Some was offered here by St. Stephen importers this week at low prices. New Orleans is held firm. There is a good, steady demand. Outside towns, such as Moncton and Fredericton, report large stock of West India molasses for the season. New Barbadoes is expected about the last of March. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY SUPPLIES—Cheese here, in spite of outside advances, is dull and prices unchanged. Perhaps the fact that stock is not large has something to do with it. Butter is dull and plentiful. We quote: Dairy tubs, 16 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 21 to 22c.; eggs, 17 to 18c.; cheese, 10½ to 11c.

FISH — There is still little movement. Frozen herring business is pretty well over. Those now caught are not so good. Smelt have been quite scarce during the week, the first time since the opening of the season. A few lobsters are arriving. Only the small sizes have been coming at best, and the factories are now taking them. Smoked are in lighter supply here and at the moment rather higher, but market price can hardly be said to have advanced. Quite a few dry hake have been shipped south. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; frozen herring, 65 to 70 per 100; smelt, 4 to 5c.; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 4 to 6c. each; smoked haddies, 5c. per lb.; frozen pollock, 1¼ to 1½c.

PROVISIONS—The price of clear pork was cut low this week. There is more attention being given to smoked meats, but the trade cannot be called active. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $12.50 to $14; mess pork, $12.50 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 10 to 12c.; rolls, 7 to 7½c.; pure lard, 7¾ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Flour is easier, but particularly Manitoba. This market has been rather over-stocked in this grade at very low prices, and dealers have competed with the millers to the latter's loss of profit. Oatmeal, of which quite a stock is held here, bought low, was cut rather below millers' prices this week. It is said a car of hand-picked beans was sold this week at the lowest price yet touched. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.40 to $5.50; best Ontario, $4.90 to $5; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.85 to $1.95; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do, do., $12.50 to $13.50; hand-picked beans, 90c. to $1; prime, 80 to 90c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Business in biscuit lines must be good. Where a few years ago we had but one large factory we now have three, and it is said one is to be built in Fredericton. And still large quantities are imported from England, the United States, and outside points in Canada.

The shareholders of Hall & Fairweather, Ltd., have elected S. S. Hall president and S. S. de Forest manager.

St. John is now shipping cigarettes to Japan. Over a million have so far gone forward. They were shipped by the Imperial Cigarette Co.

Barbadoes molasses has opened at the the island at about 16c. f.o.b., rather below the opening price of last season, but much higher than it afterwards sold at.

THE GROCER regrets to report the death of David H. Hall, grocery appraiser at St. John. By all having business relations with him he will be missed as a most obliging official.

Upward of half the western goods exported via St. John, are from the United States, amounting this season to upwards of 2,000 carloads valued at nearly $500,000. Hams, bacon and flour form about half the entire value. Wheat bran, steel rods, lard and cattle also form a large proportion of the shipments.

The value of the small lobsters, compared with the larger sizes, can be noted from the following, and shows that every effort should be made to prevent the taking of those under-sized : In a small cargo shipped from Musquash, of 8,300 lobsters, 7,500 were valued at 10c. each, while 800 at only 2c. There was but an inch and a half difference in the size. This interest in the Lower Province is a large one, amounting, in Nova Scotia, to a million and a half dollars.

SUGARS HIGHER IN NEW YORK.

Despatches Tuesday from New York say : "The market is strong, with a large demand for refined. Refiners and speculators are also in the market for raws, and Muscavados advanced 1-16c." A later despatch says granulated and all other hard sugars and the brighter grades of yellows have advanced ⅛c. per lb.

MR. LAPORTE AN ALDERMAN.

The business community of Montreal expressed general gratification on Wednesday at the election by acclamation for the Centre Ward of Mr. H. Laporte. This ward is, in the strictest sense of the word, a business ward and it is time for it to have a business man like Mr. Laporte for its representative. In this connection the factions opposed to that gentleman showed themselves in their true colors. They knew that their candidate, Mr. Cadieux, had no chance against Mr. Laporte, but hung on curiously enough until the new civic committees of the Council had been struck. Had Mr. Cadieux withdrawn before Wednesday Mr. Laporte would have had a vote at last Monday's Council meeting on the question of the Finance Committee's membership. That the new alderman will prove a valuable acquisition to the Council is certain. His record as a business man, and the high standing of his firm, Laporte, Martin & Cie., assures this.

PAT AND HIS RECEIPT.

SOME time ago, while I was trading in a village store, says a correspondent of an exchange, one of the clerks came to the junior partner, who was waiting on me, and said :

"Please step to the desk. Pat Flynn wants to settle his account and wants a receipt."

The merchant was evidently annoyed.

"Why, what does he want of a receipt?" he said. "We never give one. Simply cross his account off the book. That is receipt enough."

"So I told him," answered the clerk, "but he is not satisfied. You had better see him."

So the proprietor stepped to the desk, and, after greeting Pat with a "Good morning," said ;

"You want to settle your bill, do you?"

Pat replied in the affirmative.

"Well," said the merchant, "there is no need of my giving you a receipt. See, I will cross your account off the book," and suiting the action to the word, he drew his pencil diagonally across the account. "That is a good receipt."

"And do you mane that that settles it?" exclaimed Pat.

"That settles it," said the merchant.

"And you're sure you'll never be askin' me for it again?"

"We'll never ask you for it again," said the merchant, decidedly.

"Faith, thin," said Pat, "I'll be after kapin' me money in me pocket, for I haven't paid it."

"Oh, well, I can rub that out."

"Faith, now, and I thought the same," said Pat.

It is nedless to say that Pat got his receipt.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. George Stanway has been elected to the honorable position of president of the St. George's Society. Mr. Stanway is evidently as popular in society circles as he is in trade circles.

Mr. Anderson, representing Morrow & Ewing, Montreal, was in Toronto this week looking up business.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

FEBRUARY has not opened with any indication of a revival of business, though merchants hope the year will prove better than last and thus even up matters. The outlook is favorable.

Ontario beef is quoted at 6½c. for extra good, and 5½c. for fair. The supply is large. Native beef is worth 7c., dressed. Frozen lamb is worth 6c., and mutton, 5½c. Dressed hogs are quoted at 5 to 5½c. No Canadian dressed pork is offering.

P.E.I. mess pork is quoted at $12 to $12.50, though sales are reported at lower figures.

The sugar market is dull. Only a limited business is being done. Granulated is quoted at 4⅛c. in a jobbing way.

Fresh eggs sell at from 18 to 22c., and case stocks 2c. lower.

Poultry is fairly plentiful, Ontario geese and turkeys particularly. Large geese sell at 9c. per lb., and turkeys at 10½c. for Canadian, while native bring ½c. per lb. more.

Fish dealers complain that business is not up to the general average for the month.

P. E. Island produce is showing firmness. Since the closing of the island ports potatoes have advanced from 5 to 10c. per bushel in this market. Oats are still quoted at 28 to 30c. No further change is looked for in the near future.

The flour market is weaker, prices showing a decline of 10 and 15c. below those of last report. Ogilvie's Hungarian patents and Five Roses are quoted at $5.50 ; Goldie's People's and Walzen at $4.90 ; Tillson's Obelisk, Kent, Sunbeam and Beaver at $4.65 to $4.90 ; Silver Star and other like patents at $4.50 ; straight grades, $4.40 ; low grades, $4 to $4.20.

There is a firm outlook for cheese at 11c. Stocks are low and dealers look for an advance.

Canned goods are slow. Retailers are cutting on several lines. Corn, peas and beans are quoted at 70c. ; tomatoes, 78c.; peaches, 2's, $1.80 ; do., 3's, $2.65; pears, $2.25 ; oysters, 1's, $1.50 ; do., 2's, $2.25; lobsters, 1's, $2.25.

Butter is slow. Fresh creamery in prints is a little higher, being quoted at 22c. and tub at 20c. Canadian dairy rolls are selling at 14 to 15c.

The market is fairly well supplied with green fruit. Lemons are quoted at $2.25 to $3. California navel oranges are selling at $4.60 to $4.75, and Messinas at $1.80 for 200 count. Malaga grapes are quoted at $8. Apples are higher, selling from $1 to $2.

Money in Bamboo Handle Brooms

They sell easily and quickly—they sell almost at sight. They are novelties that appeal to the woman who has health and strength and doesn't mind the extra weight of a wooden handle—because it makes her work easier. And because the weak, nervous, sickly woman wants to save what strength she has, she buys it without question. You don't have to exert yourself much to convince her.

Bamboo is strong—light—durable. We are the sole manufacturers of Bamboo Handle Brooms. We buy only the best corn brush and buy it in large quantities, because we have ample capital. For the same reason we get the lowest prices. So you share in the extra profit that smaller dealers couldn't afford to give you. The brooms are well sewed. The stock is fresh, clean, flexible. Five grades of the brooms. Let us send you prices—to-day.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE Tariff Commission sat in Winnipeg on Monday. Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and Hon. Mr. Paterson, Controller of Customs were present.

The wholesale fruit dealers of Winnipeg were represented by M. W. Rublee, K. J. Johnson and R. R. Scott.

Mr. R. R. Scott spoke particularly of peaches, plums, strawberries and grapes, on which he contended the duties were outrageously high, in instances as high as 100 per cent. He opposed very earnestly the proposition of eastern fruit growers to put a duty on bananas, which were now free.

Mr. Rublee gave statistics to show the almost utter impossibility of this country importing its fruit either from Ontario or British Columbia. The fruit, or greater bulk of it, of necessity had to be brought from the States; the duties, therefore, did not aid Canadian fruit growers, but imposed an unnecessary burden on the people of this country.

Mr. K. J. Johnson emphasized the assertion that it was impossible to profitably import Canadian fruit.

Mr. J. A. Mitchell, representing the Northern Elevator Co., submitted a carefully prepared statement, asking that the tariff on gasoline be materially reduced. The elevator companies had found gasoline plants much cheaper and much safer than steam plants. But the gasoline duties were so high that gasoline could not now be purchased. With gasoline at reasonable rates, the elevators of this country could operate at an expense of a cent a bushel, compared with a cent and a half or two cents with steam. The duty on gasoline was now 6½c. a gallon. The elevator men wanted it reduced to 3c.

TRADE AND NAVIGATION RETURNS.

Mr. J. H. Ashdown discussed the question of trade and navigation returns, pointing out that the blue books of the Dominion do not give true representation of facts as to exports from Manitoba, Alberta and other portions of the Northwest, the returns crediting the exports to Quebec instead. He suggested that the products of Manitoba, Alberta, etc., should be classed as such, and not as the "products of Canada." He complained of the exercise of arbitrary power by the Customs authorities in fixing values for Customs purposes, and suggested the appointment of a Board of Appraisers to correct or sustain the decisions of the local appraisers. The Customs officials, he submitted, should not gain, as they do now, largely from seizures. He held also that where arbitrary values are set for duty purposes information should always be accessible to the importer. He asked that where the prices for the home trade are abnormally high the export value should be taken as a fair value of the goods. It was not his experience that Canada is made a slaughter market by United States manufacturers. Prices there are so reduced that they cannot afford to sell lower for export than for the home trade. He submitted that if the manufactured goods are admitted free the raw material should be admitted free also. He wanted all specific duties abolished. or at least the great bulk of them, and the duties levied on an ad valorem basis. The specific duties he found to be levied almost entirely on articles of general consumption. Protective duties, he held, prevent the obtaining of a revenue.

THE MILLING INTERESTS.

Mr. F. W. Thompson, manager of the Ogilvie Milling Co., made a statement on behalf of the milling interests. He urged that the duty on wheat and flour be not reduced. As a result of the development of the milling industry farmers greatly benefited in the sale of their products. It has enhanced competition in buying, all of which would be completely removed and destroyed should the American millers be in any way encouraged to make a slaughter market of Canada in consequence of any reduction in the duty upon flour. Up to the present the farmers of Manitoba have averaged a higher price for their wheat than the American farmer on equal freights and quality. The flour trade of British Columbia has also been of great value to the producers in this country. Formerly this business was entirely supplied by the American Pacific Coast states, their product coming at low-water freights, not exceeding 20c. per barrel, as against $1.10 to $1.20 per barrel paid by the millers of this country to the Canadian Pacific Coast. Even with the present duty of only 75c. a barrel the millers of this country are still handicapped to the extent of the difference. About three years ago the best wheat in Washington and Oregon sold down as low as 18 to 20c. per bushel, all of which comes in competition with the farmers of this country, and would remove that market entirely from the benefit the farmers of Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia at present enjoy. The milling industry in this country has steadily increased from less than 300 barrels per 24 hours in 1880 to over 12,000 barrels per 24 hours at the present time, and this does not take into consideration the large and steadily increasing milling capacity throughout the whole Dominion. A large quantity of Manitoba wheat is ground by Eastern Canadian millers. The large number of flour mills in Canada to-day, numbering some 2,500, is the greatest possible guarantee to the consumer that the price he pays for the flour is only such as ensures a fair and minimum profit.

DUTY ON STAPLE FARM PRODUCTS.

Mr. D. McEwen, of Brandon, handed in a petition signed by 2,400 farmers, and stated that if the time had not been so short 1,000 more signatures would have been obtained. He said he had supported the Reform party for the last 30 years. He would like all possible reforms in the tariff, but if any class of manufacturers was to be protected the famers should also have the benefit. He thought it would be disastrous if the duty were taken off the staple products of the country at present. The best friends of the farmers at present, he held, were the millers; through them the farmers had got 3 to 15c. per bushel above the export prices on account of the competition. A market was opening for farm produce in the ranching districts of British Columbia and would continue to develop if the duty were not taken off. A market could hardly be found for our coarse grains now, but when white oats sold here for 10c. he was informed they had sold for 5c. at Neche. Instances were told of oats being bought there, and, after the duty was paid, sold on this side cheaper than the price paid here. While wheat was 40c. here, it was sold on the other side for 17 to 18c., and it was impossible to compete with these prices. We want to retain the home market. It would be deplorable if this should be made a dumping ground for products from across the line. We want to get raw material as cheap as possible. The policy of the present Government, he understood, was not revolution, but reform, the object being to make the farmers contented. The best thing for farmers was to have the wheat ground in this country.

M. Ralph McRae, of Oak Lake, supported the petition. He said if the duty were taken off the staple articles, wheat, oats and barley, it would be a very serious matter. He had been here fifteen years and had sold grain 5 to 7c. higher than the export prices. He would like the duty off some articles we consume, machinery, etc., but he did not think we were prepared to give what we have in exchange for that.

Mr. James Howie, of High Bluff, had been here 28 years. He considered that it would be a great detriment to take the duty off wheat, oats, beef, pork, etc. Formerly $440 was paid for a binder; now one could be got for $125. He did not see why they could not live now. He would favor a certain reduction on binders and certain manufactured goods, at the same time he had rather it should remain as it is than have the duty taken off the products of the country.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

H. P. ECKARDT & CO. are offering a fine line of Griffin & Skelley's Ruby prunes.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are quoting their fish for Lenten time at a low figure.

T. Kinnear & Co. have in stock California prunes—40 to 50's, 50 to 60's, and 60 to 70's.

Marmalade made from a tested and tried Scotch recipe is a specialty with T. A. Lytle & Co.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., quote No. 1 lake herring, heads off, in kegs, at low figures.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. are offering fine evaporated apricots in sacks at special prices this week.

T. B. Escott & Co. have a lot of California dried peaches, in bags, which they are offering at low prices.

W. H. Gillard & Co. state they have snaps in figs in 56-lb. bags and 28-lb. boxes, choice family natural.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. are offering fall-caught trout and fresh water herrings in kegs at low prices f.o.b. Midland.

A line of golden-tipped Assam Pekoe, showing good value in the cup, arrived this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

T. B. Escott & Co. advise that they are overstocked in some lines of teas and are in consequence offering good values.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a large shipment of fine Filiatra currants in barrels, half-barrels and cases.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report a large number of orders during the past 10 days for their "Special" syrup in 2-gallon pails.

"'Circle' tea orders are now all filled," write Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "In future we hope there will be no more annoying delays."

The sale of the H. J. Heinz Co.'s products is rapidly increasing. H. P. Eckardt & Co. received a shipment of two cars last week.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. are making a special drive this month on French prunes in cases 55 lbs. and Griffin & Skelley's California prunes in 25-lb. boxes. See their ad.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are meeting with an active sale for their standard blacks, put up in 1 and ½-lb. German glazed parchment cartoons, foil lined. These packages, besides being attractive, are air-tight and moist-proof, and no extra charge above the price of their blends loose has been made.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., of Montreal, have recently replenished their stock of "Golden" haddies, and are now prepared to supply the retail trade. They report increasing sales.

A large shipment of choice Patras currants is arriving this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd. This fruit is opening up exceptionally fine in color and is being quoted at a low figure.

"We advertise in THE CANADIAN GROCER," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "because we know we reach the up-to-date merchant. He reaches us in turn, and it is profitable to both of us."

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

T. Kinnear & Co.: "We are offering special bargains in Indian and Ceylon teas."

Lucas, Steele & Bristol: "Our 4 and 5 Bar 'Circle' teas will be packed assorted in future."

"We have to reduce our stock of dried fruits and are selling at very low prices," write Laporte, Martin & Cie.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol: "We never had finer values in Assam teas than we have today—all bought at rock-bottom figures."

T. B. Escott & Co.: "Majava coffee in 25-pound cake tins has met with a good sale. It is a fine flavored coffee which can be retailed at 35c. a pound."

"Black Bird" and "Silver Bird" tea in handsome one-pound tins are selling well with T. B. Escott & Co. "Every person buys a tin on sight," writes the firm.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. report large sales and repeat orders for "Kolona" Ceylon tea which is an indication of the very general favor it is receiving everywhere.

A LARGE TEA FAILURE.

THE news that the wholesale tea firm of Thos. Doherty & Co., Montreal, were in difficulties and that a meeting of their creditors had been called was a surprise to the trade. Notices were sent out to the creditors that the firm had placed its affairs in the hands of Riddell & Common, and that pending a statement payment would be suspended.

The creditors held a meeting at the accountants' offices last Monday, and a committee composed of John Gordon, representing Carter, Massey & Co., New York; John Magor, A. H. Ewing, of Morrow & Ewing, J. Ramsay, of the Merchants Bank, and P. H. Doyle, of P. H. Doyle & Co., were appointed to look into the affairs of the firm and report to a general meeting to be held next week. Until this report is forthcoming no definite statement is available, but the liabilities are placed in the vicinity of $56,000.

The creditors include the Merchants Bank; Carter, Massey & Co., New York; Warren Cakebrand & Co., London, Eng; Hunt & Co., Marcotte Bros., R. W. Forrester, P. H. Doyle & Co., W. D. Stroud & Co., Montreal; W. C. Meakin & Co., London, and S. B. Heward.

With the exception of Carter, Massey & Co. and Warren Cakebrand & Co., the amounts due the creditors are small.

Mr. Thos. Doherty, the sole owner of the business, is at present ill in the Montreal General Hospital, and the suspension is due to the fact that ill health has prevented his personal attention to the details of the business.

The firm has been in existence 16 years, the late Mr. Thos. Kearney being at one time a partner.

CHANGE IN A FIRM.

The partnership between Mr. J. L. Caverhill and Mr. Fred. Hughes, as wholesale grocers, has been dissolved. Mr. Caverhill is retiring from the business, and Mr. Hughes has taken his share in the business. The business will be carried on by the latter under the old style of Caverhill, Hughes & Co.

GIVES AWAY HIS GOODS.

AN enterprising merchant has adopted a novel way of advertising his business, says an exchange. He gives away, absolutely without any expense to the recipient, all goods in his store the retail cost of which is under five cents each. It does not make any difference whether or not the party receiving the gift is a regular customer. If a box of matches is wanted, it is given without money and without price, and a polite request to call again is made. One naturally supposes that the store would be overrun with people wanting the traditional something for nothing—for this world is full of such characters, more's the pity — but, strange to say, he claims not to be bothered with this class of unprofitable customers and actually claims that he is making money by this seemingly hazardous scheme of attracting trade. He figures out that the 5c. articles cost him but very little money, that his proven liberality brings him in orders on the supposition that if he is fair in one matter he is equally so in all, and that people who come to the store for small gifts are generally inclined to purchase other goods that they see and may want. As proof that this scheme is working satisfactorily, he points to the fact that his business has made a material increase, and that of his competitor has dwindled in almost an equal degree, merely because he gives away cheap goods in order to sell other varieties costing more money.

HEIROGLYPHIC BOOK-KEEPING.

The attorney who attempted to wrestle with accounts of an Eastport, Me., grocer decided that he would forego his fee if the client would spend the money in a business college. It was disheartening to look over the pages and find such charges as "goods delivered to the red-headed lady with Mrs. ——," and another to "the slim man from Campobello;" and again to the "cross-eyed man who works in —— factory." This method recalls the mistake of the unlettered merchant of olden days, who made his charges in heiroglyphics, and once presented a bill against John Smith for a grindstone, whereas what Smith had bought was a cheese.

A MEEK MAN.

A demure-looking little man approached the haughty assistant in a grocer's shop, and meekly asked if he had any coffee to sell.

"We have ground coffee," said the young man.

"No other kind?"

"None. This is the best ground coffee on the market."

"But I don't want it," the little man braced up. "I got some sugar here the other day with sand in it, and I don't want coffee with ground in it. You must think I want the earth."

NEW PICKLE FACTORY.

H. J. Heinz Co., of Pittsburg, one of the largest, if not the largest, pickle and preserve manufacturers in the United States, is likely to establish a branch factory in Canada. THE CANADIAN GROCER's informant is the company itself.

The company is looking for a suitable site, and localities which possess natural advantages for a factory such as that carried on by H. J. Heinz Co. should correspond with it.

WINNIPEG BOARD OF TRADE.

THE annual meeting of the Winnipeg Board of Trade was held on February 3. President F. H. Mathewson was in the chair.

The president's address was an able and comprehensive one. Referring to the milling industry, he said :

"During the past season we have had a striking instance of the advantages derived from having large flour mills in this country. The crop was short, and the mills, in order to secure the necessary quantity of wheat for their season's operations, were obliged to pay more for it than the ordinary buyers could afford to give, so that the demand for local grinding actually resulted in our farmers realizing several cents per bushel more for their wheat than they would have got if they had been obliged to sell it for export. It would certainly be to the interests of our farmers if the bulk of our wheat crop could be converted into flour before it is exported. Besides the increased price which a home milling market would bring, much indirect benefit would result from the establishment of additional mills. The grinding capacity of our mills continues to increase, and now amounts to 11,415 barrels per day, an increase of 1,125 barrels since last year. As all the railways in the Northwest lead into Winnipeg, it might well be taken as indicating that this city offers great advantages as a suitable place for the erection and operation of flour mills. Our mills of late have been finding markets for their flour in places formerly unthought of. A few years ago nobody would have dreamt that Manitoba would be shipping large quantities of flour to China, Australia and the Islands of the Pacific, but such is the case, and indeed I am informed that one of our large concerns has recently had enquiries for our flour from Johannesburg, South Africa, and also from Calcutta. While the bulk of the trade which has been developed is no doubt due to the failure of crops in the countries referred to, at the same time some of it will be permanent, and at present shipments would be much larger if more ocean tonnage was available at Vancouver."

Alluding to the railway interests of the country Mr. Mathewson said :

"The extension of our railway system by the building of 100 miles into the Dauphin country, during the past season, has been the means of opening up a fine country, especially well adapted to mixed farming. The building of this line now gives the province a total railway mileage of 1,676 miles. I hope the board during the coming year will press upon the Government the importance of providing aid towards the construction of a line through the south-eastern part of the province. Such a line, besides opening up an excellent tract of country, would bring us nearer to the source from which we obtain our supply of lumber and fuel, and, besides this, if connected with a line to Duluth, would place this country 100 miles nearer to Lake Superior. Recently the board passed a resolution favoring the construction of a road through the Crow's Nest Pass. There appears to be a general feeling everywhere through this western country that the early construction of this road is an urgent necessity, in order that the growing trade of the Kootenay country may be developed and kept in the hands of Canadians, and it must be a satisfaction to know that recent utterances of members of the Government lead us to hope that steps will shortly be taken to have the proposed road built. As this northwestern country is the natural market from which the people of Kootenay will obtain their food and other supplies, the opening up of this route will be of immense advantage to our farmers and business men.

"Recent remarks made by some of our public men, and newspaper articles in Government organs, would lead us to suppose that some arrangement is likely to be consummated in the near future, whereby a large block of land will be acquired by the Dominion Government from the railway companies, and thrown open for free settlement. While such a measure would, no doubt, materially aid in attracting new settlers to the Northwest, I express the hope that the board will use all its influence to prevent such an arrangement being carried out, or, in fact, the granting of any further Government aid to railways, until the demands of the people of the Northwest for a reduction in the present burdensome freight rates have been given the consideration to which they are entitled."

When the election of officers was reached Mr. D. W. Bole nominated last year's vice-president, Mr. T. A. Anderson. Ex-Mayor Gilroy seconded the nomination.

Mr. Anderson declined nomination, giving his reasons in a neat speech.

Mr. Whitla and Mr. R. D. Richardson urged Mr. Anderson to accept, but that gentleman could not see his way clear to accept.

Under the circumstances Mr. A. Strang then nominated Mr. D. W. Bole for president. This was seconded by Mr. Whitla, and the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Mathewson then resigned the chair in favor of Mr. Bole. In taking charge of the meeting Mr. Bole returned his thanks for the honor, an honor he said altogether unexpected, but one which he thoroughly appreciated.

Mr. A. M. Nanton was unanimously chosen vice-president on motion of J. H. Brock, seconded by S. A. McGaw. Mr. Nanton returned his thanks briefly.

Mr. A. Strang was unanimously chosen treasurer on motion of R D. Richardson, seconded by G. F. Carruthers.

Mr. Mathewson, in nominating Mr. C. N. Bell as secretary, spoke in very high terms of that gentleman, and congratulated the board on having a secretary so efficient. Mr. Carruthers seconded the motion, which was carried amid applause.

In the selection of the council for the year it was resolved to give all trades and callings representation. A committee was appointed to select a representative council, this committee being composed of Messrs. Mathewson, Nanton, Strang, McKenzie and Anderson. Their report named the following gentlemen on the council, and was adopted :

Messrs. F. H. Mathewson, D. E. Sprague, R. H. Agur, John Galt, J. A. Mitchell, F. W. Thompson, J. H. Ashdown, T. A. Anderson, John Russell, A. C. Archibald, D. K. Elliott, E. L. Drewry, M. Bull, W. R. Baker, D. S. Johnson, J. Y. Griffin.

Mr. J. H. Brock moved, seconded by Mr. Whitla, the following resolution :

That, in the opinion of this board, the question of immigration is the most important one that engages the attention of the people and of the Governments of the province and the Dominion ; that we therefore desire to express the satisfaction we feel in learning that those in authority are preparing to take vigorous steps to promote the settlement of this country, and in this connection to again affirm the opinion of the board that the most important factor in the settlement of the country is the securing of low rates of transportation for the products of the country to the markets of the world, and that in the opinion of this board an immediate announcement of a reduction in the rate on grain from a central point in Manitoba, say Portage la Prairie, to Lake Superior points, from 17 cents per 100 pounds to a maximum of 12½ cents per 100 pounds, and proportionately from other points in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, would do more to encourage the farmers and promote immigration to the country than the annual expenditure of the amount of such a sum as this reduction would give if expended in any other manner.

The resolution was adopted.

The statement of Treasurer Andrew Strang for the year ending Dec. 31st shows receipts of $2,163.87 and expenses of $1,460.23. The balance in the bank is now $703.64, with no liabilities.

A HUMAN FACE IN AN OYSTER SHELL.

That this is so is indicated by an oyster shell sent to The Baltimore Sun office by Mr. R. M. Jobe, recently. On the flat surface of the shell, against which the heart of the oyster had rested, is a remarkable representation of a human face. Held at a little distance it looks not unlike a portrait in minature, and though the countenance is not a handsome or a pleasing one, and the features are somewhat drawn and distorted, it is strikingly lifelike. Whose was the face that the oyster saw at its window and painted upon its shell will probably be never known any more than the name of the oyster artist itself, whose identity was unfortunately undisclosed before it was committed to the soup. The portrait of the unknown remains, however, as a curious illustration of subaqueous art, wrought almost as delicately and cleverly as a Japanese painting on china.

THE "DIAMOND"
OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, FEBRUARY 19, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 8

THE DEPARTMENT STORE.

By Samuel Hopkins Adams in Scribner's Magazine.

ASIDE from departures in policy and innovations on a large scale the originality of the department store is largely supplied by two departments to some extent correlated. These are the advertising department and the window-dressing department. One is the literature of the great store ; the other its art. The shop-windows are a great stimulus for the department whose goods are displayed in them. A good showing will often wonderfully increase the sale of the stock as well as attract customers to the store who are new to it. Frequently the head advertising man is the general manager of the store. Whether this is the case or not, he is a general supervisor of the establishment, with a complete knowledge of its ever-changing detail. Every day he holds consultations with heads of departments to find out what particular lines of articles they want "boomed," and about those articles he writes alluring statements for the shopping public to read, sometimes arranging for illustrations with them. The amount of money spent for advertising is appalling when looked upon as an expense. One great store in Philadelphia spends on an average $1,000 every day in the year, and a good many spend $500 a day. The advertising receives probably more of the personal attention of the head of the house than any other department. The head of the firm which expends the great sum just mentioned personally suggests and frequently writes the leading lines in the daily announcement. The proprietor of a great store in Brooklyn does this invariably, and thinks the time well spent which the work daily requires. The mail department tends to enlarge this expenditure, as the store reaches out to the utmost parts of the country, and the future will no doubt see an even greater development in the effort to secure mail customers in the small towns and in country places.

Advertisement writing has, within the last few years, become a fine art. The writer must be thoroughly up to date in his ideas, and the latest methods require that he furnish something new every day. Genuine wit and humor are found over the "adv." mark in the papers. It is pretty safe to say that every good advertising man earns his salary, and the best man in the country at this work is said to receive $15,000 a year.

There is little question but that the great department store is a benefit to the buying public, because of the low prices which prevail in it, because of its convenience and as a rule, honest dealing, and because it concentrates many lines of stock within a small space. On the other hand, it is a question if it is not in its tendency a menace to some of our commercial institutions. It has already made marked inroads on several lines of retail selling without bestowing any corresponding benefit. Especially is this true of goods which have been handled by salespeople with special education and training, and where there existed in the business a pride beyond that of mere trading which gave it distinction. Perhaps the best instance of this is to be found in the store book department, the stock of which is, with the exception of possibly a few establishments, composed of only the newest or, perhaps, the least worthy of books, or volumes in inferior editions.

The salespeople are often illiterate and untrained, and the whole tone of the place is the antithesis of what the book-lover looks for in such a place. Yet the supplying of the most salable books at the very lowest prices drives the small bookseller, who carries a large stock and employs competent assistance, out of the business, and threatens the extinction of shops which have served a valuable purpose. Much the same may be said in disparagement of the store "picture department," the stock displayed, and the taste appealed to, is even inferior, by comparison, to the book department. It may be only a question of time when each part of the great stores will be as perfect as the best shops devoted to single kinds of goods ; but it is certainly true now that with the exception of some of the oldest and largest departments it is the aggregation of stock and prices which attract the customers, and not the quality and selection of goods displayed.

From time to time the practices and methods of one or another of the great stores have been made the subject of legislative inquiry ; but invariably with unimportant results. And now a powerful organization has been formed in New York by some thirty or forty of the big stores for mutual support and protection. Representing, as it does, more than $50,000,000 of capital, it is a formidable combination ; and, while its object is not definitely so stated, there is no doubt but that it will oppose with all its strength any legislation looking toward an interference with the business.

Public opinion has been brought to bear upon the management of the department store. The Consumers' League of New York has been organized, with the object of compelling the stores to treat their employes equitably. It fights for light, airy rooms, seats for the salespeople, reform in the system of fines, vacations with pay, and recompense for overtime. Such stores as live up to the principles set down by the Leaguers are put on the "White List." The members of the League do their shopping in the listed stores. The League has set forth what it calls a "Standard of a Fair House," as follows :

WAGES.

A Fair House is one in which equal pay is given for work of equal value irrespective of sex. In the departments where women only are employed, in which the minimum wages are $6 per week for experienced adult workers, and fall in few instances below $8.

In which wages are paid by the week.

In which fines, if imposed, are paid into a fund for the benefit of the employes.

In which the minimum wages of cash girls are $2 per week, with the same conditions regarding weekly payments and fines.

HOURS.

A Fair House is one in which the hours from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. (with three-quarters of an hour for lunch) constitute the working day, and a general half-holiday is given on one day of each week during at least two summer months.

In which a vacation of not less than one week with pay during the summer season is given.

In which all overtime is compensated for.

PHYSICAL CONDITIONS.

A Fair House is one in which work, lunch, and retiring rooms are apart from each other, and conform in all respects to the present sanitary laws.

In which the present law regarding the providing of seats for saleswomen is observed and the use of seats permitted.

OTHER CONDITIONS.

A Fair House is one in which humane and considerate behavior is the rule.

In which fidelity and length of service meet with the consideration which is their due.

In which no children under fourteen years of age are employed.

In a great store in Philadelphia every employe who has been there for more than six months gets a vacation with full pay. For ten evenings only out of the year is the store open. A careful record of this extra work is kept, and when the slack season comes the employes get hour for hour in time off. More than this, a certain percentage on sales made during these evenings is given to the employes. The system of fines is not harsh, and the money so obtained goes into the coffers of the employes' organization, and not to the firm. In this respect all but the best New York stores are far behind those of the other large Eastern cities, and most of them consider that by furnishing dinners free to the employes during the season when they keep open at night they are fulfilling all requirements. Many of them do not even furnish these meals. Some few New York concerns allow hour for hour for extra work, but do not pay for it in money. Almost the only fair position is that of the places which require no evening work at any time. Vacations are almost unknown in the low-class stores, but enforced absence without pay is part of the financial policy. It saves money, and moreover, the employes do better work for taking some sort of holiday, no matter how ill they can afford it.

A most hopeful sign for the future, however, is the growing acceptation of the maxim that good treatment of employes is sound business policy. Years ago one of the leading employers set out to establish a feeling of loyalty to the establishment by fostering esprit de corps among his employes; other stores have followed his example in the matter of encouraging social and beneficial societies, and there is scarcely one of the big stores but has its yearly entertainments. In the store just mentioned the salaries are paid to the officers of the store societies from the fines collected from employes. There are classes in French, German, Spanish and Italian, besides simpler branches of instruction. Other stores have manifested sudden attacks of philanthropy, such as trips to Europe for the salespeople, and lavish gifts at Christmas-time; but the shop people appreciate most fair treatment and fair wages. This is what pays in the end. In New York, at least, reform in internal methods is more likely to come from an appreciation of the advantages to be derived than from legislation or external pressure.

Whether for good or for evil the department store has come to stay. The system which it represents extends throughout the country. Every city in the United States with a population of 100,000 or more has at least one of these stores. New York has fifty, Chicago a score, Philadelphia and Boston nearly as many, and Brooklyn a dozen or more. Time was when there seemed to be a prospect that the rivalry between these giants would involve them all in ruin. But they only increased in power and scope. That rivalry is largely a thing of the past. The fight is between the department store dealing in all lines of goods and the specific store dealing in but one. This century's end is witnessing the crisis of the battle; a battle on the one side for conquest, on the other for existence. The twentieth century will determine the issue.

"MADE IN CANADA."

THE Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co., of Hamilton, Ont., are now making a full line of the latest improved cash registers. These registers are made on the best and tried principles used in cash registers made in the United States, and all the parts are identically the same as the latest patterns of National cash registers. The cases are beautifully finished in brass and nickel plate, and handsomely designed. The mechanical parts of the machine are made of the finest and hardest metals, thus ensuring durability and accurate operation.

The machines are made in a variety of sizes with special attachments, such as detail adding, total adding and check printing devices, suitable for grocers, dry goods merchants, hardware, general stores, hotels, confectioners, in fact all merchants who do a cash or credit business.

It is hardly necessary to say anything as to the value of cash registers, as they are recognized as one of the essential fixtures of every retail merchant's business who is up to date.

The Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co. have sold during the last few months nearly 300 machines.

SELLING FOR CASH.

Lots of grocers think they can make the cash business go by charging the same price as those charged by the credit grocer. They make a mistake. The cash grocer is in a position to sell possibly 5 per cent. lower than his credit competitor, and he ought to do it. If he don't the whole strength of his position is gone, for people will buy on credit every time if they have to pay no more than they would spot cash.—Grocery World.

THE OLD GROCER'S STORY.

A. P. M'Kishney.

They came into my grocery store just as 'twas turnin' night,
I was ready to wait on 'em when I'd tinkered up the light,
Old, bent and gray—this couple, was this good old man an' wife,
I reckon they had tried the joys and bitter sweets of life.
A tattered shawl of faded stripe was on her shoulders cast,
One wrinkled hand did grip its folds to hold 'em close an' fast,
A rusty bonnet kissed the snow upon her dear old head.
"We're come to buy a heap of things—the best you've got," she said.
Her face was full of wrinkles, and her voice was kind of broke,
An' his'n seemed to wrinkle when he turned to her an' spoke:
"Now, mother, you just go ahead, an' get the stuff, you know,
'Cause you remember what he liked a long, long time ago.
An' don't forgit the curns an' sich—buy up an awful sight.
While I trot out old roan, you see, the boy may come to-night.
The parson read it out, you know, a-smiling at the line:
'God bless you both, I'm likely to walk in most any time.'"
Just as the old man came around the corner with the rig,
A message boy came bouncin' in an' asked for Mr. Brigg.
"That's my old man," the mother cried, "our boy has maybe come,
An' wants to know why us two has raced away from home."
"What's that?" the old man hollers out, "come on, then, let us go,
'Twill never do to let him stay an hour alone, you know,
For Eddie never used to like to find himself alone,
So come on, mother, git right in, and I'll whip up old roan."
The boy, he turned his eyes on me, an' then on the old man,
Then on the mother, "Here," he said, "you tell 'em if you can."
An' handin' me a telegram he bounded out the door,
And leavin' me to do a thing I'd never done before.
I tore it open an' I held the words up to the light:
"An accident! Your son is dead, expect him home to-night."
Two faces lit with love an' joy were lookin' up at me.
An' something got into my eyes until I couldn't see.
I reached and grasped a hand of each—'twas awful news to tell.
I said, "Now look-a-here, old folks, that boy you love so well,
Is home all safe and sound to-night, you watched for him to come;
Now he's a-watchin' through the gate to give you welcome home."
They knew all that I meant to say, slowly they shambled out,
That they'd go after him quite soon I had not any doubt.
For God's a father, don't you know, and seein' all their pain—
And knowin' how they long to see their only boy again,
Some day he'll give a glorious feast 'way up in heaven's dome,
An angel's voice will whisper low, "Ed's folks have just got home!"

A STUDY OF SUCCESS.

The old gentleman was giving the boy advice, not so much because the boy needed it, as because he had more than he knew what to do with, and the boy might as well have it.

"Joshua," he said, "be polite ter everybody. Remember, ye ain't no millionaire, an' ye can't afford ter put on too many important ways."

"Well, I ain't so sure 'bout that," was the reply. "It seems to me they's lots o' people standin' 'round ready ter impose on ye of ye don't show some spunk."

"Ye hev ter bear lots o' things in this life. But it's work ez counts. Remember the little busy bee. He jes' keeps a-workin' an' a-workin', day in an' day out. An' they's mighty few bees, I'm given ter understan', as can't look back on their lives with satisfaction, and be p'nted out ter the neighbors ez a success; an' all because they jes' keeps on a-workin', an' a-workin'."

"That's so, father. But there's one trait of character 'bout the bee that you ain't dwelt on."

"What's that?"

"He don't 'low nobody ter sit on 'im."
—Detroit Free Press.

TRADE CHAT.

WHEN the tempest broke, the roof of the barn struck the tenderfoot in the chest, a haystack fell upon his head, and a cord of wood pinned his feet to the ground. Tears sprang to his eyes. "It reminds me," he sighed, "of sitting in a crowded trolley car when it goes round a curve. Ah, me ! "—Detroit Journal.

The St. Mary's Board of Trade has been re-organized.

Brantford's fire loss last year was only $1,528.50. In the last six years the losses were only $20,351.

Mr. Holman, Newbury, has sold his stock of dry goods and groceries to Mr. Gale, who is now removing the old stand.

The vintage of France in 1896 amounted to 981,000,000 gallons of wine, or 395,000,000 more than in 1895, and 308,000,000 gallons above the average production of the past ten years. In the figures here given for 1896, Algiers and Corsica are not included. It is estimated that the complete figures will reach about 1,078,000,000 gallons.

G. W. Stull, of Guelph, has shipped 20,000 pounds of tallow to London, Eng., for the purpose of testing the advisability of opening up a trade there.

A company has been organized in Sandwich with a capital stock of $50,000 for the purpose of trading in the grapes grown in that vicinity, and the manufacture of wine.

F. A. Gonne, the Queen's grocer, has deserted his old stand opposite the market, and is now found in the large premises formerly occupied by Scott & Flater, next to Somerville's restaurant. His reason for removal was a good one, as he found business too fast for the comparatively cramped quarters of his old store. As he is situated in his new stand, he has one of the largest and best equipped groceries in the city. Mr. Gonne has an enviable reputation as a first-class, obliging business man, and the growth of his trade until more room was necessary shows that he is appreciated by his customers.—Banner, Chatham.

FOOLSCAP PAPER.

Every schoolboy knows what foolscap paper is, but we doubt whether one in a hundred that daily use it can tell why it was so called.

When Oliver Cromwell became protector, after the execution of Charles I., he caused the stamp of the cap of liberty to be placed upon the paper used by the Government. Soon after the restoration of Charles II., having occasion to use some paper for dispatches, some of this Government paper was brought to him. On looking at it, and discovering the stamp, he inquired the meaning of it, and, on being told, he said : "Take it away ; I'll have nothing to do with a fool's cap."

Thus originated the term foolscap, which has since been applied to a certain size of glazed writing paper.

We were induced by a good oatmeal miller to try a few barrels of his goods as he had just put in the most improved machinery, but one taste of the raw meal was sufficient to show the difference."

THE CANNED GOODS PACK.

THE Canadian Packers' Association is in special session in Toronto this week. The meeting began on Wednesday, and up to the time of going to press is still in session.

The object of the meeting is to receive the report of the Executive Committee in regard to regulating the pack for the ensuing season.

Briefly, this report was to the effect that there should be a pro rata reduction in the pack.

Each member of the association recognizes that a reduction in the pack is necessary, but there is a difference of opinion as to how the desired end shall be accomplished.

The smaller factories are against a pro rata reduction, claiming that it would seriously handicap them. They are of opinion that the larger factories should carry the heavier end of the burden in this respect, which, of course, does not find favor with the latter.

"Although we may not be able to agree upon a uniform scheme," said one well-known packer, "you can depend upon this: We shall all go home firm in the determination to pack less goods next season."

President W. A. Ferguson, of Delhi, presided, and the attendance was the largest in the history of the association. Among those present were the following: J. E. Brethour, Burford Canning Co.; Dr. King, South Essex Preserving Co.; W. P. Innes, Simcoe; W. A. Carson, Belleville; A. C. Miller, Picton; M. McCauley, of Miller & Co., Trenton; W. M. Miller, Port Hope Preserving Co.; Thomas Nihan, Lincoln Canning Co., St. Catharines; W. Boulter, of W. Boulter & Sons, Toronto; M. B. Trumpour, Prince Edward Canning Co.; J. J. Nair, Aylmer Canning Co.; T. M. Dunn, Strathroy; H. J. Mathews, Lakeport Canning Co.; Secretary W. C. Breckenridge, Hamilton; Thos. E. Montague, West Lorne Canning Co.; W. J. Flynn, St. Catharines; J. B. Dolan, Dunmore.

A PROGRESSIVE MERCHANT.

The firm of Earle & Creighton, general merchants, Creemore, has recently been succeeded by A. Earle & Co. Mr. Earle, head of the firm, has been in business in Creemore about three years, and, during that time, has earned the reputation of being one of the most progressive merchants in that town. And he is popular as well as progressive. THE CANADIAN GROCER wishes Earle & Co. a prosperous career.

A MODEL SOLICITING LETTER FOR GROCERS.

At the recent London Groceries Exhibition, contest was held over the best letter soliciting trade. A prize was offered for the best letter, such as could be sent to a new resident of the town by a local grocer. The contestants were all grocers' clerks, and the successful letter was as follows:

DEAR MADAM,—We beg very respectfully to ask your kind consideration when deciding upon your grocer. If you will grant a perusal of our catalogue (sent herewith) we think that you will find that the prices quoted are as low as possible, consistent with first-class quality. Your acceptance and trial of the accompanying samples of tea will greatly oblige, and we may add that we have several other choice blends we can submit should these not be exactly to your taste. As will be seen from our list, we make a special feature of our provision department, which is always well stocked with the finest variety obtainable. Should you favor us with your commands it shall be our earnest endeavor, at all times, by prompt and careful attention to your every requirement, to give complete satisfaction. If not contrary to your wishes, our representative will wait upon you to-morrow, when any orders you may feel disposed to entrust us with will be esteemed.

We are, yours faithfully, S. & C.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol: "Our 'Circle' tea is a success. Sales are ahead of expectattons, but then, you know, the style and quality is a complete novelty."

You are probably yet buying teas in the expectation that there will be a duty, which may or may not come. We would simply ask that you remember we are free sellers. You are welcome to the teas and the duty if it comes.

A HINT TO THE GOVERNMENT.

WHAT is done cannot well be undone. It is more and more obvious every day that the Government should have appointed a commission of business men to investigate the tariff and make a report thereon.

That would have been both the most expeditious and the most efficient way. But it did not. And now it is too late to undo what has been done.

The duty of the Government clearly now is to push with might and main the preparation of the new tariff so that when Parliament meets the instrument will be ready for immediate submission to the House.

It is imperative that it should be so.

For some months the knowledge that the tariff was to be revised has had a disquieting effect upon trade in spite of the fact that business men recognized that it was necessary that the tariff should be overhauled.

But now, with the prospect of a new tariff a couple of months hence, there is less disposition than ever to do business. In fact business is practically at a standstill.

The imports show it; the clearing houses show it; every business man is experiencing it.

The late Government went out of power chiefly because of its disregard of the representations and rights of the business men of the country.

The business men of this country asked the present Government to appoint a commission of independent business men to investigate the tariff; but it ignored the request.

The business men of this country some months ago asked the Government to fix a time when the new tariff should go into operation; but again there was no compliance.

Now the business interests of the country demand that the tariff bill be ready for submission to the House when it meets. If there is again non-compliance there is danger of the business men stamping the present Government as being no richer in business common sense or more awake to the business requirements of the country than its predecessor.

FIXED PRICE ON SUGAR.

EVERYONE in the grocery trade knows that for some time the wholesale grocers, like the retailers, have not been making a living profit on refined sugars on account of the price cutting which has obtained.

An understanding has, however, been arrived at among the jobbers in Toronto whereby, for the time being at least, this state of affairs shall no longer continue as far as the local trade is concerned.

The agreement is independent of the Guild, and every wholesaler in the city is a subscriber to it, including those who were formerly at daggers drawn with the Guild.

The prices fixed are: Lower Province granulated, 4 1-16c. per lb., for 5 bbls. and upward, and 4⅛c. for less than 5 bbls.; Montreal granulated, 4⅛c. to 4 3-16c. respectively. Yellows range from 3⅜ per lb. upwards.

At these prices, based upon the present market values, the wholesalers are ensured a profit of from eight to fifteen cents per barrel, or from 2 to 4 per cent., according to quantity sold.

Under the old Guild arrangement, which was dissolved five or six years ago, the Toronto wholesaler's profit was half a cent per lb., out of which he had to pay the freight, which varied according to the seasons. But taking it all round his margin was from ¼ to ⅜c. per lb. more than under the present local arrangement.

It might here be mentioned that wholesalers in the United States are guaranteed by the trust a profit of 3-16c. per lb., leaving them the option of making more if they can.

FALLACIOUS CHARGES.

THERE are two charges which those opposed to the idea of preferential trade with Great Britain frequently levy against those in Canada who are the advocates of it.

The one is that it is presumption to ask the Motherland to give the products of Canada a preference over those of foreign nations; the other is that they are asking her to do all the sacrificing.

Under certain conditions these premises would be well taken. But these conditions do not exist. Canadians are not cravens. They are willing to give and take in this matter. Those who levy the charges in question, through ignorance or design overlook this point altogether.

In the first place it must be remembered that the offer of preferential trade as it stands to-day did not come from Canada or any other British colony. It came from the Motherland herself: From a member of the British Government; from the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies.

He, at the meeting of the British Chambers of Commerce held in London in June last, voluntarily extended an offer of preferential trade, but delegated to the colonies the duty of suggesting a scheme. And, furthermore, he asked them to hold a meeting at some future time in London for the purpose of bringing the scheme to the attention of the Imperial Government.

That should knock into silence the charge of presumption which is so commonly levied against advocates in Canada of preferential trade.

Then as to the charge that Canadians would be asking Great Britain to do all the sacrificing. A greater mistake could scarcely be made or a more deliberate untruth uttered.

No responsible newspaper in Canada, no reputable journal in Canada, has ever championed or even intimated any such thing.

The leader of the Government that was and the Premier of the Government that is, are both apostles of preferential trade, and both have distinctly laid down the proposition that for the preference that Great Britain would give our products, Canada, under her tariff, must do likewise unto British goods. And this principle has been again and again enunciated by many newspapers and by various politicians.

Talk about sacrifice! If either party to a preferential trade arrangement stands to sacrifice anything it is Canada.

Of her total revenue nearly 70 per cent. is derived from the Customs, while for the past 29 years it has averaged over 73 per cent. Great Britain, on the other hand, depends only upon the Customs for 26 per cent. of her revenue.

A lower tariff against British goods would, therefore, mean a decreased revenue from the Customs, for not only would there be the loss on account of a lower tariff on British goods, but upon those from countries outside the British Empire as well, which we might naturally expect not to come in as freely as they do now.

But not only is there the sacrifice which loss of revenue would entail, but there is another loss to Canada which preferential trade with Great Britain would tend to induce: In some lines of home manufacture there would be necessarily a curtailment of production.

Great Britain, on the other hand, would lose nothing in revenue. On the contrary, she would gain. And as she is the great consuming market of the world, the impost of a small tax would not be a burden upon the consumer, not at least until such time as the present conditions are reversed and the United Kingdom is compelled to ask the producing countries to sell to her instead of they asking her to buy from them.

Whatever sacrifice, however, Canada may be put to, it would doubtless be more than compensated for by the benefits which would accrue from preferential trade with the United Kingdom. And for that reason THE CANADIAN GROCER allies itself with those who are championing that cause.

CURRANTS AGAIN ADVANCE.

Currants have experienced still another advance, a cable received in Toronto on Monday last noting a further gain of one shilling per cwt. in Patras.

This means an advance of about two shillings per cwt. during the past month, or equal to half a cent per pound.

The Produce Markets' Review of the 6th inst. in its review of the currant market says: "The stock of good grocery currants remaining in Greece, when added to the stock in the United Kingdom, will barely be sufficient to fill probable requirements, even if all consumed. The stock in London is 8,832 tons, against 14,831 tons last year, and the usual requirements up to the end of August averaged during the last five years between 16,000 and 17,000 tons. It is, therefore, evident that a considerable quantity will be required, which will be very difficult to obtain, if the latest reports from Greece are to be relied upon."

The manufacturers of glucose in Austria have formed a trust. They doubtless expect to glucose together.

THE CASH SYSTEM IN RIPLEY.

MR. C. E. MARQUIS, of Marquis Bros., general merchants, Ripley, has been paying a visit to his old home in Pickering. While en route home he on Tuesday last stopped over at Toronto, when THE CANADIAN GROCER had a few minutes' interesting chat with him.

Marquis Bros. have been in business in Ripley about two years, and from the beginning they adopted the cash system.

"We have found," said Mr. Marquis, in reply to a question, "the cash system to work well. At first it was slow work to convince customers that it was the best thing for them as well as for us, but we have little or no difficulty now, for we have made it plain to them that it will pay them better, if need be, to even borrow money and pay us cash than get goods on credit and consequently pay higher prices for them. We have just got through taking stock, and find that we have not one hundred and fifty dollars in money receivable on our books."

"Then you do give a little credit?"

"Well, we have a few monthly accounts. For instance, sometimes a customer whom we know to be financially sound, and whom we have found to keep his word with us, comes and asks us for one, two, three, or four weeks' credit, and we give it him. It would not do to make a hard and fast rule. There must be a little elasticity.

"Other merchants have also adopted the cash system, and to-day Ripley is practically a cash town, and I hope it will so continue to be," concluded Mr. Marquis.

TO KEEP OUT SPURIOUS TEA.

THERE is on the statute books of the United States a law designed to exclude impure teas from that country; but like similar laws elsewhere it has not been effective.

The chief weakness, it seems, is the absence of any guide for the inspectors as to what constitutes tea unfit for consumption. The result of this has been that each inspector has had his own idea on the matter. As a natural concomitant of that, tea which should have been kept out has been allowed in, while that which should have been allowed to come in was denied the right. Frequently, too, tea which had been shut out of one port has been sent to Canada or England and then brought back again to the United States through another port, where the inspector's idea was different from the inspector who had pronounced the tea unfit for consumption.

In order to improve these defects no less than two bills are now before Congress. The one has been prepared by the Ways and Means Committee and the other by the Treasury Department.

Both bills prohibit the importation of teas adulterated with spurious leaf, chemicals or other deleterious substances.

The bill prepared by the Treasury Department has been transmitted to the committee of the Senate, and provides for the appointment by the Secretary of the Treasury of a board of five, who shall establish standard samples of tea. The board is to be appointed every second year.

This bill differs from the committee bill in providing for a single board instead of separate boards at New York, Chicago and San Francisco, where the principal imports take place. The measure provides that the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the recommendation of the Board of Experts, shall fix and establish uniform standards of purity and fitness for consumption of the several kinds of teas imported into the United States, and shall procure and deposit in the Custom Houses of the three leading tea ports, and such other ports as he may determine, duplicate samples of such standards; that the secretary shall procure a sufficient number of other duplicate samples of such standards to supply the importers and dealers in tea at all ports desiring the same at cost; that such standards shall continue to be the standards of purity and fitness for consumption of teas permitted to be imported into the United States, and on all teas or merchandise described as tea of inferior purity and fitness for consumption, and that teas and their substitutes falling below these standards shall be deemed unfit for consumption.

The fixing of uniform standards for the guidance of the inspectors will do much in the premises, but unless the inspectors are expert tea men, the conditions will be little if any more satisfactory than they are at present. It is not upon the standards, but upon the efficiency of the inspectors that thoroughness must rélie.

The merchant who has not veracity in his store will not keep much else very long.

NUTMEG SITUATION.

The position of the nutmeg market appears to be better than it has been for some time.

According to advices received this week in Toronto stocks in the primary markets have been reduced to within two-thirds of what they were at this time last year, while prices are 2d. lower

In view of these conditions it is the opinion that prices will ere long advance.

For the past couple of years nutmegs, like other spices, have been gradually tending downward. As a result buyers have been cautious in their purchases. It is estimated that they have only been taking about one-fifth their annual quantity.

What helps to give confidence in the nutmeg market is the tendency of spices generally towards higher valnes.

APPLE EXPORT TRADE.

Enquiries for apples are being received from the United States. They are principally for Spies. Although there are a good many of them stored throughout the country, yet some difficulty is being experienced in securing carload lots.

A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday, in regard to the English market, read: "Prices show slight decline. Market opened weak and closed the same. Inferior stocks neglected."

Shipments from this side of the Atlantic have been heavy of late and it is feared that this will have a depressing effect upon the market.

The exports last week were 48,000 from all ports, but the apples shipped were mostly from New Hampshire and Maine.

A biscuit war has broken out in the United States, and we may expect to see the price of crackers crushed out of all resemblance to their former selves.

CUTTING IN MOLASSES.

THE course of the molasses market has been a severe disappointment to traders in the staple in Montreal and the east this month.

Jobbers, generally, expected that the demand would increase after February 1, and held their stocks firm under this expectation. The expected demand has not yet materialized, and, in addition to bearish advices from the Islands, a large holder in Montreal is cutting the price on Barbadoes and Porto Rico, offering both in round lots at 26c.

These offers of course make it difficult for sellers who ask the regulation price of 28½ to 29c. to do business.

The absence of demand this spring in the province of Quebec is largely owing to the late period at which lumbering operations commenced. The shantymen are among the largest consumers of molasses, and as they did not, owing to the absence of snow, start for the woods until the middle or end of December, they naturally have consumed less molasses

Recent news from primary points also has been in favor of the bears. The first quotations cabled on Barbadoes were 11c., and they have since dropped to 10c., which is 3c. below the figure at which they stood at the corresponding period last spring.

Naturally this news is not cheering to holders of last season's stock. If they have to carry any of it over it will come into competition with new stock secured at a less cost and suffer in consequence.

It will not be surprising, therefore, considering the conditions and the desire for a turnover before new season's crop is on the market, if holders consent to a material shading.

The low price outside is attributed to the large quantities of New Orleans stock offering this year at fully 10c. below what it was selling for at the same time last year.

EXPORT TRADE VIA ST. JOHN.

The people of St. John, N.B., were much pleased with the success of their first winter's business, but the increase during this, the second winter, has been so far satisfactory beyond expectation.

Last year, up to the present time, but 13 steamers engaged in this business had cleared from the port; this year the number is 21. Last season Liverpool, London and Glasgow were the only ports to which cargoes were taken; now Belfast and Dublin have been added.

Three years ago the exports for this period were valued at only $318,000. Last year they increased to nearly $1,000,000, and this year they are already over $1,500,000. In United States product alone the increase from last year is over 1,000 carloads.

The advantage to St. John is very great, upwards of $1,000 being paid in wages per day since the first week in December.

The steamers to London have had the largest business, but the shipments to Liverpool have been large, and they are increasing so fast that the Beaver Line have made arrangements to have one of the large steamers of the Elder-Dempster Co. make two trips from St. John. This steamer is the Assaye, of 4,900 tons register.

H. G. COLLAMORE.

THERE are many popular commercial travelers on the road. Among them is H. G. Collamore, who for the last ten years has represented in Northern Ontario the wholesale crockery house of W. J. Reid & Co., London.

But a traveler to be successful must also be able to sell goods, and this H. G. Collamore can do as well as the best of them. A country merchant who has known him for a number of years paid this tribute to him the other day in my hearing: "He is a most persistent fellow. He will stick to a prospective buyer like a leach; but judiciously so, mind you. He doesn't say much, but what he says is to the point. He is a very fine fellow. I am speaking from personal experience."

His fellow-travelers recognize his ability as well as his customers. For a number of years he has been a director of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association, and last year filled the office of second vice-president of that organization.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 18, 1897.

GROCERIES.

TRADE in the wholesale grocery trade is, if anything, a little better than it was a week ago. The improvement is probably more noticeable in sugars than any other line, purchases on the part of both wholesalers and retailers being a little freer than they were. At the same time, however, the volume of business is not large. Both the home and the foreign market is steady as far as prices are concerned. Locally wholesalers' prices are a little higher than they were a week ago. Canned goods are quiet, but steady. Currants have experienced a further advance of 1s. per cwt., and some of the local wholesalers are this week demanding higher prices. Tea is in fair demand, with prices steady. Spices are quiet and firm.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation. Tomatoes are in fair demand, but other kinds of vegetables are, as a rule, quiet. There is a fair demand for this time of the year for cheap salmon at about $1.10. Good grades of canned lobsters are scarce, but the demand is light. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The market is quiet with prices easy. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There is not much doing. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Wholesalers are experiencing a fair demand for this time of the year. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There was a decline of ¾d. in beet in London on Tuesday, but taking it all round the market appears to be steady. Stocks in New York are light, and some large sales have been made there. Locally trade has improved during the past week. As noted in our editorial columns, wholesalers in Toronto have agreed upon a fixed price, as far as the local trade is concerned, and quotations on granulated are slightly higher than they were. Granulated is now quoted at 4 1-16 to 4⅛c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4⅛ to 4 3-16c. for less than 5 barrels for Lower Province and Montreal sugar respectively.

SPICES.

Spices continue to rule firm in the primary markets. We quote as follows: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

NUTS.

The first of the new crop of Brazil nuts is due in New York this week. The Brazil nut crop is said to be 7,000 tons, about the same as last year. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds,

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Local dealers report a fair demand for rice, particularly for the better grades. Mail advices under date of Saigon, January 9, say : "There is not very much movement in rice as yet, but negotiations are continual with Europe for March-April delivery, with more or less result. The prospects of a demand for Japan strengthens and business may ensue later on ; however, for the present, prices are, although sufficiently high, inclined to go back as supplies increase, but we doubt if this easier feeling will last when home cargoes come to be delivered." Tapioca continues firm, according to advices received this week in Toronto, shippers asking as high for futures as for spot goods. Usually there is a difference of 1s. We quote : Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c. ; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c. ; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

Local wholesalers are pretty well supplied with teas, but they are still taking good values offering on spot Owing to the near approach of the time for revising the tariff trade with England is practically closed as shippers will not guarantee delivery before the budget is brought down. The London market is firm on low and medium grade Ceylon teas. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A cable received in Toronto on Monday announces a further advance of 1s. per cwt. in currants. Prices locally have a firmer tendency, some of the houses having fractionally advanced their figures. The demand is fair. We quote : Provincials, 4¼ to 4⅜c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; do , half-bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote : Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c. ; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c. ; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

Malaga raisins are going out in the small quantities usual at this time of the year We quote : Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4 ; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50 ; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5 ; Imperial Russian clusters, $4.50 to $5.

California loose muscatel raisins are only meeting with moderate request. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs continue dull. Wholesale quotations are : 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c. ; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Mail advices from Smyrna of a late date state that Sultana raisins have been in good demand from all parts and prices have ruled higher. Operators have forced prices up to extreme values under small stocks. The supply is now so reduced that shippers find it practically impossible to execute orders. On the Toronto market there are no new features to note. Prices range from 7 to 10c.

Dates continue quiet. We quote : 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

There is a better demand for California evaporated fruits on spot. Reports from the United States are to the same effect. Wholesalers report an increased demand, particularly for peaches. We quote : Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

California prunes have eased off a little in price in the primary market, but they are not quotably lower. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 11½ to 12½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

California navel oranges continue in good demand, with other kinds neglected. Seville oranges will be on the market next week, and people are already beginning to enquire for them. Valencia oranges are quoted lower. A good demand is being experienced for lemons. Bananas are in good demand this week, shipments arriving in good condition. Shipments arriving previously were chilled. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.25 to $3.50 per case; 714's, $3.75 to $4 per case. California navels, $3.25 to $4. Lemons — Messinas, $2 to $2.25 per box for fancy, and $1.75 to $2 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, 75c. per bbl. for greenings and Baldwins, and $1.25 to $1.50 for Spies; onions, $1.25 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—It is the same old tale. There is a good demand for choice dairy butter, but the trouble is there is not much of that to be had. There is a good deal of low-grade and medium to be had, however. A better feeling is to be noted in large rolls, and little better prices are being obtained for choice of this description. Creamery butter is rather scarce on account of the activity of the export demand. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c. for good to choice, and 8 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb., blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is still strong, but the demand is rather light on account of the higher prices which are being asked. Commission men are, as a rule, quoting 11½ to 12c. for late makes, but really first-class stock is being held at 12 to 12½c. We know of 12c. being received for a carload, 12½c. being asked.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull. We quote 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 65 to 70c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—The market is still dull. There is a wide range of quotations, but 2½ to 3½c. appears to be the idea for choice to fancy grades.

EVAPORATED APPLES—No improvement. Jobbers are quoting 3½ to 5c. for choice to fancy fruit.

EGGS—Receipts have fallen off and the market is a little firmer at the moment on new laid. Limed eggs are almost unsalable with prices lower. We quote: New-laid, at 14½ to 15c., and limed, according to quality, at 8 to 10c.

POULTRY—Is scarce, but there is nothing much wanted but chickens and ducks. People appear to have had a surfeit of turkey. We quote: Chickens, 35 to 60c. per pair; turkeys, 7 to 8c.; geese, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 60 to 80c.

POTATOES—Are much the same as a week ago. The idea as to price is 25c. on track in carload lots and 30 to 35c. per bag out of store

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are fairly liberal with prices lower. We quote: Wheat, 79 to 80c. for white and 78 to 79c. for red, and 63 to 63½c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 41 to 42c.

FLOUR—Business is flat, with prices nominally unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.05; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.65; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.75; straight roller, $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is dull and prices lower for oatmeal. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 in bags and $3 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade is quiet in fish, business not yet having opened up for the Lenten trade. Dealers in fish are, however, getting their stocks into shape. We quote: White fish, 6c.; ditto in kegs, $5 to $5.50; trout, 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 6½ to 7c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

A fair jobbing trade in long clear and barrelled pork is being experienced this week. Western dressed hogs are coming forward freely. Packers are paying $5 for light weights and $4.25 to $4.50 for heavy weights. For light, lean northern hogs little better prices than those quoted are being paid.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼ to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9 to 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 10½c.; backs, 9½c.; shoulder hams, 6½c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼ to 6½c.; tubs, 6½ to 6¾c.; pails, 6¾ to 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12; Canadian short-cut, $12 to $12.50; clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

Trade continues fair. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Markets are still stagnant, and in order to bring about business liberal concessions have had to be made. Hopes are entertained in the interest of growers as well as dealers, that when home trade sets in, there may be some reaction. Prices offered at present range from $4 to $4.50 for red clover; $2.50 to $4 for alsike, and $1 to $1.50 for timothy.

PETROLEUM.

Pratt's astral is quoted a little lower. Business continues fair. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¼ to 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5c. to 6c for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 90c. to $1.

WOOL—The market is dull and featureless. Combing fleece nominal at 20 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has shown somewhat more life this week, but in a very modified sense, while buyers in every case pursue a strict policy of only anticipating immediate necessities. Sugar prices have been unaffected by the advance outside, while syrups are dull and unchanged, Molasses values are rather unsettled. Rice, spices and coffee continue quiet and generally firm. Jobbers and wholesalers continue to speculate in tea, which is the only genuinely active spot in the grocery market. An absolute scarcity of low grades is the leading feature. Dried fruits are quiet but steady. Cable advices on Sultana raisins are quite firm. Canned goods have exhibited some life, and there is some difficulty experienced in filling orders for canned tomatoes, peas and peaches, owing to their scarcity. Values on them are very firmly held in consequence. Fish have commenced to move on Lenten account.

SUGAR.

The sugar market here has been entirely unaffected by the strength displayed outside. Jobbers report a hand-to-mouth trade, and as they cannot induce their customers to increase their orders, they themselves are doing very little. The tone is firm here at the refineries, and values are held steady at 3⅞ to 4c. for granulated, and yellows, 3⅛ to 3¾c., at the factory. In a jobbing way we quote : Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c., and yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups continues slow, with prices unchanged, at 1⅜ to 2¼c., as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market is rather unsettled at present. Stocks of fine Barbadoes are not heavy, but the demand is not particularly brisk, and low offers made in some cases have resulted in an irregular range of prices. Round lots of choice Barbadoes and Porto Rico have changed hands at 28c., but other offers have been made down to 26c. on mixed lots. In a jobbing way we quote 30 to 31c.

RICE.

Business in rice continues quiet. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.25 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market is quiet but firm, especially pepper. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market continues quiet. In a large way a few lots of Maracaibo and Santos have changed hands at 16½ to 18c. Otherwise there has been little movement noted, and we quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

There has been a fair trade doing in teas between traders during the week, but in a jobbing way the movement is small. Low grades of all kinds are almost impossible to obtain, there being no Japan stock available under 14c., while mediums have been asked for pretty freely from first hands up to 21c. We quote as follows : Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been no change in Valencia raisins. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are firmly held and jobbers cannot replace stocks for less money. Prices are steady as follows: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Advices on Sultana raisins are strong. London, Eng., advices state that the market is entirely cleared in Smyrna of sound fruit, and that holders in London are very firm, stocks being considerably less than last year. Based on recent quotations, no sultanas can be laid down here under 5½ to 6c. for the very inside in straight invoice lots, net cash. Jobbers, accordingly, are firm at 7 to 12c., as to grade, on what they have in stock.

There is no new feature in currants, a few small orders constituting the movement. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c. cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes continue steady. A few consignments of California have arrived lately, but they have not affected prices in any way, values being held steady. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

There is no change in figs, which we quote steady at 7 to 10c., as to grade.

Dates move quietly at former rates, 5½ to 6c., as to quality and quantity.

Evaporated fruits are steady. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

NUTS.

There is only a quiet trade passing in nuts. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market has exhibited some movement in a small way. The dominant feature is the scarcity and firmness of tomatoes, peas and peaches. Packers are firm holders of the first named at 75c. and no peas are obtainable under 80c. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

Trade in fish has been of a fair sorting up character, and with the approach of Lent, gives signs of expanding. Supplies of all kinds are ample in some cases, in fact, too much so. In pickled fish, the chief feature has been an advance of 10 to 25c. per bbl. in green cod, but on the other hand, B. C. and Labrador salmon have declined 50c. per bbl. A few small sales of No. 1 N. S. herrings have transpired at $3.75 to $4. We quote, in a jobbing way: Labrador salmon, small, $12.50 to $13; B.C. salmon, $12.50; No. 1 green cod, large, $5.25 to $5.50; No. 1, $4.75 to $5; No. 2, $3.40 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.40 to $3.50; No. 1 N.S. herrings, $3.75 to $4, and No. 1 lake trout, $3.60 to $3.75.

Receipts of fresh fish continue liberal, but with the exception of Manitoba white fish prices show little change. They have declined ½c. per pound. We quote: Haddock and cod at 3 to 3¼c.; steak cod, 3½ to 4c.; smelts, 3 to 5c.; salmon, 11 to 12c.; Manitoba pike, 3½ to 4c.; dore, 5 to 5½c.; white fish, 5½c., fresh herrings, 90c. per 100.

Smoked fish sell in a small way. Kippered herrings rule esier, prices declining 25c., but smoked herrings are rather firmer. Haddies range from 6 to 7c. Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 85c. to $1 per box; kippered herrings $1.00 to 1.25 and smoked herrings 10 to 12c. per box.

Dried and boneless fish are in limited demand and prices steady. We quote: Cod, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.65 to $1.75 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5.10 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is nothing new in this market, prices ruling unchanged. We quote: California oranges, $4 to $4.25 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $2.75 per box, and $5 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $4.50 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8.

APPLES.

The apple market is quiet and featureless. We quote: No. 1, 90c. to $1.40 and No. 2. 40 to 85c.

DRIED APPLES.

Offerings of both dried and evaporated fruit have been made with more freedom lately. In one case a round lot of the former was closed out at 2½c., while 4c. purchased a good line of the latter. In a jobbing way we quote dried, 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated, 4c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Increased receipts have caused a further decline in the egg market since last report, fresh stock being 2c. lower. We quote: New laid, 15 to 16c.; Montreal limed, 10½ to 11c; western limed, 9 to 10c., and cold storage, $2.50 per case of 30 dozen.

POULTRY—The demand for fresh killed poultry is good, and all offerings meet with a ready sale at firm prices. We quote: Turkeys, 9c.; ducks, 8c.; chickens, 7 to 7½c., and geese, 6 to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans is limited, and sales of car lots are slow at 70c., while in a jobbing way 80 to 85c. is about the idea.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes is unchanged at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a small way.

ONIONS—Are firmly held at $1.75 for red and $2 to $2.25 for yellow.

HONEY—There is little alteration to report. Prices are: 11 to 12c. for fancy comb in small cases and 8 to 12c. in large.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market continues unchanged under a small jobbing demand.

We quote : New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12 ; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 5½ to 6c., and compound refined at 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams,9 to 11c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

Dressed hogs developed a strong feeling Tuesday, for light weights prices advancing 25 to 35c., and heavy weights 5 to 10c. per 100 lbs. A carload of bright Manitoba hogs brought $5.75 per 100 lbs. to arrive, and other sales of car lots are reported at $5.25 to $5.50. Heavy weights have sold at $4.40 to $4.50.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There was no improvement in the flour market, business being quiet and values unchanged. We quote : Winter wheat patents at $4.45 to $4.70; straight rollers, $4.20 to $4.30; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.15. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.90 to $5.05 ; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.75.

The demand for bran was good to-day, both from local and country buyers, and the tone of the market was firmer, with sales of Manitoba at $10 on local account, and at $11 on western, including bags.

The market for oatmeal continues quiet, and prices are easy at $3.20 to $3.30 per barrel, and at $1.60 to $1.65 per bag, for rolled oats.

HAY.

Increased receipts of hay caused a further decline this week, No. 1 being freely offered at $9.50 and No. 2 at $8.25, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market furnished nothing new this week. It is expected that this week's shipments will about close out what old stock there is carried here. The cable was unchanged to-day.

Butter continues dull and heavy in tone to-day. About 19c. represents an outside export view on creamery, and the majority figure around 18 to 18½c In a jobbing way on local account 19 to 19½c. is the range Roll dairy was quiet at 12 to 13c.

The exports of cheese last week were 11,074 to Liverpool and 9,221 to London, a total of 20,295, and the exports of butter 689 to Liverpool. This makes the total to date, since the 1st of May last, 1,975,146 packages of cheese, and 187,827 butter, against 2,000,000 odd cheese and 77,189 butter for the corresponding period last year.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables from the islands quote first cost on Barbadoes molasses 1c. lower this week at 10c.

There are no low-grade Japan teas to be had on this market. The very best price is 15c.

Dressed hogs have advanced from 10 to 35c. per cwt. in car lots under decreased receipts.

A. P. Tippet, of A. P. Tippet & Co., returned this week from a trip to Great Britain and the Continent.

Some holders of molasses have been offering cut prices, but holders of good Barbadoes will not sell for less than 28c.

Advices from London on Sultana raisins are much firmer, and it would cost jobbers 5½ to 8½c. net cash to lay down any fresh stocks.

Canned tomatoes, peaches, and peas are becoming scarce here, stocks being greatly diminished. As a result sellers are firm holders.

Several consignments of Pacific Coast prunes have arrived lately, but they have not affected the spot jobbing prices here in any way.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 18, 1897.

TRADE does not show any decided improvement. The prospects of new duties has given merchants something to think about, and particularly in tea has resulted in a large movement, which, though chiefly consisting of importations for wholesale men, has also been added to by a large quantity distributed to retailers, who have followed the lead of the wholesale houses and bought largely. While the tea men here have bought India and Ceylon and blends in London, the great bulk of the China tea has been bought direct. The stock here will be a large one. So that in the event of a duty being placed on tea our merchants will find that they will get but part of the advance, and even then for some time demand will be slow. In spice the market shows an upward tendency all along the line, and cream of tartar is also higher. Many of our dealers have found the New York market during the past year better to buy spices in than the London market.

OIL—In burning oil there is nothing new to note. Lubricating receives increased attention, and buyers are being particularly well looked after. This is a trade when once obtained is easier held than that of burning oil, and requires much more information on the part of the dealer and salesman. The competition between the Canadian and American oil is keen. We quote : Best American, 19 ½c.; best Canadian, 18¼c .; prime, 16c.

SALT—Both coarse and fine salt continue to arrive. and further shipments are looked for daily. Owing to the quantity which has arrived here a great deal is being put in store with little prospect of moving it for some time. Prices rule low. We quote : Coarse, 45 to 50c., factory-filled, 85c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3 ; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—Prices show a firmness which is quite satisfactory to holders, but the demand is light, and little change has yet taken place here. Peas show quite a range, according to quality, being about the only line in which more than one price is asked. There continues to be some sale for French peas, but it is not as large as formerly. In sardines the French hold the market. The sale is not large. There is a steady demand from the west for finnan haddies. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2 ; pineapples, $2.25 to $3 ; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40 ; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; American peaches, 3's, $2.25.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a fair business doing, the bulk of which is oranges. Californias are much more popular than last season, one great reason being improvement in quality. This is particularly noticeable in the large sizes. The sale of Floridas is limited. Valencias are rather firmer, and are now arriving sweet. Apples show little change. There is no life in the business. Lemons are low. What to do with cranberries is a question asked by fruit men. Even the lower prices fail to create a demand. We quote : Lemons, $2.75 to $3.50 ; Valencia oranges, $3.25 to $3.75 per case ; California oranges, $4 to $5 ; Florida oranges, $5 to $6 ; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl. ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $5; pines, $1.50 per doz.; bananas, $2 to $2.50.

DRIED FRUITS.—Two cars of California raisins were received this week, quality of which was particularly good, the 3-crown being almost as good as the 4-crown of

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

earlier in the season. The 4-crown raisins are beautiful fruit. A shipment of Bosnia prunes was also received. Holders of prunes are hoping to make some money this season, which is what they have not done for some time. The demand, however, is slow. Evaporated apples keep very low. Our dealers are quite well supplied, and now hope for higher prices. Dried apples are a source of anxiety to holders. Even low prices won't move them. Onions hold at the advance. Currants have a good, steady demand. We quote : Valencia raisins, 5 to 6c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.; California 3-crown L.M., 7½ to 7¾c.; 4-crown, 8¾ to 9c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6 to 6½c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; California, 6 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 5c.; onions, $2.50 to $3.

SUGAR—There is a better movement. Refineries have quite a demand. Refineries are not selling futures, which makes sales less then they otherwise would be. Holders feel sore over last year's sugar business. There is one lot of granulated held here ever since the duty was put on. It was held for 5c. There is a thousand barrels in the lot. Yellow is rather firmer than granulated, which is sold very close. We quote : Granulated, 3.90 to 4c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES— Maket is weak and sales light. New Orleans, however, holds its price for best quality, as does Porto Rico. Dealers are anxious to move Barbadoes before new comes in. This is hard to do. Second grade Porto Rico can also be bought low. Present prospect is for low prices on molasses this spring. We quote : Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c. ; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—There is little doing. Cheese is very light stock, but it is not easy to get extra price owing to light demand. Eggs, except fresh stock, are slow. In butter there is no change. Stocks are large and quality but fair. Efforts are being made to sell Ontario butter, but with small success. Good butter would sell, but only at a fair price. We quote : Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½ to 11c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

FISH—There is a steady but small sale for dry fish, and pickled show fair demand. The difficulty in the latter is to get the quality of fish needed. Large pickled fish have been scarce this season. In smoked fish, bloaters are lower, the fishermen, after the good business last season, rather overdoing the matter this year. Frozen fish trade is about over. The season was only a fairly successful one. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50 ; medium, $2.75 to $3 ; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25 ; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; smoked, 5 to 6c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; frozen herring, 65 to 70c. per 100; bloaters, 50 to 60c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. Frozen cod, 2 to 2¼c. per lb.; pollock, 1¼c.; smelt, 4 to 5c.

PROVISIONS—Pork is still weak. Some P.E Island mess is to hand. There is quite a quantity of old clear pork in the market and some low prices are heard. Beef holds its value better, but, owing to different grades, there is quite a range in price. Lard keeps low with fair demand. Smoked meats have a better sale. In small hams prices are rather higher. The sale to wholesale grocery men is light here now. We quote : Clear pork, $13 to $14; mess, $12 to $13 ; plate beef, $11 to $12 ; hams, 10 to 11c. ; rolls, 7 to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Markets are low and easy. Flour has a limited sale. There was quite a demand a few weeks ago, but the decline in price stopped it. Oatmeal continues to ease off in price. While stocks of flour are not large, those in oatmeal are still heavy. Beans are lower than ever. This has tempted a number of smaller dealers to buy full cars, and makes the market a full one and places the larger dealers who are stocked at higher prices at a disadvantage. Cornmeal is still the successful competitor of feed, being, if anything, lower than last week. The sale is large. Other lines show little or no change. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.50 to $5.50; best Ontario, $4.85 to $5.00; medium, $4.50 to $4.70; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.40; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.90. middlings, $14 to $15; bran, $13.50 to $14; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3.25 to $3.50; round peas, $1.10; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; beans, hand-picked, 90 to $1; prime, 85 to 90c.; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A. L. Goodwin received this week 150 cases of Bosnia prunes.

John Gibson & Son, retail grocers, of Fredericton, intend to retire from business in the spring.

H. F. Sharp, retail grocer, this week assigned to Mr. G. Wetmore Merritt, of Merritt Bros. & Co.

Three schooners this week loaded bloaters at Grand Manan, one each for Halifax, Boston and New York.

Canadian-packed olives are something new. Messrs. Dearborn & Co., of St. Jonh, have made a success of the venture, and are having a large sale in the face of foreign competition.

Baird & Peters this week received a car of California loose muscatel raisins, their third car this season. All are from the firm of J. K. Ormsby & Co. This is the first year they were represented in this market. J. Hunter White is their representative.

"We each week get good orders for 'Golden' finnan haddies," said Mr. Northrup, the selling agent of this brand, to THE GROCER, "and the best of it is the orders often come from cities where our goods have never before been, which we take as a sure proof of their growing popularity."

The steamer Taymouth Castle had a light cargo for here from the West Indies this trip, but she will get her full complement from here outward. Potatoes and beans are both making good returns. Little is being done in cheese. The usual large quantity of fish is shipped each trip. It is expected the March steamer will bring some new molasses.

Lucas, Steele and Bristol have just received from Colombo, Ceylon, a direct shipmhnt of their "Empire" brand tea. It is in three qualities, golden tipped Pekoe, flowery Pekoe and Pekoe Souchong.

LOOK OUT FOR FROSTED MOLASSES.

THERE is a great deal of frosted molasses on the Phiiadelphia market now, and retail grocers should make sure that they do not ignorantly buy any of it. Frosted molasses is the result of a heavy frost visiting the growing cane, the product of which is practically worthless, although it is sold.

The best way to tell frosted molasses when you see it is by its frothiness. Almost invariably this grade of goods appears fermented, although in cold weather the taste is not effected. As soon as the frosted product is exposed to heat, however, either by warm weather or by being taken in a warm room in cold weather, a transformation takes place which renders the molasses undesirable for food. It almost immediately becomes as thin as water and sours, afterwards becoming as black as ink. While even in this condition it could be used for food, probably without serious results, its appearance is against it, and nobody in his right mind will have anything to do with it.

The frosted molasses is being sold to local jobbers by brokers who will not, however, guarantee it. Retailers should see that their jobber gives them an absolute guarantee that the molasses he sells them is not frosted.—Grocery World.

A HANDSOME CHEESE HOLDER.

A HAPPY idea has prompted the manufacturers of MacLaren's Imperial cheese to have a holder made specially for their jars. The result is a simple, chaste and handsome quadruple plated stand which materially enhances the appearance of their jar, already a neat, pretty package, making it still more attractive on a tastefully arranged table. This stand, made and sold in the ordinary way, would be good value at $2.50, but the object of A. F. MacLaren & Co. being to advertise their cheese, they are able to offer the holders at a much reduced price. The accompanying cut is an illustration of this stand. The firm's advertisement in another page gives additional particulars in regard to the matter.

PROFITABLE LINE OF BUSINESS.

A new and profitable line of business is opened to our country merchants by a company in Montreal, who buy feathers all the year round and in any quantity that is being offered, at advantageous prices. Many country merchants have worked up quite a business in this line. They pay for the feathers in merchandise out of their store and sell them to this company for cash. Those who are interested may address the Alaska Feather & Down Co., Montreal, P.Q., and when doing so please to mention THE CANADIAN GROCER.

UNTIDY WINDOWS.

Passing along any of the thoroughfares of the city one cannot help being struck with the untidy and unsightly appearance that many of the store windows present, says Retail Grocers' Advocate. Instead of being made to attract the eye of the passer-by, they act in an entirely different manner, giving one the impression that the proprietor does not care to go to much trouble to obtain custom. Why this is so is hard to explain, as the excellent and varied manner, coupled with the expense in which the manufacturer packs his goods, either in attractive jars, cases, etc., gives the storekeeper much material to work upon. Many of those who keep a store seem to have not only the idea, but act upon it, that Christmas time, or when the spring fever comes 'round, is the only time to have an attractive window display; totally ignoring the fact that goods well advertised are half sold; and there is no gainsaying the fact, that the window of any store, nicely but neatly arranged, is one of the best methods of advertising, as it cannot fail to attract the attention of the would-be customer. The department store, in this respect, sets an example which might be worthily followed by many to advantage.

KEEP STOCK MOVING.

"On rainy days I have the clerks shift about the shelf goods; it keeps the goods clean, gives the store a fresh and inviting look and awakens new interest on the part of consumers." So said a successful grocer to a contemporary. The policy is a good one. The shifting of goods and their rearrangement should be done as to give prominence to slow-selling articles. Oftimes goods get shelf-worn simply because they are out of the customers' view, whereas if attractively displayed they would move freely. Don't tuck your stock under counters, into dark corners; keep it moving. Every prominent department store is continually shifting the stock. The circulation of air is a requisite of good health, and a free circulation of the stock ensures a moving around the store by its customers, and that means increased trade.

CALIFORNIA DRIED FRUITS IN ENGLAND.

The export movement in California dried fruits has, it is reported, been steadily extending during the past two years; up to the middle of last December the direct shipments from the Coast to England and the Continent aggregated 85 cars of dried fruits on through bills of lading, which, together with what has gone out from Eastern ports, made a total to that time, of about 170 cars. California, it is reported, intends to make an elaborate exhibition at the Horticultural Exposition in Hamburg, which will begin on May 1st and last for five months.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

W. H. GILLARD & CO.: We are offering some splendid values in Young Hysons and Japans to retail at 25c. These teas were bought at low ebb of the market, and are offered correspondingly low.

Laporte, Martin & Cie: Our stock of fish is now complete, and can meet any demand.

T. A. Lytle & Co. find business unusually good in jams, jellies and marmalade for the time of year.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of several lines of Young Hyson and Ceylon teas, which, they claim, cannot be beaten in value.

The F. F. Dalley Co.: The sale of English Army blacking has had a large increase this winter. The quality of the blacking has had considerable to do with it, as well as the mild winter.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., direct the attention of buyers to their "Tea Cup" Japan tea, packed in 1-lb. packages. This tea possesses style and liquoring qualities superior to bulk teas offered at the same price.

Salada Ceylon Tea: The Salada Tea Co's business this year has so far more than doubled every week over the corresponding week of last year, but the first week of February capped the climax, it being over three times as much as the first week of February, 1896.

PRICES IN ROSSLAND.

The Rossland correspondent of The Province writes his journal as follows:

Just now the sound of the hammer and saw is heard from daybreak to nightfall, pounding away at wooden buildings, which are invariably rented at fabulous rents before completed. Stores, so called, rent all the way from $60 to $300 per month and at these figures are at a premium, while an ordinary box or shack or cabin, to give it the dignified name it gets here, brings $10 per month. I send you a clipping from a local market report, which, with the figures above quoted, will give some idea of what existence costs a man here:

Flour, per 50 lbs	$2 00
Butter, ranch, per lb	25

Laporte, Martin & Cie. have the control of G. Charles & Co.'s London bottled pickles, which are now offered at a low price although of a superior quality.

A shipment of fine Filiatra currants in barrels, half-barrels and cases arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. are offering a line of California evaporated peaches in bags, about 60 lbs., at exceptional prices.

Importations of Marshall & Co.'s kippered herrings, herrings in tomato sauce, continue large in all the Canadian provinces.

"We have had a great demand for our dried fruits last week, and expect to clear the lot this week," report Laporte, Martin & Cie.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. report the arrival of a shipment of Batger's dry drained lemon, orange and citron peel in kegs about 200 lbs.

WANTED STRONG BUTTER.

For once the shipper "got even" with the receiver. The story is told as follows:

Full of wrath the commission merchant wrote to the country dealer in the following sarcastic style:

"Dear Sir,—The last consignment of butter you sent me was very good and strong, but the axle-grease maker I sold it to complained that it was a little too fresh. If you have about fifty or seventy-five pounds of butter strong enough to walk you may ship it to me at once."

And the country dealer sent him an old goat.

Alas, the yarn is hardly credible. No self-respecting commision dealer would let the matter rest there. It's safe to say that the city man charged the countryman a big bill for boarding the goat.—Merchants' Review.

WINNIPEG MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18, 1897.

THE wholesale grocery trade in Winnipeg is at present inclined to be on the dull side, not much change being exhibited since the holidays, nor is a change expected until about the end of March. Paper has been fairly well met, and indications point out that, with few exceptions, the province is in a much better state than it was a year ago. Country produce has not been supplied as frequently as the retail trade would have liked, but this is owing to the late extreme cold weather and condition of the roads. Now, however, a better prospect exists for a better supply. Competition is probably more keen in this city than any in the Dominion, for many reasons, but one in particular: Winnipeg is often used as a slaughter ground for eastern and western firms. Consequently, goods are sometimes sold at eastern and western prices delivered here. This practically means a loss to the firm who brings in goods at the regular price and pays local freight.

SUGAR—Is quiet, and being sold at less than it could be laid down for to-day. Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c. per lb.; bright yellow, 3⅞c. per lb. This is owing to many houses having purchased large lots early in the season before the market advanced.

CANNED GOODS—Are steady, with firm prices on tomatoes and peas. Corn is dull, and as the pack last year was not apparently up to the average, prices consequently are low. Apples are not called for yet in any quantity owing to the large crop of green fruit brought up here last fall. Peaches, pears, strawberries and plums are quiet but steady, the local demand not yet having set in, owing to the large quantities of these goods being preserved last season by housekeepers. It is, however, only a question of a few weeks until a certain demand will spring up. Lobsters of fine pack are very scarce. Salmon rules about the same as last year. Oysters are higher for good packs. We quote, per case: Tomatoes, best brands, $1.80; do, good seconds, $1.70; peas, $1.75; corn, $1.50; beans, $1.75; strawberries, $3.70; raspberries, $3.20; pears, 3's, Bowlby, $4.75; do, 2's, do, $3.40; pineapple, imported, $4.50.

DRIED FRUITS — Are moving slowly, except in the case of Valencia raisins, which are scarce. Currants look good property at the present prices Evaporated apples appear a drug on the market, as do dried apples.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—Are stiff, but there is very little sale for them. We quote: Currants, 5 to 5¼c per lb.; Valencia raisins, fancy, off-stalk, $2; do,, layers, $2.20; figs, cooking, in bags, 5½c.; dates, Hallowi, 6¼c.; apricots, 14c.; prunes, four sizes, Bosnias, 6¾c.; apples, evaporated, 5⅛c.; apples, dried, 3½c.; sultanas, 4-crown, 10c.; California muscatels, 6 to 7½c.

TEA—There is a certain feeling prevailing that after the Tariff Commission get through their work that there will be a change in values. Certain handlers of this staple seem assured that the Government will impose a duty on this article. Whether this may be or not, they are watching their stocks carefully, although a sale of tea is always considered by the trade to be the best of all goods handled.

COFFEE—Is dull and quiet, with a lower tendency, a good deal of inferior stock being on hand. We quote: No. 5 Rio, 16c.; fancy Java, 29c.; fancy Mocha, 29c. Santos and Maracaibos are not handled very extensively in this market.

PROVISIONS—Are low but firm at their present prices: Hams, 14 lb. size, 10c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 10c.; do, backs, 9c.; long clear dry salt, 6c.; spiced roll, 6c.

SYRUP—It appears hard to obtain the finer grades required for this market at a price satisfactory to the purchaser. Offerings are fair, but the figure demands too high in the estimation of the purchaser. The present price is about 3c. per lb. in half-barrels.

CEREALS—The market is quiet and the demand limited. We quote, sacks: Rolled oats, $1.65; granulated oatmeal, $1.90; stand. do., $1.90; rolled wheat, $1.80; pot barley, $2; pearl do., $4; split peas, $2. During the last month one carload of inferior rolled oatmeal was received here from Ontario, which, while not materially effecting the market, had to be sacrificed at feed prices. This should prove a warning to eastern shippers of poor goods, and the shipper will do well in future to take warning before consigning his goods to this market.

FISH—This market is perhaps one of the most peculiar in the world owing to the amount of fresh fish for sale in winter. In salt fish it is either a feast or a famine, haddies, mackerel, bloaters and herrings are not considered very desirable stock except in the winter months, and the natural consequence is that as a rule all houses run out of stock almost together, and no one house will bring along a car by themselves. Prices are as follows: Codfish, pure, in bricks, 6¾c.; do., do., in 5-lb bricks, 6¾c.; haddies, whole, 6c.; Labrador herrings, per ½-bbl., $3 35; bloaters, 100s, $1.10.

RICE—Stocks appear to be ample for the demand. No. 1 China and Siam is almost out of the market, the call being principally for Rangoon and Japan. No. 1 Crystal Japan is quoted for 5¼c.; Standard B, 4⅛c.

TEA MARKETS CLOSED.

"The tea markets in Shanghai, Foochow and Calcutta are now closed." said Mr. C. H. Anderson to THE CANADIAN GROCER. "There is, therefore, no prospect for many months of new teas in Young Hysons or Indians coming forward. In view of this, together with the fact that teas on this side of the Atlantic are in short supply, would indicate a strong position for the tea market. Then the rate of exchange in India has ruled high for the past six months owing to the tightness of money, while the bank rate there has been 10 per cent."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE is not a line showing any activity, and indications all point to a dull spring trade. Some Upper Province papers report large sales of teas on account of a prospective advance in duty. If such is the case in Ontario and Quebec, it is not so in Nova Scotia. Down here tea dealers have still to look up customers, and the volume of business in that line is only fair, about the same as this season last year.

As would naturally be expected, the demand for fishstuffs at this season is poor all round. Wholesale grocers' stocks of suitable quality, herrings and cod, are small; in fact, not sufficient for trade requirements, while stocks of cod for export here are said to be fully 25 per cent. below the usual average. Newfoundland stocks, however, if anything, are above the average, but as all the weak holders have been forced to realize, values will easily be sustained; in fact, an advance is confidently looked for by exporters there. A private letter from a reliable house in St. John's, Newfoundland, says: "Our local fish trade shows some slight signs of improvement, due principally to better prospects in Brazil. A large proportion of the fish on hand here is scarcely in shipping order, but wants making after 1897's sun gets strong enough to make it. Another feature of the situation is that we have little or no winter codfishery this year, voyages on the west coast being almost a total failure. The next thing we shall hear is that fish shall be wanted." The market is comparatively bare of green cod and salmon. Quotations are: Dry cod from vessel, shore, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do, $2.50 to $2.75; bay do., $2 to $2.50; haddock, Cape Breton, $1.75 to $2; western do, $1.75; hake, $2.25; pollock, $1.50; herring, Bay of Islands, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador No. 1, $6; No. 2, $4; shore, No. 1, large, fat, $3.50 to $4; alewives, No. 1, $3.25; mackerel, No. 1, $15; No. 2, $13; No. 3, fat, $7; No. 3, large, $6; salmon, No. 1, $17.50; No. 2, $15.50; No. 3, large, $11; No. 3, small, $9.

The flour market is extremely quiet, the volume of business being smaller than in any previous season. A considerable shade on the following quotations can be obtained by anyone with the money: Hungarian patents, Manitobans, $5.60 to $5.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $5.20 to $5.40; Canadian pastry, $5 to $5.10; 75 per cent. roller patents, $4 to $4.25; 80 ditto, $4.65 to $4 70; 90 ditto, $4.50 to $4.60; straights, $4.30 to $4.40; extra, $3.90 to $4. American K.D. cornmeal is worth $2.20, and Halifax ground, $1.70 to $1.85.

There is very little doing in green fruits, except in a local way. No outside transactions are occurring. The market is well supplied, and prices are low.

Butter shows a slight improvement. Creamery prints are 1c. higher, being quoted at 22c. Fresh creamery in tubs is selling at 21c. Fall dairy is neglected at 16c., and Nova Scotia dairy slow at 10 to 14c.

Cheese is in better demand at higher prices, and will probably see 12c.

Eggs are on the decline, selling at 15 to 17c.

The sugar market is lifeless. The refinery reports nothing doing. Quotations for refined are: Circle C, 3⅛c.; extra Circle C, 3¼c.; granulated, 3⅜c.

There have been some arrivals of molasses during the past few days. St. Croix is quoted at 27c.; Porto Rico, 30 to 32c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 31c.; Demerara, 39c., and St. Kitts, 25c.

P. E. Island potatoes are still quoted at from 32 to 35c., and oats from 30 to 32c. There is very little doing in this line.

There is no change in the provision market. Large quantities of dressed beef are arriving from Ontario, and native stocks are not in demand.

The steamer Naparima, which sailed for London on Monday, took 14,792 barrels of apples.

A cargo of 3,509 bushels of corn was received here this week from Boston.

The steamer Alpha sailed on Monday with a large cargo of dried fish, cheese, eggs, butter and potatoes for Turk's Island, Jamaica and Bermuda

THOS. DOHERTY & CO.

Thos. Doherty & Co. Montreal, have made two offers to their creditors. The first, an offer of 30c., was refused, but the second of 35c., made on Wednesday, the committee have recommended the creditors to accept. This offer is conditional that the Merchants Bank will agree to give the firm time to nurse its accounts.

The committee that examined the estate believe that the second offer is a fair one considering all the circumstances.

It is understood that the stock inventories $14,000, while the open accounts due foot up to $26,000. Of this sum $6,000 was accounted as good while the balance is in the relative position of fair to bad.

The firm owes $38,000, and the amount of paper under discount at the Merchants Bank of Canada is $56,000. Of this sum the inspectors are of the opinion that from $8,500 to $10,000 is bad.

STRAY THOUGHTS.

A YOUNG man, who is a clerk, but yet has the ambition to become the proprietor of a store in the near future, recently asked Stray Thoughts "what rule was there for marking the selling price of goods or what per cent. to add to the cost of a general merchandise establishment; what profit shall I figure on making?"

The question is a vital one. Stray Thoughts doubts if there is any one merchant in a thousand that can give a satisfactory answer. There is no rule, nor is there a reliable guide. To make money, to get a legitimate profit for time, labor and interest upon capital invested, is the object of all who engage in business.

The profit, the per cent. that is added to the cost of the goods, there is the pivot upon which turns either success or failure in each business venture. How important then is the profit to be made to the merchant! He knows that the profit or per cent. to be added to the cost of his goods must cover the actual cost of conducting his business.

This will include rent, taxes, insurance, clerk hire, light, fuel, advertising, a fair salary for himself and incidentals, which, for example, may be $3,000 per annum. If he does a business of $20,000 then he knows that 15 per cent. of his gross receipts must be profit. If he does a business of $30,000 without increasing the cost, then 10 per cent. would be sufficient. To this, then, he should have a per cent. for risk of business, interest on capital and gain. Some say 20 per cent. of the gross receipts, others 25 per cent.

This rule works well (on paper), "but," says our young friend, "see here, if I should want to make 25 per cent. on my sales I would have to mark my goods 25 per cent. above cost, wouldn't I? And if I did that on sugar, coffee and flour and some of the staple dry goods, I wouldn't get any trade, for people would think I was too high. Now, what I want to know is how am I to get at the thing? What one class of goods I am to get a greater profit on than on others, and how I am to average the whole so that I can live and make money too?"

This very same question Stray Thoughts years ago propounded to a retired merchant, who for fifty years had battled behind the counter and desk to make a success. His reply has ever been indelibly printed on memory's tablet.

"Young man, there is no fixed rule. To proclaim one would be worse than folly. A man who would try to follow any fixed rule would be on a line to make a sure failure. Each man in business for himself must be a law unto himself and be governed only by circumstances."

Said another equally successful retired merchant:

"I had no rule. Staple goods are always governed by the market and competition. I never consider the per cent. at all in marking my goods; the question with me was not so much the cost as what I could get. For instance, I have two styles of shoes before me. They each cost $1 per pair. Now, if you had a rule to add 33⅓ per cent. to the cost, I'd mark both to sell at $1.35. That isn't my way. The one is more dressy, has style, fit and is up to snuff; it's light weight, won't stand extra hard wear. It's a good looker for best or Sunday. Well, I just put the price at $2. The other pair is heavier, solid, will wear well, give lots of real service. The party to whom I sell it will give it hard usage. It will outwear two of the other, yet I mark it to sell at $1.25. I sell the two shoes to a different class of trade, and each is satisfied. Do you see the point? Got to have experience and a whole lot of judgment when in business. Location has a whole lot to do with the per cent. Circumstances must be considered. For instance, a small dealer can rarely sell goods on the same margin as large firms. The larger the volume of business the less per cent. it takes to conduct it. A country dealer doing a business of $25,000 per annum although he does not pay any more for his merchandise we'll say than the larger stores, couldn't sell on as low a margin. As indicated, the cost of doing business is decreased in proportion to the increase. We will say they do a business of $500,000 per annum. Ten per cent. will doubtless pay their actual running expenses. To this let them have, for example, 2 per cent. gain, that would give them a net gain of $10,000. It costs the country merchant, at least calculation, 12 to 15 per cent. to cover his expenses. Do you see, my boy, why they can do you? Then, as a matter of fact, buying in such large quantities they can, and do, get lower quotations, hence, can sell at a lower price, but do they? In starting business, if you mark the goods too high, and stick to it, you will fail. If, on the other hand, so low a margin is asked that expenses are not made, sure death is to follow. Young man, use judgment, and get all the profit you can. That's my rule."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. J. Gibson, a Belton, Ont., merchant, was in Toronto on Wednesday. He reported prospects for spring trade fair.

Mr. C. D. Warren, of Warren Bros. & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, has been elected president of the Traders' Bank. He was formerly vice-president.

Mr. W. Flavelle, of Dundas & Flavelle Bros, Lindsay, has returned from a trip to Great Britain. He was away a couple of months. His chief mission was buying, but he also devoted some attention to the egg market, and he reports trade in the latter bad. He states that one lot of limed eggs sold as low as 4 to 5s. per 110 dozen, or equal to about 7 to 9c. per dozen.

Machine-made TEAS

Are found in the stock of every up-to-date store---they are here to stay.

A prominent wholesale and retail distributor writes to a leading journal on the subject of INDIA and CEYLON TEAS as follows :

"During the year 1896 there has been a most marvelous growth in the consumption and sale of Ceylon and India Teas. Now there is no question in my mind whatever but that the Ceylon and India Teas have come to stay. Not only are the people buying the teas, but they seem pleased with their aroma, their strength and color, and their greatly nourishing qualities. In a blend with other teas they are productive of the most marvelous results in producing body, character and good drawing qualities. The grocer of 1897 who does not use to a greater or less extent in his business these machine-made, carefully-prepared teas, will surely drift to the rear."

Do you intend to drift to the rear?

GOOD TO BE TOSSED OVERBOARD.

"POVERTY is uncomfortable, as I can testify," said James A. Garfield; "But nine times out of ten the best thing that can happen to a young man is to be tossed overboard and compelled to sink or swim for himself. In all my acquaintance I have never known a man to be drowned who was worth the saving."

It is not the men who have inherited most, except it be in nobility of soul and purpose, who have risen highest; but rather the men with no "start" who have won fortunes, and have made adverse circumstances a spur to goad them up the steep mount, where

"Fame's proud temple shines afar."

To such men, every possible goal is accessible, and honest ambition has no height that genius or talent may tread, which has not felt the impress of their feet.

You may leave your millions to your son, but have you really given him anything? You cannot transfer the discipline, the experience, the power which the acquisition has given you; you cannot transfer the delight of achieving, the joy felt only in growth, the pride of acquisition, the character which trained habits of accuracy, method, promptness, patience, despatch, honesty of dealing, politeness of manner have developed. You cannot transfer the skill, sagacity, prudence, foresight, which lie concealed in your wealth. It meant a great deal for you, but means nothing to your heir. In climbing to your fortune, you developed the muscle, stamina and strength which enabled you to maintain your lofty position, to keep your millions intact. You had the power which comes only from experience. and which alone enables you to stand firm on your dizzy height. Your fortune was experience to you, joy, growth, discipline and character; to him it will be a temptation, an anxiety, which will probably dwarf him. It was wings to you, it will be a dead weight to him; it was education to you and expansion of your highest powers; to him it may mean inaction, lethargy, indolence, weakness, ignorance. You have taken the priceless spur—necessity—away from him, the spur which has goaded man to nearly all the great achievements in the history of the world.

You thought it a kindness to deprive yourself in order that your son might begin where you left off. You thought to spare him the drudgery, the hardships, the deprivations, the lack of opportunities, the meagre education, which you had on the old farm. But you have put a crutch into his hand instead of a staff; you have taken away from him the incentive to self-development, to self-elevation, to self-discipline and self-help, without which no real success, no real happiness, no great character is ever possible. His enthusiasm will evaporate, his energy will be dissipated, his ambition, not being stimulated by the struggle for self-elevation, will gradually die away. If you do everything for your son and fight his battles for him, you will have a weakling on your hands at twenty-one.

Men who have been bolstered up all their lives are seldom good for anything in a crisis. When misfortune comes, they look for somebody to lean upon. If the prop is not there down they go. Once down, they are as helpless as capsized turtles, or unhorsed men in armor. Many a frontier boy has succeeded beyond all his expectations simply because all props were knocked out from under him and he was obliged to stand upon his own feet.

"A man's best friends are his ten fingers," said Robert Collyer, who brought his wife to America in the steerage. Young men who are always looking for something to lean upon never amount to anything.

There is no manhood mill which takes in boys and turns out men. What you call "no chance" may be your "only chance." Don't wait for your place to be made for you; make it yourself. Don't wait for somebody to give you a lift; lift yourself.

"The first thing I have to impress upon you is," says J. T. Davidson, "that a good name must be the fruit of one's own exertion. You cannot possess it by patrimony; you cannot purchase it with money; you will not light on it by chance; it is independent of birth, station, talents and wealth; it must be the outcome of your own endeavor, and the reward of good principles and honorable conduct. Of all the elements of success in life none is more vital than self-reliance—a determination to be, under God, the creator of your own reputation and advancement. If difficulties stand in the way, if exceptional disadvantages oppose you, all the better, as long as you have pluck to fight through them. I want each young man here (you will not misunderstand me) to have faith in himself, and, scorning props and buttresses, crutches and life-preservers, to take earnest hold of life. Many a lad has good stuff in him that never comes to anything because he slips too easily into some groove of life; it is commonly those who have a tough battle to begin with that make their mark upon their age."

The spark in the flint would sleep forever but for friction; the fire in man would never blaze but for antagonism. The friction which retards a train upon the track, robbing the engine of a fourth of its power, is the very secret of locomotion. Oil the track, remove the friction and the train will not move an inch. The moment man is relieved of opposition or friction, and the track of his life is oiled with inherited wealth or other aids, that moment he often ceases to struggle and therefore ceases to grow.

This age of concentration calls, not for educated men merely, not for talented men, not for geniuses, not for jacks-of-all-trades, but for men who are trained to do one thing as well as it can be done. Napoleon could go through the drill of his soldiers better than any one of his men.—Architect of Fate.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE.

THE annual meeting of this company was held at its head office in Toronto, on Tuesday, January 26. Mr. John L. Blaikie, president, was appointed chairman, and Mr. Wm. McCabe, secretary.

The directors' report presented at the meeting showed marked proofs of continued progress and solid prosperity in every leading branch of the company's business. Details of the substantial gains made by the company during the past year are more particularly referred to in the remarks of the president and the report of the consulting actuary.

Summary of the financial statement and balance sheet for the year ended December 31, 1896:

Cash income	$ 641,788 08
Expenditure (including death claims, endowments, matured investment policies, profits, and all other payments to policy-holders)	436,545 14
Assets	2,515,833 41
Reserve fund	1,991,526 00
Net surplus for policy-holders	421,546 20

WM. MCCABE, managing director.

Audited and found correct,

JAS. CARLYLE, M.D., auditor.

Mr. W. T. Standen, of New York, the company's consulting actuary, in his full and detailed report of the year's operations, said: "I have examined the investment policies whose dividend periods mature in 1897, and have apportioned to them the dividends accruing thereon. These settlements, like those for 1896, will be found to compare very favorably with the results attained by the best managed companies. This is cause for congratulation on the part of your policy-holders, as, notwithstanding the large payments for investment policies maturing in 1896, you have been able to close the year again with an increased surplus to your credit. The large amount of your new business for 1896—2,603 policies for $3,554,960, being half a million dollars in excess of any previous year—shows that the plans and operations of the company are becoming better known and appreciated. Your results show a good surplus earning power, indicating that your business is of a paying character."

The president, Mr. John L. Blaikie, in moving the adoption of the report said:

"I am fully warranted in congratulating every policy-holder, and every person interested in the company, upon the splendid position to which it has attained, and upon the results of the past year's business.

"An examination of the figures before you reveals many most interesting and important particulars.

"If we compare the business of the year just closed with that of the previous year, viz., 1895, we have the following results:—

"Assets increased $215,315.26, or over 8 per cent.

"Cash income increased $60,309.84, or over 10 per cent.

"New insurance issued increased $542,-110, or over 18 per cent.

"Total insurance in force increased $1,-714,785, or over 10 per cent.

"Reserve fund increased $195,704, or over 10 per cent.

"Payments to policy-holders increased $150,459.94, or over 142 per cent.

"In no former year have such magnificent results been attained.

"The financial strength of a company may be gauged by the relation of its assets to its liabilities. In this respect the North American exceeds that of its chief competitors in Canada, having $120 of assets for each $100 of liability."

Hon. G. W. Allan, in seconding the resolution, said: "The president has spoken fully on the satisfactory condition of the company, yet there are one or two points to which I will briefly refer. There are our investments in which all are interested and will be pleased to learn that they were very carefully made, and have turned out exceedingly satisfactory, as evidenced by the prompt manner in which our interest has been paid.

"There is another point of comparison which will show favorably for our company, that is, as to the relative profit earnings. I am satisfied that those interested in the company have every reason to feel exceedingly gratified at the very prosperous condition which it holds at the present moment."

Mr. J. N. Lake, in moving a vote of thanks to the company's provincial managers, inspectors and agency staff, referred in very complimentary terms to the splendid work done by the outside staff in 1896, as evidenced by the grand business secured during that year, and also that the new business in January, 1897, was already largely in excess of the whole amount received for the same month last year.

James Thorburn, M.D., medical director, presented a full and interesting report of the mortality experience of the company from its organization, which illustrated fully the care which had been exercised in the selection of the company's business.

After the usual votes of thanks had been passed, the election of directors took place, whereupon the newly-elected Board met, and Mr. John L. Blaikie was unanimously elected president and the Hon. G. W. Allan and Mr. J. K. Kerr, Q.C., vice-presidents.

WHAT IT WILL LEAD TO.

A grocer suggests that if the clerks continue in their demands for shorter hours, afternoons off, etc., it will soon be necessary to advertise in this way :

HELP WANTED, MALE.

Boy to work in a butcher store ; need only bring apron. Leave references at home. Salary to begin with, $20 per week. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons off. Can have use of employer's horse and buggy on Sundays.

This grocer seems to think that in a little while the clerkship position will be much like the servant girl problem. Well, may be, but as a general rule the clerks have none too easy a time, and early closing and summer half-holidays help the employer as much as the clerk.—N. E. Grocer.

ADVERTISING BREVITIES.

WHEN you have a line of goods with tempting prices give them a prominent position where people can't miss seeing them as they pass your windows. That is the sort of advertising that never fails to sell goods. There is no experiment about such a method.

There are times when it pays to make a mistake in advertising, and frankly confess it. The confession is what does the trick, however. An honest confession is not only good for the soul, but it is a tonic to weakened confidence.

Because a merchant is honest it doesn't necessarily follow that he should keep spouting the fact in so many words through his advertising. If he's fair and square folks will find it out at his counters.

The power of a wedge is in proportion to its sharpness. The same can be said of an advertisement. It should have point enough to force its way into public indifference and the friction of facts to make it stick after it has entered.

Advertising is a centrifugal force which should create a centripetal force strong enough to draw trade from the extreme limits of the circle where it was exerted.

Advertising, skylights, and windows ought to be used to throw true light upon a merchant's wares. There should be no deceptive colors used in either.

Don't jab at your rival unless you want to advertise his business, and the fact that you fear his power. Such a course is like that of a hen who neglects her chicks to chase a sister hen who has a better brood.

When you set out to make an ad. funny, don't neglect its business end in order to display your wit.

When you set your foot firmly on an icy sidewalk you are not so apt to slip and fall as when you step with timid, cat caution. A timid, half-hearted style of advertising often creates doubt, and proves the downfall of the thing advertised. If it's a good thing, don't be afraid to say so in forcible words. If it is n. g., drop it and say nothing.—Jed. Scarboro in Business.

ENJOYED BEING "DUNNED."

"He was a barber and he owed a bill of $3 for groceries," said a grocer. "I nailed him in the barber shop when it was full, Saturday, and he never turned a hair. In fact, he seemed to enjoy it. He didn't care to pay it; didn't know when he would pay it, and pehaps he would'nt pay it at all. He even joked about it and smiled at me. I got rather angry, I remember, and as I folded the bill I remarked, 'Well, sir, if the bill was a little larger I'd sue you.' He picked up his razor and turning round said, 'Well, I'll tell you how you can fix that. You can send me up some more groceries.'"

ORANGE GROWING IN JAFFA.

By Reinhold Palmer, Jerusalem, in Chambers' Journal.

THAT much-prized fruit, the Jaffa orange, is now so well known and appreciated in England that it may interest readers of this journal to learn some details of the method of its cultivation.

The name by which this variety of orange is known in England is derived from the place where it is cultivated, the growing and prosperous little town of Jaffa on the coast of Syria, so well known to those who have visited Jerusalem, for which it is the port. In the vernacular the name for orange is 'Portugan,' doubtless a corruption of the word Portugal, and is an indication that the orange was probably in the first instance introduced into Palestine from Portugal; but as it is not recorded when or by whom this tree was thus introduced, the origin of the name can only be a matter of surmise. Although not a native of Syria, it thrives on the sandy coast of that country better probably than anywhere else in the world, the climatic conditions—the rainless summer, accompanied by heavy night-dews, and the winter without frost—being well suited to the growth and development of the fruit. But the culture must of course be supported throughout the long summer by artificial irrigation. Were it not that water to any amount can be procured in every garden and at a moderate depth, it would be impossible to grow oranges in Jaffa. The whole neighborhood seems to cover a river of vast breadth, percolating through the sand en route to the sea. Hundreds of Persian wheels working night and day produce no sensible diminution in the supply of life-giving water.

Several varieties of the orange, such as the round Beladi, the Blood orange, the Mandarin, etc., thrive along the coast of Syria, but the oval and almost pipless kind known as the Jaffa orange is only produced in Jaffa itself and its vicinity; and this peculiarity, according to the native gardeners, must be attributed to the quality of the brackish water used in its irrigation. Until about thirty years ago this oval form was quite unknown, when a native gardener, quite by chance, through careful attention to his trees, succeeded, much to his own astonishment no doubt, in improving his Beladi or Spanish variety of orange into the Shamuti, by which name the Jaffa kind is known in the vernacular. By selling grafts from his improved variety to other garden proprietors he was instrumental in substituting the Shamuti for the Beladi orange throughout Jaffa. It is a remarkable fact that all attempts hitherto made at growing the oval orange elsewhere than at Jaffa have not been successful; even at Sidon and Tripoli on the Syrian coast, where the climate and soil seem precisely of the same nature as at Jaffa, all experiments in this direction have failed.

The method of laying out a garden in Jaffa is as follows: The land having been carefully selected and purchased—preference being always given to a red sandy soil—the owner will get in his workmen and start them on levelling and working up the ground. This is very thoroughly done; the levelling of the earth being important with a view to the future irrigating of the orange trees. The ground is, in the first instance, well ploughed, and then, with the object of effectually removing every particle of weed, the workmen use their hoes to turn up the soil to a depth of fully three feet. This expensive process is very necessary, as the presence of even the smallest root of a weed will prove injurious to the trees and be difficult to remove later on. While this work is going on the proprietor will have fixed upon the spot where the well is to be sunk, and have commenced operations. The depth at which water is found varies materially in different gardens, and ranges from about twelve to sixty feet below the surface; consequently the cost of sinking his well is always more or less a matter of speculation to the proprietor. The deeper wells are, however, the exception and not the rule. The system of irrigating is by Persian wheels, simple in construction, cheap, quickly made and repaired; and experience has shown that they are much better adapted for the purpose intended than the steam pump. The whole of this simple machinery is quickly specified and described. A wide cog-wheel is kept going horizontally by a mule with a sweep; this turns a larger one perpendicularly, which is directly above the mouth of the well. Over this revolve two thick ropes, and upon these are fastened small wooden buckets; one side descends while the other rises, carrying the buckets with them, these descending empty, those ascending full; and as they pass over the top they discharge the water into a trough which conveys it into an adjoining tank. The quantity of water discharged within the 24 hours depends on the speed at which the mule is kept going, and also, of course, on the depth of the well. An average-sized garden requires the constant labor of three to four mules to provide the necessary amount of water, the animals being relieved about every three hours.

The ground prepared and manured, the Persian wheel fixed, and accommodation—of the simplest kind, of course—being provided for the gardener and the mules, the proprietor now proceeds to buy young lemon trees about a year old. These are meant to be used as stocks upon which the orange slips are later on grafted; and of them there is always a fair supply available in the nurseries of the older gardens. These lemon trees are now planted, under the supervision of the head gardener, at a distance of four yards apart, and the most suitable time for this operation is during the months of March and April, before the great heat has set in. A hedge of cactus or prickly pear is planted at the same time round the garden, which in a few years' time grows into an impenetrable mass, preventing the intrusion of man or beast.

The young lemon trees will now thrive without much further attention, except that they must be carefully irrigated ; this is done by a system of small masonry troughs running in all directions through the garden, and fed from the tank adjoining the well. The garden is generally divided into four equal parts, each part being irrigated within the course of two days, so that every tree receives its share of water every eighth day in rotation ; and this is considered ample. A small trench is dug round each tree sufficiently large to hold its requirement of water, and as the tree grows and needs a larger supply, the trench is enlarged ; the amount of water that will eventually be required must therefore be calculated on the basis of the irrigation necessary when the trees are six years old, and may be said to have reached maturity. If the garden is a full-sized one and contains about six thousand trees, it will be necessary to sink either two wells or one well sufficiently wide to admit a double set of buckets, thus raising double the quantity of a single set in the same space of time.

During the winter months the garden is left to itself, the gardener employing his time in taking the mules to graze, thus saving the cost of feed. The winter (or rather rains) over, the garden is weeded, manure is worked into the soil, and the trenches round the trees are re-made and enlarged. Irrigating commences about the end of June, and lasts till the end of October or middle of November.

In order to recoup himself for his outlay while the trees are growing, the proprietor will sometimes arrange with his gardener to grow vegetables in the empty spaces between the young trees, giving him the seed and one-third to one-half the produce of the vegetables in lieu of wages. This system is, however, not considered economical in the long run, as the trees, which are purposely grown in close proximity to each other, really require the whole of the soil ; and their development and productiveness is retarded by the growing of vegetables.

The young lemon trees are allowed to grow for two summers before the orange slip is grafted upon them ; this operation is performed in the autumn by the head-gardener, who is an adept at this work. After the fourth summer, calculating from the time the lemon stock was planted, a few oranges may appear on the trees ; and during the following two years the whole of the expenses of a garden will, as a general rule, be covered by the sale of the orange crops.

It is generally assumed that after the fourth year a garden becomes self-supporting ; but it will require two years longer before a return in capital outlay can be expected. After the sixth year, however, a garden that has been well attended to will not only pay all expenses, but give a handsome return as well. The fortunate proprietor will now also have the further satisfaction of knowing that the marketable value of his property represents probably more than double the whole of his outlay. This will give an idea how profitable orange-growing in Jaffa really is, to those who can afford to wait a few years for a return on capital. To the native of Jaffa only one form of investment has a charm—the height of his ambition is to own a "Biarah," the technical term for an orange garden ; unfortunately for him, however, he as frequently as not launches upon the enterprise without having sufficient capital to see it through successfully, with the result that he is compelled to borrow money at a ruinous rate of interest in order to meet his current expenses, and finally has to part with his property before he has seen any of its fruit. This explains why most of the garden property is in the hands of the money-lending class, who have had very little trouble in growing the trees.

Once the garden is in full bearing, the proprietor, apart from an occasional visit of supervision, has little to do beyond selling his crop of oranges, paying the expenses, and pocketing the balance.

The gardener in charge receives a fixed wage of from two to two pounds ten shillings per measure only as long as the trees do not bear ; once they are in full bearing he is no longer paid by a fixed wage, but receives a share of the produce, generally one-twelfth to one-tenth of the crop. It is also understood that the gardener's wife and family, who live on the premises, assist in the garden work without extra remuneration, hence the size of his gardener's family is a matter of some consideration with the owner. This system of making the gardener a partner in the produce of the garden works very well, as he thereby acquires an interest in the general up-keep of the property.

It is difficult to calculate the exact cost of laying down a garden. The price of the land varies, of course, according to position and quality ; then the depth of the water below the surface and consequent cost of sinking the well cannot be estimated to a nicety. As a general rule, however, a garden containing 6,000 young trees will cost from £1,100 to £1,200 to lay down complete, with live stock. To this sum will have to be added five years' expenditure (during which period the garden is assumed to be unproductive) at the rate of £120 per annum, making £600. We have, therefore, a total of £1,800, representing the capital outlay on the garden up to the time the trees are in full bearing. From now onwards the crop of oranges will have an annual value of from £400 to £500 ; and this will leave the proprietor, after deducting all expenses for wages, feed of live stock, taxes, repairs, etc., a clear revenue of 10 to 15 per cent on his total capital outlay of £1,800.

The risks which the Jaffa orange-grower runs, as compared with those which the grower in Florida has to face, are infinitesimal. The storms that visit the Syrian coast, although of frequent occurrence during the winter months, are not of such force as to damage the trees ; in fact, it is remarkable how very small is the proportion of ripe fruit even which falls to the ground after a storm. This is no doubt due to the fact that the Jaffa orange tree is not allowed to grow larger than a good-sized shrub; and as the trees are placed only four yards apart they afford each other very considerable protection from the force of the wind. The cactus shrubs also forming the hedge of the garden, grow very thick and high and give additional protection from the storms. Blizzards and frosts, which have proved so ruinous in Florida, are quite unknown in Jaffa.

Owing to the good keeping qualities of Jaffa oranges, which enables them to be shipped to distant parts, there is always a brisk demand for them, and the grower has hitherto had very little difficulty in disposing of his crops at good prices. If not exorbitant in his demands, he can almost invariably sell his fruit for a lump sum while the fruit is still green, and before the winter, with its risks of hail, etc., has set in. The shipper who purchases the fruit in this way takes over the whole of the risk of any damage that may happen to it, and he cuts the oranges from the trees whenever it suits him to do so; the contract only stipulating that the garden is to be cleared by the middle of March, as the proprietor likes to see his trees free of fruit before the new blossoms appear.

The whole of the crop of Jaffa oranges does not at the present time exceed 300,000 boxes of about 160 oranges each, which is a mere trifle compared with Spanish or American crops, and about four-fifths of this quantity is at present shipped to England.

The orange-growing industry is almost entirely in the hands of natives; a few of the newer gardens are, however, owned by Germans and Frenchmen.

REDUCTION IN TANGLEFOOT.

The manufacturers of "Tanglefoot" write as follows: "The large output of 1896, favorable contracts made, improved facilities, and the anticipation of a still greater output for 1897, enable us to announce another reduction in the price of 'Tanglefoot,' which, we trust, will prove acceptable to our retailer friends. The prices in Canada will be: Less than 1 case, 45c. per box; 1 to 5 cases, $3.80 per case; 5 cases and over, $3.60 per case."

POSITION OF THE RETAIL MERCHANT.

THE retail merchant stands between the manufacturer and the consumer. He represents the largest class of business men in existence and makes up the backbone of every community.

During panics and hard times the retail merchant is called on to give credit to the laborer and mechanic; he is expected to carry on his shoulders, until prosperity comes, half of the population of most cities. When suffering exists the retail merchant is the first man appealed to for charity. In times of public festivity he, above all others, is expected to contribute liberally.

A city is known by the reputation of its merchants. They keep up its credit; they give employment to a large number of people; they keep money in constant circulation; they supply the necessities and luxuries of its people.

The retail merchaut should, therefore, be the most enterprising of all business men. He should be a good advertiser. He should understand human nature. He should have tact.

Every year the retail merchant meets with keener and more bitter competition; every year the margin of his profits is cut down; every year more and larger demands are made on him.

The retail merchant, therefore, more than any other class of business men, needs the most perfect system in conducting his business. If he wishes to be successful he must employ the latest labor and money-saving devices. He must be ready when good times come to reap the long-delayed harvest.

Everything points to the coming of good times in the near future. There is an abundance of crops in this country and a failure of crops abroad. There is a certainty of a stable financial policy for years to come. There is renewed activity in the iron and steel industry, which lies close to the bottom of all commercial prosperity. There is a feeling of confidence which more than anything else tends to make business good.

We wish to interest everyone of the enterprising retail merchants of this country in our new 1897 model registers and systems for taking of transactions between clerks and customers in their stores. We invite correspondence and we stand ready to demonstrate that the merchant who adopts one of our systems is certain to make more money in 1897 than if he refuses to adopt it.

THE POWER OF PRICE.

General advertising operates on a community in a general way; but the feature that directs the steps of the purchaser straight to your store is the fact of the published price and description of the goods, says Dry Goods Chronicle. Time was when the great conservative stores of New York ignored this power of the printed price; they sternly refused to yield to such a degenerating tendency; the traditions of these establishments were against it, and so it was frowned down; although, unfortunately for them, it refused to be frowned down to any great extent; the practice grew, and its friends to-day are legion. One by one the great stores have fallen into line. The latest convert to the idea is Tiffany, New York's greatest jeweler. Tiffany's advertisements now bristle with prices. The great American maxim, "Suit your goods to your customers' taste, and fit your price to their pockets," has worn out.

LONDON GROCERS' AT HOME.

THE members of the London Retail Grocers' Association held an At Home in the I.O.F. Hall, on Thursday evening, 18th inst., and spent three hours in games of various kinds, talking shop and attending to choice refreshments and good cigars.

Among those present were : F. Harley, president of the association ; R. A. Jones, vice-president ; W. H. McCutcheon, past president ; W. H. Branton, treasurer ; E. Sutton, secretary ; W. H. Ferguson, P. McGlade, J. C. Trebilcock, Geo. Trebilcock, A. M. Smith, of Messrs. A. M. Smith & Co., wholesale grocers ; S. Screaton, of Messrs. Edward Adams & Co.; W. H. Weston, W. J. McCombe, F. Harding, R. W. Rolston, W. D. Thomas, F. E. Lea, A. J. Denney, N. McLeod, T. M. Shoebotham, D. Shoebotham, F. A. Ward, R. H. Cullis, A. Connors, Geo. Loneless, Joseph Leach, Charles Marshall, George Scott, R. Atkinson, W. Harley, L. Cathcart, Chas. McCarron, John McLean, F. Robinson, Hy. McCutcheon, W. E. Jackson, J. A. Tucker, Wm. Wright, A. Smith, Thos. Pete, James Haskett, G. Buskard, F. N. J. Bell, T. Durkin, Edward Ryan, F. H. Coles.

From 7.30 till 9 o'clock the evening was spent in an informal way at cards and other games, and at 9 o'clock

Mr. F. Harley, president, called the meeting to order, and invited Major A. M. Smith, of A. M. Smith & Co., wholesale grocers, and W. H. Ferguson, lately from Detroit, and formerly of London, and a past president of the association, to the platform. In his opening remarks the president spoke of many matters of moment to the trade, and referred particularly to the dead beat list. This had been the means of curtailing the giving of credit to parties who were found to be bad pays, and had been the means of saving the members many hundreds of dollars, every member being furnished with a list of names from time to time. "We have the dead beats pretty well spotted, and if the members lose money by giving them credit it is their own fault," he said. We have also been the means of improving our market square. Formerly the market gardeners and hucksters had old waggons on the market covered with old canvas tents. Now they are placed under the shed. We also have a bylaw prohibiting buying on the market for the purpose of selling again on the market square. He was pleased to notice that the removing of the bazaar was now being strongly agitated. This will make more room on the market square, and very much improve its appearance, and make it more convenient for the marketing of farm produce, an advantage to farmers and citizens. "We also petitioned Parliament to amend the Act exempting civil servants' salaries from attachment, and I was pleased to notice, through THE CANADIAN GROCER, that other associations were taking up this question. No doubt the majority of the Civil Service employes are just as good pay as can be desired, but a few are found to be very dilatory, and require more stringent measures being employed for collecting accounts than the law as at present will permit. The Civil Service employees' salary should be no more exempt from garnishee than any other citizens', and he hoped the influence being brought to bear on the Government would result in the Act being amended." He extended a welcome to all present, and hoped they would enjoy the evening together.

A song by Mr. J. T. Adams, entitled "Baggage Coach Ahead," followed.

Past President Mr. W. H. McCutcheon was next called on for a speech. He said his speech would be brief. He preferred listening to speaking. He heartily endorsed the opening remarks of the president. He was one of the charter members of this association and believed firmly the association was calculated to be a great benefit to the members and the trade generally. It developed a feeling of Brotherhood and kindly feeling. He was pleased to see the city press advocating a change in the market. It was unfair that hucksters should be allowed to compete with those who have high rent and taxes to pay, while they pay no taxes and very little rent. The removing of the bazaar would be a boon to both the farmers and the citizens, and he hoped all present would use their influence to have the bazaar removed and the market put in better shape for the handling of farm produce.

Mr. R. A. Jones, vice-president, remarked that he endorsed what had been said by the former speakers, and believed the association could be made of more benefit to the members if they would turn out in larger numbers at the meetings. He felt certain the dead beat list had more than repaid the members. He referred to the question of the earlier closing of stores agitated at the At Home a year ago. He was sorry to say it did not succeed as well as could be wished, but he was satisfied that good had been done, particularly respecting Saturday evening. Customers now did their shopping earlier, and he believed it was not now necessary for the grocer to keep his store open later than 10 p.m.

Mr. Peter McGlade followed with a flood of humor. He made good-natured, happy hits at several of the members, which kept the audience in continual laughter. He gave a glowing description of what this year's picnic, their seventh, would be like. The society, he said, was strong in membership and finances. "The members now number 50, and, after to-night, we ought to add at least 10," he said.

Mr. Thomas Pete then gave a comic song, entitled "Casey's Band."

Mr. J. C. Trebilcock said that the remarks of Mr. P. McGlade, to the effect that he (Trebilcock) was likely to be married soon, had no foundation in fact. He would be on hand at the Jubilee picnic prepared to take his place as usual.

Mr. N. McLeod stated that with regard to the removal of the market bazaar he had been informed that one of the city aldermen would give notice of motion at the next sitting of the Council that the bazaar be removed, and he suggested that a committee be appointed by the association to back up the motion. It would add strength to the movement and have a good effect.

Mr. A. M. Smith, a representative wholesale dealer, was called upon. He spoke highly of the association, and said he had been pleased to notice how it had been progressing and prospering. It was useful in a business way and pleasant socially.

Mr. J. T. Adams gave a solo, "Down at the Farmyard Gate."

Mr. W. H. Ferguson—recently returned from Detroit, where he has been the past two years—had a great deal to say about the United States generally, and Detroit in particular. Canada's total indebtedness is much less than that of the United States per head. To every 10,000 people they had only 25 miles of railway and Canada had 30. Americans think this country of slow development, but the speaker would rather see it stationary than the dumping ground of the congested cities of the eastern hemisphere. He would open wide the portals to a good class of emigrants, but have rigorous laws excluding the bad. Speaking of Detroit, Mr. Ferguson said that although Detroit was a much larger city than London, there were very few grocery stores there that would compare with those of London. They were mixed up with almost everything conceivable, and apparently the grocery part of the business was a secondary consideration. The observance of the Sabbath is also very bad. You will frequently see the stores open until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Then they close up and go on an excursion for the rest of the day. He did not know when they slept. They were open late at night and up at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning during the summer months and off to the market for garden and farm produce. Groceries being a secondary consideration, the prices were cut down to a very much greater extent than here. He closed his interesting remarks by saying that the United States was a very nice place to live. And one thing he observed was, that no difference what part of the country a citizen lived in over there, he would argue from morning until night with a citizen from any other place or country that where he lived was just the very best place in the universe. But London and Canada were good enough for him. He thanked the members for the invitation extended to him to spend a social evening with them, and hoped the association would continue to grow in numbers and in benefit to the trade.

Mr. Victor Colwell followed with a piano solo, after which refreshments were served in the banqueting hall adjoining. The remainder of the evening was spent in sampling cigars, card playing and other games.

Victor Colwell was an efficient accompanist during the evening.

Secretary E. Sutton was an ardent worker in forwarding the pleasure of the occasion.

CODFISH EQUAL TO TERRAPIN.

UPON one occasion, when the assembled company contained such good eaters as John Chamberlin, Roscoe Conklin, John S. Wise, William J. Florence and Thomas P. Ochiltree, a discussion arose as to which was the best of all fish, and after the champions of the pompano, the salmon, the fresh mackerel, the sheepshead and the red snapper had been heard, the matter was left to Mr. Chamberlin to decide. His reply amazed his hearers. He said :

"I tell you that the cod is the best fish that swims, and if he were not so common he would be prized as one of the greatest gastronomic luxuries we have. I defy any one to name any other living creature which can be put to so many edible purposes. It is amazing the number of dishes you can make from the cod, and when you have exhausted him in his fresh state you can fly to him in his salted condition and begin a new round of delicacies. There is hardly anything you can't do with him. His tongue, either boiled or broiled, is a great delicacy, and his head is capable of treatment that places it on a par even with terrapin. I will guarantee to take a cod's head and prepare it in a manner the result of which will tax the palate of any one of you to distinguish between it and diamond-back terrapin. How do I manage it? Well, first, the cod's head should be thoroughly washed in cold water, and then placed in an iron kettle with just enough water to make steam for it—it, of course, being covered with a napkin. When it falls to pieces take out the bones only—don't remove the eyes—and place the fragments in a chafing dish. Put in plenty of pepper, some salt, the best butter and some cream—not too much cream—and a dash of good Madeira if you wish, and after the chafing dish has done its work you have before you a dish which equals terrapin and costs many pennies less."—The Caterer.

Appearances are Deceitful

A good thing will bear repeating. So we keep on harping about the flavor of our "Pan-Dried" (REGISTERED) Rolled Oats. The tendency of Dry Heat in Pan Drying is to darken the Oats. But this same Dry Heat keeps the natural flavor of the Oat intact.

Hence we prefer to sacrifice whiteness for flavor, even though Pan-Drying is expensive. Appearances are deceitful, but flavor, never so. Increased demand and permanent trade is what we're after. We think that you are, too. We believe that flavor will bring this about rather than whiteness and flakiness. Taste counts.

THE FOURTH OF MARCH.

This is the date on which most of the paper falls due for the goods that have been sold during the winter. As business has not been as good as anticipated, collections by country stores have been slow. This is partly accounted for by the want of snow, which kept the farmers from being able to get to the market with a great deal of their winter produce. By produce we mean wood and grain, which farmers who live some distance from market towns do not begin to sell until there is good sleighing. But while the merchant is looking after his own collections he should not overlook the fact that the wholesale houses are looking after theirs. A great many merchants who expect to meet their paper all right in March find at the last moment that they are unable to do so. If they could only find out about the 15th of the month whether they would be able to meet that paper or not, and let the wholesale house know, they would save a great deal of unnecessary trouble. Instead of doing so, and giving the wholesaler notice in time, a few—not many, we are happy to say—leave it off until the thirteenth hour, and then send in a letter saying that they are very sorry they cannot meet their note. It would be very little trouble to act on this suggestion, and would take a great deal of trouble off the wholesale man's mind and hands.—Canadian Dry Goods Review.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. T. Wilkinson, representing Meadow Sweet cheese, was in Toronto last week booking orders. He booked lots of them, too.

Mr. F. Hanford, representing Jardine, Matheson & Co., paid a flying visit to Montreal last week, and called on Morrow & Ewing, the Canadian representatives of the firm.

Mr. W. Miller, who traveled for the Empire Tobacco Co. for some years, has joined Lucas, Steele & Bristol's staff. Next week he will represent the firm in the city, and from his good grounding and experience in the retail grocery business, should prove an acquisition to the firm's representatives. He has always been quoted as "thoroughly straight," and he certainly comes by it honestly, as no man stood higher in the estimation of the trade than his father, the late John Miller, of Abingdon. W. Miller was with his father in business for some time, and served quite an apprenticeship with the big "Murgatroyd" store in Smithville.

PRICE-CUTTING.

The Pharmaceutical Journal of February, in alluding to the cutting of prices on patent medicines, says: "We have an instance of an article of great popularity and very large sale, "Salada" Ceylon tea, which is kept before the public in the daily papers, magazines, dead walls, and, in fact, in every style of advertising, and yet there is never any cutting in price. No article is better advertised in Canada to-day, and yet the sale is controlled, and any person handling it must sell at the price named by the proprietors. Now, here at least is a firm who control their goods; why not others? It does appear to us that the only reason is a lack of desire to do so."

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report large sales of their celebrated "Crushed" Java and Mocha coffee (xtr.), which they claim is the best value in the market in a fine coffee at a reasonable figure.

Don't forget that the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering special prices in fresh water herrings and trout f.o.b. Midland and Meaford, during the next two weeks. There will be a good demand for same from now on.

In Parchment Bags.

This is the most attractive way of securing the trade of the very particular Lard buyer. "Rose Brand" Lard is put up in parchment bags holding one and two pounds each. We do this because it distinguishes it at once, as highest quality. It is made for particular people—for your very best trade. It is made from real leaf. No back trimmings—no common fats in it. It is tried out in open kettles in the good old-fashioned way. It is hardly to be expected that mutton suet and starch and potato flour or the common things called "Lard" would deserve a parchment covering. They not only don't deserve it but they never get it.

A LESSON TO THE GOVERNMENT.

IT is most regrettable from a business point of view that the Dominion Government has found it necessary to defer the opening of Parliament till March 25th, two weeks later than it was called for.

With the revision of the tariff, the chief business of the House it was necessary that Parliament should meet as early as possible. Manufacturers and merchants do not think there will be many drastic changes, yet they do not know what will be done. As long as that uncertainty obtains, the business of the country must necessarily suffer. And it is suffering.

The direct cause of the postponement of the opening of the House is, no doubt, the unfortunate fire which visited the Western block at Ottawa a few days ago.

The Toronto World on Monday morning declared that the cause was not the fire but the tariff. That is nonsense. Situated in the burned block were some of the chief departments of the Government, and after such an event chaos naturally would reign for some time. Had the fire not taken place there is scarcely any doubt the House would have met March 11.

But while the direct cause of the postponement is the fire, if the Government had had the tariff ready for the meeting of the House in January, as it should have had, the work of revising it might have ere this been finished, and the trade of the country would have had an opportunity of assuming its normal condition.

THE CANADIAN GROCER urged repeatedly the appointment of an independent commission of practical business men and representatives of labor organizations to investigate the tariff question. Had this been done, instead of the work being delegated to Ministers who already had their hands full in attending to their Departmental duties, the tariff might have been constructed ere this, or at least been receiving the attention of the House, whatever delay might have been caused in other particulars by the fire.

It is said that troubles never come singly. Whether that be so or not it is the well-known experience of every business man that when, through carelessness or design, work in this or that department is allowed to lag, accidents or unforseen circumstances often supervene and throw it back still further. The work of governing a country is a business as well as conducting a store or factory.

In a few more days the present Government will have been in power eight months. Its fault during that time is not that it has been indolent, but that it has essayed to do too much. This is evident in regard to the tariff. And now occurs this fire to put it still further behind. It should be a lesson.

LOSSES ON EVAPORATED APPLES.

DRIED and evaporated apples are a dead stock just now, there being absolutely no demand for them.

In the face of this the quantity of stock seeking a market appears to be larger than it has been for several years. This is true not only of the supplies in jobbers' hands, but of the smaller dealers' stocks throughout the country and in first hands.

According to leading traders, every mail brings in offers of stock, and they complain that unless they want to give it away it is useless to load themselves up with anymore.

The exceptionally low price and plentiful supply of apples in their natural state, is solely responsible for this position of affairs. With green apples jobbing out freely all the way from 50c. to $2.00, as they have been for months past, it is not surprising that csnsumers should neglect the dried and evaporated stuff.

The outlook for the future also does not look very promising, for there is a considerable supply of green fruit yet to turn over; sufficient, many believe, to supply the demand for a long time to come. In fact, it is set down as a foregone conclusion that a lot of dried and evaporated stock will have to be carried over until next season.

Jobbers are free sellers of evaporated apples at 4c. in Montreal and can easily buy them for 3¾c.

CURTAILMENT OF THE CANNED GOODS PACK.

THE members of the Canadian Packers' Association, who met last week in Toronto to consider ways and means for curtailing the pack, concluded their labors on Friday after being in session over two days.

As stated in last week's issue, all were decided upon the necessity of curtailing the pack, but all were not decided as to how the desideratum was to be secured.

Before adjourning, however, it was decided to reduce the pack, but this conclusion was not arrived at, THE CANADIAN GROCER understands, until the larger packers had agreed to carry the heavy end.

But with this decision there was a proviso. And that was that the agreement should not go into effect unless the two or three factories not represented at the meeting subscribed to it.

It therefore depends on these two or three factories in question as to whether or not there shall be a preconcerted reduction in the pack. But while this is so, it is probable there will be less goods put up next season, for all the canners THE CANADIAN GROCER has spoken to in regard to the matter, declare this to be their individual intention, no matter what may be the outcome of the present movement on the part of the association.

One thing is certain, the pack of canned vegetables and fruits in Canada exceeds the requirements of the country.

And the natural concomitant of this is low prices, insufficient profits and ultimately ruin to some of those engaged in the industry.

A number have already gone out of existence. Some of them voluntarily, but most of them involuntarily.

The Packers' Association proposes to curtail the pack in order to secure a remedy for the present unsatisfactory condition of affairs.

This may alleviate the trouble, but it is not the remedy.

When a tree has moldering branches the only remedy is to lop them off. Sprinkling water upon them will not suffice. They must be removed altogether if the sound branches are to be allowed to bear fruit as nature designed they should.

There are moldering factories in the canned goods industry, and until they are curtailed, until they are cut off, no lasting good can be accomplished.

It is a hard thing to say, but it is true, nevertheless, that there is probably no manufacturing industry in Canada to-day where there are relatively so many concerns whose proprietors are so deficient in technical and business knowledge as in the canned goods trade. None know this better than the practical men who are engaged in the industry.

As long as these unpractical men are in the business the conditions must remain unsatisfactory. They do not know their business, and many of them never will.

They may be competent to produce the fruits and vegetables, but they possess not the ability to put them up in tins and sell them profitably.

They will attempt to ape others, but they cannot strike out independently for themselves. And as they are always following instead of leading, they are always behind in the race for business, always disgruntled, and always the weak link in the chain of any agreement.

Half a dozen energetic men are worth more than all the indolent men of genius Noah could have crowded into his ark.

ADVANCE IN CLOVES.

Cloves are falling into line with other spices and showing higher values, prices, according to advices just received in Toronto, having advanced equal to a quarter of a cent per pound.

The chief cause of the advance appears to be the decision of the British Government to do away with the slave trade in Zanzibar.

Stocks on spot, as well as elsewhere, are light, buyers for some time having been cautious in their purchases owing to the unsteady character of the market.

A business man can no more misrepresent goods and reap success than can a farmer sow tares and reap wheat.

THE DULLNESS IN SUGAR.

THE sugar market this year furnishes a marked contrast to that which prevailed last year at the same time.

During February and March twelve months ago there was a regular boom in sugar. Individual houses in Montreal frequently sent out from four to five carloads a day. This year they complain that if they send out that many a week they consider that they are doing well.

The jobbers are at a loss to understand this indifference of buyers in view of the general expectation of an increase in the duty on raw sugar.

With this impression prevailing, they imagine that the demand should be brisk, whereas it is almost lifeless. Lately also the market outside has shown a steady upward tendency, but Canadian prices stubbornly refused to respond until last Thursday, when Montreal refiners advanced prices ⅛c. all round.

Previous to this advance, as the trade generally know, the refiners have been more inclined to shade prices. In fact, they actually did so on several occasions for the purpose of clinching an order.

At this writing, however, the feeling is strong at the advance.

All advices from primary markets continue strong in tone, and the recent advance, both in refined and raws, at New York, has been fully sustained, granulated now being quoted there at $4.10 per 100 lbs. net, while sales of raw crystals have taken place at 3¼c., and further purchases of some large quantities have been made in Cuba for shipment at a slight advance over the above figure.

Private cables from London recently reported the market for cane firm, with offerings light at 9s. 1½d. for February and March.

LOCAL TRANSPORTATION CHARGES.

Some importers complain of charges made by the Shedden Co. for the delivery of goods from the railway freight sheds to points in Montreal, and are figuring on saving money by taking express men off the stand and sending them to carry the goods.

One importer had a shipment from England ten days ago on which the company charged him one cent per case for delivery from the freight sheds to his warehouse. A few days later he had another shipment of exactly the same size of boxes and same weight and shipped from the same point. On this the Shedden Co. wanted slightly over two cents. In explanation they said that the shipper in England did not arrange when making his freight rate for delivery charges at this end, and he would therefore have to pay a higher rate.

As other importers may be caught in the same way the question is one which should be looked into, and shippers should be instructed to bill goods by cheapest routes. It might also be worth the while of many of the larger firms, who do not employ their own teamsters, to figure whether it would not pay them to employ private companies to deliver their goods.

A stiff back bone that is not reinforced by honest purposes, like a pugilist in the ring without seconds, has little chance of securing anything else but defeat.

BRITISH TEA IN AMERICA.

The year 1896 witnessed another remarkable growth in the shipments of British grown tea to Canada and the United States. This is evident from the figures just to hand from London.

The figures in question are for re-exports from and transhipments via the United Kingdom and direct exports via China. No account is taken of the direct shipments from India and Ceylon.

The total quantity taken, according to the figures referred to, was 9,474,019 compared with 7,792,185 lbs. in 1895, 4,723,370 lbs. in 1894, 3,981,837 lbs. in 1893, 3,075,900 lbs. in 1892 and 2,334,302 in 1891. All but about 600,000 lbs. of last year's total were either re-exports from the United Kingdom or transhipments via the United Kingdom.

This means an increase of about 21.60 per cent. for 1896 over 1895, and 306 per cent. over 1891.

Of the total quantity taken last year by Canada and the United States 5,205,405 lbs. were Indian tea and 4,268,614 lbs. Ceylon tea. Compared with the previous year this was an increase of over 28 per cent. in the former and over 14 per cent. in the latter.

Compared with 1891 there was an increase of 287 per cent. in Indian tea and of 330 per cent. in Ceylon tea.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.

THE request of the Bell Telephone Co. for power to increase its rates to $65 is naturally not looked upon with favor by the business community.

No fair-minded man, however, will say "Nay" if the sum of $45 per annum, now being received, is not a fair price.

But it must be demonstrated beyond peradventure that that sum is not fair.

And the only way to ascertain this is by investigation. Let, for instance, an expert accountant and an expert electrician be appointed to make a thorough examination and report thereon.

The company may be losing money at $45, and yet the loss may not be due to the price as much as to incompetent management or antiquated methods. This should be ascertained.

An increase of over 47 per cent. in the rates is a most extraordinary one, and the request to be granted power to levy them should not be conceded unless as a matter of justice.

As far as THE CANADIAN GROCER is concerned, we are free to admit that we are sceptical as to the ability of the company to show cause for increasing the rates, especially to the extent of 47 per cent.

The tenders which are now before the City Council of Toronto demonstrate that there are companies with systems claimed to be more efficient as well as more modern who are willing to accept $36 for a business service and $20 for a private house service, and, in addition, pay the corporation 6 per cent. of its income for the privilege of possessing the franchise.

But whatever may be the righteousness of the Bell Co.'s request, subscribers in Toronto will not be satisfied unless the company give a better service than they now do.

MOLASSES DOWN ANOTHER CENT.

The molasses market continues irregular and unsettled. The chief news this week was a cable received on Wednesday by a Montreal commission man that the first cost price at the Islands had declined another cent to 9c. This is figured to be about equivalent to 25⅛ to 25¼c. delivered in Montreal via New York. On the other hand, sales of 50-puncheon lots have been made by Montreal parties at 27½c., and the jobbers stick to their range of 30 to 31c.

The optimists contend that the prices at the Islands are not going to have any effect in Canada until after the opening of navigation ; and that in any event the first crushings are never of the brightest or equal to what is now offering in Canada.

THE POSITION OF CURRANTS.

The position of currants in Greece continues strong.

Stocks there, according to the latest advices, are about 22,000 tons, and it is estimated that by the end of May they will be exhausted.

Prices there continue to advance, while the demand from both England and Germany, where stocks are light, is good.

JAPAN COURTING CANADIAN TRADE.

NATIVE Japanese firms are making special efforts to get foreign business direct, instead of English firms resident in Japan. At the present time there are no less than three bright representatives from that country calling on the trade in Canada in the interests of the Japan tea grower. There are two leading native firms—the Japan Tea Firing Co., Yokohama, and the Japan Tea Exporting Co., Kobe. A third is now being organised to take over the business of an American firm which went into liquidation. They control their own plantations and think they can make better terms by selling direct to the wholesale trade in Canada than through middlemen.

Mr. Nishimura represents the first-named concern, and Mr. Komada the other. They are accompanied by Mr. Furuya, who was sent to this country to acquire a knowledge of the English language and Canadian and American manners and business customs. He is traveling through here as the official representative of the Tea Traders' Association. They made their headquarters with Morrow & Ewing, in Montreal, and at the agencies of this firm at the other cities.

Mr. Furuya is preparing a report on the tea situation in Canada, and will make suggestions to his Government as to how the influence of Ceylon advertising in this country may be counteracted.

Speaking of the tariff he said that he heard the Canadian Government would impose a duty of 5 or 7c. per pound on tea. This, he thought, would shut out low-grade teas and would encourage the importation into Canada of only the better grades.

Five cents a pound on tea would mean a tariff revenue of about one million and a quarter dollars annually.

HAMILTON PURE FOOD SHOW.

A PURE FOOD EXHIBITION, the first of its kind for Hamilton, will be held in the Drill Hall, Hamilton, from the 5th to the 10th of April. The retail grocers and the ladies of the School of Domestic Science, under whose joint auspices the affair will be held, promise a show hitherto unexcelled in the country. Those in charge of the arrangements are all natural-born hustlers, and they are hustling for all they are worth. Already some progress has been made towards settling the details, as it has been decided to have special days and special attractions for each day.

Lectures will be given every afternoon by Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, the most famous lecturer on the art of cookery in America. Mrs. Rorer was engaged by the Chicago World's Fair management to take charge of the lectures and demonstrating pertaining to all branches in the art of cookery. She was also engaged in the same work at the World's Food Show, Boston, and recently at Philadelphia, and has just closed an engagement to lecture in New York. Mrs. Rorer stands head and shoulders over all other lecturers and demonstrators in this field of work. She is a highly-educated and cultured woman and her presence on the platform is most picturesque. Her style is easy and conversational.

Manufacturers of food products and of goods of interest to housekeepers should at once avail themselves of this opportunity to make their goods known by attending this show. A card addressed to Mr. F. R. Close, chairman of the committee, will se cure plans of the hall and designs and estimates of booths.

The committee can supply any number of demonstrators at a very small cost to the manufacturer, and in every other way arrangements will be made to the best possible advantage of the exhibitors.

GLUCOSE AND RICE TARIFF.

At a meeting of the Tariff Commission, held in Ottawa on Tuesday the glucose interests were advanced by Messrs. J. G. Reid, J. C. Nagle, and G. F. Benson, of the Edwardsburg Starch Co. They represented that it would be absolutely impossible to carry on the business if the duty were reduced, as was proposed by the confectioners, by one-half. Mr. Paterson reminded the deputation that they enjoyed a protection of 125 per cent., but they were prepared to satisfy him that their profits were not unreasonable.

Mr. D. W. Ross, representing the Mount Royal Rice Mills, was given a private hearing by the Commission.

Does It Pay ?

A VITAL QUESTION WITH EVERY GROCER IN CANADA.

Does it pay to handle inferior goods—on which to make a larger present profit—in preference to the best goods that will bring (and keep satisfied) permanent customers ? If you think so don't read any more of this ad. It won't interest you in the least. But if you are building up a good trade in high-class goods the lines we carry are just such as will interest you.

The Crown Flavoring Extracts are absolutely pure goods. Every flavor is rich and strong. Because of their excellence they command a steady sale. It will pay you to handle them—If all we claim is not borne out by fact, send for your money. You will get it by return mail.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 25, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the grocery trade is the advance of ⅛c. per lb. in all grades of refined sugar which took place just after we had gone to press last week. This advance has been maintained and the demand is improving. There is still a good demand from retailers for tea, and the wholesalers continue to pick up spot goods showing good value. The position of canned tomatoes and peas is, if anything, stronger than a week ago, the packers asking higher prices, particularly for the former line. Currants continue firm in the primary market. A little more activity is to be noted in syrups. Spices continue to rule firm. The demand for oranges is beginning to pick up, with prices on the Valencia kind higher. Payments are, as a rule, slow.

CANNED GOODS.

The packers are a little higher in their views in regard to tomatoes than they were a week ago, and they, as a rule, now appear to be asking 70c. per dozen, but we hear of no transactions, however. There is undoubtedly a firmer feeling, and some of the wholesale houses have this week notified their travelers to accept nothing less than 75c. per dozen for standard goods. Salmon is in fairly active demand. Lobster is quiet. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The primary markets are firmer on Rio coffees, but this fact does not appear to be any inducement to buyers. Wholesalers, however, report that they are experiencing a fair demand. The higher grades of Rio coffee are getting scarce. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

A little more activity is to be noted in syrups, but the volume of business is still light. Some good values are being shown this week by the refineries. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is not much doing in molasses, although business is not bad considering the general quietness of trade. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Prices of refined sugars were advanced ⅛c. per lb. all round after we went to press last week. The advance temporarily checked the demand, but within the last few days buying has been freer, and business, while still of a hand-to-mouth character, is brisker than it was before the higher prices went into operation. The outside markets up to the time of writing rule firm. Granulated is now quoted at 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4¼ to 4 5-16c. for less than 5 barrels; 3½c. per lb. upwards for yellows.

SPICES.

A fair movement in black pepper is to be noted on wholesale account. Cloves are firmer, having advanced in the primary market equal to ¼c. per lb. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia,

NUTS.

The nut murket is quiet and without special feature. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c. ; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c. ; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c. ; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Rice keeps firm. Some transactions have taken place in tapioca since the advance noted a week or two ago, but, generally speaking, the higher prices appear to have checked the demand for the time being at least. We quote : Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c. ; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c. ; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The local market has continued steady with transactions in spot goods of all kinds where buyers have been able to secure fair values. There has been very little doing in China blacks, and there are practically no China greens offering, these teas having gone out of first hands. Mail advices from London under date of February 12 state that at the public sales Indian and Ceylon teas had continued to meet with good support, and that privately there was still a fair demand for some of the China Congous. "The stock of blackleaf Congous," says one report, "have been picked over a good deal, until good, pure liquoring teas, which have not been plentiful at any time this season, have almost disappeared." Local wholesalers are experiencing a good demand from the retailers ; rather better, in fact, than a week or two ago. The demand for tea on this account is, in fact, one of the features of the wholesale grocery trade. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Currants continue to occupy a strong position and advices from Patras state that stocks there have been reduced to about 22,000 tons, while prices are advancing almost daily. We quote : Provincials, 4¼ to 4⅜c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; do , half-bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote : Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c. ; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c. ; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are neglected. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Malaga raisins are only receiving moderate attention. We quote: Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4 ; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50 ; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5 ; Imperial Russian clusters, $4.50 to $5.

Figs continue dull. Wholesale quotations are : 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c. ; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote : 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California evaporated prunes are in light demand with prices unchanged. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality ; apricots, 6½ to 15c. ; pears, 5½ to 10½c. ; egg plums, 5½ to 11c. ; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

Prunes are unchanged with a little better demand, although the volume of business is still light. We quote : Bosnias, U's (110

GREEN FRUIT.

The feature of the orange market is a quickened demand for Valencia oranges, and several orders were cabled to Liverpool on Monday. Prices in this kind of orange are firmer. While the demand for Valencias has improved, it is still California oranges which are being the most sought after. Lemons are in much the same position as oranges, the demand being better and prices firmer. There is also an increased demand for bananas at slightly higher prices. Onions are dearer. We quote : Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.50 to $4 per case ; large 420's, $5.50 to $6 ; 714's, $4 to $4.50 per case. California navels, $3.50 to $4. Lemons—Messinas, $2.25 to $2.50 per box for fancy, and $1.75 to $2 for choice ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, 75c. per bbl. for greenings and Baldwins, and $1.25 to $1.50 for Spies ; onions, $1.25 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl. ; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The position of the butter market is much about the same as it was a week ago. There is still a great deal of inferior dairy butter coming forward, and comparatively little of first-class quality. There is a good demand for choice butter. Barrel and case lots of fairly good dairy large rolls are changing hands at 12c. We quote : Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12c. for good to choice ; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c. for good to choice, and 8 to 9c. for low-grade to medium ; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb. blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

CHEESE—The conditions are the same as a week ago, with quotations on late makes ranging from 11½ to 12½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Business in this commodity appears to be getting worse rather than better. Common beans are quoted at from 40 to 50c., and hand-picked at 65 to 70c.

DRIED APPLES—The market keeps dull. Buyers' ideas for choice stock are 2½c. f.o.b. at outside points, and jobbers are quoting 2½ to 3½c. for choice to fancy stock.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Some enquiries have been received during the last few days from the Coast for choice fruit, and although a good many samples are offering the quality as a rule is poor and not suitable. The ruling wholesale price for choice fruits is from 4 to 4½c.

EGGS—While the demand is fair, supplies are heavy and prices easier. Receipts of fresh eggs, so far this month, are heavier than usual. Fresh are quoted at from 13½ to 14c., and pickled at 9 to 10.

POULTRY—There is a demand for chickens, but turkeys are not wanted. Ducks are scarce. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; turkeys, 8 to 9c.; geese, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.

POTATOES—Dull and easier. The idea for carload lots on track is 20 to 21c., and out of store, 30c.

MAPLE SYRUP—A little more business is being done, an effort being made to clean up old stocks before the new syrup comes in. Jobbers quote 75c. per gallon.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — Receipts of grain are fair with prices lower. We quote as follows: Wheat, 76c. for white and 75c. for red, and 63c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 40½c.

FLOUR — Dull and much as before. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.05; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.65; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.75; straight roller, $3.75 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is dull and prices easy. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 in bags and $3 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

There is a good deal of fish selling, but the demand is not as brisk as the trade would like to see it. We quote: White fish, 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; trout, 5½c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Packers' stocks of long clear and light meats are much lighter than they were a year ago and higher prices are looked for. The demand is improving, but business is opening up later than usual. Deliveries of dressed hogs have been light. Packers are paying $4.50 for heavy weights and $5 to $5.50 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼ to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9 to 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 10½c.; backs, 9½c.; shoulder hams, 6½c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6c.; tubs, 6¼c.; pails, 6½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12; Canadian short-cut, $12 to $12.50; clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

Business is quiet and prices as before. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Sellers, according to the views of buyers, are holding alsike at higher prices than the condition of the market warrants. Values are nominally $3 to $4 per bushel f.o.b. at outside points for good to choice, while lower grades would be no temptation except at lower prices. Timothy is moving in small quantities only. Machine-threshed is quoted at $1 25 to $1.40 at outside points and bright unhulled at $1.75 to $2. Red clover is quoted at $4.40 to $4.80 for prime to choice. There is a great deal of inferior being offered, some of which is unmerchantable.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7⅜ to 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5 to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 90c. to $1.

WOOL—The market is dull and featureless. Combing fleece nominal at 20 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

Sugar is ⅛c. per lb. dearer.

Cloves are ¼c. per lb. higher.

Both lemons and oranges are firmer.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, FEB. 25, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE movement in groceries shows some improvement this week. In the first place sugar has picked up a trifle as a result of the advance in refiners' prices from its previous deadly dullness. Demand for tea from jobbers continues fair. They are still disposed to gather in any good lot offering, and they report that the demand from retailers this week has picked up, leading to a somewhat better distributing movement. In syrups and molasses business is quiet and values on the latter staple are rather unsettled. Canned vegetable staples, such as peas, corn and tomatoes, have been fairly well enquired for, and prices on all three are firmly held. Canned fish have also looked up a bit, while business in fresh and pickled fish of all kinds has exhibited genuine activity.

SUGAR.

The advance in price decided upon by the refiners last Thursday has induced a rather better enquiry for sugar this week from both first and second hands, though the aggregate volume of business is still moderate. Jobbers have not materially altered their range as yet, but with granulated costing 4c. at the refinery, and the very lowest grade yellows 3¼c., they can hardly sell for their former inside figures. Accordingly we quote : Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c., and yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅞c., as to grade in a jobbing way. Advices continue firm from New York, and prices are strongly held there, while cable news from abroad is much of the same tenor as it was last week.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues quiet, and the market is without new feature. At the factory 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound nett is asked, but we quote in a jobbing way 1⅜ to 2¼c. as to grade and quantity.

MOLASSES.

Demand for molasses is dull, and, owing to the low offers that have been made and the decline in prices at the islands, values here are somewhat unsettled. However, holders of prime Barbadoes protest that they are not sellers under 28c., but in a jobbing way we quote values at 30 to 31c.

RICE.

Demand for rice is limited and the market is entirely without change. We quote : Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75 ; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market continues firm in sympathy with strong primary advices. We quote as follows : Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c. ; pure white, 12 to 15c. ; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is quiet and prices are unchanged on the few transactions passing. We quote : Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

There has been a good demand for tea from first hands, jobbers being buyers of any good offerings. Demand from retailers is also picking up, more business in a distributing way being noted this week than last. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is no change in Valencia raisins. Jobbers carry light stocks of these and are firm holders of what they have got. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are in moderate supply also and prices are steadily held as follows: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

There is no change in Sultana raisins, which move very quietly at 7 to 12c.

Currants are firmly held abroad, and there is no change in spot prices. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c. cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

The prune market is unchanged. There is some speculation regarding repacked California stock and how they will turn out, several lots being on the way here. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

The fig market is steady and unchanged at 7 to 10c.

Dates range from 5½ to 6c., as to grade and quantity.

Evaporated fruits are unchanged. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

NUTS.

A quiet trade in nuts is reported at former prices. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 20c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair enquiry for canned tomatoes, corn and peas, and enquiry for fish is commencing to pick up a trifle also, more especially on Ontario account. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

Seasonable weather and the near approach of Lent have given a certain stimulus to the fish trade this week and demand both from country and city buyers shows decided improvement. With good seasonable weather the trade expect to find no difficulty in working off supplies of fresh fish, although receipts are large, especially of Manitoba white fish. In pickled fish the leading feature has been the weak feeling in B. C. salmon, No. 2 green cod and No. 1 green haddock, prices declining from 25 to 50c. per bbl. On the other hand supplies of No. 1 green cod are tight and values are firmer with sales at $5.50. We quote, in a jobbing way: Labrador salmon, small, $12.50 to $13; B.C. salmon, $12; No. 1 green cod, large, $5.50; No. 1, $4.75 to $5; No. 2, $3.10 to $3.25; No. 1 green haddock, $3.10 to $3.25; No. 1 N.S. herrings, $3.75 to $4, and No. 1 lake trout, $3.60 to $3.75; No. 2 mackerel, $11.

The only change in fresh fish has been a decline of ½c. per lb. in the price of Manitoba pike, white fish and trout, under very free receipts. We quote as follows: Haddock and cod at 3 to 3¼c.; steak cod, 3½ to 4c.; smelts, 3 to 5c.; salmon, 11 to 12c.; Manitoba pike, 3½ to 4c.; dore, 5 to 5½c.; white fish, 5½c., fresh herrings, 90c. per 100.

Business in smoked fish is moderate and prices are unchanged. We quote: Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 85c. to $1 per box; kippered herrings $1.00 to 1.25 and smoked herrings 10 to 12c. per box.

The new and sole feature in dried fish is a decline of 10 to 25c. per 100 lbs. in skinless cod. Demand for all lines is quiet. We quote: Cod, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.65 to $1.75 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a quiet jobbing trade in green fruit. In oranges, receipts of California, Valencia and Jamaica stock have eased off prices a trifle. Otherwise there is no important change. We quote: California oranges, $4 to $4.25 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $2.50 per box, and $5 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $2 to $2.50; pineapples, 10 to 35c. each.

APPLES.

There is no change in apples. No. 1 stock sells at $2 and inferior grades down to 50c.

DRIED APPLES.

The dried apple market continues much as it was last week. We quote dried 3 to 3¼c.. and evaporated, 4c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to the small receipts of new laid eggs for the past few days, and the scarcity of stock on spot, the market Tuesday showed considerable strength, and prices closed at an advance of 2c. per dozen, with sales at 17 to 18c.; but other grades of limed and held stock were plentiful and not wanted by the retail trade at present. We quote: New laid, 17 to 18c.; Montreal limed, 10½ to 11c.; and western limed and held fresh, 8 to 10c. per dozen.

POULTRY—There continues a good enquiry for fresh killed turkeys and ducks, of which the receipts are small, and prices are firm in consequence. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 10c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c.; chickens, 7 to 7½c., and geese, 6 to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans was slow and the market is dull, with car lots offering at 70c., and in a jobbing way at 80 to 85c.

POTATOES—The potato market was quiet and unchanged at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

ONIONS—Canadian red onions are steady at $1.75 to $2, and yellow, $2 to $2.25.

HONEY—Quiet at 11 to 11½c. for fancy lots of comb in small cases, and 8 to 10c. otherwise.

PROVISIONS.

Business in provisions continues principally of a small jobbing character, and the market is quiet and without any change. We quote: New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 5½ to 6c., and compound refined at 4½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 11c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

Owing to the continued light receipts of fresh killed light hogs the tone of the market is strong, and prices have scored a further advance of of 25c. per 100 lbs., while heavy, in sympathy with the above, have also improved 10c. per 100 lbs. The demand was good, and sales of car lots of light were made at $5.50 to $5.75 per 100 lbs., and in a small way at $6 to $6.25. Heavy in car lots sold at $4.50 to $4.60, and in a jobbing way at $4.75 to $5.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There was a slight improvement in the local demand for flour, and a moderate amount of business was done at steady prices. We quote: Winter wheat patents $4.45 to $4.70; straight rollers, $4.20 to $4.30; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.15. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.90 to $5.05; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.75.

The tone of the feed market was firm under a good demand for bran from both Ontario and local buyers, and an active business is reported at $11 per ton for Manitoba, including bags, and Ontario at $12 per ton in bulk.

The oatmeal market was quiet and prices show no further change, rolled oats offering at $3.10 to $3.20 per barrel, and at $1.50 to $1.55 per bag.

HAY.

There was no change in hay during the week, business ruling quiet and prices, as last quoted, at $9.50 for No. 1 and $8 to $8.25 for No. 2 in car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Receipts of butter continue fair and demand slow. Creamery rules easy under the dull enquiry at 18c. to 19c., and western roll dairy is in excess of demand at 11 to 13c.

The cheese market was quiet and unchanged. There was no change in the cable and little in the news from the country.

The exports of cheese for the week were: 6,512 to Liverpool, 20,026 to London and 2,565 to Bristol. The exports of butter were: 814 to Liverpool, 528 to London and 98 to Bristol; a total of 29,103 cheese and 1,430 butter.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Large receipts of Manitoba whitefish, pike, etc., have induced a decline of ½c. per lb.

The first large receipts of No. 2 mackerel came to hand this week. They are offering at $11 per barrel.

Low-priced green fruit renders it almost impossible to turn over stocks of dried and evaporated apples this season.

Stocks of No. 1 large green cod are very light on spot, and 50c. advance was obtained in one or two cases this week.

Holders of B.C. salmon, No. 2 green cod, and No. 1 green haddock, have shaded prices 30 to 50c. per barrel.

The refiners' prices on both granulated and yellow sugar were advanced ½c. per pound last Thursday here, and are held firm at the advance.

The latest f.o.b. price at the islands asked on new crop Barbadoes molasses was 15c., but the trade here are not disposed to contract early this spring, and we hear of little business being done.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 25, 1897.

THE past week has been a rather quiet one, with collections slow. Sugar has received some attention. The importations of tea, which have been so large, have consisted chiefly of the lower-priced Chinas, which, outside of the expected duty, are considered good value at the present low prices, and further, do not deteriorate with holding, as do the finer grades. The tendency of the demand in the tea trade can be seen in the quantity of blends imported. Spices still show firmness, holding the advance of last week. Our dealers have been discouraged about beans. The market seems to have no bottom, and quite large stocks are held at much higher prices than at present ruling. Western dealers seem more anxious to sell pea beans than mediums.

OIL—While there is no change in the price of burning oil a rather better demand is noted, as the winter stocks held by outside dealers begin to fail to meet demand. They, however, buy but in limited quantities, looking for lower prices as a result of a reduction in duty. In lubricating oil, orders for spring delivery are now being taken freely. Values are held firm. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT — Quite a quantity of Liverpool coarse salt arrived this week, the vessel spoken of by THE GROCER as due having arrived. She had on board about 6,000 sacks coarse salt. The market is a dull one, and values rule low. There is now quite a large stock held here, and what makes trade more quiet is that outside points have been largely supplied. Demand for Canadian fine, which is large here during the season, is showing the regular spring improvement. We quote: Coarse, 45 to 50c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS.—There is but a fair demand. The market in the west continues to show firmness in peas and tomatoes. Peaches have been advanced about 20 cents, but there has not as yet been a corresponding advance here. No doubt, with the opening of spring business the higher prices will come. Some lower priced salmon are now in this market. They are considered good value, but the better grade is preferred. New lobsters are now offered. Price is high, and the prospects are they will so rule. Packers say they can get better prices by shipping to New York. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.45 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—There is but a fair business. Apples are not keeping well, and the demand is light even at low prices. Many Nova Scotia shippers have apples to sell, particularly Bishop pippens, but it is late in the season and they get little encouragement to ship. Lemons show no change in price, and have but light sale. Valencia oranges are rather firmer and show better quality. Californias have a good sale. Floridas, owing to the high prices, have but limited sale. Cranberries are flat, and dealers are likely to lose money. Bananas are coming in looking better, but there is little sale. We quote: Messina lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3.25 to $4; California oranges, $4.05 to $5; Florida oranges, $5.50 to $6; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little doing. Some seeded muscatels are now in the market in one-pound cartoons. These are splendid stock, and will likely prove popular, as the cleaned currants have. The

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

cleaning of currants has brought much better fruit into the market than formerly. California prunes show better demand, but it is not large ; in fact, very few prunes are selling. Dates are light stock, and are held firm. Evaporated apples are low. Stock this season does not turn out well. Onions are held firm at the advance ; very light stock. What to do to move dried apples is a question holders are asking. We quote : Valencias, 5 to 6c. ; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5c.; onions, $3; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c. ; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8½ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR — Dealers are buying quite freely since the advance in prices. Everyone will be pleased when the question of duty is settled. There is no doubt the uncertainty has a very bad effect on business. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. ; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES — The market is weak, the stock of old being too large for this season of the year, and the market at Barbadoes, even at this early stage, is down to the lowest point of last year. The outlook for new is low prices. New Orleans holds its price, and has a fair sale. Owing to some cheaper grades which have been imported, some prejudice has been formed against this molasses, but the better grades give satisfaction. Porto Rico is the favorite molasses here. Some Trinidad is offered low, but color is dark. New Barbadoes will be here in about three weeks. For the first arrivals a little extra price is expected. We quote : Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is dull. Good, as usual, is difficult to get. Some Canadian large rolls are coming into the market at low figures. In eggs the market is easier. At this season they give good satisfaction, being fresh. Cheese are rather higher, but both demand and stock is light. We quote : Dairy tubs, 16 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 21 to 22c.; eggs, 15 to 16c.; cheese, 10½ to 11c.

FISH — There is but little business, although as Lent is now near a better demand is expected. Some frozen cod and pollock arrived this week, and some small lots of frozen herring continue to arrive. There has not been, however, any large demand, western markets being low. Smoked haddies and bloaters also show over-supply and low prices west. Smoked herring are firmer. Stock here at present is light. While there may not be much advance, it is thought the market will keep firm. Pickled and dried fish have a fair, steady sale at even prices. Lobsters arriving are small. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50 ; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50 ; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box ; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. ; frozen herring, 65 to 70 per 100; smelt, 4 to 5c.; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 4 to 6c. each.

PROVISIONS—Lard is again lower. This has been an unsatisfactory article to dealers for some time, as they have had large stocks on a falling market. This is about the only line left in which the Ontario pork men find any large demand from here. Although they are beginning to sell some plate beef, they should sell more than they do. Smoked meats show little change. Demand is but fair. We quote: Clear pork, $12.50 to $13.50 ; mess pork, $12.50 to $13 ; plate beef, $12 to $13 ; hams, 10 to 12c.; rolls, 7 to 7½c.; pure lard, 7 to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

market is rather lower. Oatmeal and oats are easy, particularly New Brunswick. Oats are freely offered and price rules low. Cornmeal is again lower. It seems as if there was no bottom to prices. Beans are rather easier. Mediums, which have been held higher than pea beans, are now about the same price. Stocks here are large, with little movement. Blue peas show a better demand in this market as they become better known. Very few, if any, prime beans are being sold here. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.40 to $5.50; best Ontario, $4.80 to $4.90; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do, do., $12.50 to $13.50; hand-picked beans, 90c. to $1; prime, 80 to 90c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

John Murray, grocer, has assigned to Barry D. Bent.

The smelt season on P.E. Island has been extended to March 1.

Alex. Gibson gave $500 as Marysville's contribution to the Indian famine fund.

Some forty men are employed at Kouchibouguac, preparing spool wood to be shipped to Paisley, Scotland.

A carload of mackerel were this week shipped from the freezer of W. S. Loggie, at Kouchibouguac Beach, Kent County.

Geo. H. White, one of the oldest and most successful merchants in Sussex, with his two sons, will open a cash store in the new brick block he has just erected there.

C. & E. Macmichael have received a shipment of the "Owl" brand seeded muscatel raisins, packed by the Forsyth Seeded Raisins Co., Fresno, Cal. These goods are in 1-lb. cartoons.

St. John's new biscuit factory, the "Queen," starts next week. Mr. Boss, the manager, who comes from the United States, very generously donated $100 to the fund to procure a site for the new public library building.

THE GROCER would again call attention to the need of raising the legal limit of size of lobsters caught. In a lot of lobsters numbering about 2,150 there were 550 over 10½ inches, valued at $72, or about 13c. each, and 1,600 between 9 and 10½ inches, valued at only $32, or 2c. each. Now, with this great difference in value there is left no reason for this destruction of a valuable industry. Again, this season, the outlook is for a limited catch, even including the small ones, and if the same thing is continued the industry will soon prove a failure.

The winter export business continues large. The amount of grain shipped this season has been particularly heavy. So far 1,143 carloads have been forwarded, and at present there is in the elevator 160,000 bushels, and 334 cars on the way. It is said another elevator will be built to be ready for next year's business. The ss. Adria will load about the 24th for Bermuda. This is the second extra steamer to sail for the West Indies this winter, the regular steamers sailing once a month. In this line a very much larger business is expected next year, as the railways are to make their rates to St. John, for export to the West Indies, the same as to New York, and the steamers will quote the same rates from St. John as from New York.

WHO WILL SOLVE THE PROBLEM?

A correspondent writes from Newfoundland to Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, for information as to where he can apply for an agency for teas. In the course of his letter he says: "Dear sir, you ar a stranger to me, it may Be that you can tell me how to make money I want to no as I have non."

He might have been supplied with the names of tea firms open to send their wares to that country, but the firm referred to felt themselves so unable to cope with that part of the letter given above that they handed the letter to THE GROCER which is ever ready to lend its assistance in solving questions that are constantly cropping up in the course of a business day. As the editor-in-chief has been advised by his medical adviser not to attempt the solution of such questions, and as a reply from a John Burns would keep the tea agent too long in suspense the readers of THE GROCER when they have solved the question "How I have no money?" may have the writer's address in that country.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

LUCAS, STEELE & BRISTOL'S "Empire" brand of Ceylon tea in packages is put up in three grades—Pekoe Souchong, Flowery Pekoe and Golden Tipped Pekoe.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have lobsters in ½-pound tins.

T. Kinnear & Co. are in receipt of a carload of Le Roy salt.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., quote special prices on fish for Lent trade.

Warren Bros. & Co. have received a shipment of mackerel in 5-lb. pails.

T. B. Escott & Co. are offering for a few days longer a lot of brooms bought at low prices.

John Sloan & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of Labrador and split herrings and codfish

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., received shipments this week of sifted and first Young Hysons.

John Sloan & Co. have received into stock a shipment of New Orleans molasses in half-barrels.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock a full range of California prunes, which they offer at low prices.

T. B. Escott & Co. have a few hundred cases of 1896 pack corn, which they are offering at 45c. per dozen.

Robert Greig & Co. are shipping large quantities of their "Crown" flavoring extracts to Maritime houses this week.

"Pride of Asia" is the name of a high quality of tea in iron chests, to which T. B. Escott & Co. are drawing the attention of the trade.

Castor oil has advanced very much in price of late, but Robert Greig & Co. are still quoting very close figures and doing a heavy trade.

Shipments of Cottam's bird seed were delivered this week to Hudon, Hebert & Cie., Chaput, Fils & Cie. and Caverhill, Hughes & Co., Montreal

Some choice Darjeeling teas are showing by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm reports that it also has excellent liquoring Indians at 16 to 18 cents.

Buchanan's Glasgow jams and marmalade, made from new season's fruits, are now in stock with Robert Greig & Co., as is also a full range of candied peels.

A large shipment of Southwell's new season's orange marmalade has just come to hand. Write Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, the Canadian agents. The enquiry for these goods is steadily increasing.

Robinson's patent barley and Robinson's patent groats are now carried regularly by all grocers throughout Canada. The agents, Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, will mail a large free tin to any reader of THE GROCER.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

T. B. ESCOTT & CO.: "'Lion' baking powder is having a good sale at the low prices we are offering."

The sale of "Ludella" Ceylon tea is reported to be steadily increasing.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report having a big sale of California evaporated fruit.

"We find a large increase in outside orders for 'Kurma' tea," report Davidson & Hay, Ltd., wholesale agents for this tea.

T. A. Lytle & Co.: "We are recognized as makers of first-class marmalade, and find trade in that line better this season than ever."

Lorimier's Worcestershire sauce is having a big sale. Robert Greig & Co., the wholesale agents, report very heavy bookings for early shipment.

"Circle" brand tea is packed black and mixed. This brand is registered, and Lucas, Steele & Bristol have the sole right to offer it for sale.

Mackay's "Kola-cafe," the essence of coffee and kolanut, has sprung rapidly into popular favor. Robert Greig & Co., the Canadian agents, report good sales in both sizes.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are meeting with much success in the sale of their standard black teas. These teas are put up in air-tight, metal-lined cases, (patented), and the aroma and freshness are retained until the last pound is sold. Mr. John Mouat, their Northwest representative, states that these teas are specially adapted to the alkaline waters of the Northwest.

SUGAR STATISTICS.

This week's summary of the statistical position of sugar as made up by Willett & Gray shows stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 318,643 tons, against 302,065 tons last week and 175,882 tons last year; a plus of 132,761 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe, 2,675,400 tons, against 2,666,800 tons last week, and 2,435,700 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 2,994,043 tons, against 2,968,865 tons last week, and 2,611,582 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 382,461 tons, against an excess of 298,606 tons last week, and a deficiency of 6,733 tons December 31, 1896. Afloats to the United States include shipment of 2,800 tons this week from Hamburg and Bremen. Freight room has been engaged for 5,200 tons. Shipments include no tons refined. The six principal ports of Cuba by cable for week: Receipts, 6,586 tons; exports, 3,250 tons; stock, 38,196 tons, against 35,660 tons last week and 48,830 tons last year. Total stock, in all the principal countries, 2,990,043 tons, against 2,611,582 tons at same uneven dates last year, and 2,609,106 tons at the even date of January 1 last year. Afloats to the United States from all countries estimated, 65,000 tons, against 75,000 tons last year.

MANITOBA'S DAIRY INTERESTS.

THE following is an extract from the annual report of the directors of the Manitoba Dairy Association which was in session in Winnipeg on the 16th inst.:

"The increase of dairying through the year has been almost phenomenal. It is estimated from reliable sources that 776,000 pounds of creamery butter were sold out of the province at an average price of 16.4c. per pound, giving total receipts for butter of $127,264. It is also estimated from the same source that 886,000 pounds of cheese were made which sold at an average of 7c. per pound, making a total of $62,007, making a grand total of $189,284 for dairy produce. This estimate is, if anything, below the actual amount manufactured. The increase in the value of the output for creamery butter alone is $41,612.

"The rapid development of the mining regions of Western Ontario, as well as those of British Columbia, is an intimation to the Manitoba farmer to be up and doing. This country must have supplies and Manitoba is the nearest point from which to obtain them. Everything the farmers can raise is needed. There can be no doubt of the extent of this market or the fact that it will last as long as the mines, as there is no possibility of keeping cows down there unless they can be taught to live on rock.' The directors would recommend that the association take into earnest consideration the manufacture of this article. Somebody is going to have this market and why not Manitoba. Then there is a market for pigs, beef, mutton, flour, oatmeal, eggs, and in fact everything that is raised on the farm. Even hay has to be imported to these districts."

The Cradle Churn

is A Great Labor Saver Quick Butter Producer
Sure Profit Maker

Spring trade is opening. There is much to lose by waiting and everything to gain by acting wisely and promptly—act now. The Cradle Churn is the result of years of study.

It is the progressive dealer's churn. Progressive butter makers will use no other. It has all the strong points of other churns and absolutely none of their weaknesses.

It cannot possibly leak because the bottom and ends are made from one piece of wood, bent to the shape you see in the drawing. The cream is tossed about in four motions—from side to side and top to bottom of the churn.

No other churn secures such perfect action or is so thorough in its mixing. And the cover allows free circulation of air in the cream when churning. Cradle and churn are fastened together in one piece. It is easy to operate—moving the handles eight inches either way is all that's necessary. Easy to clean—too. It has taken first prizes where nothing but practical results decided the question.

WINNIPEG MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25, 1897.

THINGS in Winnipeg are very little changed from last week. A heavy snow storm on Thursday and Friday has considerably blockaded local trade.

Though not strictly under the head of groceries, the following facts from the annual report of the directers of the Provincial Dairy Association may prove of interest to dealers in the perishable commodities, butter and cheese, we quote : "It is estimated from reliable sources that 776,000 pounds of creamery butter were manufactured and sold from this province last season, at an average price of 16.4c. per lb., giving as the total receipts for butter $127,264. It is also estimated that 886,000 lbs. of cheese were sold, at an average price of 7c. per lb., giving a total of $62,007. A grand total of $189,284 for dairy produce. This estimate is, if anything, below the actual amount manufactured. The increase in the value of the output of creamery butter over that of last year is $41,612." Two points touched upon at some length in the deliberations of this body were the necessity of increasing of pig raising on the by-products of the creameries and the possibilities of manufacturing condensed milk. No definite action was taken upon the latter question, though the multiplication of mining camps both west and east is increasing the demand for this article.

SUGAR—Advanced ⅛c. per pound last Friday, and this is the only change for the week.

CANNED GOODS—Stocks are large and well assorted ; prices same as last week : Tomatoes, best brands, $1.80 ; do, good seconds, $1.70 ; peas, $1.75; corn, $1.50 ; beans, $1.75 ; strawberries, $3.70 ; raspberries, $3.20 ; pears, 3's, $4.75 ; do, 2's, do, $3.40 ; pineapple, imported, $4.50.

DRIED FRUITS—Movement slow. Valencia raisins still scarce. Currants, owing to the difficulty between Turkey and Greece, would seem to be increasing in value. Apples, evaporated and dried, are at a deadlock.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—Unchanged from last week. We quote as follows : Currants, 5 to 5½c per lb. ; Valencia raisins, fancy off-stalk, $2 ; do,, layers, $2.20 ; figs, cooking, in bags, 5½c. ; dates, Hallowi, 6¼c. ; apricots, 14c. ; prunes, four sizes, Bosnias, 6¾c. ; apples, evaporated, 5⅛c. ; apples, dried, 3½c. ; Sultana, 4-crown. 10c. ; California muscatels, 7½c.

TEA—A great deal of this article has been handled during the past month, but no change in the situation has occurred since last week.

COFFEE—No. 5 Rio, 16c. ; fancy Java, 29c. ; fancy Mocha, 29c. Santos and Maracaibos are not handled largely on this market.

PROVISIONS — Hams, 14 lb. size, 10c. ; breakfast bacon, bellies, 10c. ; do, backs, 9c. ; long clear dry salt, 6c. ; spiced roll, 6c.

SYRUP—Prices, 3c. per lb. in half-bbls. No change in this market.

CEREALS—Unchanged. Sacks of rolled oats, $1.65 ; granulated oatmeal, $1.90 ; standard do., $1.90 ; rolled wheat, $1.80 ; pot barley, $2 ; pearl do., $4 ; split peas, $2.

FISH—Fresh fish continues to pour into the market here. The prices of salt and dried fish are practically the same as last week. Cod fish, pure, in bricks, 6¾c. ; do. do. 5-lb. bricks, 6¾c. ; haddies, whole, 6c. ; Labrador herrings per ½-bbl., $3.35 ; bloaters, 100s., $1.10.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

SUGAR is an article which is cutting some figure in Halifax to-day. The refinery's lowest quotations are : Granulated, 4c. ; extra Circle C, 3⅞c. ; Circle C, 3¼c. There is a better feeling among the trade, and stocks held by jobbers are evidently light, as the refinery is receiving large orders from them for immediate shipment. The refinery is suffering just now from a shortage of the raw material. The steamer State of Georgia, from Dantzic, with a cargo for the Halifax refinery, is missing. The steamer Stag, with a cargo from Stettin for the same company, is in dry dock at Copenhagan, and has discharged her cargo pending repairs. The steamer M. C. Hollen, from Dantzic, and steamer Carl Hecksher, from the same port, are en route here with cargoes. The Taymouth Castle last week brought 600 bags from the West Indies. The steamer Christiana, from Dantzic, is now discharging 2,850 tons here, and the ship Glooscap is discharging 90,000 bags East India sugar at the Dartmouth refinery. The steamer Silvia has arrived with a cargo from New York. The raw market is strong in all positions.

Cheese is 1c. per lb. higher than last week, business being done on a basis of 12c. Stocks are small and the market quiet.

Eggs are weaker on account of the large arrivals. The quotation to-day is about 15c. for choice Nova Scotia.

In butter Canadian prints have been fairly steady at 22c. Creamery in tubs is scarce at 20 to 21c. A fairly good quality of island butter is selling at 15c.

Molasses is moving very slowly, and dealers affirm their prices are below what new could be landed from either Porto Rico or Barbadoes. Quotations are : Porto Rico, 32 to 34c. ; Trinidad, 24 to 26c. ; Antigua, 24 to 26c.

A lot of fish continues to go forward to the West Indies. One steamer recently took 9,000 quintals to Porto Rico. There is a general demand for good grades of grocery cod and herring. Quotations are as follows : Dry cod from vessel, shore, prime, $2.50 to $3.50 ; small bank do, $2.50 to $2.75 ; bay do., $2 to $2.50; haddock, Cape Breton, $1.75 to $2; western do, $1.75 ; hake, $2.25 ; pollock, $1.50 ; herring, Bay of Islands, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador No. 1, $6; No. 2, $4 ; shore, No. 1, large, fat, $3.50 to $4 ; alewives, No. 1, $3.25; mackerel, No. 1, $15 ; No. 2, $13 ; No. 3, fat, $7 ; No. 3, large, $6 ; salmon, No. 1, $17.50; No. 2, $15.50; No. 3, large, $11 ; No. 3, small, $9.

Slightly higher prices have been obtained this week for barrelled beef, which is quoted as follows : Canadian plate, $11.25; American, $13 to $13.50. P.E.I. mess pork is quoted at $12 to $12.50, but the cash always takes the article at less money. Frozen lamb is quoted at 5c., and mutton at 5½c. Native fresh beef is worth about 7c. dressed, and Ontario, 5½c., for young steers and fat heifers, and fat cows at 5¾c. There is a large supply of the Ontario article and the demand is good. Dressed hogs are worth 5 to 5½c.

The poultry market is well supplied. Retailers are offering frozen Ontario turkeys at 10c., while native bring 12c. Canadian geese are worth about 8c. Chickens sell at 60 to 80c. a pair, and dressed fowls at the same figure.

Potatoes are selling at 35c. in jobbing lots, and 32c. in bulk. The quality is poor for the price.

There is nothing doing in canned goods. The market is stagnant.

The flour market is stagnant. Stocks on hand are fairly large. The indications all point to a further decline. Quotations nominally are: Ogilvie's Hungarian patent and Five Roses, $5.35 to $5.50; Goldie's People's, Gilt Edge and other grades, $4.85 to $5.00; Stockwell and Jersey Lily, $4.70 to $4.80; Tillson's Obelisk, Beaver, Kent and Sunbeam, $4.50; 90 per cent. patents, $4.40; straight grades, $4.30; extras, $4. Local bakers have put up the price, which was low during all the time flour was high.

There is very little change in the green fruit market. The steamers Labrador and St. John City, and also the steamer Mongolian, brought consignments of oranges from England, chiefly Valencias, which are selling at $3.25 per box. Last month's arrivals are selling at $3. Owing to the improvement in the English markets, good stocks are selling here at $2 to $2.50 a barrel. Lemons are quoted at $2.25 to $3 per 300 count The supply of cranberries is limited. They are quoted at $5 to $6 per bbl.

W. J. McCleary, grocer, 199 Elizabeth street, Toronto, is offering his creditors 25c. on the dollar. The liabilities are $1,200 and assets $900.

AN ARTISTIC SHOPPER.

Careless students of commercial transactions are rashly apt to infer that all the business talent lies on one side—that of the salesman—but the initiated know that a very deep game is often played by the purchaser, says Louisville Courier-Journal. In a furniture store two young women were inspecting dressing tables.

"Oh, there it is!" exclaimed the brunette, with enthusiasm, hastening toward a pretty little oak table standing near.

"'Sh!" said the blonde. "You haven't any sense at all. Have you any dressing tables in oak?" she asked of the approaching salesman.

"We have only this oak table left," he politely answered.

"It is awfully low," she commented, "and I don't like the color of the wood."

The brunette girl looked troubled.

"Open the drawer," dictated the blonde.

"Oh, that's a dreadfully small drawer; it wouldn't hold anything. What's the price of this table?"

"Ten dollars," the salesman answered.

"Ten dollars! Dear me! Why, Isabel, we saw prettier ones than this for eight. It hasn't a very good polish, either. Haven't you any others at all? This is so low; and that drawer is so small."

The brunette looked more troubled.

"This is the last one we have in oak," the man again said.

"Haven't you any with different shaped legs?" she asked.

"This is the only one. As it is the last one, I'll see if I can let you have it at eight dollars."

The salesman walked off and the blonde turned to the brunette and said: "Goosey, cheer up. Isn't it a beauty? Just look at those lovely legs—and only eight dollars. You're a lucky girl."

Several large shipments of Ceylon, Congou and Young Hyson teas arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. are making special offers now on "Log Cabin" brand 2-lb. canned apples. Their price is 35c. per dozen.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of California evaporated peaches and apricots in bags, which they are offering at special prices this week.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. are offering special value in A. Dufour & Cie.'s French prunes in 25-lb. boxes, and "Ostrich" brand Bosnian prunes in 55-lb. boxes. Prices and full particulars in advertising columns.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., call attention to their bicycle scheme in connection with spices, which gave such general satisfaction last year. They are offering a lady's or gentleman's wheel this season, high grade, guaranteed satisfactory. Write for particulars.

The President-Elect of the United States.

What the President-Elect of the United States Thinks About Our Enterprise.

William McKinley addressed the Convention of The National Cash Register Company, at Dayton, O., October 22, 1895.

"It gives me great pleasure," he said, "to meet you here, and to congratulate you upon the splendid enterprise in which you are engaged.

"I have known The National Cash Register Company for many years. I have known the splendid progress of that industry in the past, and my only wish for you is that the business of this country from now on may be such that there will be a great demand for your cash registers, and that we will be able to register more cash than ever before in the transactions of this state and the country at large.

"What we want, no matter where we live and no matter in what occupation we may be engaged, is the highest prosperity possible for our country, and whatever will secure such prosperity, no matter what it may be."

We are proud of this indorsement by the president-elect of the United States, but we are prouder still of the indorsements of our company and of our registers by more than one hundred and twelve thousand retail merchants throughout the civilized world who have purchased registers from us and are now using them.

We have testimonials from thousands of these merchants, and to any retailer who desires we shall be glad to send copies of letters written by merchants in his line of business who reside in his immediate vicinity.

Send us your name, address, business, and number of clerks you employ. We will send you in return, free of charge, a handsomely-printed description of a cash register system used in stores like yours. Address Department P, The National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio, U. S. A.

THE EARLIEST MAPLE SUGAR.

IT does not appear that any record was made of aboriginal methods of tapping the maple and converting its sap into sugar, nor is the oldest maple old enough to tell us, though it had the gift of speech or sign-making intelligible to us. We can only guess that the primitive Algonquin laboriously inflicted a barbarous wound with his stone hatchet, and with a stone gouge cut a place for a spout, so far setting the fashion, which was long followed by white men, with only the difference that better tools made possible. Or we may guess that the Indian, taking a hint from his little red brother, Niquasese, the squirrel, who taps the smooth-barked branches, broke these off and caught the sap in suspended vessels of birch bark, than which no cleaner and sweeter receptacle could be imagined. Doubtless the boiling was done in earthen kokhs, or pots, some of which had a capacity of several gallons. According to Indian myths, it was taught by a heaven-sent instructor.

The true story of the discovery of maple sugar making is in the legend of Woksis, the mighty hunter, says a writer in The Chronicle. Going forth one morning to the chase, he bade Moqua, the squaw of his bosom, to have a choice cut of moose meat boiled for him when he should return, and, that she might be reminded of the time, he stuck a stake in the snow and made a straight mark out from it in the place where its shadow would then fall. She promised strict compliance, and as he departed she hewed off the desired tidbit with her sharpest stone knife and, filling her best kokh with clean snow for melting, hung it over the fire. Then she sat down on a bearskin and began embroidering a pair of moccasins with variously-dyed porcupine quills.

This was a labor of love, for the moccasins, of the finest deerskin, were for her lord. She became so absorbed in her work that the kokh was forgotten till the bark cord that suspended it was burned off and it spilled its contents on the fire with a startling, quenching, scattering explosion that filled the wigwam with steam and smoke. She lifted the overturned vessel from the embers and ashes by a stick thrust into its four-cornered mouth, and when it was cool enough to handle she repaired it with a new bail of bark, and the kokh was ready for service again. But the shadow of the stake had swung so far towards the mark that she knew there was not time to melt snow to boil the dinner.

Happily, she bethought her of the great maple behind the wigwam, tapped merely for the provision of a pleasant drink, but the sweet water might serve better purpose now. So she filled the kokh with sap and hung it over the mended fire. In spite of impatient watching it presently began to boil, whereupon she popped the ample ration of moose meat into it and set a cake of pounded corn to bake on the tilted slab before the fire. Then she resumed her embroidery, in which the sharp point of each thread supplied its own needle.

The work grew more and more interesting. The central figure, her husband's totem of the bear, was becoming so lifelike that it could easily be distinguished from the wolves, eagles and turtles of the other tribal clans. In imagination she already beheld the moccasins on the feet of her noble Woksis, now stealing in awful silence along the warpath, now on the neck of the fallen foe, now returning jubilant with triumph or fleeing homeward from defeat, to ease the shame of failure by kicking her, in which case she felt herself bearing, as ever, her useful part. So she dreamed and worked, stitch by stitch, while the hours passed unheeded, the shadow crept past the mark, the kokh boiled low, and the cake gave forth the smell of burning. Alas! the cake was a blackened crisp, and lo! the once juicy piece of meat was a shrivelled morsel in the midst of a gummy, dark brown substance.

She snatched kokh and cake from the fire, and then, hearing her husband coming, she ran and hid herself in the nearest thicket of evergreens, for she knew that when he found not wherewith to appease the rage of hunger he would be seized with a more terrible one against her. Listening a while with a quaking heart, and catching no alarming sound, but aware instead of an unaccountable silence, she ventured forth and peeped into the wigwam.

Woksis sat by the fire eating with his fingers from the kokh, while his face shone with an expression of supreme content and enjoyment. With wonder she watched him devour the last morsel, but her wonder was greater when she saw him deliberately break the earthen pot and lick the last vestige of spoiled cookery from the shards. She could not restrain a surprised cry, and discovering her, he addressed her:

"O, woman of women! Didst thou conceive this marvel of cookery, or has Klosekur-Beh been thy instructor?"

Being a woman, she had the wit to withhold the exact truth, but permitted him to believe whatever he would.

"Let me embrace thee," he cried, and upon his lips she tasted the first maple sugar.

The discovery was made public, and kokhs of sap were presently boiling in every wigwam. All were so anxious to get every atom of the precious sweet that they broke the kokhs and scraped the pieces, just as Woksis, the first sugar eater, had done. And that is why there are so many fragments of broken pottery and so few whole vessels to be found.

POINTS FOR CLERKS.

GENIUS has been well defined as the infinite capacity for taking pains. If men who have done great things could only reveal to the struggling youth of to-day how much of their reputations was due to downright hard digging and plodding, what an uplift of inspiration and encouragement they would give. How often I have wished that the discouraged, struggling youth could know of the heart-aches, the head-aches, the nerve-aches, the disheartening trials, the discouraged hours, the fears and despair involved in works which have gained the admiration of the world, but which have taxed the utmost powers of their authors.

Fifty feet of Bunker Hill Monument is under ground; unseen and unappreciated by those who tread about that historic shaft, but it is this foundation, apparently thrown away, which enables it to stand upright, true to the plumb-line through all the tempests that lash its granite sides. A large part of every successful life must be spent in laying foundation stones under ground. Success is the child of drudgery and perseverance, and depends upon "knowing how long it takes to succeed." Havelock joined the army at 28, and for thirty-four years worked and waited for his opportunity; conscious of his power, "fretting as a subaltern while he saw drunkards and fools put above his head." But during all these years he was fitting himself to lead that marvelous march to Lucknow.

The industry that acquired riches, according to a wise teacher, the patience that is required in obtaining them, the reserved self-control, the measuring of values, the sympathy felt for fellow-toilers, the knowledge of what a dollar costs to the average man, the memory of it—all these things are preservative. But woe to the young farmer who hates farming; does not like sowing and repairing; is impatient with the dilatory and slow path to a small though secure fortune in the neighborhood where he was born, and comes to the city, hoping to become suddenly rich, thinking that he can break into the palace of wealth and rob it of its golden treasures!

Laziness begins in cobwebs and ends in iron chains. The more business a man has, the more he can do, for he learns to economize his time.

Edison described his repeated efforts to make the phonograph reproduce an aspirated sound, and added: "From eighteen to twenty hours a day for the last seven months I have worked on this single word, 'specia,' but the instrument responded 'pecia, pecia, pecia.' It was enough to drive one mad. But I held firm, and I have succeeded."

Horace Mann, the great author of the common school system of Massachusetts, was a remarkable example of that pluck and patience which can work and wait. His only inheritance was poverty and hard work. But he had an unquenchable thirst for knowledge and a determination to get on in the world. He braided straw to get money to buy books which his soul thirsted for.

The habit of seizing every bit of knowledge, no matter how insignificant it may seem at the time, every opportunity, every occasion, and grinding them all up into experience, cannot be overestimated. You will find use for all of it. Webster once repeated an anecdote with effect which he heard fourteen years before, and which he had not thought of in the meantime, It exactly fitted the occasion. "It is an ill mason that rejects any stone."

Alexander Hamilton said, "Men give me credit for genius. All the genius I have lies just in this: when I have a subject in hand I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius; it is the fruit of labor and thought." The law of labor is equally binding on genius and mediocrity.

The road to distinction must be paved with years of self-denial and hard work.

Are the results so distant that you delay the preparation in the hope that fortuitous good luck may make it unnecessary? As well might the husbandman delay sowing his seed until the spring and summer are past and the ground hardened by the frosts of a rigorous winter. As well might one who is desirous of enjoying firm health inoculate his system with the seeds of disease, and expect at such time as he may see fit to recover from its effects, and banish the malady. Nelaton, the great surgeon, said that if he had four minutes in which to perform an operation on which a life depended, he would take one minute to consider how best to do it.

"I have been watching the careers of young men by the thousand in this busy city of New York for over thirty years," said Dr. Cuyler, "and I find that the chief difference between the successful and the failures lies in the single element of staying powers. Permanent success is oftener won by holding on than by sudden dash, however brilliant. The easily discouraged, who are pushed back by a straw, are all the time dropping to the rear—to perish or be carried along on the stretcher of charity. They who understand and practice Abraham Lincoln's homely maxim of 'pegging away' have achieved the solidest success."—Architects of Fate.

AGED 155.

During Mr. Magor's absence in England the advertisements of Keen's mustard were written by a professional advertisement writer. He made an error in saying that they had been selling mustard for 400 years. He himself is a member of the "select" 400, and it seems impossible to get any other number into his head. Keen's mustard is very old, but has not been in existence 400 years. They started making mustard 155 years ago and they are now the oldest manufacturers in London.

Mr. Magor has just returned from Europe and has secured several new agencies. He will handle Sutton's sauces, Rae's olive oil and Field's toilet soap, in addition to his regular lines.

THE "DIAMOND"

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It bas been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MARCH 5, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 10

COFFEE PLANTING IN BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA.

By H. D. Herd, in Chambers's Journal.

ALTHOUGH by the latest arrangement between the British South Africa Co. and the Foreign Office with regard to these territories in 1894 the area over which the British protectorate immediately extends has been considerably lessened, there still remains under the direct administration of Her Majesty's Commissioner a country equal in extent to the area of Great Britain.

This country extends from Lake Nyasa on the north to a point on the Shire River near its confluence with the Zambesi on the south ; but the district to which our attention is more particularly directed is that tableland lying between the Shire on the west and the borders of the protectorate on the east, and perhaps best known as the Shire Highlands.

Here is the latest home of coffee ; and seeing that the country has now passed through its little fever of wars with the Arab slave-traders on its borders, and peace seems to have come to stay, we think that the present position of its staple industry and its future prospects merit a wider publicity in the interests of those to whose enterprise and hardihood the country owes what prosperity it has.

The history of coffee in Nyasaland dates back only to the year 1878, when three small coffee plants from the Edinburgh Botanical Gardens were taken out by Mr. Duncan. then gardener to the Church of Scotland Mission at Blantyre, and planted in the mission garden there. This was done at the energetic representations of Mr. John Buchanan. In the year 1880 the sole survivor of the three plants brought out by Mr. Duncan bore a crop of about 1,000 beans. From the distribution of the seed, three years later, may be dated the beginning of coffee planting on an extensive scale ; but in 1881 the first serious attempt to put coffee on the home market, and to gauge its value as a commercial product in competition with other coffees, was made by the late Mr. John Buchanan, of the firm of Buchanan Bros., whose name is so honorably connected not only with the commercial but the political development of the Shire Highlands.

A sample of the first crop was sent home for valuation, and was quoted in the London market at 85s. per cwt.

From this time onward the unsettled state of the country made the future of coffee very uncertain, till in 1889 the declaration of a protectorate restored confidence and gave a great impetus to the industry. Messrs. Buchanan Brothers opened up large plantations at Zomba, Michiru, and elsewhere, while the African Lakes Company's coffee at Mandala continued to do well. Mr. Brown, of Ceylon experience, settled in the Mlanje district, which had been strongly represented by the late Rev. Robert Cleland as exceptionally well suited for coffee ; and Mr. Duncan, having now left the mission, opened up a plantation near Blantyre.

From this point, so rapid has been the progress made, that the late Mr. John Buchanan wrote in The Central African Planter for October, 1895, that no less than 100 plantations had been opened up under the respective interests in the country, and that these plantations represented an area of 6,000 acres under cultivation. The local revenue rose from nothing to £20,000 per annum in five years.

The services of Mr. Buchanan were recognised by the Government, and he received a C.M.G. in 1890. Much to the regret of everyone, he died on his way home for a holiday on March 9 of last year.

Mr. E. C. A. Sharrer is now the largest owner of estates in the protectorate, amounting to about 365,000 acres, of which only about 900 acres are under coffee. It has been suggested that planters should also turn their attention to cotton-growing. Tobacco and tea have both been introduced.

So extraordinary has the development been during the last few years that since 1889 the quantity of coffee exported has increased in an almost geometrical progression. The exact figures have been :

	Tons parchment.
1889	5
1890	—
1891	10
1892	—
1893	42½
1894	74
1895	146
1896 (estimated)	350

The year 1897 is looked forward to as likely to prove a record year, chiefly because a very large number of plantations come into bearing for the first time in that year ; some planters being so sanguine as to put the yield at 1,200 tons "parchment"—as the raw coffee is called before the membrane covering the seeds is removed.

The varying degrees of success attained have been due to many different causes, arising mostly from inexperience in trying reconcile the approved methods of coffee cultivation in Ceylon and India with the conditions of the new country ; and partly also from local difficulties, as, for instance, the labor question, which were unforeseen, and could only be resolved as they presented themselves.

In the early days there was an abundance of local Yao labor, but the supply was irregular and unreliable. Constitutionally indolent, the natives in the immediate neighborhood of the plantations were soon satiated with calico and other barter goods ; and in the wet season, just when labor in the plantations was most needed, there was none to be had, as the villagers had betaken themselves to the hoeing of their own gardens. The necessity for a reliable labor supply being evident, an attempt was made to bring down Atonga labor from the west of Lake Nyara, which was entirely successful, the newcomers readily engaging to work on the plantations for several months at a time, and this at the most important period of the year, the wet season.

A further step in advance was made by inducing the Angoni, an offshoot of the Zulus, and long the scourge and terror of Shire Highlands, to accept work in the dry season on the plantations; and now, instead of coming down in their thousands to devastate the country, they lay aside the shield and spear, and handle the hoe with equal skill. Only last year another large field of labor supply was opened by the subjugation of some disaffected chiefs on the north-eastern slopes of Mlanje. The Walolo, occupying a vast tract of hilly country to to the east of Lake Shirwa, had for some little time been venturing down in small companies to work for the Europeans, but by the timely action of Sir Harry Johnston, Her Majesty's commissioner, against these chiefs, the whole Walolo country has now become accessible to European influence. It is evident that there is every prospect of an abundant labor supply, and in this respect the outlook is very bright.

The chief drawbacks to coffee planting have hitherto been the labor question mentioned above, and the inadequate and expensive means of transport. The Shire is navigable for the present flotilla of steamers plying upon it as far as Chiromo, three days distant overland from the coffee district. For a very few weeks during the rainy season it is possible to reach Katunga, a point about 28 miles from Blantyre. From the plantations to either of these points the coffee crop is carried in bags on the shoulders of coolies. The risk, inconvenience and expense attached to this mode of transport have been greatly felt, but even this difficulty is about to be met by the construction of a narrow gauge railway line which will run from Chiromo to Blantyre, passing through or near many of the largest plantations.

It is to be hoped that, acting in conjunction with the Portuguese Government, the promoters of this scheme may be able very shortly to extend the line all the way to the coast at Chinde.

The reckless mode of agriculture followed by the natives, by which they clear large tracts of forest land on which to make their gardens, is becoming so serious a question that the expediency of legislation in the matter has been considered. It is well known that deforestation is followed by a decreased rainfall, which reacts not only on the coffee crops, but on the health of the European. And where such wholesale clearing has taken place, land which might otherwise have been good for coffee is rendered temporarily useless for want of shade.

Efforts are being made to lessen the various circumstances disadvantageous to coffee by better systems of irrigation, planting of shade trees, and manuring. As showing the enterprise which is so prominent a characteristic of those Central Africa pioneers, it might be stated that during the past year a Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture has been formed, which promises to do much good in securing authoritative and unanimous action on the part of the planters in questions affecting their interests. But perhaps, above all, The Central African Planter, started last year and so ably conducted by Mr. R. S. Hynde, F.R.S.G.S., in the planting interests, is an unequivocal sign of a very bright and prosperous future for coffee in Nyasaland.

By the foresight and discretion of Her Majesty's commissioner, who has given the industry much encouragement and consideration, the danger of introducing the leaf disease so common in Ceylon and India has been averted. No seed is allowed to be introduced into the country, even though sterilised, and although some inconvenience has undoubtedly thereby arisen, the risk justified the stringent measure.

The eyes of Ceylon planters have been for some time turned to Nyasaland, and in 1895 was formed the "Nyasaland Coffee Co., Ltd.," with a capital of 300,000 rupees. The quality of the coffee has been highly spoken of by the London coffee brokers, and it holds its own with the best Ceylon and Mocha coffees.

The late Mr. John Buchanan estimated that to bring a plantation of, say, two hundred acres into bearing in the third year would require an expenditure of two thousand to two thousand five hundred pounds (sterling). And he cautioned planters against allowing the trees to bear too heavily in the maiden crop, as there is a danger of the plant being thereby weakened.

Other estimates put the expenditure at not more than ten pounds per acre, or a little over three pounds per acre per annum for three years and thereafter a large profit. The price of Nyasaland coffee as quoted in the London market for late years has averaged one hundred shillings per hundredweight, but it has reached as high as one hundred and twelve shillings.

Under varying conditions the average yield per acre is somewhat uncertain, but competent judges put it at from three to four hundredweight per acre. Some maiden crops have yielded eight hundredweights—but not without injury to the plants.

Taking four hundredweight as the average, on a plantation of 200 acres this is equal to 40 tons, with a selling price in London of 4,000 pounds. From this, of course, must be deducted freights, which will not be less than 11 pounds per ton from the plantation to the market.

In the report on the protectorate by Commissioner Sir Harry Johnston, issued in August last, there is a valuable appendix devoted to the coffee industry, with a map of the Southern Shire Highlands devoted to coffee-planting. We learn from it that a survey for the proposed railway connecting Blantyre with Chiromo has been made, that the native population in the Lower Shire district since the suppression of the slave-trade has increased from 1,000 in 1891 to 14,385 in 1896, and that if malarial fever could in some way be eliminated, British Central Africa would be an earthly paradise. The chief bane of British Central Africa according to the Commissioner is that "accursed sprit whiskey." The exports have doubled during 1895-96, and not a little of this increase is due to ivory and coffee. Sir Harry Johnston entertains great hopes of the development of the negro of Central Africa. At Zomba there is one European head-printer ; all the other printers are natives, who have been either locally trained at the missions or by the head-printer. The commissioner has also an encouraging report regarding mission work in British Central Africa, and special mention is made of the work of Dr. Laws and others at Bandawe, concluding "that it has only to tell the plain truth and nothing but the truth to secure sympathy and support."

Three species of liliaceous plants, of easy propagation, promise to yield fibre worth nearly £40 a ton. India-rubber is another product which it is hoped may be largely developed, as the demand for it at present almost exceeds the supply. We are told that "given abundance of cheap native labor, and the financial security of the protectorate is established." The European comes here with his capital, which he is ready to employ to almost an unlimited extent if he can get in return black men who will, for a wage, work with their hands, as he cannot do himself in a tropical sun. It only needs a sufficiency of native labor to make this country relatively healthy and amazingly rich. The cultivation of coffee would be a hundred times more extenstive than it is if there were an adequate labor supply. For unskilled labor three shillings a month, with or without food, is paid, and proportionately less for women and children. Skilled native laborers—carpenters, masons, brickmakers, etc.—receive wages of from four shillings a month to £40 a year. There seems to be every reason to believe, in accordance with the opinion of the oldest and most experienced planters, that the prospects of success in this industry are very hopeful. Considerable areas of land suitable for coffee are yet to be had, the price varying from five shillings to twenty shillings per acre, and no doubt as the country is better known, and more capital is introduced, the difficulties which have kept back and hampered its development will rapidly disappear, and British Central Africa will yet become, if not the most extensive, perhaps the most successful coffee-growing country in the world.

SUGAR SITUATION.

THE European markets are certainly giving surprises in the course of their frequent changes from weakness to strength and vice versa. A strong market all over Europe early in the week, no doubt stimulated by considerable purchases for America, has been followed later by decided weakness and decline in both raws and refined. Cable advices say this is partly owing to the cessation of buying for America, but the more likely reason is because of the large increase of Cuban crop receipts from week to week as the season progresses, as was indicated by us last week. The Cuba crop, or its absence, always exerts a powerful influence upon Europe, and the sudden change from expectation of an insignificant small crop to a small one seems more than Europe can stand. Also, as regards refined the parity between raw beet sugar and the refined product has for some time been greater than the usual average to which it is now settling back. This affords a good opportunity for importers to secure some cheap sugars, as our own markets are entirely unaffected in this instance by the conditions abroad, which may prove only temporary.

The visible sugar production of the Island continues to increase as General Weyler opens up the sugar districts to privilege of grinding. Planters move rapidly to take advantage of the opportunity while it lasts and the visible is now up to that of last year, when a crop of 231,180 tons was made. There still remain several districts where no sugar is yet being made where about 100,000 tons were made last season, but the present outlook is so much improved that we must raise our estimate of Cuba crop to 200,000 tons, and it may eventually reach nearly to last year's limit. This is quite a change from former expectations and will decrease by so much the amount to be withdrawn from elsewhere for our supplies.

This is the reason why prices in Europe are lower and it should also tend to lessen the sowings for the next beet crop. Three thousand seven hundred tons of Cuba sugar are now afloat for the United States.

Fifty-six centrals are now grinding against 44 last week, and receipts were 11,845 tons; visible production of entire Island to date is 37,116 tons, against 36,232 tons to same time last year.—Willet & Gray's Statistical.

A CASE OF DISCOUNTS.

We have always been a steadfast believer in the value of discounts, even to the smallest dealer, but our conviction took an enthusiastic turn a few days ago when one of the largest retail grocers in Philadelphia, who scrupulously discounts his bills, told us what his discounts aggregated in one year. The business of this retailer is very large, probably the largest retail business in Philadelphia, and his discounts in one year aggregated $11,000 ! Now let us see what this means. It means that this retailer, if he sold everything in his store at actual cost, depending for his profits upon his discounts alone, would still be making a handsome sum. $11,000 a year is not to be despised by anybody. But it means more than this. It means that this retailer could have cut the price of his goods to a point where his aggregated losses for the year would have been $5,000, and still he would have cleared $6,000 a year, also a sum not to be despised.

Thus do the possibilities of discounting one's bills suggest themselves. If we were a retail merchant without sufficient money to discount every bill, we would borrow it, even on mortgage if necessary, rather than lose this valuable source of revenue and profit.—Grocery World.

WINNIPEG CITY TRAVELERS.

THE third annual "At Home" of the Winnipeg City Travelers' Association was held at the Manitoba, Winnipeg, on Feb. 23, when about 300 guests were present. The following 1897 officers of the association were present, and, together with the committee, are responsible for the complete success of the entertainment: Hon. president, John Mouat; president, D. M. Horne; vice-president, A. E. Scott; treasurer, W. R. Watson; secretary, John Horne; committee, Messrs. J. H. Dickie, H. G. Spurgeon, R. J. Galna, D. B. McRae and R. J. Douglas. A. Pratt was chairman of the Reception Committee, and E. Tugwell, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and to the latter gentleman is due the thanks of those present for his indefatigable efforts for their comfort and enjoyment. No more suitable place than the Manitoba could be chosen for a gathering of this description, with its capacious concert and dancing hall, its reception and dressing rooms, and the hundred and one comforts to all participants. With the accustomed Winnipeg punctuality the first part, a ballad concert, under the direction of Mr. Crosby Hopps, was commenced about three-quarters of an hour after the advertised time, and the following programme was creditably proceeded with and satisfactorily concluded: Quartette, "An Old Love Song," Misses Pridham, Anderson and Messrs. Hopps and Crick; song, "I Fear No Foe," Mr. A. Crick; song, "Swiss Echoes," Miss Pridham (encore, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told); song, "Thoughts and Fears," Miss K. Anderson; song, "See the Merry Wine," Mr. Crosby Hopps; comic song, Mr. F. A. Shaw; "Waltz Song," Miss Pridham; song, "Friar of Orders Grey," Mr. A. Crick; song (encored), "Good Company," Mr. Crosby Hopps; song, "Serenade," Miss Katie Anderson (encored); quartette, "A Garden," Misses Pridham and Anderson and Messrs. Hopps and Crick. Miss McGregor and Mrs. I. Pitblado presided at the piano and aided in no small measure to the success of the programme.

Where all did so well it would be invidious to single out any performer, but an exception must be made in this as Miss Pridham certainly excelled herself. Possessing a good voice of high range, she used it to every advantage, and, judging by the vociforous encores, completely captivated her hearers.

The room was then cleared and the rest of the evening was devoted to the worship of the god "Terpsichore" and the following programme of the dances was given in the order named, to excellent music supplied by the Evans' orchestra: 1, Drummers' grand march and Circassian circle; 2, waltz; 3, schottische; 4, Jersey; 5 lancers; 6, waltz; 7, polka; 8, waltz; 9, Highland schottische; 10, rye waltz; 11, two-step; 12, lancers; 13, waltz; 14, polka; 15, comas; 16, lancers; 17, (extra) schottische; 18, (extra) lancers; 19, waltz, "Home, Sweet Home."

Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, M.P.; Hon. J. D. Cameron, Attorney General; Hon. Mr. Mickle, M.P.P.; Hon. Speaker Young; Hon. W. M. Crosby, M.P.P.; Major Mulvey, M.P.P., were among the notables present.

At midnight an adjournment was made for supper, in which the chef of the hotel surpassed himself. Everything that the eye could look for or the inner man wish for were there, and with a good staff of waiters, everything was well attended to.

Each of the members of the committee wore a distinctive bow of colored ribbon, and in this way the guests were enabled to single out those from whom to get the information they required. The fact that the majority of the people stayed until 3 o'clock to dance the last dance was proof conclusive that they had a royal time, and were loth to leave so long as there was any music to dance to.

A CHATHAM BUSINESS MAN.

MR. F. A. GONNE, one of Chatham's successful business men, opened out in his new and commodious premises last week under gratifying circumstances. Having been in business there six years, he has, by careful management, improved his opportunities. Frank is one of the youngest, if not the youngest, mercantile men of the "Maple City," and has succeeded in building up an extensive and paying trade, due entirely to his thorough knowledge of the grocery business, his appreciation of the wants and requirements of his numerous customers, and his uniform courtesy and urbane manner. True, he has had a good training, having served his apprenticeship behind the counter and "on the road" as traveling salesman for one of the leading western wholesale grocery firms. Being possessed of a good education, endowed with executive ability, energetic and plucky, accomodating and strictly honorable, he has won the success which he so richly deserves. His new store is a marvel of neatness and taste, and is inviting. The arrangement of goods are displayed to the best advantage, and cleanliness and sweetness permeate the entire premises, winning the admiration and exclamation of praise of every person who enters his magnificent new quarters. The store has a frontage of 22 feet and a depth of 90 feet, first-class cellars and modern appointments. The large plate glass window gives ample play for the art of window dressing, and herein lies one of Mr. Gonne's traits—tastefulness. The opening window display was purely "tropical" in its make up; fruits of all kinds, flowers and rich palms, and, to say the least, was effective, commanding the attention and approbation of every passer by. With increased facilities for handling his growing trade, Mr. Gonne will rapidly take his place among the foremost business men of Chatham.

SUPPLY ANYTHING.

A New York paper says that one of the large stores in London has lately exhibited a degree of enterprise which surpasses similar establishments here in New York. It seems easy enough now to buy everything in these places, but the London establishments have surpassed New York in one respect. In addition to supplying clothing of all kinds, cigars, edibles, and almost every conceivable object, the most enterprising of these places offers musical artists, and their names are followed by the figures at which their services can be obtained just as the groceries and tobacco are followed by quotations of prices. In this list Ben Davies, the well-known English tenor, is quoted at a price equal to about $260.50 and Johannes Wolff, the 'cellist, is to be had for about $78.75. There is a bargain on the list in the shape of some duettists who are marked down to $26.50 while the cheapest thing on the list is a trio at $21.50. It is said to be as easy to order a musicale at this establishment as it is to buy a barrel of flour or a bicycle.

SEEKING INCORPORATION.

The William Paterson & Son Co., Ltd., is applying for a charter from the Dominion Government. The purposes for which incorporation is sought are for carrying on the business of manufacturing, purchasing and dealing in grocers' and confectioners' supplies. The business is to be carried on throughout the Dominion of Canada. The chief place of business is to be Brantford. The proposed capital stock is $125,000, divided into 1,250 shares of $100 each. The names of the applicants are as follow: Wm. Paterson, manufacturer; Wm. Ferrier Paterson, manufacturer; Lucy Clive Paterson, married woman; Helen Young Paterson, married woman, and Charles Gordon Paterson, student, all of Brantford. Wm. Paterson, Wm. Ferrier Paterson and Chas. Gordon Paterson are to be the first or provisional directors of the company.

GETTING WHAT YOU GIVE.

The other day my attention was drawn to the peculiar action of a farmer's team at the central market. The team had started a few steps without orders, which movement called a loud yell from the farmer. The team were blocked from going further by another sled, and instead of attempting to move backward or forward, they began alternately to stand on their hind legs.

There is a screw loose in the family government on that farm, thought I, which guess proved true when the farmer ran to the team, caught them by the bits and began mauling them on their noses with his fist. This, of course, served to quiet the team, to bring them to their sober second thoughts, to make them tractable, docile and altogether valuable and well-broken.

I am no horse tamer, but I have driven some horse flesh in my day and generation. And this I am free to say: You can get out of a horse, scrub or thoroughbred, all you put into him. If you are a chump, so will your horse be. If you are a devil, so will your horse be. If you are a gentleman and a scholar, so will your horse be.

The general principle underlying this specific case is also true: You can get out of your business results commensurate with what you put into it. If you are dull so will your business be. If you are bright, so will your business be. If your balance is right, so will that of your ledger be.

Moreover, you can get out of the world about what you put into it. Carry sunshine with you and the world will be sunny where you are. Wrap yourself in a thunder cloud and you will sour all the milk of human kindness in your neighborhood. Be a clean, decent, honest man, and you will be surprised to find how full your town is of the same sort of folks. Be a moral leper and your world will be a leper colony.

Do you think that it does not pay to squander good works on a selfish and unappreciative world? Yes, it does. The world crucified its Saviour, but His life impressed a handful of appreciative people, and that is what makes this world fit to live in to-day. Don't worry about the world's appreciation. Be a righteous man a while, see how good it feels, and you will keep at it for the sheer love of it, whatever the world says. The world will take a hitch upward if you live right.—Deacon, in Furniture News.

Lady—I heard you had a fire here, and are selling goods at a bargain.

Grocer—That's right, ma'am. Look at those fine hams for 15c. a pound, only slightly damaged by smoke.

SELLING TO DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

THE Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association held a lengthy session last Thursday. The principal business was the conference between the wholesale men and President S. D. Vallieres, Jno. Scanlan, J. O. Levesque, Jno. Johnson and J. P. Dixon, who were a deputation from the Retail Grocers' Association, in regard to the sale of goods to the departmental stores.

As is generally known, the retailers object to the wholesale grocers supplying the department stores with groceries. Their chief argument is that it is detrimental to the retail traders, who are the wholesalers' chief customers and should therefore be considered.

The wholesalers promised to give the matter their consideration, but gave no definite promises either way.

THE CANADIAN GROCER learns that the individual wholesalers are morally in favor of the retailers, but consider it a difficult problem to solve. As a matter of fact only a few members of the Wholesale Guild do sell to the department stores, the majority not doing so.

The trouble is that their chief source of supply is wholesale dealers outside of the association. Unless the retailers can induce these outsiders not to sell to the big stores the members of the guild individually do not consider that they should refuse business which would only go to these outsiders. At present the manufacturers, for instance, of sugar and rice, and some canners, refuse to sell to the department establishments, so that if the outside grocers could be induced to fall into line their supplies would be shut off to a large extent.

Another matter that the gathering discussed was the imposition of a separate tax for each department run by the same firm, and it was also promised consideration. Many consider, however, that such a tax would be very difficult of application and could be easily evaded.

NEW ORLEANS MOLASSES.

New Orleans advices state that the receipts there of molasses are small and the market quite steady ; while one of the largest planters in the State said he had just opened his seed cane banks to begin his spring planting and found the seed had rotted fully 25 per cent.; his plant acreage will be reduced accordingly.

A DURABLE WHITEWASH.

A good durable whitewash is made as follows : Take half a bushel of freshly-burned lime, slake it with boiling water ; cover it during the process, to keep in the steam. Strain the liquid through a fine sieve, and add to it seven pounds of salt, previously dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in boiling hot, half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting, one pound of clean glue, which has been previously dissolved by soaking it well and then hanging it over a slow fire in a small kettle, within a large one filled with water. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir it well, and let it stand a few days covered from dirt. It must be put on quite hot. For this purpose it can be kept in a kettle on a portable furnace. About one pint of this mixture will cover a square yard.—Popular Science News.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held a smoking concert recently. Fully 200 were present, and a thoroughly enjoyable time was spent. What a chance these smokers are for some cigar manufacturer to advertise a brand by giving free boxes of them for the members' enjoyment.—N.Y. Commercial Enquirer.

WHAT THE C. P. R. SHOULD PAY.

A CRIMONIOUS has become the debate among the press of the country as to whether the Government or the Canadian Pacific Company shall construct the proposed line of railway through the Crow's Nest Pass. It is a pity that the subject cannot be discussed from a business instead of from a partisan standpoint, as it now evidently is to some extent.

The building of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway is essentially a business undertaking, and public interests demand that it shall be so considered.

Every public man, every newspaper, has the right to express his or its opinion as to how and by whom the road shall be built. But no one has the right to discuss it in the interests of party.

What is best for the country is the spirit that should actuate every public man, every newspaper, in the discussion of this important question. This is the patriotic way, this is the businesslike way.

Beyond all peradventure there is much to be said against the building of the road by the C.P.R. That corporation has now a monopoly of the freight and passenger traffic to the Coast. And monopolies are not good things for Canada or any other country.

THE CANADIAN GROCER, under ordinary circumstances, is in favor of Government ownership as well as Government control of railways. But in the matter of the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway the circumstances are not ordinary. They are extraordinary.

Consequently we are compelled to cut our garment according to our cloth.

A railway through the Crow's Nest Pass would undoubtedly be a great advantage to the people of the Kootenay country, even if it were but a purely local affair. But as such it could scarcely be made a paying concern. To be made a profitable venture it must tap through lines which will bring it into contact with the outside world.

Business men throughout the country demand this. The Kootenay country is as much a part of Canada as Ontario or Quebec is. And the merchants in the commercial centres of the Dominion from Victoria to Halifax are within their rights when they demand that they shall be given railway facilities in order that they may do business in an important part of the country which is now practically monopolized by manufacturers and merchants in the United States.

Now supposing the road were built by the Government, what then? As far as local rates are concerned we might with every reason expect at least fair freight and passenger rates. But how about the through rates? There is where the rub comes in.

The fact of the matter is, there is no other feasible alternative but the C.P.R. It can open or close the gate to the outside world just as it sees fit. The Government could not help itself. In the agreement which the country made with the C.P.R. it was stipulated that there should be no Governmental control of rates until such time as the road was paying its shareholders a dividend exceeding 10 per cent. And that stipulation is as unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians, unless the second party to the agreement proposes to revoke it.

The business men of this country do not care who builds the road as long as just and equable rates are ensured. The reason so many are opposed to the C.P.R. undertaking the road is that they fear the desideratum would not be secured through that medium.

Now, THE CANADIAN GROCER is persuaded that it is possible, by making a bargain with the C.P.R. for the construction of the road, to secure conditions more favorable to the people of this country than is possible by any other way.

Suppose, for instance, the road was built by the Government, what have we to go to the C.P.R. with? Practically nothing. We could offer reciprocity in running arrangements, but what is there in that for the C.P.R.? It already has a route through to the Coast. And what could it be expected to concede to a competitor, for such, to all intents and purposes, an independent railway through the Crow's Nest Pass would be.

We maintain that under such conditions the people of Canada, through the Government, would have a weak case with which to approach the railway.

People cannot expect much generosity from an enemy when that enemy is occupying a position which it knows to be impregnable.

If on the other hand the Government goes to the C.P.R. with a proposition for it to build the road, it has collateral which would make it the stronger instead of the weaker party in a negotiation of this character.

This road must be built at some time and by somebody. If not by the C.P.R., then by the Government in all probability. And if not by the C.P.R. it will necessarily be by a competitor. That the latter should not exist is obviously worth something to the big transcontinental line. That is one species of collateral for the Government. But the greatest is the franchise. That is beyond all question.

Now then, with this collateral as a fulcrum on which the Government might rest its lever, it must be obvious to every fair-minded man that it is possible to produce much better results for both the people of Canada as well as those residing within the Kootenay country.

Canada wants the elimination, or at least the modification, of the clause in the C.P.R. agreement which prevents the Government having a voice in the control of the rates until they exceed 10 per cent. Cannot one or the other of these be secured as part of the payment which the C.P.R. will give in return for the franchise in question?

There must be some such concession by Van Horne's company. The Government of Canada must have a voice in regard to freight rates on the whole system as well as the Crow's Nest Pass line, or at least something of equal value.

This is the pivotal point which must decide the question as to whether or not the proposed line shall be constructed by the Canadian Pacific Company.

To allow that company to build the road and to have a free hand in the matter of freights would be little short of criminal.

We believe it would be better for the people of Kootenay country, better for the people of Canada, better for the Dominion Treasury, that the Crow's Nest Pass Railway should be built by the C.P.R. But it would be worse, and not better, unless Government control is conceded as the price which that corporation is willing to pay for the privilege of constructing and owning the proposed route.

THE POSITION OF CURRANTS.

THE permanency of the present strength in the currant market is being daily more assured.

Stocks in Greece and the islands three weeks ago were only about 20,000 tons, or about one-third what they were a year ago, while the requirements of the consuming markets between now and August next will be something like 40,000 tons, thus establishing a deficiency of 50 per cent.

The principal stocks in Greece consist of Pyrgos and Calamata. Of Patras there is none of the present season's crop to offer, and stocks of good average Amalias and Provincials are restricted.

Up to Feb. 8 shipments of currants to the various consuming countries, compared with last year, were as follows :

	Tons.		Tons in 1896.
London	26,953	against	28,896
Liverpool	20,772	"	17,983
Outports	7,638	"	6,171
United States	11,142	"	10 561
Canada	1,220	"	1,446
Marseilles	1,111	"	10,146
North of France	3,136	"	10,492
North of Europe	22,001	"	16,891
Trieste	3,086	"	2,873
Australia	2,427	"	1,646
Russia	21,553	"	9,773
	121,039	"	116,878

No shipments, it appears, are being made to the English market from Greece, the Greeks having refused to ship in spite of the good prices being offered.

"Had such a state of things existed ten or fifteen years ago," remarks The Produce Markets' Review, London, "the price of Provincial currants would have been nearer 25s. than 15s., even under the present duty of 2s., as against 7s. which was then ruling."

Another feature of the situation pointed out by this same journal is the comparatively cheaper price ruling on currants compared with Sultana raisins, which are the chief competitor of that commodity.

IT IS TIME TO WAKE UP.

THERE are scores of manufacturers and merchants who never amount to much, because they lack the enterprise necessary to push their wares.

Many of them have a good article, but instead of acquainting the world of the fact, they say nothing, evidently expecting buyers will be so hungry for it that they will seek till they find.

A great many Canadians are peculiarly remiss in this respect. An incident which induced these remarks will serve as an illustration. A gentleman desired a certain article. He made enquiries at the leading houses handling it, but in every instance nothing but a United States product was shown him. As the price was higher than he felt called upon to pay, he did not purchase. He then made enquiries as to whether or not this particular article was made in Canada, and eventually he ascertained that there was one factory in a Western Ontario city that did so, but no one in Toronto seemed to be able to give any information as to price or otherwise. This article, too, it should be mentioned, is a staple one.

Acting upon the little information he could glean, the gentleman in question wrote to the manufacturer, and in return received a catalogue which astonished him. It showed that this factory turned out a beautiful and complete line of goods of the character desired. And yet the fact was not apparently known among the trade.

If you make or have a good thing in stock, push it. Advertise it. Let at least your own country know it.

Do not put your light under a bushel. People have neither the time nor the inclination to skirmish the country over for articles which its producers hide beneath their apathy. There are so many enterprising men knocking at their door seeking their custom that there is no necessity for them to do so.

The tortoise, it will be remembered, beat the hare. And very often inferior goods which are energetically pushed sell in much larger quantities than first-class goods, which, instead of being pushed, are practically left to themselves to get upon the market as best they can.

Canadians possess in an eminent degree the ability to manufacture and produce, but too many of them are deficient in ability and enterprise to acquaint the world of the fact.

It is time to wake up.

The new alien labor law in the United States is a coreless as well as a Corliss instrument.

SPURIOUS TEA LAW PASSES.

THE bill having for its object the prevention of the importation of spurious teas, outlined in a recent issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, has received the endorsation of both branches of the United States Congress, and now only awaits the signature of President Cleveland in order to become law.

The most striking feature of the new bill compared with the law which now obtains is the establishment of a uniform system of inspection. Owing to the absence of this necessary condition in the present law teas rejected at one port were frequently shipped to Canada and reimported at some other port where the inspector's views were not the same as the one at the other port.

The new bill meets this difficulty by providing for sample standards with which importations may be compared and tested. These tests are to be made in various ways, including analyses when necessary, and all appeals are to be sent to a board of three of the general appraisers.

The Secretary of the Treasury is to appoint seven inspectors of tea at a compensation of $50 each per annum, each of whom shall be an expert, who shall fix and establish uniform standards of purity, quality and fitness for consumption of all kinds of teas imported into the United States. Samples of these standards are to be deposited in the Custom houses at New York, Chicago and San Francisco, and such other ports as he may determine. With these samples all importations are to be compared.

The bill provides for the enforcement of its provisions by excluding teas not coming up to the standard, and for the destruction of such teas as are reimported after having been once rejected.

It is expected that the president will sign the bill, and when he has done so the Board of Experts will be promptly appointed and the necessary samples will be obtained.

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE.

THE Trade and Navigation Returns for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1896, have at last been issued.

They show that during the year there was a gratifying expansion of the country's foreign trade.

The aggregate trade was $239,025,360 against $224,420,485 in 1895, or an increase of about 6½ per cent.

The percentage of increase is about equally shared by both imports and exports, the imports being $118,011,508 against $110,781,682 in 1895, and the exports $121,013,852 against $113,638,803, or a gain of about 7¼ and 7 per cent. respectively.

But the greatest interest is wrapped around the exports. They have established a record, being the largest in the 29 years of the country's history. Compared with 1886 they are 42 per cent. larger, with 1876, 51 per cent. larger and with 1868, the first year after Confederation, 112 per cent. larger, not a bad showing after all. The aggregate trade (imports and exports) is about 26½ per cent. larger than it was in 1886, 31 per cent larger than in 1876 and 31½ per cent. than in 1868.

Based on exports and imports, our largest aggregate trade was with the United States. Next, of course, was Great Britain. But Great Britain was by far the greatest purchaser of our products, the exports of the Dominion to that country being $66,690,288, against $44,448,410 taken by the United States. Compared with the previous year, this is a gain of about 8.19 per cent. with the former country and 7.30 per cent. with the latter.

It is the imports from the United States which swell our aggregate trade with that country to the proportions it now is. Our purchases from the United States last year reached the total of $58,574,024, an increase of 7 per cent. over the previous year, and the largest on record. Our imports from Great Britain were $32,979,742. This is $25,594,282 less than from the United States, or over 43 per cent.

These are some of the chief imports for home consumption allied to the grocery trade, together with a comparison of the year 1895 :

While we are quarrelling as to who shall build the Crow's Nest Pass Railway the Americans are stealing our trade.

THE FIG POSITION.

Concerning the position of figs, the Hills Bros.' Co. say in their last circular : "The demand for both layers and bags continues to improve. The total shipments to this port are fully 5,000 cases less than last season. Considering this fact, the market is remarkably low, and some improvement in values is almost certain to take place in the near future."

When You Want a Man's Trade

. . . . You tell him so.

Trade is only secured by asking for it. We realize this.

We want your trade. We emphasize this fact every week in THE GROCER.

Especially do we want your trade in Flavoring Extracts. These form but a very small proportion of your general stock, but it is just by being particular about the "little things" that trade is extended.

We say, honestly, that you cannot get better extracts than our CROWN FLAVORS. We want YOU to realize this. Don't take our word altogether for it. Prove it by sending for a sample lot. If our claim is not borne out by the goods ask for your money back. You will have it as fast as the mail (or telegraph, if you prefer) can carry it. Is anything fairer?

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 4, 1897.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS continues in much about the same condition as a week ago. If anything, it is not as good. Sugar has taken an easier turn in London and New York, and this has naturally left its influence on the local market, although prices are without change. Tea is still receiving the most attention, but the demand is not as active as it was. Currants are quoted higher locally and the primary market keeps strong. Canned tomatoes and peas are in fair request for this time of the year and there is a fair demand. Local wholesalers' prices are higher on "Horseshoe" salmon. Spices are still firm.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation continues strong in tomatoes and peas, and for peas alone some houses will not accept less than 75c. The demand for these is improving a little. Corn is weak. A demand for raspberries, strawberries and plums is beginning to pick up. "Horseshoe" salmon is getting reduced, and dealers are advancing their prices in consequence. Cheap salmon is in good demand, and the very low-priced stock appears to be pretty well cleaned up. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50 to $1.55; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The primary markets are, as a rule, quiet and lacking in life. Locally there is a fair demand for Rio coffee at quotations. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Some nice medium and dark syrups are offering, but the "street" is well supplied and they do not attract buyers. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The situation remains much as before, the market still being lacking in interest ing features. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Those who a couple of weeks ago were building their hopes on an improvement in the sugar market were doomed to disappointment. This week the turn has been anything but satisfactory. Europe started the weak turn on account of increased supplies of Cuban sugar, and New York follows. Beets are decidedly weak at the moment in London, and on Tuesday the price was the lowest in twelve months and within 2¼d. of the lowest point in their history. Since a week ago beet has declined 4½d. in London and cane 3d. On Monday all grades of refined sugar except the lowest grades declined ⅛c. in New York. The two lowest grades declined 1-16c. In Canada prices are unchanged, but business is dull. Granulated is now quoted at 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4¼ to 4 5-16c. for less than 5 barrels; 3½c. per lb. upwards for yellows.

SPICES.

Mail advices under date of London, Feb. 20, state that Singapore pepper, pimento and cassia are particularly strong, with nutmegs 1d. dearer. Mace is stiffer in price. Owing to a decreased production in Singapore pepper it is thought that the demand will overtake the supply. Cloves are easier. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to

NUTS.

The condition of the market for nuts is still uninteresting. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c. ; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c. ; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c. ; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The demand is moderate for the lines enumerated below. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c. ; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c. ; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The London market keeps firm on Indian and Ceylon teas, and some improvement is to be noted on the New York market. Locally there is a gradual falling off in the demand. Mail advices from London under date of Feb. 19 state that auctions of Indian tea were beginning to be on a smaller scale, and "last of the season" invoices were being catalogued freely. The same advices say in regard to Ceylon tea that the demand was steady, all grades being taken freely by the trade. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Local wholesalers have this week marked up their figures on currants. There does not appear to have been any further change in prices in the primary market, but values still rule strong. The local demand is fair for the season. We quote : Provincials, 4⅜ to 4½c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; do., half-bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; Patras, 5 to 5¼c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls., and 5⅛ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote : Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c. ; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c. ; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are dull. We quote : 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Malaga raisins are quiet. We quote : Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4 ; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50 ; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5 ; Imperial Russian clusters; $4.50 to $5.

Figs continue dull. Wholesale quotations are : 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c. ; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote : 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

Holders of California prunes on the Coast report that the market there is stronger than in the East, and that they are unable to buy at the figures which are quoted in the latter part of the country. Bosnia prunes continue dear, with business light. We quote : Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c. ; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb. ; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 11½ to 12½c.

cots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are quoted about 50c. per box higher by local wholesalers. The demand for oranges is fair, and with warmer weather the trade naturally look for an improvement. The demand for lemons is moderate and prices are unchanged. Bananas are not much wanted. A further advance is to be noted in onions. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4 to $4.50 per case; large 420's, $5.50 to $6; 714's, $4 to $4.50 per case. California navels, $3.50 to $4. Lemons—Messinas, $2.25 to $2.50 per box for fancy, and $1.75 to $2 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, 75c. per bbl. for greenings and Baldwins, and $1.25 to $1.50 for Spies; onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter—The condition of the market is worse rather than better as far as dairy butter is concerned. Bad butter appears to be coming upon the market in larger quantities than ever, while really choice is scarce and wanted. Creamery butter is in good demand. There was a little firmer feeling as to price, but it has eased off a litle during the last few days. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c. for good to choice, and 8 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb. blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

Cheese—The British market is a little lower, on account of heavy shipments, but locally the conditions are much as before. The idea as to price for late makes is 11½ to 12c. We hear of one bid of 11¾c. for 100 boxes of fine cheese being refused.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Beans—The market is still dull. Ordinary mixed lots are quoted by wholesalers at 40 to 50c. per bushel, and choice hand-picked at 75 to 80c.

Dried Apples—In the absence of demand the market is week. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2¼ to 2½c., and fancy at 3 to 3½c.

Evaporated Apples—Are in much the same condition as dried apples. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4c.

EGGS—The demand is being fairly well maintained, and prices are much the same as a week ago. Receipts are fairly liberal. The idea as to price for fresh eggs is 14c., and for pickled 10c.

POULTRY—The supply is still light, with prices steady. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; turkeys, 9 to 10c. for bright stock; geese, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.

POTATOES—Continue dull at 21 to 23c. in carload lots on track; out of store, 30c. is the idea.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand is fair for the season at 75c. per gallon.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts are moderate and prices much about the same as a week ago. We quote: Wheat, 76 to 77c. for white and 74 to 75c. for red, and 63 to 64c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22c.; peas, 40 to 41c.

FLOUR—Trade is quiet and prices remain much as before. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.05; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.65; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.75; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is dull and prices lower. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.60 in bags and $2.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Business is not yet appreciably feeling the Lenten season. The demand is light and prices much the same as a week ago. We quote: White fish, 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; trout, 5½c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There is a firmer feeling in provisions in sympathy with the higher values ruling on hogs. The demand is fairly good, and rather better than was expected. Dressed hogs are quoted at $6 for light weights of 100 to 150 pounds, and heavy hogs at $5. Small hogs are scarce and in brisk demand.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼ to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9 to 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 10½c.; backs, 9½c.; shoulder hams, 6½c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6c.; tubs, 6¼c.; pails, 6½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12; Canadian short-cut, $12 to $12.50, clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

There is not a great deal doing. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Buyers and sellers are apart and quotations are nominal. Alsike is quoted at $3 to $4 per bushel f.o.b. at outside points for good to choice; timothy, $1 25 to $1.40 at outside points for machine threshed, and bright unhulled at $1.75 to $2; red clover, $4.40 to $4.80 for prime to choice.

PETROLEUM.

Business continues fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Continue firm, with cured quoted at 7¾ to 8c. Dealers pay 7c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2, and 5c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5 to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1 to $1.10.

WOOL—The market is dull and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 20 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

The price of glucose has been advanced 4c. per lb.

Sugars are lower in both London and New York.

Wholesalers are quoting "Horseshoe" salmon higher at $1.50 to $1.55.

Advices from New York report the currant market there advancing with ¼c. per lb. more asked for currants in bond.

The new Fraser River fish is opening very well indeed, and although the pack of talls was very short and the price in consequence high, buyers will be compensated by receiving exceptionally fine quality of fish.—Produce Markets' Review, London.

Speculators and others are looking over the tea market for low-grades, those at about 8 to 10c. in value, with impression that their production will fall off if the bill becomes a law, and which seems probable, to restrict the importation of spurious and adulterated qualities. They are offering firm prices, but find sellers with more confident views. —N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 4, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has ruled rather quiet this week, but there have been few important changes except in pickled fish, which, strange to say, despite the advent of Lent, have declined sharply under very liberal receipts. Sugar, though quotably unchanged, has an easy feeling, and the same can be said of molasses and syrups. Tea and coffee are quiet and steady, while spices exhibit a very firm feeling, especially black and white pepper. Canned goods have met a fair demand and tomatoes are very firm. Dried fruits are featureless.

SUGAR.

The easiness outside has not caused any quotable change in the local sugar market, but the feeling is only steady. Demand is not brisk at the moment, but sellers believe that it will soon improve, as stocks generally throughout the country are reported to be very light. At the refineries granulated is held at 4 to 4⅛c, and yellows 3¼ to 3⅜c. In a jobbing way we quote : Granulated, 4¼c., and yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

There was no change in the syrup market, sales being still slow and the market featureless and steady. We quote 1⅜ to 2¼c., as to grade, but round lots can be had at 1⅜ to 1⅞c.

MOLASSES.

There has been little change in molasses during the week. The demand on spot continues slow and the feeling is somewhat easier in sympathy with the above, but in the absence of any large transactions prices are difficult to quote. Some holders of Barbadoes are offering round lots at 27c. and would accept even less for 500 puncheons.

RICE.

Business in rice continues quiet and the market on the whole is dull, with no change to report. We quote : Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25 ; standard B., $3.50 ; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75 ; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market is decidedly strong, especially for pepper. Demand rules on the quiet side, however, despite the strength. We quote as follows : Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c. ; pure white, 12 to 15c. ; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

The demand for coffee shows no improvement and the market is quiet with a very small jobbing trade doing. We quote : Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The tea market has been rather quieter this week, but the tone is firm and values are all firmly held. We quote : Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The demand for Valencia raisins is light but stocks are small and prices firm. We quote : Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. ; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins move along quietly : 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c. ; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are steady and unchanged at 7 to 12c., as to quality.

Currants continue firm but business is light. We quote : Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c. ; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

There has been a fair trade in prunes, prices ruling firm. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

The fig market is quiet at 7 to 10c.

Dates continue steady at 5½ to 6c.

Evaporated fruits are dull but steady. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair enquiry for peas, corn and tomatoes, and stocks of the latter are extremely light. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

There has been a fair demand for all kinds of fresh fish since last report. In pickled fish values have an easy tendency, some declines being noted. Labrador salmon are down 50c. to $1; B.C. salmon, 50c.; green cod 25 to 50c., and green haddock 35 to 50c. We quote, in a jobbing way: Labrador salmon, small, $12; B.C. salmon, $11.50 to $12; No. 1 green cod, large, $5.25; No. 1, $4.40 to $4.50; No. 2, $2.75; No. 1 green haddock, $2.75; No. 1 N.S. herrings, $3.75 to $4, and No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.50; No. 2 mackerel, $11.

Weakness in Manitoba whitefish continues the chief feature in fresh fish, prices declining another cent per pound. We quote as follows: Haddock and cod at 3 to 3¼c.; steak cod, 3½ to 4c.; smelts, 3 to 5c.; salmon, 11 to 12c.; Manitoba pike, 3½ to 4c.; dore, 5 to 5½c.; white fish, 5½c., fresh herrings, 90c. per 100.

There has been a better demand for smoked fish, and a fair trade is reported at steady prices. We quote: Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 85c. to $1 per box; kippered herrings, $1.00 to 1.25 and smoked herrings 10 to 12c. per box.

Dried and boneless fish are moving slowly. Prices show no change. We quote: Cod, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.65 to $1.75 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market is dull and generally unchanged. We quote: California oranges, $4 to $4.25 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $2.50 per box, and $5 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $2 to $2.50; pineapples, 10 to 35c. each.

APPLES.

Apples are quiet and rather heavy in price. We quote: No. 1, $2, and lower grades down to 50c.

DRIED APPLES.

Continue much as last reported at 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated, 4c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The tone of the egg market was steady, and as the demand was only for small lots business was quiet. We quote: New laid, 15 to 16c.; Montreal limed, 10½ to 11c.; and western limed and held fresh, 8 to 10c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The demand for poultry is fair, but owing to the continued light offerings trade is quiet and values firm. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 10c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c.; chickens, 7 to 7½c., and geese, 6 to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, prices being about steady, and sales slow at 60 to 65c. in car lots, and at 70 to 80c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes was slow at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a small way.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for provisions continues of a a limited character, and the market is quiet, with no change in prices to note. We quote: New packed Canadian pork, $11 to $12; old at $10 to $10.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 5½ to 6c., and compound refined at 4½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 11c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

There was no change in the situation of the dressed hog market, business being quiet and prices firmly held, owing to the small offerings. We quote: Light, $5.50 to $6 per 100 lbs., in car lots, and $6.25 to $6.75 in a jobbing way; heavy, $4.60 to $4.75 in car lots, and $5 to $5.25 in a small way.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There was nothing new to note in the situation of the flour market. The demand is purely of local character, and the volume of business doing is small at about steady prices. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.45 to $4.70; straight rollers, $4 to $4.25; and in bags, $1.95 to $2.05. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.90 to $5.05; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.75.

The feed market is moderately active, and the demand is reported fair by millers at $12 for Manitoba bran and at $13 for shorts per ton, including bags. Ontario white wheat bran is offering by local dealers at $10 to $10.50 per ton in bulk.

The demand for oatmeal continues slow, and the market is quiet and easy at $2.90 to $3 per barrel for rolled oats, and at $1.45 to $1.50 per bag.

There was no change in hay, business being slow and prices easy at $8.50 to $9 for No. 1, and at $7.50 to $8 for No. 2 per ton in car lots.

HAY.

The hay market has ruled easier since last report. We quote: No. 1, $8.50 to $9 and No. 2, $7.50 to $8.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

There is nothing doing in cheese, business being practically wound up until the new season opens.

Trading in butter consists of a small jobbing business, and prices rule steady at 18 to 19c. for creamery and 11 to 13c. for western roll dairy.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The sugar market has a rather easier feeling, though there is no actual change.

Round lots of molasses are offered at 27c.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 4, 1897.

THE two dull months of the year are gone, and from now a better business demand is expected. Among grocery merchants there is very little talk of the profits of the past year. All dealers seem in about the same position, and in that they find some comfort. This state of affairs is largely due to the falling markets in sugar, molasses, beans and pork. Tea continues to arrive in large quantities. There was some excitement among the importers on account of the accident to the steamer Damara, but her cargo (which was largely tea) is being forwarded, and it is said is very little damaged. The tea arriving is being largely shipped through the county, the outside dealers buying freely. Cream of tartar in the original markets tends rather easier. Smoked herring, which during the last two years have been very low and plentiful, are at the moment very scarce here, and prices are held firm. In brooms prices are rather higher than last season, and tending upward.

OIL—As noted last week, the expected change in duty is affecting demand, dealers buying from hand to mouth. This is particularly true of burning oil, in which at best the large demand for this season is over. Orders for lubricating for spring delivery come in quite freely. The change, if any, favors firmer prices. We quote: Best American, 19½c.; best Canadian, 18¼c.; prime, 16c.

SALT—The cargo of six thousand bags, spoken of last week, is finding a more prompt sale than was expected, one reason being the importer was able to sell at a low figure while cargo was landing. The Liverpool steamer also brings the usual quantity each week, and market is in this way kept well supplied; so much so that the outside demand will be supplied much earlier than usual. The demand for Canadian salt is still light, but with the opening of the dairy and cheese business there will be increased demand. The Canadian salt is the chief table salt used here. We quote: Coarse, 45 to 50c., factory-filled, 85c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—There is little change. Canned meat men begin to look for spring orders. There is little change in price, but the feeling is for higher prices, if any change is made. The season in canned haddies has not been altogether satisfactory, the production increasing faster than the demand, which has caused a cutting in price. The quality of these goods should cause a better sale than there is. Domestic canned clams and sardines show a better demand from the west. There are practically no domestic sardines sold in the local market. Vegetables, except corn, tend higher, and so do peaches. Plums are offered quite freely, but sale here is small. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; American peaches, 3's, $2.25.
